Editorial.

Since the Renaissance, English literature has panted constantly after the Mediterranean water brooks, and we find that even before 1453 "Dan Chaucer, well of English undefiled," owed much of his limpid freshness to that welling source. To Greek we owe all of our standard literary forms save the satire, practically all of our literary devices—rime and alliteration being the outstanding exceptions—and the less tangible, though no less potent, influence towards exalted thought and condensed expression which a study of these has inevitably brought to play upon our language. The greatest things in our dramatic and epic poetry are not in the line of natural development from our earlier Teutonic-Scandinavian literature; "Hamlet" and "Paradise Lost" are not the descendants of Beowulf and Piers Ploughman; the Prometheus and the Odyssey are their forbears. Then the Latinizing influence of the Norman conquest and the long establishment of Latin as the educated language of Christendom have conjointly exerted a moulding force upon our tongue, which has, without obscuring its essentially Teutonic genius, imparted to it a wealth of romantic words and syntactical combinations sufficient to change the complexion, if not the fundamentals, of the language.

These influences, while affording us a vehicle of thought at once colourful and powerful, have made Latin and Greek so essential to English-speaking peoples that we cannot but lament their gradual decline from the school curriculum.

Nowadays, the self-made business man brings the son and heir to school, surveys the curriculum as though it were a menu, and, on being informed that one cannot take all subjects on the "straight through, all courses" plan, immediately pounces on the only name of the list which he recognises.

"Teach him book-keeping," he says. "Eh? Latin or Greek? No; he doesn't want his head full of dead languages; he's got to look after a growing business, not to be an undertaker." And off the good man goes, quite sure of his grounds in writing off as "dead" both Latin—a language which springs into life every time a Romance word is used in any literature—and Greek, which resembles modern Greek more closely than Modern English does Middle English, and is thus no more dead than the work of Geoffrey Chaucer.

There have, of course, been arguments advanced to salve the conscience of those who have reached a point of civilization so advanced that they can afford to do away with culture and such nonsense. Some, taking their stand on the Morte d'Arthur, the Pilgrim's Progress, and kindred pieces of English prose almost free from foreign borrowing, declare that no more explicit medium of expression could be desired, and disparage the learning of the so-called "Classics" on the ground that knowledge is translatable, point by point and atom by atom, from one language to another.

To the first part of this argument we reply that modern ideas demand new words beyond the compound-forming resources of the language. As Quiller-Couch points out, it is easier to borrow the "Impenetrability of matter" than to form, on pure English principles, the "Un-go-throughsomeness of stuff." To the second part we reply that knowledge is not the only end of study, that culture is an equally essential part of an education, and that prose and poetry cannot be taken from one setting and put in another without losing in beauty. It is better, certainly, to see beauty through a veil than not at all; but in reading the original tongues one sees beauty face to face, and not only as in translation, through a glass, darkly.

Of course, the whole matter hinges on what the modern world considers education really to mean. The essence of the view we are advocating is well stated in the introduction to Fowler's translation of Lucian. "There may be forms of education less paying than the commercial, yet better worth paying for"; just as there may be nobler if less profitable forms of industry than the intensely specialized. In industry one of the products of minute specialization is the man whose life work is to keep making the fiftieth part of a pin; in education the product is the man who knows the chemistry and geology of copper, and nothing else. Some specialization is as necessary in education as it is in industry; but, if it is excessively persisted in, rational culture is doomed. When knowledge elbows out culture and the collection of facts is thought more important than the cultivation of faculties, the twilight of the intellect has begun.

"Forms of education less paying than the commercial, yet better worth paying for" may make a nation rich, but can never make a nation great. The Forum and the Parthenon are crumbling to decay; but the literature—the true "Glory that was Greece" and "Grandeur that was Rome"—still survives. The old-time prophecy has been fulfilled: "Sound, not arms, shall win the prize." Sound, the music of verse, is the path to fame; not arms, and not money. The counting house dies; the school remains. Tyre and Sidon traded and reached eminence, until at length their prosperity passed away; Athens taught, and she is at this hour one of the capitals of human thought.

It is for the public generally to take a Pisgah view of the education of the community, and to decide that the youth of the nation wants something better than instruction in the way to gain a living; and it is for us public-school fellows, who believe that "Studies serve for Delight, for Ornament" as well as "for Ability" to earn one's crust, to see that Latin does not languish, as Greek did, and to preserve the classical-stronghold tradition of the great English schools, or we shall see our almae matres turned into business colleges, where typewriters buzz, where small boys struggle with journals and ledgers, and the child-mind is instructed in the mysteries of compound interest.

School Notes.

The marriage of Miss Gwen Bayly, the Head Master's eldest daughter, to Mr. Ian R. McTaggart, of Nonning Station, took place during the holidays. The School, through the "Chronicle," wishes them both every happiness and the best that life can bring.

The Scholarship awards for 1924, which could not be made public until the Government Bursaries were awarded, were as follows:—

- John Dunn Scholarship—W. C. Alexander.
- Old Collegians' Scholarship—D. D. Harris.
- E. B. Colton Scholarship—W. A. W. Evans.
- Colton Scholarship—A. M. Bills.
- Longbottom Scholarship—M. W. Evans.
- Malpas Scholarship—B. W. Hone.
- Robb Scholarship—H. M. Southwood.
- Arnold Davey Scholarship—J. E. Davis.
- Senior Elder Scholarship—H. W. L. Herbert.
- George Wills Scholarship—A. Cockington.
- Cotton Medal—A. S. Lewis.
- Harold Fisher Prize—G. L. Bayly.
- Smith History Prize (Senior)—J. K. Allison.
- Smith History Prize (Junior)—E. A. Kesting.

Entrance Scholarships have been awarded as follows:—

The Elder Entrance to L. C. Holland.

Gartrell Entrance to J. Fricker.

Reg. Davey Entrance to O. R. Acott.

Old Collegians' Entrance to J. S. Alford and L. K. Wilson.

N. W. Brooker, C. J. Habich, F. B. Mills, E. A. Schulz, and W. R. White were successful in Leaving English at the Supplementary Examination in March, and thus won their certificates.

Ivor Hele's exceptional skill in drawing has won for him unusual distinction. At the Royal Drawing Society's Exhibition in London in April he was awarded Princess Louise's prize in the dominion and foreign section. Later, at the exhibition of pictures at the Guildhall, London, the Council of the Royal Drawing Society purchased a picture of figure drawing by Hele for the permanent King Edward VII. Memorial Collection Art Gallery. We congratulate both Mr. Ashton and Hele most heartily.

The collection made in the School, at the time of the appeal on behalf of Tubercular Soldiers, realised £14.

Mr. P. E. Johnstone has presented the Library with 28 numbers of the National Geographical Magazine, which have been bound up in five volumes. Mr. E. Ziegler has presented a nicely illustrated volume on England in Mid-Victorian times. An anonymous donor has sent us "Great Leaders and Landmarks in European History," in 6 volumes. All these gifts are warmly appreciated.

A hearty welcome to Mr. Palmer and Mr. Blamey! We trust that they will be happy and successful in their work among us.

Mr. D. H. McDougall has presented a handsome cup to the School, which is to be a perpetual trophy for inter-house competition. The name of the Cock-house for the year will be placed upon a silver shield attached to the plinth on which the cup rests. Harry McDougall has probably been in the boarding house longer than any other boy now at School. Those who have been associated with him as boarders will always recall his cheery nature, but the McDougall Cup will keep his name before a host of Prince Alfred boys who will not have the pleasure of his companionship at School. This gift is much appreciated, and we tender the heartiest thanks of the School to the donor. It should act as a spur to the members of the School Houses to enter with increased enthusiasm into all House activities.

During the term we have been addressed by several visitors, to whom we are indebted for inspiring talks to us on matters of unusual interest.

On February 27th, Dr. M. J. Rendall, until recently Head Master of Winchester College, lunched with the Head Master, and spent the afternoon at the School. After luncheon he made a tour of the School and was much interested in the courses we were engaged upon, and the conditions under which we work. He afterwards addressed the School and gave us an inspiring call to loyalty, based upon a combination of the Winchester motto and our own. He guarded us against a superficial interpretation of the "manners" that make a man, and urged us always to interpret them as the whole round character. Our own motto pleased him. He spoke of the fine way in which it had been exemplified on every front of the Great War, and finally led our thoughts up to Him who had done brave things and endured for all mankind. After paying a warm tribute to the physical qualities and prowess of Australians, he urged us to strive after a culture of the mind to match our bodily vigour. Our country, he saw, was full of great possibilities for rearing a great race, and he appealed to us to stick to Great Britain as she would stick to us, in efforts to lead the whole world aright, as our fathers, in spite of many weaknesses, had striven to do.

On March 27th, Mr. Radcliffe, District Commissioner for Scouts, gave a lecture on the tour of Boy Scouts to Wembley Exhibition. He showed a fine set of slides, illustrating the whole tour, which embraced visits to Kandy and Cairo en route, trips through England, Scotland, France, Belgium, and Switzerland. Everywhere they met with a most cordial welcome, and were given opportunities of seeing many places of historical interest. Altogether the tour must have been full of pleasure and educative opportunities.

Mr. E. V. Newman, B.A., youngest son of the late Rev. Chas. Newman, who has had long experience of Student Christian Union work in Sydney, told us of many interesting experiences and personages met with during a visit to Europe as delegate to Christian Student Movement Conferences. He spoke with especial warmth of the hospitality and good fellowship met with in Berlin.

Rev. H. E. Hayes was present at assembly on May 6th, and gave us a graphic account of the circumstances under which 'Ioc H was developed, through the splendid personality of Rev. P. H. Clayton. Mr. Clayton is expected in Adelaide during next term, and an appointment has been made for him to address the school on July 29. Mr. Hayes has come out as Mr. Clayton's herald, and his spirited address will make us eager to hear his chief.

As a school we tender our deep sympathy to the family of the late Mr. James Marshall in their bereavement. For a long period of her history he had kept in close touch with the school, and always evinced warm interest in her progress. As a close personal friend of the late Head Master, Mr. Chapple, he used to be a constant visitor at the College, and as a member of the Executive Committee for many years he was ever ready to place his far-seeing business mind at our service when called upon.

Our obituary notices record the deaths of three Old Boys of outstanding personality in different spheres of life—Rev. N. J. Cocks, M.A., Frank H. Cowell, M.A., and Henry Rischbieth. To their families we tender our warm sympathy in their loss.

Old Boys' Notes.

B. E. Lawrence and D. G. McKay were successful at the March supplementary Examination in the Organic Chemistry of the third year of the medical course.

Hearty congratulations to G. M. Hone on winning the championship doubles at the recent tennis tournament, with G. L. Patterson; to W. R. James and K. S. Berriman on winning the second open doubles championship; and to W. R. James on winning the junior championship.

Dr. R. W. Cilento called at the School during his brief stay in South Australia, on furlough from his work at Rabaul. He was greatly interested in the development at the School, especially the Memorial Buildings.

