Editorial.

In presenting this number of the P.A.C. Chronicle we take advantage of the opportunity to draw the attention of the readers to the name of our publication, The Chronicle, a record of school events for the current term. The school life of our senior fellows is so fully occupied with preparation for the University and with sports, that there is not much time to devote to literary effort. However, we make no apology for the absence of bright oases of original literary effort, but simply state that the magazine is a record of school life, and hope that the literary side of the paper will develop. The talent is in the school, of that we are sure; but there must be a certain amount of time and thought devoted to literary subjects by the senior members of the school, before that more interesting side of our publication will develop.

So we place The Chronicle before you; and we would straightway commence upon an account of the doings of the school during the term, but the booming of the guns on the Western Front sounds on the ear, commands the attention, and drives one to deeper thoughts, not merely of our individual attitude and duty to a school, but of a school's attitude and duty towards an Empire.

The answer to this is quickly seen in the thousands of splendid public school men who have flocked to the colours. Our duty as a school is to keep up the supply of such men and our duty as individuals is to do our best to help the school to produce such men.

There are no grounds for the supposition that the public school system is not as good or effective now as it was in the days in which the men serving in this war were produced. Sir William Robertson, who, if we remember rightly, is not a public school man himself, removes all uncertainty in that direction. In a letter to a head master of a big English public school expressing his regret at not being able to attend the speech day, he expressed his thanks for, and admiration of, the splendid part played by the public schools in the Great War. We are one of the public schools of the Empire and it is our opportunity to prove ourselves worthy of that praise.

So we must push forward, all pulling together for the common good of the school, and by a united school life, strive to be, in some measure, an epitome of the better side of our warring Homeland.

School Notes.

The school roll at the opening of the year was 360. This represents a substantial advance upon last year's numbers.

G. T. Clarke has been awarded the Reg. Davey Scholarship for a second year.

The bronze bust of Mr. Chapple has at last come to hand, and has been accepted by the Old Collegians' Association. The artist, Mr. Gus Barnes, is well pleased with the workmanship of the casting, and the bust has met with the approval of those who have been privileged to inspect it. It has been placed in the niche in the assembly room prepared for it, but is to be kept covered until it has been formally unveiled. The Old Collegians have decided to postpone the unveiling ceremony until the Old Scholars' Annual Service in July. It is thought that this function will provide the best opportunity for a large and representative body of Old Boys to gather to do fitting honour to our late Head Master.

The Council of the University have decided to extend the scope of the Supplementary Senior Examination so as to allow boys who have passed in at least four subjects at the previous Senior Examination to present themselves in any subject in which they may have failed. This will enable boys who wish to proceed to Higher Public work a chance of getting out of their way Senior work which might otherwise be a drag upon them all through the year. The examination will, in future, be held at the end of February, in order that successful candidates may lose as little time as possible before proceeding to the Higher Public course. This concession was allowed this year, and the following successes were gained:—

Cowell, G. R.	passed in	Geometry.
Cowling, L. D.	“	German.
Fox, R. O.	“	Latin.
Jeffrey, G. H.	“	Arith and Alg.
Pomeroy, R. O.	“	Latin.
Rees, H. M.	“	Latin.
Stockbridge, R. K.	“	Latin, and Arith and Alg.
Tassie, T. W.	“	Biology and Physics.

Excellent portraits of Lieut. J. K. Robin, M.C., and his brother, Sergt. Geoffrey de Q. Robin, have been prepared, which will be hung in the room where boys work who are preparing for the Senior Public Examination.

Boarders' Notes.

Owing to the fact that so many of the fellows who made life go in the House last year have either left or become day boys, life in the House this term has been unmarked by so many of those salient deeds of revelry which make one remember with pleasure days spent at boarding school. Still we have managed to jog along and "knock out a jolly good time together."

Before we mention anything which has happened only in the House, we must congratulate Easts on their win in the District Sports. Still, Boarders are training a few dark horses for the football, and although our luck was out in the sports, we are going to shake things up in that direction.

Saturday evenings at school have been spent in various ways. While most of the fellows gathered in the dining hall to take advantage of the ample provision made for their entertainment there, a select few gathered in the music room and with the assistance of John, successfully murdered all the music from the "Bing Boys," etc.; while Bertie, if he keeps going, will certainly be transformed into a Hawaiian butterfly. Lino does the Salome à la mode, while we have heard that Harold one-steps like a good 'un. The thanks of this little gathering are due to Coll, who bravely tried to make the piano heard above the shouting of about a dozen lusty voices. During the earlier part of the term, when the nights were warmer, male choirs on the lawn rendered selections for the benefit of anyone passing the grounds. Lindie was a great favourite.

Rifle shooting has been carried on with much zeal by several boarders. Not satisfied with training his eye for rifle shooting, Green had to try his luck on a passing bottle cart, with excellent results! Pflaum, however, managed to concentrate his zeal on the rifle, and his target was a very creditable one.

Early in the term, before night school was begun, the boarders were allowed to go to O.B.I. baths, where, with the assistance of a few day boys, we used to make things hum. We suffered for it afterwards however, and for a few weeks the washing list mainly comprised handkerchiefs.

The Senior dormitory has been provided with ample music. We must thank our friends across the road for their renderings of popular songs. Judging by the number of bodies suspended out of the windows, they were greatly appreciated. The harmony, however, was spoiled by the raucous yells of a party of midnight roisterers, who visited us during the wee sma' hours of the morning, evidently labouring under the impression that the school was an hotel.