A. L. Tilly of Perth was presented recently with a handsome plated tray and tea service by 62 chemists of West Australia, in recognition of his 29 years' service in connection with the Pharmaceutical Society.

Dr. R. F. Binns has gone to Europe for experience and further study in his profession.

K. N. Innes and L. J. Nesbit have been admitted as practitioners of the Supreme Court of South Australia.

Wallace Bruce has been elected President of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. Lavington Bonython as his Vice-President.

Rev. F. L. Joyce, who has been for many years engaged in the China Inland Mission, passed through Adelaide recently during his furlough from his duties in Honan. He was on his way to England.

B. W. Hone showed such excellent form at the recent Tennis Tournament that a brilliant career at the game was confidently predicted for him by most competent judges. We wish him good luck in his effort to outstrip the success of Dr. G. M. Hone, whose splendid form during the past season won him such fame throughout the States, especially in the trials for the Davis Cup team.

R. J. S. Muir paid a visit to the school during a holiday spent in Adelaide. He has spent many years among the sugar-cane fields of Queensland, and is now cane inspector of the Mulgrave Central Mill, a mill established on the co-operative principle by sugar-cane farmers. His appearance and vigour was strong evidence that white men can live and work in tropical Australia if they will only lead temperate lives.

Albert Goode has retired from the position of managing director of the firm of Matthew Goode & Co., Limited, with which he has been connected almost since he left school. He has entered into business activities in Perth.

Will Ashton, soon after his return from his trip to Europe, held an exhibition in Sydney of the work painted during his wanderings. The exhibition was eminently successful in every way. His work won high praise from most competent critics for its individuality and fine quality, and the splendid results financially were the most eloquent testimony of the appreciation of art lovers. Two pictures were purchased for the Sydney Art Gallery.

H. L. Jessop, who has been acting as manager in West Australia for the company, has been appointed a director of Matthew Goode & Co., Ltd.

C. C. Crump, LL.B., was one of those chosen to represent the University of Adelaide in the debates against Messrs. Woodruff, Hollis, and MacDonald, representatives of Oxford. This is an honour and an interesting experience on which we heartily congratulate him.

Obituary.

REV. N. J. COCKS, M.A.
Author of "Princes' Men."

Rev. N. J. Cocks, M.A., died suddenly in Sydney on 20th January, 1925, at the age of 57. He entered the school on a scholarship in 1880, and remained till 1882. He then entered an office, but, coming under the inspiring influence of Rev. J. C. Kirby, his thoughts were directed to the ministry. He went to Sydney and entered Camden College—the training college for Congregational ministers. His course here and at the University of Sydney was brilliant, and he finally graduated as M.A., with honours in philosophy, in which subject he won the coveted gold medal. From 1890 he was a tutor at Camden College until 1900, when he took up parochial work, and afterwards held several charges, until in 1907 he was appointed to the Pitt Street Church. Towards the end of 1924 he resigned his pastorate at Pitt Street, with the intention of going to England to arrange for the publication of his poetical work, of which competent critics had spoken highly. He was one of the moving spirits in arranging a gathering of Old Reds to honour the Head Master while in Sydney last August, and one of the most enthusiastic over the project to place a stained glass window in the Memorial Hall. Buoyant health and manly vigour seemed then to radiate from him, and no one dreamt then that an organic disorder was active which would so soon end his life.

Alan Lyon, R. Rutledge Snell, and Walter Treleaven, M.A., represented Old Reds in Sydney at the funeral service, in which Rev. T. Gordon Robertson took a part.

The following words have been culled from one of the many tributes that appeared in the Sydney papers:—"When I met him forty years ago he was a singularly attractive-looking youth, with brown eyes and curly hair, and the charm of his person was matched by the charm of his winsome personality. His physical appearance changed with the passing of the envious years, but the charm of his personality remained to the end. Everybody loved him in those early years; few, if any, guessed at the tremendous intellectual power behind those brown eyes. In truth there was genius there, if genius be intellectual capacity enormously above the average. His mathematical ability was of a high order, and with it were combined philosophical and poetical gifts. A great heart also was his, filled with the most tender and understanding sympathy with his struggling fellow men. Many a man in Sydney has reason to bless his brotherly helpfulness."

It is regrettable that so fine and rare a personality was not spared to give to the world more in the way of literary output. He has, however, written a considerable quantity of verse and many hymns, some at least of which the world will not let die.

Frank H. Cowell, M.A., passed away at Medindie on January 19th, 1925, at the age of 41 years. He entered the School in 1893, and, after a brilliant course, left in 1898 with a University Scholarship. It was his wish to take a medical course, but, on the doctor's advice, he abandoned the idea. He took the Arts course, and finally graduated as M.A. His life was devoted to the business so long associated with the family name, in which he was taking a leading part at the time of his decease. Many interests outside business were cultivated by him, and his death at such an early age is deplored by a large number of friends in religious, social, and business activities.

Henry W. Rischbieth died in London on March 26th, at the age of 56. He was at School from 1881 to 1887. As an all round athlete he was one of the giants of his day. He played in the first eleven in 1885-6-7, and in the first eighteen in 1886 and 1887, when he was captain, and won the College Cup in 1887. He took up wool as an intensive study, and spent some time in Bradford that he might perfect himself in the knowledge of it. Later he settled in West Australia, when his business enterprise and personality won him a place among the leading wool merchants of the State. The limelight of public life never attracted him, but he entered heartily into activities connected with his chosen work, and he played a fine part in efforts to establish returned soldiers on the land.

Intercollegiate Sports.

Owing to the Easter break, and its nearness to Anzac Day, the Intercollegiate Sports meeting was held on a Friday, April 24 being the day appointed. The weather was fine, and a fairly close contest was expected, but our hopes were dashed to the ground, as the scores show—S.P.S.C. 86½ points, P.A.C. 33½ points. Saints, who had a far superior team to ours, broke three records, and equalled a fourth.

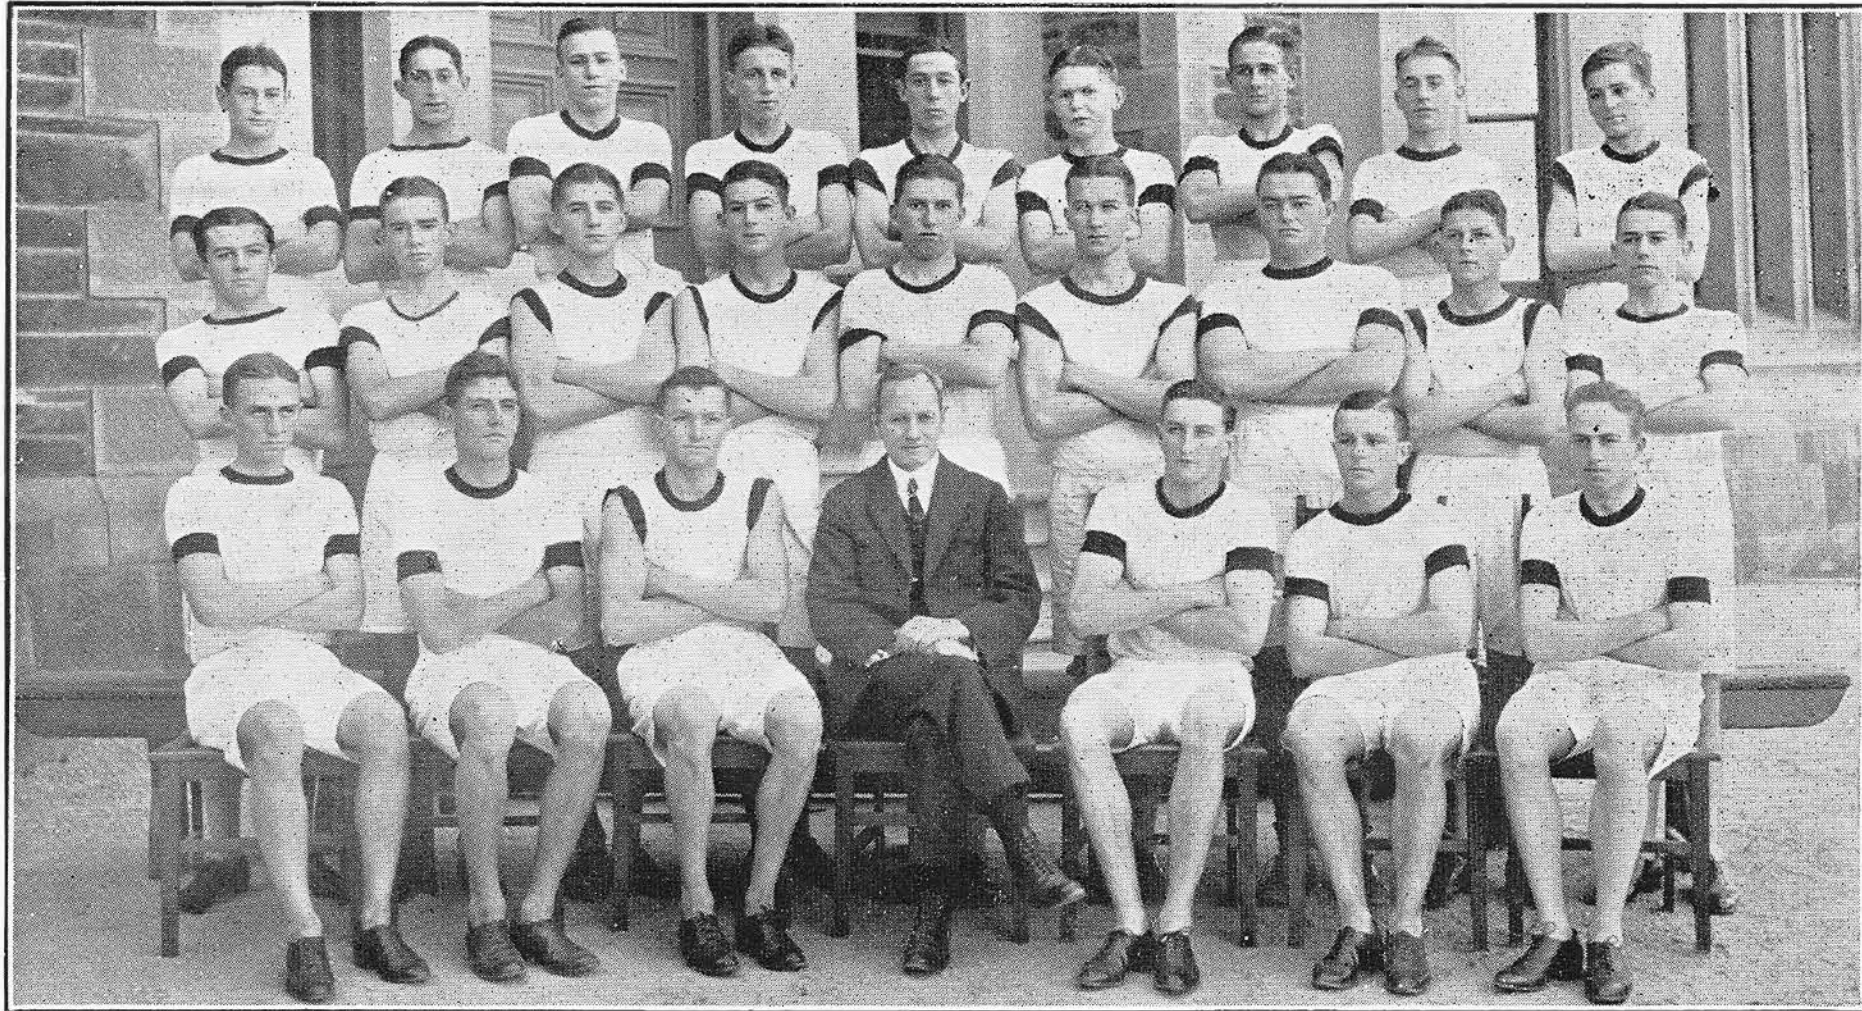

We desire to thank Mr. Justice Poole for presenting the medals and trophies to those who were successful.

120 Yards Hurdles (Senior).—C. B. Sangster (Saints), W. S. Reid (Saints), H. R. Oaten (Princes). Time, 17½ secs. Sangster drew away from the start, and won comfortably. Oaten ran a good race, but was beaten by Reid.

100 Yards Flat (Under 16).—I. Seppelt (Saints), H. V. Atkins (Saints), J. W. Flood (Saints). Time, 11 secs. Saints' three men had this race to themselves, their first, second, and third men finishing in that order.

100 Yards Flat (Senior).—A. H. Young (Saints), R. C. Royal (Princes), C. B. Sangster (Saints). Time, 11 secs. Royal ran a good race, but could not catch Young, whose stride won him more than one race that day.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORTS TEAM, 1925.

BACK ROW—B. M. Jolly, L. P. A. Lawrence, R. G. Warren, F. H. Jackett, G. Hallett, N. H. Sutton, K. F. Chapple, G. E. Holmes, F. F. Heddle
MIDDLE ROW—H. R. Oaten, N. H. Arnold, H. E. Loechel, R. F. Fox, J. W. Willsmore, L. B. Cooper, W. F. McCarthy, S. J. Torr, E. A. Schulz
FRONT ROW—J. A. Reed, R. F. Kemp, M. W. Evans (Capt.), F. I. Grey, Esq. (Sportsmaster), R. C. L. Royal Vice-Capt.), C. J. L. Rofe, E. J. Reed
Absent—R. G. Williams.

100 Yards Flat (Junior).—A. L. Ellis (Saints), N. H. Sutton (Princes), T. V. Winnall (Saints). Time, $11\frac{2}{5}$ secs. Ellis easily outstripped the field, Sutton beating Winnall by a small margin.

High Jump (Senior)—W. M. Steele (Saints), G. H. Machin (Saints), S. J. Torr (Princes) and E. G. Stone (Saints) tie. Height, 5 ft. $6\frac{1}{2}$ in. Saints were superior here, equalling the record, and our men gradually dropped out. Torr's jumping exceeded our expectations, and he earned a well deserved third.

100 Yards Flat (Old Scholars).—A. K. Thomas (Saints), L. J. Nesbit (Princes). There was a fine tussle between Thomas and Nesbit, but the former obtained first place.

220 Yards Flat.—A. H. Young (Saints), R. C. Royal (Princes), G. Hallett (Princes). Time, $23\frac{3}{5}$ secs. Young again beat Royal, and Hallett secured third place by good running.

High Jump (Junior)—F. H. Jackett (Princes), N. H. Sutton (Princes), R. G. Williams (Princes). Height, 4 ft. $10\frac{1}{2}$ in. We quite outclassed Saints here, gaining all three places.

Putting the Weight.—C. B. Sangster (Saints), I. Seppelt (Saints), W. F. McCarthy (Princes). Distance, 31 ft. 9 in. The feature of this event was the signal failure of our representatives to approach the standard attained in our House Sports. Sangster broke the record.

120 Yards Hurdles (Under 16)—J. W. Flood (Saints), I. Seppelt (Saints), H. V. Atkins (Saints). Time, $17\frac{2}{5}$ secs. This race was run in record time, and Saints again secured the three places.

120 Yards Hurdles (Old Scholars).—M. F. Perrott (Princes), T. K. Moorhouse (Saints), D. R. Downey (Saints). Time, $17\frac{1}{5}$ secs. Perrott lead all the way, and won by a substantial margin.

Broad Jump.—C. B. Sangster (Saints), R. C. Royal (Princes), S. J. Torr (Princes). Distance, 20 ft. 4 in.

440 Yards Flat (Senior).—A. H. Young (Saints), R. C. Royal (Princes), E. J. Reed (Princes). Time, $53\frac{3}{5}$ secs. In this race Young equalled a record which has stood for 18 years.

120 Yards Hurdles (Junior).—T. V. Winnall (Saints), N. H. Sutton (Princes), G. W. N. Ratten (Saints). Time, $17\frac{1}{5}$ secs. Saints again obtained first and third places, with Sutton second, as in the Junior Hundred.

300 Yards Steeplechase,—R. McK. Johnston (Saints), W. S. Reid (Saints), M. W. Evans (Princes). Time, 45 secs. Saints led over each jump, and though Evans tried hard, he could not get more than third.

A GENERAL NUISANCE THAT WAS AT THE SPORTS ON FRIDAY APRIL 24

440 Yards Flat (Under 16)—J. W. Flood (Saints), H. E. Loechel (Princes), A. L. Ellis (Saints). Time, 58 $\frac{1}{2}$ secs. Loechel ran very well, but was unable to beat Flood.

One Mile Flat.—D. P. Turnbull (Saints), K. F. Chapple (Princes), M. Hill (Saints). This was a disappointing race to us. Rofe had shown excellent promise, but was unwell, and only finished the race with much difficulty. Evans, our first string, had previously run in the Steeplechase, and had trouble with his knee. Our third man, however, ran exceptionally well, and secured second place.

Total Points.—S.P.S.C., 86 $\frac{1}{2}$.

P.A.C., 33 $\frac{1}{2}$.

School Sports.

The School Sports were held on Saturday, May 2nd, on the College Oval, under weather conditions that would have been ideal but for a slight gusty wind. The attendance was rather poor, which, however, did not mar the enthusiastic competition and success of the afternoon.

The number of entries this year has been exceedingly gratifying, (there being approximately two hundred entries in the Obstacle race alone) necessitating several heats and events being decided during the week.

The Cup field was small and the competition, after Royal won the hurdles, uninteresting. We tender our hearty congratulation to R. C. L. Royal, who ran exceedingly well, on his fine performance, winning five out of the seven events.

We take this opportunity of expressing our gratitude to Mrs. Erichsen who kindly consented to distribute the prizes, and also to all those who helped to make the afternoon successful by filling official positions.

CUP EVENTS.

To round off the afternoon's sport, an impromptu "Old Buffers" Race was arranged. Fifteen entries were received and a fair field started as they were—hats, pipes and all. The winner, Mr. H. H. Cowell, a slenderly youthful "Old Buffer," just got home ahead of Mr. S. G. Lawrence, to whom advancing years are not adding weight. Then, not far behind, came the genuine "Old Buffers," with Mr. Langley in the lead. The entry money 15/-, was handed to the Prize Fund.

We acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of the following contributions towards the Prize Fund:—

Dr. Dawkins, Mr. Reed, Mr. W. Lathlean, Mr. T. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Duncan, Mrs. W. R. Bayly, Miss Dreyer, Mr. W. R. Bayly, Mr. W. A. Sneyd, Mr. A. H. Buring, Mr. A. H. Bills, Mr. W. Boarders' Notes.

The boarders once again, after a lapse of three years, number 104. However, the number does not necessarily account for the boarders' successes in the various departments of school life. We welcomed very heartily the opportunity of visiting the Prince of Wales Theatre during the Shakespearian season, and were further enlightened in literature by "Winter's Tale."

The P.A.C. cement works have made very good progress during the term, and have provided adequate means of controlling the creek through the coming winter. Hard by the cement works lies the "Grey Court." The use of the court has been restricted to the Sixth forms, and much use has been made of it already, wholly by the boarders, who have also done the cutting and marking. Many enjoyable games have been played, due to the hours of work spent by Mr. Grey in preparing the court. We all thank him very heartily.

Many of the boarders are becoming persuaded that they showed promise until they drifted into commercialism. Several heated arguments have occurred, but by skilful debating the public representatives have always carried the day, plus the respect of the V.I.C. boarders. However, some of those same fellows almost ruined the Exhibition, by repeatedly bringing home loads of chocolates, won by skill!

The boarders warmly appreciated Mr. Ashton's gift of pictures to the school. The appearance of the library has been greatly improved as a result. The growth in the amount of interest taken in the library has necessitated the installation of a box known as "Uncle Tom's Cabin," for the reception of torn paper, magazines, and, perhaps, unruly persons.

Naturally, all are looking forward to the holidays, and we hope that everybody will spend a most enjoyable time. Unfortunately two worthies are leaving us, so we wish Royal and McWaters the very best of luck.

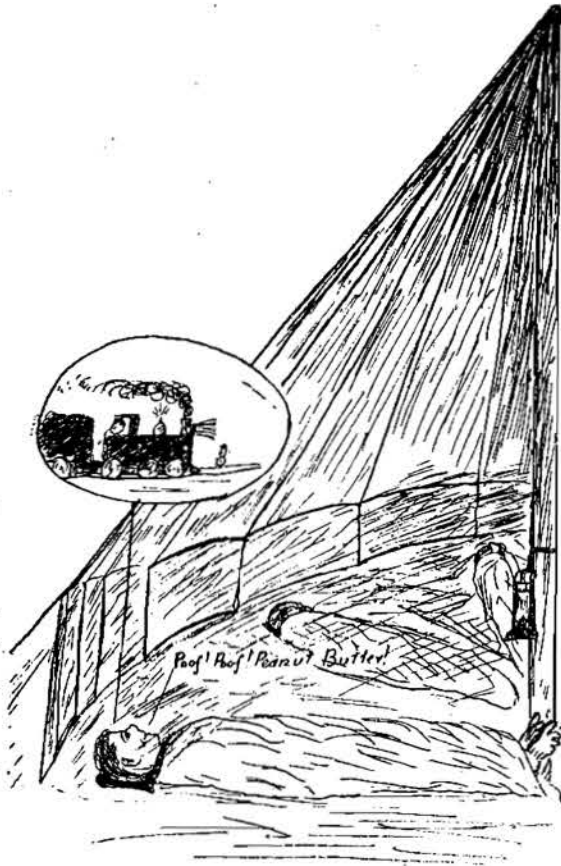

After many enquiries, we have not yet succeeded in finding an answer to the pertinent question, "Why do some human beings make a noise like that of infuriated geese?"