The awful effects of the moving pictures on a young mind has been proved to the sorrow of certain members of the house. "Haroid," who is usually quite peaceful, after the advent of Snowy Baker, broke out into quite a few—fortunately unsuccessful—attempts at murder. However, after trying to brain Forgan and scalp Kelly, he retired into his former peaceful groove. We dread the advent of another "Snowy" film.

Early in the term we played the annual boarders' cricket match against Saints. The second team were beaten, while the first team were not able to conclude their match; but when stumps were drawn things were considerably in our favour. Since then, a very keen game of cricket is played every night after tea, where some hitherto undreamt-of talent has been discovered.

We shall be sorry to lose Keith Symons from the boarding house. Where he will be chiefly missed is the dining hall on Saturday evenings, where he has worked exceedingly hard to make these evenings a bit more lively. The many tournaments which have been carried through with such enthusiasm show that he has succeeded. He leaves us with the best of wishes for good luck in whatever he takes up; and he will always be remembered by us as one of the best. Kelly, McKenzie, and several others are leaving the house to become day boys; and to Masters, who is leaving to take a man's part on the West Coast, owing to the shortage of men, we wish the best of good luck.

There are a few rumours going round the house now, the main ones being to the effect that Bert's proposed birthday party went up in smoke.

It was Toby who proposed the toast.

The way the world is going, we soon shall have to add domestic to our scholastic training.

In closing, we wish all those who are leaving the shelter of our house the best of good luck, and to those coming back a jolly good time together.

Wesley High School, Azamgarh.

[BY REV. J. H. ALLEN.]

Prince Alfred boys look upon Wesley and Newington as the sister institutions of their alma mater. St. Peters and other such Colleges are their worthy rivals—cousins if you will. Perhaps not every boy is aware that there's another dusky sister away in India, and one altogether worthy to be ranked with the Colleges we are so proud of at home. I have been lately transferred from the village work of the Azamgarh District, and it has been my privilege to take charge of the school.

We have nearly 400 boys on the roll, boys as keen as any Australian schoolboy, both at lessons and at games, though the curriculum is somewhat different. We substitute Sanskrit and Arabic for Latin and Greek, and English for French or German, though a boy who passes matriculation English knows more about that language than a VI. boy knows about German, I think—shades of Herr Drews! But that's natural, since English is made the principal subject from the lower school upwards. What you call the "Senior" we call "School Leaving Certificate Examination"—S.L.C. for short. The system of examination is most thorough and interesting. Every boy who enters must present a consecutive series of "record" books extending over a period of two years preceding the exam. Take a single subject as an example. Every boy taking S.L.C. science must have three books—a note book in which to keep all notes dictated by the master, a practical book in which the results of every experiment performed is carefully recorded, and a "record" book. At least once a week the master gives the class a short examination. This exam. we call a "record," and the answers are written in the record book on one side of the page. If questions on the homework or the previous day's lessons are given, these all go in the record book. Every wrong answer must be corrected on the lefthand side of the page. Tearing a page out of this book is very strictly forbidden. A date and the teacher's initials appear on every record. Similarly, every boy keeps three English books—a note book, a translation book, and a record book, and so on. These are all carefully preserved, and with them the terminal examinations, which are also written in small books.

A month before the examination, an examiner visits the school and examines carefully the two years' record of every boy who has entered for the S.L.C. exam. These examiners are for the most part experienced and responsible masters of kindred institutions, chosen by the department.

Then the boy goes up for his exam. If he does brilliantly, but his "record" report shows that it was only a fluke that he got the questions he knew, he gets only a second class. On the other hand, if from nervousness, or ill health, or bad luck, he fails, but his record shows that he is a competent student, he is allowed a pass. No one with a very bad record can pass, no matter what kind of exam. he does; maybe he has got wind of the paper beforehand, a not unheard-of thing in India.

To my mind it's an excellent system, and tends to keep a boy keen right through, and discourages mere cramming.

Our boys are mostly Hindus and and Muhammadans, and the chief feature of our school, as opposed to partly Government institutions, is that we set apart one period a day for religious instruction. Not that that is where our Christian teaching ends. It is our hope that by faithful, conscientious service, both in the classroom and on the sports fields, we may do much more than just teach what is written in the Bible.

We play all sorts of games—cricket, association football, and tennis, but our chief game is hockey. We play class matches and school matches, &c., but never is a match suggested between Hindus and Muslims, or Christians and Hindus. It is a very strange thing how strong and tender religious susceptibilities are, even among men who pretend not to be religious at all. It is worth thinking about.

One thing we want to see. It is that our old boys shall love their school as we do Prince Alfred. We are a long way off it yet; these religious divisions work against it, but we hope it will grow gradually and surely. Esprit de corps is a truly great matter.

Public Schools and the War.

SIR W. ROBERTSON'S TRIBUTE.

General Sir William Robertson, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, recently wrote to the Head Master of the Bradfield College apologising for his inability to attend the celebration of St. Andrew's Day at the College, and asking that his letter should be read to the school. The letter runs:—

"We have entered the fourth year of a war which has imposed a severer test upon this nation than any it has been called upon to bear in past history. Up to the present time it has stood the test magnificently. This result is due to the inherent qualities of the race, and more especially to the quality of leadership, without which no country, however patriotic and devoted, can hope to survive. The majority of men are not leaders, but are influenced by the few who know what they want and mean to get it, and have acquired self-reliance through perseverance, training, and knowledge. These qualities are hard to acquire, but having been acquired there is no limit to what they can accomplish. Comparatively few men are called to a position of great responsibility. In a war such as this it involves greater effort and strain than others in a humbler position have to bear, and very often there is no reward; the work has to be done, and little credit is given to the doer of it. I think it may more truly be said of the public schools than of any other community in this country that they are the great silent service. In this age of advertisement it is difficult to imagine any higher testimonial than that. Nobody thinks of appealing to the public schools; it would be an insult. Their services and sacrifices in this war have, I believe, attracted less notice than any other, and yet nobody has ever heard a complaint or a murmur from them. Such a thing is unthinkable.