Boy Scout Notes.

THE EASTER CAMP.
(By 'Tenderfoot.')

The inconvenience of carrying tents, packs, and frying-pans, was undergone quite cheerfully by the Scouts who took part in the Bridgewater Easter Camp, for clear, sunny skies, prevailed throughout the holidays, and cheerful happiness filled everybody's heart. Soon we arrived at the camping site, and in a very short time the tents were standing ready to receive tired and happy campers. After tea, each Scout prepared his bunk for the night, and just as the moon began to peep over the darkening hills there came the startling sounds of men and girls calling and answering in merry tones a little way along the valley. Then a crowd of strangers burst round the bend of the creek, and in a few minutes, amid the ring of hammers on steel pegs, another tent stood erect but thirty yards away. Half an hour passed; our neighbours departed, and once again a solemn stillness settled o'er the hills. Just as we were settling down again for the night, the unknown campers again returned, and, after much hysterical chattering, this time purely feminine, the calm of the night was once again restored. A watch was set, and, tired and happy, we turned in to peaceful slumbers.

Next morning we awoke to find that our noisy neighbours were Girl Guides; so our anxious fears melted away, and we set to work to straighten out the camp.

The boarders' shower is not altogether an enviable necessity on cold mornings, but it has to take second place to the creek as a freezing agency.

Troop-Leader Herbert soon busied himself with building a stone bridge across the creek, and also gave us a clear, swift-running rivulet from which to obtain our water.

Sausages formed our morning meal. At first we experienced a little difficulty in handling these, but eventually, after a little coaxing, we managed to subdue them sufficiently to make a meal.

SAUSAGES THIS WAY!

During the course of the camp, weird and wonderful concoctions were produced by the cooks, and even the smoke at times became curious to know what was inside the tin.

In the afternoon, Mr. Williams and Mr. Dodd visited us, and while they were enjoying our home-made tea, and consoling themselves in some measure for not being able to stay with us for the night, loud cries of distress came from across the creek.

"A murder, surely!" flashed through Mr. Williams's mind as he sprang to his feet.

"Disastrous accident!" thought the Scoutmaster, and dashed for the ambulance outfit.

Together they bounded across the creek, and raced headlong down the valley to find a fair young damsel supported by several friends, and bleeding profusely from—the big toe.

Quickly the S.M. wiped away the blood with a damp cloth, while Mr. Williams opened the kit and pulled out ointment, iodine, and bandages.

"My! This is serious!" said he.

"Sh! Sh! Don't frighten her so," cried the bystanders.

"Well, she wouldn't be the first to die on Good Friday."

At last the work of rescue was complete, and, after receiving the grateful lady's sincere thanks, we returned to our mugs of tea, undisturbed by the heroic rescue just effected.

After tea we participated in games, and then, around the camp fire, the inevitable stories made their appearance. We give Bowering pride of place for originality and wit.

On Saturday morning we were awakened by a generous butcher who had brought our chops for breakfast. Excitement and expectation were in the air on this day, for the Head was to pay us a visit. At length he arrived, accompanied by Mr. Blamey, who at once inspired the scouts with pioneering enthusiasm, so that in a very short time a flight of steps down to the creek was constructed from branches of trees. The Head, well pleased with the camp-site, endeavoured to show the scouts how to pull down dead branches from an old tree, but decided, after a time, that such methods of producing firewood were not to be encouraged; so the old tree remained to beautify the landscape. Mrs. Symons also called to see us, and brought a very acceptable bag of home-made scones and biscuits.

In the evening we were informed at one of the shops that Mr. Bayly had left his glasses behind, and desired the scouts to find them, if possible. With careful tread and wary eye, we crept stealthily along the creek, and lo and behold, there they were, quietly resting upon the bank. Perhaps an entry in a Scout diary will explain much of what followed: "April 11, 1915, wore Head's glasses." We can quite imagine with what pride this diary will be shown when the owner seats his grandson on his knee, and tells of "the good old scouting days of 1925."

THE WOOD-CUTTER. DUTY CALLS.

That night most of the scouts were guests of the Girl Guides, at a camp-fire sing-song, and, so they told the unlucky S.M. who was checking accounts, they enjoyed themselves immensely.

On Sunday morning we filled two seats in the local church, and blended our sweet voices most enthusiastically with those of the regular congregation. Games occupied us in the afternoon, while jellies and custards—yes, you read aright—occupied us both externally and internally at tea-time. After church in the evening, we visited Mr. Giles, upon his kind invitation, to hear a wireless concert, which we enjoyed most thoroughly. After a brisk run back to camp, we had a free expression concert, which must have amazed, if not terrified, all within hearing.

In the morning we had been joined by Anderson, and during the afternoon, while we were manoeuvring among the hills, Mr. Bowering left his card. Unfortunately he had to leave just before we returned from our rambles. That night there came from one of the tents weird noises which puzzled us greatly, until we recognised Bowering's melodious voice singing, "It aint gonna rain no more," with variations of his own.

Early Monday morning the tents were down and stowed away in the bags, and by midday it was "Farewell Bridgewater, we've got to go."

During the term Mr. Radcliffe, District Commissioner, and an Old Red, visited us, and gave a lantern lecture on his trip to Wembley with the Boy Scout Contingent. It was very interesting and inspired those who saw it with a great desire to visit the "Old World," and see for themselves the wonders depicted. During the course of his summary, Mr. Radcliffe emphasized the need when travelling "to do in Rome as the Romans do," and not to despise other peoples' ideas and ideals, as they have a different view-point from ours, and have as much right to believe their principles to be good and true as we have. We take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Radcliffe for his interesting and inspiring lecture, and hope that he will often visit us in the future.

The James Ashton Bequest.

Mr. Ashton has long had it in mind to bequeath to the School a number of works of art which should not only adorn the College, but should form a permanent memorial of his long service as Art Master. It has been his wish that this intention should be carried out while he is still associated with the College, and he himself may have the gratification of sharing in the pleasure his magnanimity is bringing to the School as a whole. The equipment of the new library has given him just the opportunity he was seeking, and he has taken the fullest advantage of it by adorning the walls with a collection of valuable pictures. These works of art are greatly appreciated, and are a continual source of interest to those who use the library. Such a gift cannot fail to have a refining influence upon growing boys, who, as a rule, are not deeply interested in an Art Gallery. By continual association with such works they cannot fail ultimately to feel responsive to their appeal, and gradually to realise why great value is placed upon them. Those whose privilege it has been to be associated with Mr. Ashton in School life will need no such reminder of him and his work ; recollection will not fail them. They, however, must pass, and memory with them, but permanent record of him and his work will not now depend upon human frailty ; a noble reminder of both will remain before the School as long as his beautiful bequest survives the vicissitudes of time and chance. "Long may that be !" will be the prayer of all who are privileged to call him friend, and they are a host indeed.

The following works comprise his bequest :—

- Sea Piece, by Julius Olsson, R.A.
- Sand Dunes, by J. Windass, R.H.A.
- St. Ive's Bay, by Will Ashton, R.O.I.
- The Old Barracks, by J. R. G. Reynolds, A.M.
- Portrait of Jas. Ashton, by J. Muir Auld.
- Cattle, by J. R. G. Webb.
- Still Life Study, by Robert Waden.
- Houghton Road, by E. Davies, F.S.A.I.A.
- The Bluff from Granite Island, by H. P. Gill, A.R.C.A.
- For All Eternity, by Jas. Ashton.
- Moonrise near the Grange, by Jas. Ashton.
- Portrait of a Minister, Artist Unknown.
- Still Life Study, by Will Ashton.
- The Bluff from Port Elliott, by Jas. Ashton.
- An example of Japanese Art on Silk.
- Two examples of Japanese gesso work.
- A Gun Metal Shield.

Christian Union.

This term has proved a most successful one for the Christian Union, and all the meetings have been well attended. During the second week a committee was formed to manage affairs, and the Head Master opened the year's activities with an inspiring address on the schoolboy's responsibilities.

On the following Friday we were fortunate in having Mr. J. G. Jenkin to speak to us, and those who remembered his former visit eagerly looked forward to hearing him again. What he had to say was most instructive, gathered as it was during years of hard work on the Kalgoorlie goldfields.

The next week's meeting was taken by Mr. Perry, who is so well known to, and popular with, all the older members.

Mr. Wright helped us to realise the responsibility laid upon us by our very existence, and Mr. Massey, of the Y.M.C.A., aptly explained the need of a vision in life.

The following week, on the occasion of Dr. Cilento's visit, the attendance was exceptionally good, quite the best way in which we could show our appreciation. The address was on "Papua and its Inhabitants." Many of us were surprised to hear that the greater part of New Guinea has never been explored by Europeans, Dr. Cilento himself having penetrated country untrodden by any other white man. We were quite able to appreciate his description of the witch doctor and his doings, for, unfortunately, Papuans are not the only people subject to deception by the spectacular.

Mr. Newman, who represented the A.S.C.U. at several international conferences in France and Germany, and who has just returned, was our guest at lunch on April 3rd. He clearly showed us that the hard battle against necessity students have to fight on the other side of the world was not exaggerated, and helped us to realise what the C.U. is doing, not only materially, but also towards the establishment of brotherhood between true Christians. It was most interesting to hear how the international meetings are conducted, where the delegates are handicapped by speaking different languages. It is remarkable that the Chinese representatives should have impressed Mr. Newman as much as they did Mr. Hurrey, who visited the school last year.

The next three meetings had to be abandoned, one falling on the same day as the Intercollegiate Sports, and the other two owing to the unexpected non-appearance of the gentlemen who were to have spoken. This was particularly disappointing, as we shall not have the pleasure of hearing them, as both are leaving the State.

In looking back over the addresses of the term, the similarity of spirit is most striking, and we are confident that it has left a powerful and lasting impression upon our minds.

House Sports.

Excellent conditions on April 16th and 17th augmented the success which enthusiastic rivalry always makes of the Inter-House Athletics. The victory was to Waterhouse by a substantial margin; but Spicer, Robb, and Colton had a vigorous tussle before the fortunes of the day left them in the positions given below.

 CRITIQUE OF TENNIS TEAM.

[By the Vice-Captain.]

Bills.—Drives and volleys stylishly and with excellent direction. Service good, but does not carry him far enough into the court, and return of service catches him on service line. Is quick to play to weakness of opponent, but does not, at present, concentrate sufficiently on the game.

[By the Captain.]

Hunwick.—Has flat backhand and forehand drives, which could be made faster by top spin without sacrificing any of the margin of accuracy. Erratic overhead, both in smashing and service. Courtcraft good, enabling him to get chances for the brilliant volleying at which he excels.

Torr.—Steady, cool and resourceful player. Has a paying cross-court backhand shot, but cannot yet pass straight down the line. Ground shots and service mediocre, but steady service and bright volleying mark him out as a player above the average.