"I hope that neither the boys themselves nor the parents will regret this, however natural it may seem to do so. It should be a subject of pride. The army knows what it owes to the public schools, the men in the trenches better than anyone else, and when the time comes to appraise the nation's effort in this war full justice will be done to them. In the meantime they have the privilege and glory of setting an example to others. And until this war is over I feel sure that, however great the load they and all those connected with them have to carry, they will continue to display a high standard of duty, self-sacrifice, and fortitude."

District Sports.

The District Sports were held this year on the afternoons of April 6 and 7, with a fair number of spectators on the first day, although on the second day the attendance was decidedly poor. A fairly heavy rain on Thursday morning made the track rather heavy, but in spite of this some excellent times were registered.

East's gained first place with $49\frac{1}{2}$ points; North's were second with $31\frac{1}{2}$; South's third with 21; and Boarders last with 8. East's undoubtedly owe their victory to Fowler, who, after winning all the sprints on the first day and putting up a record of $16\frac{1}{2}$ secs. in the hurdles as well as equalling the Hundred record of $10\frac{1}{2}$ secs., came out on the second day and won every senior event with the exception of the Long Jump. Hone and Fox also ran very consistently throughout the meeting, and were the highest scorers for their respective districts.

The under 16 events were captured by McGregor and Piper, who between them provided interesting finishes in the 100 and 440.

The results of the various races were as follows:—

Junior Events.

100 Yards—1 Freebairn (N), 2 Krantz (B), 3 Hack (S) and Cooper (E). Time $12\frac{1}{2}$ secs.

120 Yards Hurdles—1 Krantz (B), 2 Walker (S), 3 Crompton (E). Time $20\frac{1}{2}$ secs.

High Jump—1 Crompton (E), 2 Freebairn (N), 3 Manuel (N). Height, 4ft. $8\frac{1}{2}$ ins.

Under 16 Events.

100 Yards—1 Piper (S), 2 McGregor (N), 3 Glastonbury (S). Time $11\frac{3}{4}$ secs.

440 Yards—1 McGregor (N), 2 Piper (S), 3 Glastonbury (S). Time 60 secs.

120 Yards Hurdles—1 McGregor (N), 2 Piper (S), 3 Hague (B). Time $18\frac{3}{4}$ secs.

Senior Events.

100 Yards—1 Fowler (E), 2 Fox (S), 3 White (E). Time 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ secs.

120 Yards Hurdles—1 Fowler (E), 2 Hone (N), 3 Chapman (B). Time 16 $\frac{3}{4}$ secs.

220 Yards—1 Fowler (E), 2 Fox (S), 3 Stanton (E). Time 23 $\frac{3}{4}$ secs.

440 Yards—1 Fowler (E), 2 Hone (N), 3 Fox (S). Time 56 secs.

High Jump—1 Fowler (E), 2 Trestrail (S), 3 Hone (N). Height, 5ft. 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ ins.

Long Jump—1 Slade (N), 2 Fowler (E), 3 Hone (N) and Fox (S). Distance, 18 ft. 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ ins.

Steeplechase—1 Fowler (E), 2 Hone (N), 3 Fox (S). Time 42 $\frac{3}{4}$ secs.

One Mile—1 Fowler (E), 2 Barton (E), 3 Kearney (B). Time, 5 mins. 56 secs.

Fallen in Battle.

Private W. C. Francis, entered 1911, enlisted in the 27th Battalion, and went to Egypt. After a month's service there he volunteered to go to France, whilst the rest of the battalion went to England for further training. He was killed in action in France on March 10, 1918.

Sergt.-Major W. S. Dawe was killed in action in France on February 20, 1918. He entered the school in 1914 as a student for the ministry, and afterwards was appointed to the Morgan circuit. He left his charge to enter as a private soldier, and spent two years on service before he was killed.

Distinctions Won.

Captain W. M. Fowler, who left South Australia as a second lieutenant with Lieut. C. W. Hooper, in charge of reinforcements for the original 10th Battalion, has been awarded the Military Cross. He has also been promoted to major, and is now second in command of the 50th Battalion, with which the remnant of the 10th was incorporated.

Captain T. Wilfred Haslam, who has done splendid work in the Australian Transport Corps, has been made a member of the newly-founded Order of the British Empire. This is a new order containing the names of members of several grades of eminence who have been honoured for service during the war.

Major W. R. Snow, M.C., has been awarded the further distinction of D.S.O.

Surgeon-Captain D. MacD. Steele, M.C., has had a bar added to his Military Cross.

Surgeon-Captain C. F. Drew was mentioned in despatches by Sir Douglas Haig. He has been serving as medical officer of the Ninth Field Ambulance, Guard's Division.

J. V. Carter has been awarded the Military Medal, and has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

F. Warren, who is serving as a bombardier of artillery, has been awarded the Military Medal.

Driver J. Crompton has been mentioned in despatches for good work done in France.

Lance-Corpl. A. C. Silby was mentioned in despatches by the late Lieut.-General Sir Stanley Maude for his good work on service in Mesopotamia.

Old Boys.