Loechel.—Has shown great improvement as the result of particularly assiduous practice. Good fast service. Uses centre theory in singles, driving hard down and following to the net with success. Backhand fundamentally weak—a block shot at best. If this defect were remedied, an already fine game would be made brilliant.

Fox.—Uses his height and reach to advantage in service, and can drive forcibly on both sides. His good, easy style of service carries him well into court, but he hesitates instead of closing on the net, and is thus forced to half-volley the return of service.

Robinson.—Young player of promise, with natural swerve-service. Court generalship exceedingly poor, as he shirks opportunities for smashing and volleying, being content to let tosses lob, and to return them by drives. These defects, and his horror of the net, are counterbalanced by beautiful backhand and forehand drives, which he can bring off from all angles.

The Team.—A fine lot of fellows, who are always triers at practice, and who can be relied upon to do their best ever when the game is against them. It has been a very real pleasure to work with them.

House Notes.

COLTON.

Prefects: Haldane, Harbison, Fogden, Fiddian.

As a House, we have had a fair measure of success this term. Most of its members are young, so that we had difficulty in choosing a team of the same standard as those of the opposing Houses; nevertheless we were successful in one of the two cricket matches played. In our first match against Spicer, we were beaten by a much stronger team. However, against Robb, we accounted for ourselves much more satisfactorily, scoring a victory by a fair margin. The approach of the sports saw the close of the cricket season.

J. A. and E. J. Reed proved great assets to us, and bore the brunt of the work for Colton in the House Sports. Although we only gained fourth place, the team made a very praiseworthy effort. We congratulate our fellow-boarders, Waterhouse, on coming top.

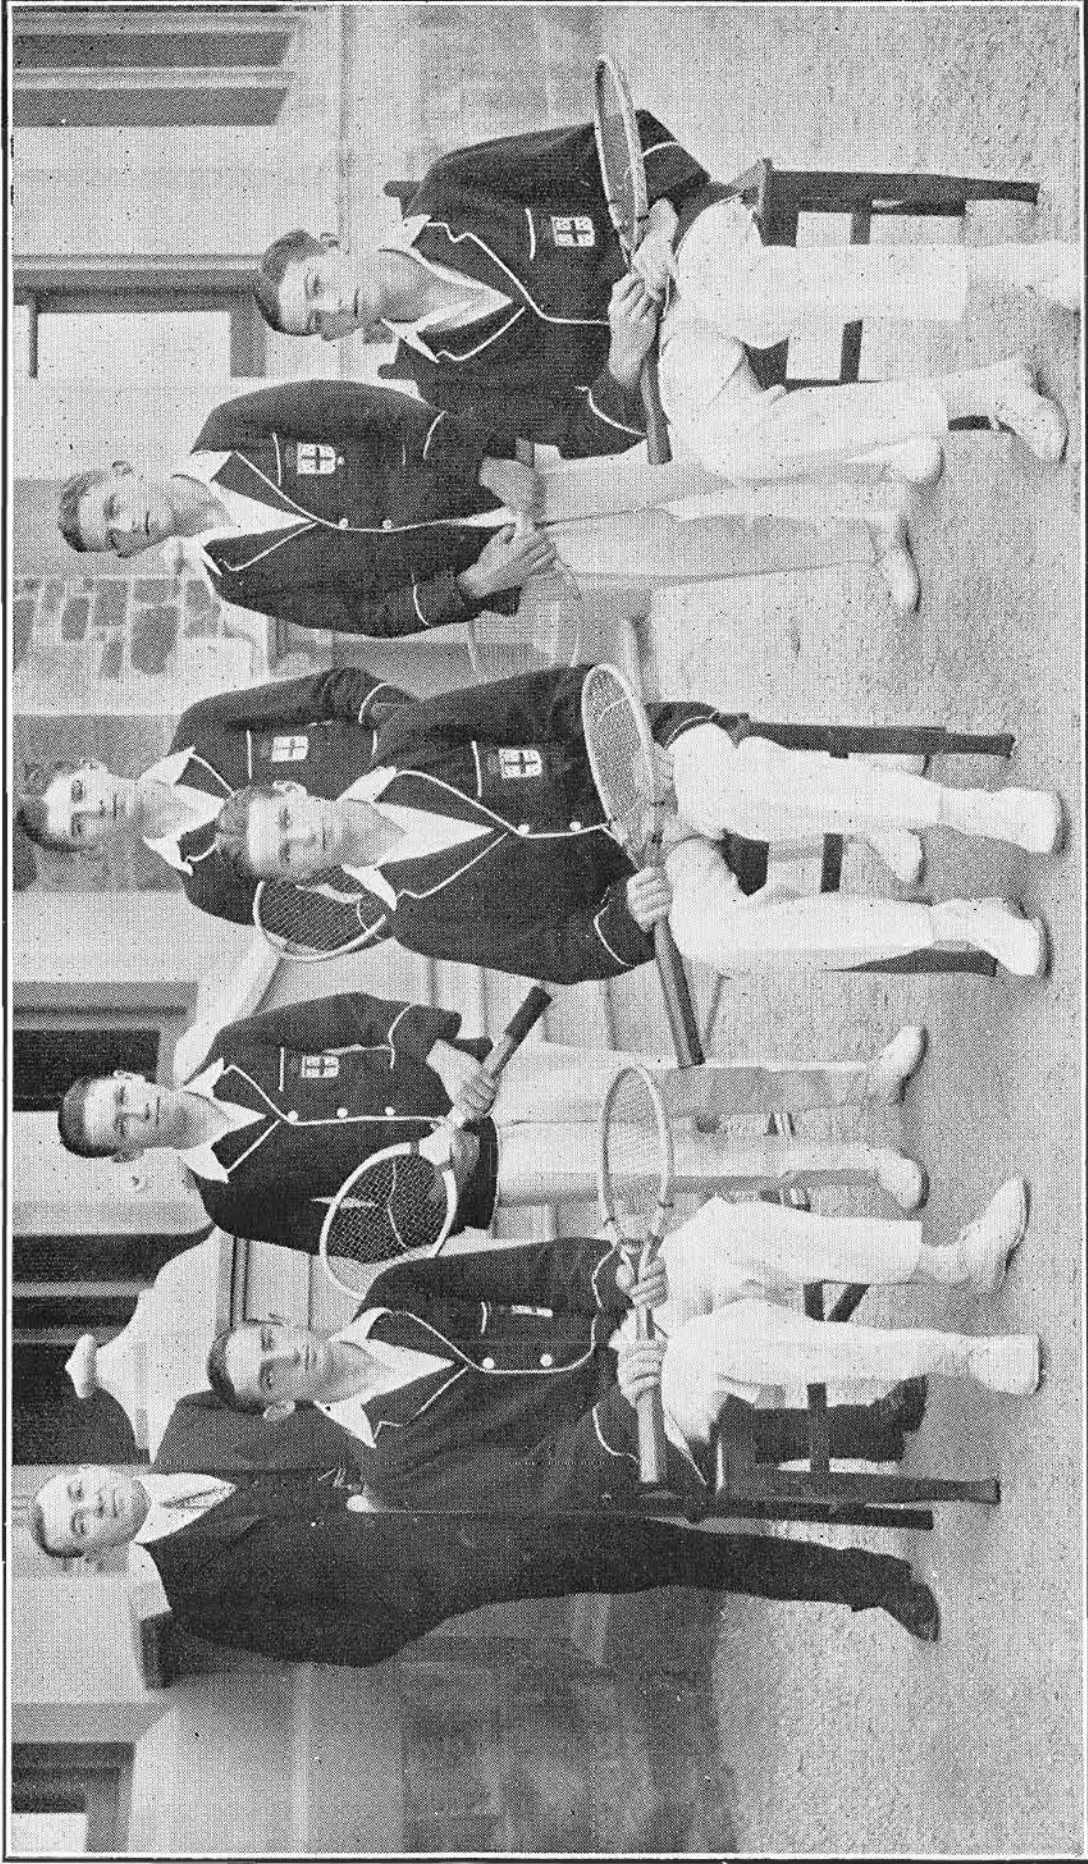

In the Intercollegiate Tennis, we were worthily represented by Loechel and Robinson, and in Athletics by J. A. and E. J. Reed, Loechel, and Heddle.

We have high hopes with regard to the House Tennis, since our position for the year may depend largely upon its result. It is also hoped that the whole House will begin the football season enthusiastically, and that each will do his bit for Colton.

We extend a very hearty welcome to Mr. Palmer, and thank him for the assistance which he has given us.

The new arrivals to Colton are:—Smith, Cooper, Greenslade, K. Kelly, J. A. Reed, E. J. Reed, Bettess, K. Burnard, D. Burnard, C. R. Kelly, Peter, Anderson, Cook, Dunn, Ellis, D. Farley, E. Farley, Lee, Marshman, McDonald, Tonkin, Sheidow.

COTTON.

We came back this year with high hopes and resolves to cover ourselves liberally with glory; but so far the veneer is rather thin. First, however, we must heartily congratulate Hunwick and Kemp on having been chosen School Prefects, and also Torr and Hallett on their election as House Prefects.

Our House well upheld the honour of the school at the Intercollegiate Tennis, being represented by three of the six players. To these—Hunwick, Fox, and Torr—we tender our heartiest congratulations.

We should like to express our appreciation of the worthy efforts of Kemp, Torr, Hallett, Fox, and F. Jackett, our representatives in the Intercollegiate Sports.

To our many new boys, we offer a hearty welcome, and hope they will help materially to further the interests of their House.

MALPAS.

Most of our giants of last year have left us, and we began the term with a very young team. Nevertheless we are full of hope for a successful year.

Congratulations are due to Evans, Southwood, Schultz, and Millen on being appointed House Prefects. Evans was appointed Captain of the School, and Southwood is also a School Prefect. To Evans, Schultz, and Cooper, who were competitors in the Intercollegiate Sports, and especially to Evans, who was elected Captain, we extend our heartiest congratulations.

We played only two cricket matches this year, and owing chiefly to the batting of Evans, Schultz, and Millen, and to the bowling of Evans and Millen, we were easily successful in both. Thus we qualify for the final round in the third term against Spicer.

We were not very successful in the House Sports, but we wish to congratulate Cooper on winning the putting the weight, and Evans on winning the steeplechase.

We take this opportunity to extend a hearty welcome to the following new boys to our House. We urge them always to uphold the honour of Malpas House, both in the class-room and in the field. New boys:—C. L. Anderson, H. F. Stone, G. A. Reid, W. F. Holman, N. A. Harris, K. E. Gerard, H. J. Mealor, G. C. Jones, C. G. Bennett, P. L. Hooper, K. J. Peek, R. H. Wheeler, J. S. Alford, W. N. Waite, R. C. Walter, J. Gillingham.

ROBB.

House Masters—Messrs. J. D. Iliffe and G. M. Potts.

House Prefects—C. J. L. Rofe (Senior Prefect), H. R. H. N. Oaten, W. R. White, A. Cockington.