The Agent-General, Hon. F. W. Young, has received the distinction of knighthood. Those who have watched his long and consistent devotion to the best interests of his native State feel that this is a well-merited distinction. We tender to Sir Frederick and Lady Young our heartiest congratulations, with the hope that they may long be spared to enjoy the eminence this distinction gives.

Herbert A. Parsons has again entered Parliament as a member for the District of Murray.

C. A. Hack has been elected Chief President of the Victorian Australian Natives' Association.

N. W. Jolly, the first Rhodes Scholar sent from South Australia, has been appointed Commissioner of Forests in New South Wales.

Lieut. H. V. H. Throssell, V.C. has been promoted to captain. He had the honour of leading the 10th Western Australian Light Horsemen at the head of the procession of victorious troops on their entry into Jerusalem.

G. D. Cowan has gone to London to offer his services in any capacity in connection with the Red Cross Society.

P. R. Magarey has been gazetted as a lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps.

S. C. Stockham has won his commission.

Wilfrid Sharland has won his commission.

V. J. Lewis has won his commission as lieutenant by his good work in the field.

Captain E. F. Playford has been promoted to major.

Greetings which were much appreciated were received early in the year from the following Old Boys on service :—G. P. Rayner, R. H. Berriman, E. J. Colliver, W. M. Fowler, Leslie Newman, Bay Piper, and J. Hiatt.

E. F. Pflaum, of the Australian Flying Corps, recently received a new machine, on which, as his emblem or mascot, he had the school badge painted.

Harold Boas is serving as a Secretary in the Australian Y.M.C.A. Army Service Department as Jewish representative with the Australian Imperial Forces. In a recent letter he writes :—“ If I were to be asked what I consider the strongest impression which I have formed, and the most permanent result of my work, I should say that it was the broadness and cosmopolitanism evidenced on all sides from the purely religious point of view. I will give a simple evidence of this in the following outline of one day's religious work on the Plains. I found myself one Saturday evening compelled to ask for bed and board at one of our huts at Lark Hill, where I stayed the night. On sitting down to breakfast I found myself the only responsible officer among a staff of 10 or 12 men and women. At the conclusion of breakfast I asked permission to read the morning prayers. This I did, using the purely Jewish form of service rendered in the English :—‘Special War Prayer,’ ‘The Grace after Meals,’ ‘The Commandment and Prayer dealing with keeping the Sabbath Day Holy,’ and concluding with the Lord's Prayer. I was made to feel by those who had participated that the service was perfectly acceptable to them, although rendered by a conforming Jew in a purely Christian gathering.”

Cyril B. Carlin has been made a prisoner of war by the Turks in Palestine. The circumstances are set out in a letter from his mate, McCormick, whose life he tried to save, and who wrote from the hospital in Cairo as follows :—“ Cyril, myself, and others were on outpost duty, and at 1.30 a.m. on December 1st were awakened by the sentry's alarm. We jumped up and grasped our rifles. I rushed to the ammunition dump to supply my gun, and Cyril, in response to a call from the officer in charge, rushed to the front. As I reached the ammunition, a shell exploded almost at my feet, seriously wounding me and rendering me helpless, so that I could not move. A few minutes later the order was given to retire, and I saw Australian soldiers rushing past me. Then Cyril came along, and seeing me in this helpless, wounded condition, he stopped, and commenced to bind up my wounds under a heavy fire. I begged him to leave me and save himself, but he would not do so without rendering first aid, with the result that we were both taken prisoners, and stripped of all our belongings except our bare clothes. I was placed on a stretcher, and the Turks started to carry me back to their lines, while Cyril was marched off with me. We had not gone far before we came to a wounded Turk, lying on the ground, whom they placed on the stretcher, and left me lying on the ground. As soon as they were out of sight I wriggled along the ground to some shelter, where I hid, and from whence I was rescued on the following morning by a British patrol, and taken to hospital."

Arthur E. Howard in a letter to a friend in England, dated December 8, writes from Ruhleben Camp.—"Once more I can write a letter to let you know how things are going. As you know Bodin and I are out of office in the Y.M.C.A. The rest of the executive followed us, and altogether there are over 30 of us who have pulled clean out of the Association, and are now working independently. We have formed a little Christian Union among ourselves, and although we worship in no mountain neither at Jerusalem, there is a very fine corporate fighting spirit right through the whole of us. I have never felt so completely happy in any decision that I have made, as over this, and the result in efficiency and power among others has more than justified it, and makes up for any lack of comfort and convenience that we had through the Hall. I hope that the Student Union won't mind our cribbing the name C.U., but it so aptly describes us, and three of the leaders are Student Movement men. We are planning very carefully our work among men in the camp who are in any sort of need, or living under any degree of strain. I could write heaps to you about the ways in which men let themselves go and the different tendencies that express themselves from time to time in the general life of the camp, but I know that it is completely impossible even to suggest the kind of thing that it really is, so I won't start. It is getting near Christmas again—our fourth here. I wonder if it will be our last? For many reasons I hope so, but it is not a matter of absolute necessity to me; I can stand all that is coming along, and help others as well, who can't. My packets have begun to come again from Denmark, and I am very relieved. The winter has started in earnest and people who skate have already had a couple of days on the ice. There is a thaw to-day and you know what that means. A long walk in the hills would be a wonderful thing to us who get nothing longer than 500 yards around our playing field."