Though the name of our house suggests that we are responsible for all the thieving done in the world, yet there is one who robs us every year of members who have done great things for the House and for the School. But there is no need to shed tears because Time passes by; for there are always men waiting to take the places of those who have been torn from us by that relentless thief.

We therefore began the year in high spirits. Cricket and Sports have been much in evidence during the term, and though we have not by any means crushed the opposition, some creditable performances have been achieved by our representatives. In Cricket we have met Colton and Spicer; in each case the better team won, namely, our opponents; but the games were well fought out. In the House Sports our fellows did not make a very promising start, but a good recovery on the second day enabled them to climb up to third place. Our most successful performers were:—Oaten, first in the Senior Hurdles, and tie for second in the High Jump; Rofe, first in the Mile; Arnold, second in the Junior 100; Williams, second in the Junior High Jump. All of these took part also in the Intercollegiate Sports, together with Payne and Jolly. We congratulate them most heartily, especially Williams, who was second of the three P.A.C. representatives who filled all the places in the Junior High Jump.

The year is still quite young, so it is not too late for every fellow in the House to do something for it, whether on the field or in the classroom. We haven't any room in the House for slackers of any description, so we hope to make our presence felt in a very real manner before the year has ended.

To the following new members we extend a hearty welcome and best wishes:—Fricker, Edgecombe, Farrant, Richardson, Barry, Hall, Jessop, Jordan, Howland, Smithers, Phillips, Hastwell, Crapp, Hunter, Hunt, Johnston, Hawkes.

 SPICER.

As usual, at the opening of the year, we found the number of senior boys to be very small; and, in spite of the addition of several new boys, one at least of whom is of goodly proportions, it is still small.

Under the captaincy of Dud. Richards, our cricket team played two matches, and on both occasions were led to victory.

At our first meeting it was agreed that our Full Prefect, Buring, and House-prefects, Chapple, Richards and Willsmore, should constitute the committee which, with the House Masters, should control House affairs.

With a rather young sports team we managed to secure second place. Our representatives were K. Chapple, Lawrence, Sutton, Holmes, McCarthy, and C. F. Chapple. We extend our congratulations to Sutton on winning two Junior events, and gaining second place in another. Owing to the fact that our team was so young, Chapple and Lawrence were forced to compete in four events, each against others much older than themselves, and under the circumstances did very well. Of these Lawrence, Sutton, McCarthy, and Chapple represented the School in the Intercollegiate Sports, and all succeeded in gaining some of our hardly-won points.

We extend a hearty welcome to the following new boys, and hope they will benefit by their inclusion in Spicer:—W. F. McCarthy, F. F. Medcalf, L. C. Holland, L. K. Wilson, M. B. Prime, F. M. Forsyth, R. V. Pimlott, M. B. Richardson, W. Yin, Dolling, D. W. Brummitt, R. H. Cox, D. W. Ind, Walter, J. A. Bagshaw, H. N. Walter, D. L. Thomas, Jones, P. White.

As "Cock House" last year, we have something to live up to, Let all do their share, so that, wherever we finish this year, we shall have nothing to regret.

WATERHOUSE.

With ranks augmented by a score of newcomers we commenced the year with high hopes of raising ourselves one place on the House list, and our anticipations have so far been more than fulfilled.

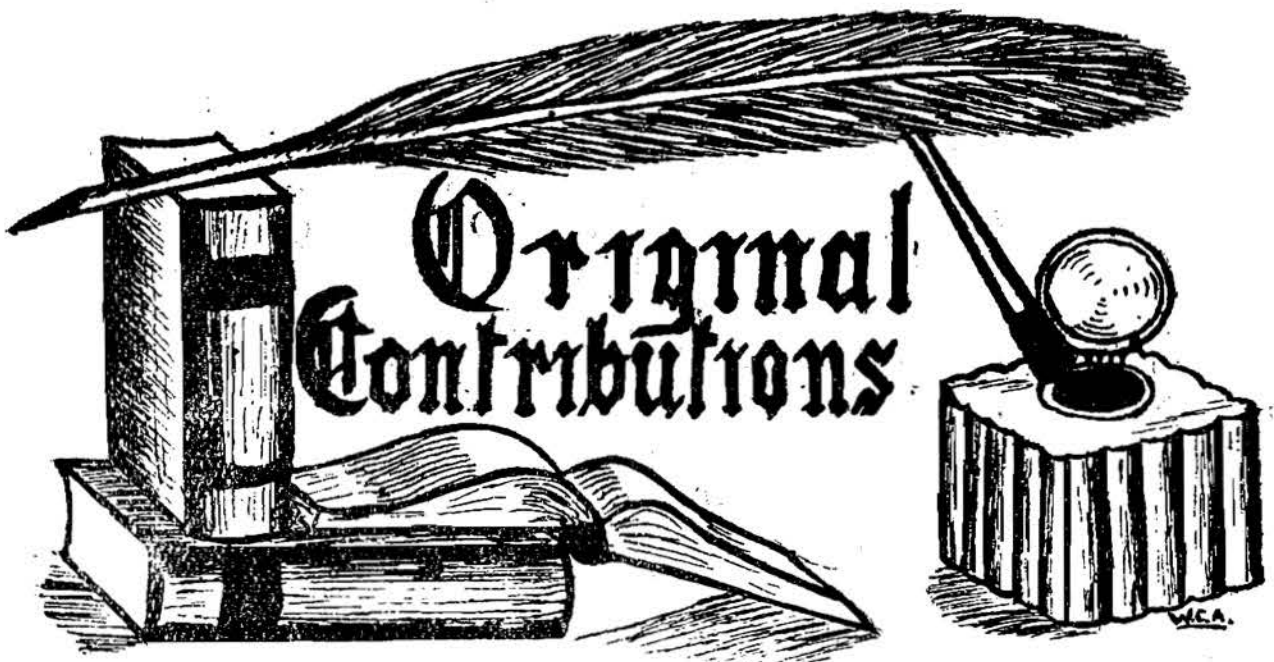

We beat one ill-starred cricket team, and lost comfortably in the other match without being fully extended. It was in the Inter-House sports, however, that we made our presence felt, achieving the much-debated score of 77—the source of the debate being not the undisputed fact of our obtaining these points, but whether this constitutes a record or not.

We were glad to welcome Mr. Blamey as House Haster, equally sorry to lose him for a time, owing to illness, and we are equally hopeful that he that he will be with us for the rest of the year.

We extend the heartiest congratulations to Bills, McDougall, Paterson, and Read on being made Prefects of such a House; Bills and Dawkins, on being made full Prefects; Royal, on his second inclusion in the Intercollegiate Athletic team and his election as vice-captain of it; Warren, also on his second selection in the Sports; Bills, on his third Intercol. Tennis and being captain thereof.

Two of our most prominent members, Royal and McWaters, are leaving the Elysian calm of boarding-house life to launch their frail barques on the sea of life. We are confident that they will both have successful cruises, unless they think, as they pull, of their former instruction in the mysteries of geology, &c., and fall asleep as in the days of old.

New Boys.—M. A. Paterson, D. O. Haslam, M. J. Both, B. Gordon, R. E. Honey, G. P. Ockenden, A. Smart, S. L. McKay, H. C. Bauer, L. S. Edelman, C. K. Anders, R. Mattiske, E. Copping, D. Dane, S. Mulligan, W. M. Paterson, E. G. Stacey, S. Hogarth, A. J. V. Riggs, W. A. Matthews.

THE TUCK-SHOP.

For many years prior to 1925, the school has wandered out to the familiar rendezvous, known as "Smithy," for its supply of luncheon and sweets, at recess and dinner time. In this there was always some inconvenience, and the long-sought-for tuck-shop has at last made its appearance in the New Building. In addition to the inconvenience of going "to the cart," we always had the knowledge that nothing—beyond food and drink stuffs—was being put into the school by this arrangement. Consequently, it was with great satisfaction that we saw a room in the Memorial Block fitted up to serve as the school "tuck." Much difficulty was experienced in deciding how best to run the tuck-shop, but finally it was determined that the proceeds should go into the life of the school; and what better cause could be served than the sports of the school? The managing staff of the "tuck" is to be congratulated upon the way in which it has put the business on a footing, and great credit is reflected upon those in charge, in that the Head has not seen fit to intervene since its opening.

In opening the business at the beginning of the school year, the president of the tuck-shop committee, Mr. Em Mevans, made it known that he and his colleagues were not in their positions with the object of competing openly with men in Pirie Street, bringing carts and baskets packed with eatables, who fatten at the expense of bank accounts and health; that their duty was to serve the school by selling, at a reasonable rate, a sound article. We congratulate him upon the note which he struck. Let us join with him in helping to make the tuck-shop something of which the school may be proud. In years to come, those who carry on the business will have a fine reputation to uphold, for never in the history of the College has such a high standard of achievement been attained as has been by those who draw our corks at the present time.

Standing in the eastern corner of the quadrangle, and overlooking the chemical laboratory (with which it works in conjunction), the tuck commands an absorbing view of the concrete stairs. Its aspect is very pleasing, its odour is sublime, while its internal array is wonderful. Everyone agrees that the Wonderland of Industry would look exceedingly cheap if brought out here. All the Prefects count it a privilege to assist during the crush hours. Without them, we should be compelled to have the bell rung five minutes earlier—at both ends of the morning. The crowd which drifts daily in at one door and hurries out through the other, is a proof of the tuck's popularity. The business manager of the concern seems to be Maurice—he's a marvel! Stripped of his coat, he may be seen rushing from the pies and pasties to the till, from the till to the ice cream, thence to the chocolates, and so on in tireless iteration!

No words can be found to do justice to the internal appearance of the establishment. Everything is well ordered—even the closing of the door immediately the bell for School rings. The tuck resembles a high-class restaurant, except that in the latter you don't expect to trip over a box inscribed "G. Hall & Sons' Stone Ginger". There is no lack of variety or quality in the goods sold. Maurice not only brought from the Lab. "Cyanide Buns," very popular with assassins, but he also introduced canary seed into the date cake (sic). This has promoted a good deal of music, very noticeable in the boarding house. It might be mentioned, by way of advertisement for the tuck, that the boarders seem quite healthy and happy now, certainly much fatter. A slogan such as "Eat more 'Cill-mee-deds'" might induce greater sales in that line, but it must be remembered that tuck-science is yet in its infancy, and it would be a great pity if any of these pills were to find their way into one of the drinking fountains. Other popular lines are arsenic-aerate, and several well-known boarders' commodities. Many people dilute milk with water, but how many dilute water with milk? That is a tuck-shop dodge of which we are very proud.

Lack of space and time prevents our giving further encouragement to the band of workers who are ever on the alert for new ideas, so it is hoped that all will cease to patronise the privateers of the street, and turn their attention to one of the finest organisations of our school-life—Sports, per Tuck Shop, Ltd.

THE GOLDEN MEAN.
(Translation of Horace.)