Recent letters from Lieut. Stanford Howard contain the following interesting details of a trainee's experiences as a member of the Flying Corps. He writes:—"I made my first trip three days ago in a Maurice Farman, a hulking great bus which has the propeller at the back while you sit in front in a little car or nacelle. We left the ground and I had my hands on the dual joy stick and my feet on the ditto rudder bar just to feel how the instructor did things. We got up 2,000 feet and sailed round in the blue for a while, but it was a bit bumpy. Funny sort of feeling like the starting of a lift, only worse! I was awfully delighted with the thing as a whole though. The ground looks simply lovely from the air. There was the Severn winding its way through green fields and woods, and cattle were dotted about the fields, and at intervals all over the landscape little towns and villages raised their chimneys, their towers, and their steeples into the air. It is the smallness of everything that is so pleasing to the eye. Every detail is absolutely distinct, but, oh! so tiny. You remember our Noah's Ark, animals and trees and houses; well the ground and its details are for all the world like them, but the difference is that one also has the joy of knowing that they are not artificial and of seeing their natural colours and perspectives. Well, at last we came down. The instructor, who, by the way, is a Frenchman, and a fine pilot, put the nose of the old bus down and shut off the engine. We glided down in silence save for the whistling of the wind, and our course was a large spiral; this was great and I experienced all kinds of new pleasures. My attention was distracted from time to time by a little Sopwith 'pup' which would persist in looping the loop about 50 yards in front of us. However, we landed safely. The next day I had another spin, and this time I had to fly the old bird cage myself, with the instructor to correct me. We went over Shrewsbury, about seven miles away. The town is beautiful from the air and I picked many familiar spots. We spiralled down to about 300 feet above the roofs and had a good look round and then set out for home. I was flying the bus and had to fly straight on a point, but it is not easy. The air was a bit bumpy and first my right wing would go up. I would correct this and then my left would go up. I would correct this and find my nose too far down and then too far up, until when I looked up, I would find myself miles off my point. Gradually I got into the way of looking after my three dimensions all at once, i.e.—direction, lateral position, and longitudinal position; then, picking up a railway line, I hung on to it right back to the aerodrome. My instructor was quite pleased with me and made me feel satisfied. After several days of this instruction, I was told that I had to go up alone. On my first venture I was 25 minutes in the air; on the second, I was out 65 minutes, doing 7 landings in that time. On my third effort I almost came to grief. I was turning to the left and for this had to put my wing down, when a gust caught me under the right wing and raised it to the vertical. I was at a height of about 600 feet then, and being vertical I began to side-slip very fast to earth, the machine turning to the left in small circles. Well, I thought my last hour had come, but I thank Heaven for helping me to keep my head. I jammed on the right rudder as hard as possible and put on right aileron as hard as possible, when to my joy, the bus righted itself and came out of it. It was a nasty experience, but I was glad of having had it, as it tested me, and as I have been told, trials not only prove a man, they also improve him."

Obituaries.

Rev. A. Metters died on February 28, 1918. He entered the school as a student for the ministry of the Baptist Church, and served his church faithfully to the end. For some time before his death he had been Senior Chaplain on service at Mitcham Camp, where he has left a record of devoted service in the best interests of the great numbers of men who were from time to time in that camp.

E. A. Rischbieth died on March 25, 1918. He entered the school in 1894. After a few years in the junior school he went to England and finished his education at Clifton College. He entered into commercial life, and was well and favourably known as a director of the firm of G. & R. Wills,

Rev. J. G. White died on April 16, 1918. He entered in 1914 as a ministerial student.

Tennis Notes.

Owing to the relaying of our courts the tennis tournament could not be started till the fourth week of the term; and as the entries are easily up to the high standard of the past few years, the end of the tournament is some way off yet. Before the commencement of the tournament, a meeting of all competitors was held, when it was unanimously decided that prizes should not be awarded, but that the entry money should be given to the sports fund, as so much money which previously went to the sports has gone to swell the war funds. It was thought, too, that as the sports fund had paid for the relaying of the courts, it was only fair that it should have the benefit of the money obtained from the entries.

Intercollegiate Sports.

On the afternoon of Saturday, April 20, 1918, the twenty-first anniversary of the Intercollegiate Sports was held. Fine weather favoured the contest, though an east wind rising later in the afternoon hindered to a slight extent some of the events. We wish to express our gratitude to Lady Galway, who graciously consented to present the cup to the winning team, and distribute the medals to the winners of the events. Both Saints and Princes supported their schools well in the stands, and excitement was at fever heat right through the first half.

Fowler captained the team for Princes. His performance was unquestionably the feature of the day, and he is to be most heartily congratulated on his splendid athletic qualities. Besides lowering his previous record in the Hurdles by 1.5th sec., he gained 30 points out of a possible 30, winning six events. This established another record, the previous number of individual points gained being 23. Never before in the Intercollegiate contests has such a high standard of athletics been attained by a competitor.

The greatest race of the day was the 220 Yards Flat. Owing to a slight misjudgment on the part of the starter, Fowler was left standing on the mark. This gave him a disadvantage of several yards, but gradually he lessened the distance till at the tape he finished three yards ahead of the next man.

On the whole, the standard of the sports was high. Fowler, as stated, beat his own record in the Hurdles; Crompton came within half an inch of the Junior, and Fowler within three-quarters of an inch of the Senior High Jump records. Several records other than these were missed only by very small margins.

The day ended in a win for Princes with 62 5-6th points against Saints' 48 1-6th points.

High Jump (Juniors).—C. W. Crompton (Princes), 5 ft.; G. H. Freebairn (Princes); Lee, Wald, and Verco (Saints) tied for third. The jumping was very good. Crompton was unfortunate in not touching the record. Freebairn was second, with Lee, Wald, and Verco tie for third.

120 Yards Senior Hurdles.—R. M. Fowler (Princes), L. V. Pellew (Saints), R. O. Fox (Princes). Time, 16 1-5th secs. This race fulfilled all expectations in being a great go between Fowler and Pellew. Fowler lowered his previous record by 1-5th sec.

100 Yards Flat (under 16).—F. J. S. Cavenott (Saints), W. W. McGregor (Princes), R. V. Crawford (Saints). Time, 11 1-5th sec. McGregor's start lost him this race, though he ran a fine race and regained a lot of lost ground. The race was run in 1-5th sec. over record time.

100 Yards Flat (Senior).—R. M. Fowler (Princes), L. V. Pellew (Saints), E. L. Pellew (Saints). Time, 10 3-5th secs.

Senior High Jump.—R. M. Fowler (Princes), A. C. Trestrail (Princes), Bagshaw (Saints) and Laycock (Saints) tied. Height jumped by winner, 5 ft. 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. Fowler gave a fine exhibition of clean jumping, but was unable to reach the record.

100 yards Flat (Junior).—D. W. Berry (Saints), G. H. Freebairn (Princes), R. Krantz (Princes). Time, 11 4-5th secs. This race was run in good time. The Juniors were good all round, gaining 11 points to Saints' 7.

220 Yards Flat.—R. M. Fowler (Princes), L. V. Pellew (Saints), E. L. Pellew (Saints). Time, 24 1-5th secs. Fowler ran magnificently.

440 Yards Flat (under 16).—C. T. Piper (Princes), W. N. McGregor (Princes), K. Glastonbury (Princes). Time, 59 1-5th secs. This was certainly Princes' race, and was fairly fast, Princes gaining all three places.

300 Yards Steeplechase.—R. M. Fowler (Princes), R. O. Fox (Princes), A. C. Weston (Saints). Time, 41 2-5th secs. Fowler was far from pressed in this race, yet he ran it in 1-5th sec. above record time. Fox ran a good second.

440 Yards Flat.—E. L. Pellew (Saints), I. C. Barton (Princes), M. White (Princes). Time 56 secs. This was a fairly fast race. Hone took charge over the first part of the distance but the pace was too hot, and Pellew judging his finish well, beat Barton by some yards. White ran a good third.

120 Yards Hurdles (Junior).—P. K. Lee (Saints), R. S. Cooper (Princes), R. Krantz (Princes). Time 19 4-5th secs. Won in good style, our men running second and third.

Broad Jump.—R. M. Fowler (Princes), L. V. Pellew (Saints), E. L. Pellew (Saints). Fowler excelled himself in this, jumping 20 ft. 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ ins. Pellew jumped well, reaching 19 ft. 1 in.

120 Yards Hurdles (under 16).—A. C. Wigan (Saints), R. M. McDonald (Saints), W. W. McGregor (Princes). Time 18 3-5th secs. McGregor was still feeling the effects of the 440 and did not run at his best.

One Mile Flat.—R. J. Legoe (Saints), A. P. Lever (Saints), I. C. Barton (Princes). Time 5.15. Legoe ran a very strong race. Barton ran a good third, especially considering that he had only just run the 440.

District Cricket.

This term three District matches have been played, and they have all been marked by exceptionally long innings. Some very good scores have been recorded, the best being those of Hone, 179 against Souths; Prest, 159 against Boarders; and Pflaum, 92 against Souths.

Prep. Notes.

On March 4th we started work in the New Prep. The rooms are larger and much brighter than the old ones and the outside room is fine on hot days and should be nice for shelter in winter.

Mr. Ashton, our drawing master, has very kindly painted two pictures for the new Prep. class-rooms. One of them, showing the departure of Hiawatha, is very interesting to us as we have been learning "Hiawatha" for recitation. It was very kind of Mr. Ashton, and we wish to thank him very much.

The school library is still growing. We wish to thank Joyner (2), W. Evans (3), and M. Evans (2), for books received this term and apologise to M. Evans for not having included his name amongst those who gave books last term.

We played the Lower Thirds cricket twice this term, but they beat us each time; however, we hope to do better next season. We are practising hard for the sports and hope to have a very pleasant day.

Drill.

"Squad! Stand at ease! Stand easy!"
 Ah, what a welcome sound!
 Which gives us an e'er-welcome rest,
 And time to look around;
 And time to pass our comments
 Upon the N.C.O.,
 And all the foolish laws they've passed,
 Which make them drill us so.

And also on the officer,
 Who sternly looks around,
 And sees us sitting at our ease
 Upon the restful ground;
 And blows his shrieking whistle
 And yells out on the spot
 With a voice like a distant thunder-roll,
 "Hey there, bring up that squad!"

And up we get and drill again,
 Till we are fit to drop
 With double march and right incline;
 Oh, wouldn't we like to stop!
 And still we keep on drilling
 Out in the scorching sun,
 And to the Non. Com. listen
 With his endless atten—shun.

And thus we'll keep on drilling,
 And swearing hard no end,
 And listen to the Non-Com. lad
 Whom we would like to bend.
 But as to everything that's nice,
 To bad there is "Finis,"
 So at the end of that hour's drill
 Is the joyful word "Dismiss!"

BACK ROW.—F. I. Grey, Esq., R. J. Eaton, R. S. Lee, C. P. Prest, W. N. White, C. R. Davies, Esq.
SITTING.—L. H. Pflaum, R. N. Jones (Vice-Capt.), H. G. Prest (Capt.), G. M. Hone, H. R. Finch.
IN FRONT.—L. B. Wilson, R. S. Cooper (Scorer), W. A. Crosby.

Our Fleet.