Don't always steer for the open sea,
Nor hug the cruel and treacherous shore;
We get the best from life, if we
Against extremes would bar the door.
More oft the tall pine traps the wind,
High towers fall with loudest crash,
The mountains of the loftiest kind
Attract the vivid lightning flash.

So strike the Golden Mean, and miss
 The squalor of an outworn hovel ;
 Equally with the palace of bliss
 Such as 'fore envy doth grovel.

In times of stress the wise will smile,
 If good,—will fear another end.
 Though Jove brings the rain for a while,
 It far away he will always send.

If it is ill with us to-day,
 It may be well with us to-morrow.
 Sometimes Apollo his lyre will play,
 Nor always stretch the bow of sorrow.

If sad Misfortune dogs your heels,
 With spirit look it in the face.
 If the soft wind too favourable feels,
 Shorten your sails in such a case.

PRISON REFORM.

My limbs are bowed, though not with toil,
 But rusted with a vile repose ;
 For they have been a dungeon's spoil.
 —Byron.

Church in prison! What a paradox! Such were the thoughts which filled my mind when, by the kindness of a friend, we were invited to attend a service in Yatala Prison.

Leaving the Post Office, we had a lengthy but enjoyable journey to our destination, and after a short delay till the arrival of the remainder of the party, we were admitted. The great iron gate clanged behind us, and was carefully locked. Large asphalted grounds stretched before us, while in the centre a bell was being vigorously rung by a man with the tell-tale arrow on his back.

After passing the commodious kitchens, from which aromatic odours were issuing, we came upon a large, tall building—the prison itself. Innumerable small windows, fortified with bars, dotted the walls with painful symmetry. Upon entering, we proceeded up an iron staircase. On the landing there is an opening cut through, from which all the cells in the lower floor can be viewed. Similarly for every storey. The floor, being of concrete, was coated with a kind of rubber material. On the third floor, we entered a door which led us into a gallery reserved for visitors. From this we commanded an excellent view of the congregation below. Composed completely of prisoners, some with hair shaved completely off the top of the head, with arrows and numbers on their backs, it presented an awe-inspiring spectacle.

The choir consisted of prisoners. In addition to the ordinary church service, musical items were rendered by some of the visitors. Several solos by ladies, two violin solos, and two recitals must have warmed the hearts of the inmates of this doleful place. A fine sermon was contributed by the same young man who gave the recitals.

What effect does all this have on the prisoners? Some, perhaps, are hardened convicts, embittered against mankind; others may have committed minor crimes. Hope may be entertained for the latter. In such a case, if the man is punished unduly, he may become despondent, and lose any spark of goodness that may formerly have been in him. On emerging from gaol, he will resume his old ways with renewed vigour, and no good will have been done to the community. On the other hand, the spark of goodness may be fanned. Suppose he is introduced to the Bible, to see the error of his ways, and is convinced that "honesty is the best policy." What is the result? The community will have gained a good citizen, ready to earn an honest living, and prepared to do his best.

The Bible tells us that Christ was sent to earth "to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison-house."

Surely some of these prisoners will be "turned from the error of their ways." If so, the work of the Society will be well rewarded.

A LAMENTATION.

The boy's head was swathed in bandages ;

A tear was in his eye,

"O Brutus, why didn't you,
At first make Caesar die ?

"With his mad forays in Britain,
And his attacks upou the Gaul,
Why couldn't time destroy
The records, one and all ?

"And Kennedy is not too nice,
His grammar's pretty tough ;
O ! why, O ! why will masters
Cram us with such stuff ?

"Now what real good is Latin ?
I won't need it in life,
So why should I be forced to learn
Boadicea's unseemly strife ?

"Yet the fates appear to have decreed
That I must swat and stew,
For to-morrow's V. Latin exam.
And if I don't—what shall I do ?"

THE WIRELESS AMATEUR.

Almost every boy of to-day has a craze for "Wireless," he thinks of it when he should be doing his lessons, and dreams of it when he ought to be asleep. Usually he commences operations by building himself a crystal set, or what is more commonly known as "A tin-opener and a piece of road metal." How proud he is of his first tiny set! After erecting an aerial and procuring a license he excitedly waits for results. Assured that there is music in the air, he commences to jab the crystal with the catswhisker; prolonged silence reigns in the whole house. you could hear a pin drop, everyone has been forbidden even to whisper. The young amateur is white with excitement. "I hear music!" No, it's only the cat calling to its friend on the back fence. A few more jabs at the crystal and, "I've got it!" But what a long way away the music seems to be! Anyhow, the young enthusiast has attained his object—his set works.

Not many weeks later, he is quite dissatisfied with his experiment, and dreams of more difficult heights to surmount, in the shape of a one-valve set. Now his worries commence; one friend assures him that a certain circuit is an "absolute pearler. Oh, yes! pick up Sydney; and if you listen hard enough, you might even get America!" The very next pal he meets condemns the whole show as a failure, at the same time advising him to try a circuit that is built on quite different lines. He purchases his valve, and gets to work; results of a kind he assuredly gets, but not up to his expectations. He purchases several condensers before he lights on the right one. Batteries he must have; also a host of other things. By closely studying the "Wireless Weekly," and listening to friends who he thinks are wireless experts, he usually ends up by buying the wrong thing! Consequently, he has a whole host of articles that are of no use, but for which he has paid dearly. He finds out, also, that his set will not pick up Melbourne, let alone America; and in his own mind there is a new kind of liar about—the "Wireless Liar."

J. M. N. (U. IV. A.)

DREAM-PEDLARY.

"If there were dreams to sell,
What would you buy?"

The author of the poem answers the query thus—

"A cottage lone and still
With bowers nigh,
Shadowy, my woes to still,
Until I die.
Such pearl from life's fresh crown
Fain would I shake me down.
Were dreams to have at will,
This would best heal my ill;
This would I buy."

In response to the Editor's request for further answers, serious or sentimental, tragic or comic, a number of verses were sent in, of which three only are printable. Each, in its class, possesses distinct merit.

"Give me a busy place,
Where I must work,
Where there is never space
For sloth or shirk.
So, when my course is run,
Something I may have done,
That this old earth may be
Lifted a bit, by me
Out of the murk."

"A boat, with room for two,
On flowing stream,
Where song-birds bill and coo,
In Nature's dream.
Willows bending down,
Bowing low to ground,
Kissing the waters clear,
Then shedding one sweet tear:
This is my dream."

"A sausage only, Bill,
 Not 'ower high,
 Mellowy, my nose to thrill,
 And glad my eye.
 Such pearl from swine's flesh brown
 Fain would I "shake me down."
 Were dreams to have at will,
 This would jest full me fill:
 This would I buy."

Prep. School Notes.

Thirty "Prepites" moved to Big School at the beginning of term. One of them, G. H. Michell, postponed his third form studies for a twelvemonth to go globe-trotting. Most of the vacancies were filled by the following new boys, to whom a hearty welcome is extended:—R. Gunner (here in 1919), A. Freburg, R. Freburg, R. Hallett, A. Medlen, J. Matthews, C. Birks, R. Robinson, F. Binder, L. Rasheed, S. Forbes, H. Cowell, V. Kittle, K. Trott, D. Trott, D. Jones, A. Binks, F. Nolan, J. Medcalf, W. Winter, I. Marshall, D. Finch, D. McArthur, and R. Christie. During the term we welcomed back to the fold Hugh Lloyd and his brother Denys after a year abroad, and experience of life in an English boarding school.

SCHOOL OFFICERS.

Senior Form Captain—E. C. Stephens.

Librarian—R. G. Cant.

Assistant Librarian—F. S. Perry.

Cricket Captain—R. J. Gunner.

House Captains (Cricket)—Chapple House, E. C. Stephens; Robertson House, R. J. Gunner.

BOXING.

The Boxing Class has carried on enthusiastically during the term, and Mr. Price reports favourably on the progress of its members.

SWIMMING.

During February and March a class of eighteen met regularly at the City Baths on Saturday mornings, and a good proportion managed to master the breast stroke. Craven's horizontal "dives," Balfour's antics in the body-belt, and Smith's perfect tadpole action caused no end of fun.

CRICKET—HOUSE MATCHES.

Soon after School re-opened 66 boys took the field for their respective Houses, and showed keen interest in the contests. Last year Robertson House had matters pretty much their own way, so they will not begrudge their doughty opponents the palm on this occasion. Results:—

Chapple A, 115, defeated Robertson A, 64. Helpman (C) 26, Gunner (R) 17, Stephens (C) 5 wkts.

Chapple A, 2 for 88 (declared), defeated Robertson A, 87. Stephens (C) 27 n.o., Nicholls (C) 21 n.o., Paterson (C) 17, Gunner (R) 54 n.o.

Chapple B, 7 for 103 (declared), defeated Robertson B, 51. Davey (C) 50, Mutton (C) 28, Abbott (R) 36 n.o.

Chapple C, 27, defeated Robertson C, 9. Sims (C) 10, Adamson (C) 6 wkts., Forbes (R) 9 wkts.

OTHER MATCHES.

A team selected from both Houses tried conclusions with a Third Form team, and won by 13 runs. Prep. School, 107; Third Form 94. Best performers for Prep.—Gunner 54 n.o. and 5 wkts., Meyer 19 and 2 wkts., Helpman 13.

Against a Pulteney Grammar team somewhat older than ours, only Gunner (15) and Meyer (10) could make a stand, and victory rested rather easily with our opponents.

LIBRARY.

The Librarians report great activity in their department, particularly on the part of the Seniors. There is a fine selection of books suited to all tastes, and every boy is urged to make full use of them. For gifts of books, thanks are tendered to Webb, Herbert, Kemp, Hambidge, Chapman, and Gunner; also to the boys who left for Big School in February, nearly all of whom presented a book as a parting gift.

SCHOOL PHOTOS.

After considerable delay, the photographs taken on the last school day of 1924 came to hand. Unfortunately 12 of our 96 were absent on the eventful morning. Copies of the various groups were eagerly sought after, and will, no doubt, be greatly treasured in years to come. Another series of photos covering a period of three years was added to the classroom walls.

GIFTS.

Thanks to the efforts and kindly interest of Mr. E. Anthony, M.P., we are in possession of a fine engraving of Captain Cook. The picture has been suitably framed, and is a welcome addition to our mural decorations.

W. G. Chapman has provided several maps and plans of South Australia, which have proved of value in the teaching of geography.

SCHOOL DRESS.

At the request of many parents of present boys, a proposal to adopt a uniform dress has received thoughtful consideration; and while it is not desired to lay down any hard and fast rules for parents in the matter, the idea has been approved by the school authorities, and steps have been taken to acquaint city drapers with our requirements.

REVISED TIME-TABLE.

Our time-table has been revised slightly to permit of Prep. boys obtaining sustenance for the inner man at the school "tuck" before the great unfeed of the Big School launch their furious offensive.

The privilege is appreciated by those who were regularly squeezed out (and nearly inside out) when the recess and luncheon intervals of the Prep. coincided with those of Big School.