Far out upon the wild North Sea
 You'll find them grim and grey ;
 And to the Pacific's furthest shores
 You'll meet them all the way ;
 Upon Atlantic's stormy waves
 They guard our rights so dear ;
 'Pon Mediterranean's shining deeps
 They keep the pathway clear.

The bleak and frozen Arctic shores
 Have heard their gunnery roar ;
 Right to Antarctic's ice-bound waves
 The White Ensign doth soar.
 And in the Tropic's torrid zones,
 You'll find their iron walls ;
 All o'er the globe they're found on guard
 Wherever duty calls.

The urgent call of duty clear,
 It is their guiding light ;
 With them it is a glorious death
 To die in Duty's fight :
 To sink beneath the angry waves
 When matched against the foe
 Of God, of King, of country dear,
 Whose love they well do know.

And so upon the world's great deeps
 They keep our Empire free,
 And 'tis the spirit of the Fleet
 Which e'er our light shall be,
 To lead us on, to buoy us up,
 To win at any price ;
 For it a grand example sets
 By its great sacrifice.

Athletic Sports,

Although the weather did not have a promising aspect on the day of our Annual Sports Meeting, our friends did not desert us, and there was a goodly company assembled at the College on the 27th April to witness the efforts of their youthful friends in the struggle for supremacy on the grassy sward.

Fowler again demonstrated his remarkable all-round athletic ability by winning the Cup with 35 points out of a possible 35—a record for the College, and one on which he is to be most heartily congratulated. Hone and White tied for second place with 13 each, but Hone was unfortunate in injuring his leg in the first jump of the Long Jump, which prevented his competing in that event and the Half Mile. Fox, the other competitor, obtained 8 points.

Several heats were run off on the previous Thursday. It was unfortunate that four senior events followed in succession, and this may possibly have accounted for the poorness of the fields turned out for some events, but the same cannot be said of Saturday's events, when the fields turned out in some cases were very poor compared with the entries.

Good times were put up in the 220 Yards, Half Mile, 150 Yards under 16, and the under 16 Championship. The Junior Hurdles results proved very different from the results of the numerous tests for the intercollegiate team, none of whom were placed. The Obstacle Races caused the usual amount of amusement, and much sympathy was expressed for the good all-round man who got caught in the ladder. Some of the spectators also found that a boy running backwards is no pleasant object to collide with. In the Prep. races, some of the miniature runners made quite good races, but they should live up to the soldiers' motto, "Never look round."

The results were as follows:—

75 Yards Junior Preparatory School.—First heat, R. D. Langsford, L. B. Cooper, K. D. Harris; second heat, R. K. Malin, H. Goldsack, R. C. Fleming; third heat, R. B. Lees, G. N. Mitchell, W. D. Verco; final, R. K. Malin, K. D. Harris, R. C. Fleming.

100 Yards Senior Preparatory School.—First heat, L. B. Cooper, K. Goldman, K. K. Angel; second heat, K. D. Harris, W. D. Verco, R. E. Godson; third heat, J. P. Fiddian, E. G. Dingle, J. H. Fry; final, K. D. Harris, L. B. Cooper, K. Goldman.

Extract from a Soldier's Letter.

Extract from letter received from Pte. W. F. Simpson:—On Wednesday we went through big armament works at Sheffield, and had a good time. We saw them rolling out huge slabs of armour-plate for warships out of a large block of steel; it seemed wonderful how they could roll it out in such quick time. After this we went to another shed where they were making big naval guns and howitzers. We saw guns in all the different stages of making, right from a rough mass of steel to a polished and finished gun. One very interesting stage was the winding of steel wire round the barrel of a naval gun to make it flexible. After this we went to the place where they temper the guns. To do this they have the gun on a travelling crane capable of lifting 200 tons; the gun is then dropped into a well of oil, which is 150 feet deep, and by the time the gun has reached the bottom and come to the surface again it has been properly tempered. Of course they have different wells for different sized guns. The next place was the shell shop; here, they were making every sort of shell which is used. In the shrapnel room they were filling the shells with steel pellets which were kept in place by pouring boiling wax on them—this work was being done by the munition girls, and they are going hard at it from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night. In another part was the high explosive room; this place is somewhat similar to the shrapnel room, but instead of filling the shells with pellets, they were using a yellow coloured powder called T.N.T. which is a very high explosive. These shells are filled by hydraulic pressure so as not to allow of any empty spaces inside the shell which would contain air. Next was where they were fitting the nose pieces on to the shells. The naval shells which are used for piercing armour plate had points on them like needles, but the Howitzers were rounded off more. Well, this finished the making of the guns and shells, so we went across to another shop where the men were cutting blocks of steel which were 18 inches square, with a flame of compressed oxygen; it took half a minute to cut through a block; so that was quick work, wasn't it? This finished the afternoon's tour of the works, but of course we only saw a small part; it would take nearly a week to go through the whole lot; they employ 15,000 hands, so that will give you some idea of the magnitude of the factory. Next, we were taken to the cinema room and shown a few pictures of how the guns are tested; but they wouldn't explain much, as they regard it as a secret. On Thursday we went to see Joseph Rodgers cutlery show room. There we saw some of the most beautiful things imaginable. One curio was 12 complete pairs of scissors on a balance, and they only weighed half a grain; this might be hard to believe, but it is true nevertheless; to make them work you had to insert the point of a needle into each handle and then you could cut a hair with them. We also saw a knife with 1915 blades in it, they have been putting a blade in for every year, so now they are going to put five more in o it up to 1920, but after that they will put one in for every five years. There were some beautiful ivory tusks there too, some weighing between 300 and 400 pounds, also some exquisite pearls. There is an air raid on now, so I must go and have a look at Fritz.

Christian Union Notes.

The Committee decided that, owing to the large percentage of new boys in the school, Mr. Haslam should address the first meeting for the year, and should explain the objects of the Union to the new boys. The Rev. F. Lade, M.A., addressed the second meeting, and took for his subject, "A soldier entangleth not himself."

The schoolroom was full at the next meeting, when Rev. Donald McNicol gave us a spirited address. He took for his text the everyday saying "Two and two make four." He told us that he always liked the fellow who was good at arithmetic (especially addition) and who could always add something to what he already had.

We were very fortunate in getting Mr. Wisewould to address the next meeting. He is one of the General Secretaries of the A.S.C.U. and was in the State on a holiday.

The Committee, acting on a suggestion of Mr. Haslam, decided to commence the Bible Study Circles in the first term, so as to leave the third term quite free. We are giving up every other Friday to the Circle work as we did last year. The book we are using has been compiled by Mr. Haslam, and the subject is "Paul." Friday, March 1st, was given up to a general meeting for arranging the circles, and Mr. Haslam explained to the members what was necessary.

Mr. L. A. Mander, B.A., an old boy of the school, addressed us on the following Friday; and on April 12th, Rev. R. E. Stanley, who is shortly leaving for the front with the Y.M.C.A., was the speaker. The remaining meetings of the term will be taken by Rev. E. H. Fernie, B.A., and the Head Master.

Rev. J. H. Allen, B.A., an old scholar and former master of P.A.C., and now a missionary in India writes:—"It is now nearly two years since you were kind enough to make a present to the church here through me of a communion set. The gift has never been forgotten by those who received it, though the givers may have let the incident slip from their minds. It is used on each first Sunday of the month by our Indian Christian Congregation, and it is a great pleasure to me to have the feeling of solemnity during our sacramental services wrapped up with the very happy memories I have of Prince Alfred College, and especially its Christian Union. I now have charge of the Christian High School here in Azamgarh. I have written a little about it for the Chronicle, but you will perhaps be especially interested to hear of the Christian side of the work. While ours is a Mission School, the boys are Hindus and Muhammadans. It is ours to teach these boys of Christ. They come to us from prejudiced homes and with a very different outlook from the boys of a Christian land, but it is a great privilege to teach them. Quite apart from conversions, which have been on the whole only few and far between, the general effect upon the thought of the country exerted by mission schools is enormous. Teaching the truths of the New Testament to boys who do not at all take it for granted that Christ was far above all other teachers and beyond criticism, is a very different task from giving Bible lessons in our own country. We look at the Bible with spectacles coloured by our early teaching. For instance, a day or two ago we read Mark 4, where it says, v. 12—'All things are done in parables that seeing, they may see and not perceive, lest haply they should turn again and be converted.' A boy at once looked up and said—'Why shouldn't they be converted?' and the question takes some answering. And there are much harder questions than that. Let any boy who likes, read Mark 13 and think how he'd start explaining it to a set of keen Indians, or after impressing on a class the unity of Christ with God, he's faced with that mysterious cry 'My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me'? One must remember too that a strict Hindu cannot think of Christ as sinless, since he did not rebuke those that killed animals—'Where is mercy' they cry, 'when one has mercy only on men and not on our servants, the poor dumb animals!' I have said enough for you to see that to adequately teach these boys, you need to 'keep your wits about you' as John Wesley says. One needs grace, and faith, and love. But one needs more—knowledge too, is essential, not only of our scriptures, but of theirs, and almost above all, a saving sense of humour—a sense which will lead one to be playfully sarcastic and deadly earnest at the right time. I will not weary you further, but I would like you to think of us in our work and pray for us if the thought may come to you at the right time. I always look most keenly for any C.U. news in the Chronicle or elsewhere. I noticed your subscription to the A.C.U. funds in the last Intercollegian. Well done P.A.C. 'Reds can't be beat.'"

Memorial to Capt. J. W. Blacket and Lance-Cpl. G. C. Davies.

As was stated in a previous issue of the "Chronicle," it has been thought inadvisable to proceed at present with the erection of the proposed Memorial Building, but it is hoped that the necessary funds will be available when the time comes for the work to be done. The need for increased accommodation will be felt more severely now that our numbers have increased, but it is not intended to build until we can see our way to erect a building which will harmonise with the rest of the College buildings, and will be a fitting memorial to the work done for the school by Capt. Blacket and Lance-Cpl. Davies. Contributions will still be received and acknowledged in the "Chronicle," and it is hoped that by the end of the year the subscription list may be closed.

Since the last list was published the following contributions have been received:—

The objects of the Association are:—To keep Old Boys, wherever they may be, in touch with one another and with the boys at the school; also to foster and maintain their interest in the school.

The P.A.C. Chronicle, of which a large part is devoted to matters of special interest to Old Boys, is forwarded to each member of the Association.

A dinner is held annually, at a time which is thought likely to give as many Old Boys as possible an opportunity of meeting one another; and social gatherings are held whenever any occasion arises that makes them desirable.

The Association gives annually to the school the Old Collegians' Scholarship, of the value of fifteen guineas, and donates five guineas per annum to the Sports Fund. Two Scholarships tenable for two years are also awarded and are balloted for by the members.

The subscription is six shillings per annum. It is suggested that Country Members should remit sufficient to cover four years' subscriptions or become Life Members by payment of £5 5s. Any Old Boy wishing to become a member can do so by forwarding his name and address to the Head Master, or to any member of the staff or to one of the Secretaries.