To facilitate the working of this new arrangement, and to avoid loss of time, all Prep. boys now attend their own morning assembly.

VALE.

Bruce Wheeler leaves us this term carrying with him our best wishes for his future success.

P.A. Old Collegians' Association, Incorporated.

Members are requested to advise the Secretaries of any change of Address.

Members are asked to supply information concerning Old Boys, for publication in our notes.

Our President.

The Association has always been fortunate in the selection of the gentlemen to occupy the presidential chair, but few more able or more popular men than Dr. M. Erichsen have hitherto filled that position. Dr. Erichsen entered P.A.C. in 1898, and after an attendance there of 4 years, he entered the University to study medicine. He graduated in 1908, and shortly afterwards removed to Pinnaroo. Whilst in that town he took a prominent part in public affairs, and also devoted considerable time to Freemasonry, being Worshipful Master of the Pinnaroo Lodge, and Deacon of the Grand Lodge. He returned to Adelaide in 1918, and since that date has been an enthusiastic member of the Association. He was elected as a committee-man in 1921, and for the past 4 years has been an ardent worker in the interests of both the Old School and the Association. Dr. Erichsen at present holds office in the United Collegian's Royal Arch Chapter, and is also on the Council of the British Medical Association, The Trained Nurses Association, and the Institute for the Blind.

Life Members' Certificates.

Life Members who have not yet received their Certificate of Membership are requested to please notify the Secretaries in writing.

Old Boys' Week.

It is usual to apprise members of the proposed programme for Old Boys' Week in the May issue of the "Chronicle," and in order to adhere to that custom, the committee have recently given considerable thought to the subject. The aim is to make this week of festivity more popular each year, and to secure a larger attendance of Old Scholars—more especially from the Country—at each succeeding celebration.

The programme at present suggested is as follows:—

Monday, July 20, Football—Association v. College.

Tuesday, July 21, Lacrosse—Assoc. v. St. Peter's Old Boys.

Wednesday, July 22, Football—Assoc. v. St. Peter's Old Boys.

Thursday, July 23, Football—Town v. Country.

Thursday, July 23, Annual Dinner.

Friday, July 24, Palais Night.

Saturday, July 25, College Match.

Sunday, July 26—Old Scholars' Service.

Hitherto the chief football match has been that against St. Peter's Old Boys, but efforts are to be made to improve the game.

between the Town and the Country Members. The Thursday in this festive week will, in future, be known as "Old Boys' Day"—that being the one day in the year when it is desired that Old Scholars shall visit their Alma Mater, and to whom the Head Master will be at Home. It has been decided to introduce an Old Boys' Visiting Book, and all past scholars visiting the College on that day are asked to sign that book. With reference to the football matches, it has been the custom to select the team to play against St. Peter's Old Boys from the city members of the Association. This has prevented that section of the members being fully represented on the following day in the Town v. Country match. It is thought to be advisable for the team to play against St. Peter's Old Scholars to be comprised of both town and country members, and thus neither side will be handicapped for the match on the following day by being deprived of their leading players.

The Annual Dinner will be held on the evening of Old Boys' Day, but the location has not yet been decided upon. The usual booklet containing tickets, etc., will be posted to members in due course.

The Chapple Memorial.

The response to the Head Master's circular letter about a memorial to Mr. Chapple has met with such a generous response from his old pupils that the fund has reached £930. A strong desire has been expressed to make this amount up to £1000, but the Head Master has no intention of taking any further action than the intimation contained in his circular letter. He wishes to express his warmest appreciation of the responses he has received, and to say that, as occasional replies are still coming in, he will gladly keep the matter open a little longer, as there may still be others who would like to have a share in the memorial. Apart from this, it is his wish to finalise matters as soon as possible. It has been thought advisable to print the full list of contributions received to date:—

The Association's Committee.

At each Annual Meeting, changes take place in the personnel of the Committee which is entrusted with the management of the Association's welfare. This is as it should be, for new blood invariably means new ideas. The new members for the current year are Messrs. Alan L. Bertram and Edward D. Whittam.

Alan Bertram entered the College in 1904, and was in attendance until 1907. On leaving, he was apprenticed to Messrs. Forwood, Downs, & Co., engineers, and has remained with that company throughout. He now holds the position of Chief Draughtsman. He is a returned soldier, having served with the 50th Battalion in France, where he was severely wounded. He takes a keen interest in Freemasonry, and is a valued officer of the Prince Alfred Collegians' Lodge.

DR. ERICHSEN, PRESIDENT OLD COLLEGIANS' ASSOCIATION

The Committee of an association such as ours should be representative of all stages of school life. Mr. Edward D. Whittam represents the more recent period, having left College as late as 1919, after 3 years' attendance there. He won the Grasby and Cotton Scholarships, and upon leaving entered commercial life. He is an Associate of the Federal Institute of Accountants.

Incorporation of the Association.

Our readers will learn from the notice on the last page of the "Chronicle" that the Association is now an incorporated body. Mr. L. D. Waterhouse, who is a Vice-President of the Association, has been responsible for the legal work to bring this about. The new rules which were drawn up by Messrs. L. D. Waterhouse, H. B. Piper, and P. E. Johnstone are in the printer's hands, and a copy of same will shortly be posted to each member.

Combined Old Collegians' Dinner at Minlaton.

Enthusiasm marked the second combined annual Dinner of P.A.C. and S.P.S.C. Old Collegians held at Minlaton, on Tuesday, 28th April last. Fifty-six Old Scholars and visitors attended, and the intervals between speeches were filled with music, elocution, and the good old School songs, intermixed with healthy exchanges of rivalry. At the head of the table were Mr. J. O. Tiddy of Maitland in the chair, supported by Mr. J. H. Chinner (Secretary of P.A.C.), Mr. L. B. Shuttleworth, of Adelaide (One of the Secretaries of P.A. Old Collegians' Association), Dr. W. H. Russell (Yorketown), Mr. L. H. Hayward (Port Victoria), Rev. C. W. E. Swan (Minlaton), and Messrs. W. Raymond Kelly (Yorketown), S. F. Hoyle and E. W. Jaehne (Minlaton).

An enjoyable musical programme was carried out by the orchestra (in charge of Mr. S. J. Brown), Mr. A. P. Tuck (Violin), G. H. Lockyer (Songs), and L. H. Hayward (Recitations).

The dining hall and tables were tastefully decorated with flags and flowers of the Colleges' colours, and carried out by Mesdames A. B. Russell and F. C. McLean.

The Secretary (Mr. H. E. Jaehne) read apologies from the Head Masters of both Schools, Mr. A. B. Harvey (Secretary of S.P.S.C. Old Collegians' Association), Dr. A. R. Clayton (Moonta), Rev. W. G. Clarke, G. P. Warnecke, and E. E. Lloyd (all of Yorketown).

After the toast of "The King," the Chairman said he was pleased to see such a large and happy gathering. He referred to the grand fellowship which existed between the lads after they left School. He hoped they would all have a good time, and that similar gatherings would continue to be held annually.

"The Old Schools" were given by Dr. W. H. Russell (S.P.S.C.) and Mr. J. H. Chinner (P.A.C.) Dr. Russell, in a fine speech, referred to the power for good which their Schools had over their lives, and that the parents of to-day had apparently placed their parental responsibilities on to the shoulders of the schoolmasters, and the schoolmaster had shouldered the burden well. If our present Colleges stood for the ideal that they stood for in the past, he felt sure the Empire and Commonwealth would be safe.

Mr. J. H. Chinner said his mind went back to a similar gathering held 25 years ago in the Adelaide Town Hall, when 87 Old Collegians were departing for the Boer War. Wherever one travelled throughout the Empire and Commonwealth, and other parts of the world, the scholars of the Old Schools were at work.

"The Associations" were in the hands of Mr. F. B. Wreford (P.A.C.) and Mr. L. H. Hayward (S.P.S.C.) Mr. Wreford said the Associations were brought into being to help them carry out the principles they learnt at school, and Mr. Hayward spoke of the good fellowship cemented, and the friendships made during their school days. Mr. L. B. Shuttleworth (P.A.C.), in a neat and interesting speech, thanked the speakers for the toast, and outlined the good work which was the aim of the Associations, and Mr. Bruce Farr (S.P.S.C.) (grandson of the first Head Master of Saints) responded on behalf of his Association.

Mr. W. Raymond Kelly gave the toast of "The Past," in his usual very able manner, and reminded us that whilst we were mostly interested in the present and future, not to forget the school and masters that are now past.

Dr. A. B. Russell gave "Kindred Associations and Visitors," to which the following responded:—Mr. S. H. Wilson (Way College), Mr. E. F. Mahar (C.B.C.), Mr. W. L. Martin (High School),

Mr. E. Lock (Scotch), Mr. F. H. Burgess, E. W. Jaehne, S. F. Hoyle, and Mr. R. Wilkinson (Press).

At the call of Mr. J. H. Chinner, a final toast, "Success to the Chairman (Mr. J. O. Tiddy) and Committee, comprising Dr. A. B. Russell, H. E. Jaehne, and F. C. McLean," was heartily drunk and responded to.

"Auld Lang Syne" concluded a very happy and profitable time. It was resolved that the function in 1926 be held at Minlinton again.

Dance and Continental.

With the object of bringing the Old Scholars together at the School, a Dance and Continental was arranged for Friday 20th March in lieu of our annual Old Boys' Concert. There was quite a good attendance, the quadrangle of the new building lending itself very suitably for dancing purposes, and ample opportunity was afforded those present of meeting old friends, and also of inspecting the new class rooms.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bayly, and Dr. M. Erichsen (President). The "Jazz Frolics" provided excellent dance music under the direction of Mr. Wylton Todd, assisted by Miss Marie Coghill and Mr. Ramsay Addison and the following members of the Company also gave splendid items. Mr. Mostyn Skinner sang "Invictus" and "Harlequin," and Miss Asthore Symons assisted by Misses Nadine Munton, Estelle Symons, Gladys Terrill, and Nellie Letcher gave a jazz number.

Supper was served in the adjoining classrooms.

The Committee take this opportunity of again thanking Mr. and Mrs. Bayly and the ladies who so kindly helped to make the evening a success.

The P.A.C. Chronicle, of which a large part is devoted to matters of special interest to Old Boys, is forwarded to each member of the Association.

A dinner is held annually, at a time which is thought likely to give as many Old Boys as possible an opportunity of meeting one another ; and social gatherings are held whenever any occasion arises that makes them desirable.

The Association gives annually to the School the Old Collegians' Scholarship, of the value of fifteen guineas, and donates five guineas per annum to the Sports Fund. Two Scholarships tenable for two years are also awarded, and are balloted for by the members.

The subscription is six shillings per annum. It is suggested that Country Members should remit sufficient to cover four years' subscriptions or become Life Members by payment of £5 5s. Any Old Boy wishing to become a member can do so by forwarding his name and address to the Head Master, or to any member of the staff, or to one of the Secretaries.
