Editorial

What does the School stand for in the community, and what has given it its high place in public opinion?

Perhaps these questions have never occurred to the average schoolboy, or if they have, he has dismissed them without serious thought. A little consideration will, however, make one realize the importance of these questions, and one sees that the School has not sprung from obscurity, but from the tireless energies of those Christian gentlemen to whom we owe so much and whose names are familiar to all as the founders of the College.

The School has one chief purpose, to turn out men who will ably serve their fellows. Preparation for this can be divided into two branches: development of mental and physical powers, together with the pursuit of knowledge, and the building up of character.

It has often been said that the most brilliant at school work do not make the most successful men at business. There may be more than a grain of truth in this statement. As a matter of fact, the really brilliant don't go into business, but become professional men. What the critics are trying to say is that a boy's position in class is no definite criterion of his ability to make the best of life.

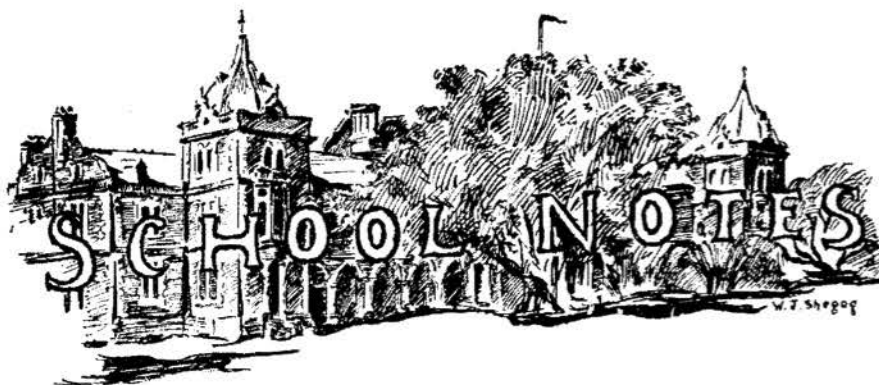

We shall also do well to keep in mind that there is a strong bond between the Methodist Church and the School. Being a member of the School means more than attending classes five days a week. We have Christian ideals to live up to. Few of us, if any, can hope to attain perfection, but we are here to do our best, and no more is expected of us. In a community in which Bible reading is not practised in State schools, such Church schools are helping to satisfy a great need. The School aims at more than giving a knowledge of the Bible and its teachings, seeking by action and example to give its sons a definite conception of the worth of practical Christianity.

The traditions of the School, which have been handed down from generation to generation, have arisen out of the School's purpose and ideals. The School stands for something—it stands for Christian service, and this is what has been bequeathed to us by those who have gone before. The traditions of a school are its precious life-blood; they keep it moving and give it strength to help all who have the privilege of coming under its influence.

Unfortunately, it appears that what the School means and stands for is not fully appreciated by some sections. The School has never failed its sons; may its sons ever strive to emulate and be worthy of this great and noble record of service.

Just as this magazine was on the point of being issued news was received that His Majesty King George V had passed peacefully away. The whole Empire has been deeply moved, for he was universally admired and loved and, though very few young people in the Dominions overseas ever enjoyed the privilege of seeing him, the magic of the wireless enabled all to hear his voice and his broadcast messages to the Nation. Throughout the very difficult period of his reign, his devotion to duty and his steadfastness of purpose have been an inspiration to his subjects. We mourn the loss of one who has been truly called a monarch and a man.

Again the third term is finished and everyone is greeting the long holidays: boys with joy, masters with relief, and parents with mixed emotions.

Congratulations to Dibden, Johnston, and the others who did well in the Leaving Honours.

This year will be remembered as the year which saw the establishment of a new record in the Intercollegiate cricket. Our team has had six successive victories. Saint Peters have had two or three runs of five victories, but this is the first series of six. Many congratulations to Catt and his team, and to Mr. Clive Davies for his excellent work that has done so much to make this possible.

We are very grateful to Mr. F. L. Gratton for his visit to the weekly singing lesson, and for the inspiration that he always gives us.

We have had some very interesting and helpful addresses from visitors this term. Among others we would like to thank especially Mr. Wade of the United Soudan Mission and Rev. J. Short of the Kenya Colony Anglican Mission, who helped us all to understand the life of the African and his attitude towards white men and Christianity. Joni Ledua, the Fijian teacher, was a very unusual visitor, and gave us all an unusually stirring message.

On Tuesday, December 17, we had a very welcome visit from the Committee of the Old Collegians' Association. Mr. L. S. Clarkson (the President), Dr. Prest, Mr. F. L. Collison and Mr. P. R. Claridge (the Vice-Presidents), Mr. A. G. Collison (the Treasurer), and Mr. L. B. Shuttleworth (the Secretary) were accompanied by a good number of the other members of the Committee. These gentlemen were present for prayers, and then Mr. Clarkson addressed the School on the Old Boys' Association—what it does for the School, and what it can and does mean to so many boys as they leave School and pass on into life. The whole School is grateful to Mr. Clarkson for the inspiring way in which he set out the relation of the Association and the School.

A very pleasant afternoon was provided by the Forms' Regatta on Tuesday, December 17. This is quite the best day's rowing we have had. A good number of parents and friends came to see the races, and some close finishes were seen. We all hope that this regatta will become a bigger thing in the School life.

Speech Night

In greater numbers than usual, parents, relatives, friends and old scholars assembled at the Adelaide Town Hall on December 18 to witness the final School function of the year. Proceedings began punctually at eight o'clock, but His Excellency the Governor, Sir Winston Dugan, was unable to come until an hour later. On his arrival at the platform the grand organ pealed forth the National Anthem, and then the business of the evening went smoothly forward again. Rev. A. B. Lloyd (President of the Methodist Conference) presided, and he was supported by the Headmaster and members of the School Council. Members of the committee of the Old Scholars' Association also had seats on the platform. Before the Head read his report the Preparatory School sang very very tunefully "Happy Days" (Mendelssohn) in two parts, D. L. Anderson recited, and the Captain of the School (A. D. R. Marlow) read the Games Report. Then the School raised its voice in several part songs, and the Prep. recitation class contributed a double item.

Before His Excellency distributed the prizes, he said that P.A.C. had nothing to fear from any other school if the report of the Headmaster counted for anything at all. He strongly urged the boys, and their parents too, to take a greater interest in world events, and to try to see things from the other man's point of view. If this were done, we should become more tolerant and less critical. He condoled with those who were not prize-winners, and reminded them that there were other valuable prizes in life. Perhaps the best prize of all was the clear conscience that they had done their best. His Excellency congratulated the School, which, he said, was paving the way for great citizenship.

A vote of thanks to His Excellency was proposed by the president of the Prince Alfred Collegians' Association, Mr. L. S. Clarkson, and the School sang choruses lustily as the large gathering dispersed.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

I have the pleasure and the honour of presenting to you the annual report on the working of Prince Alfred College.

The work of the upper school is to a large extent measured by the success of our boys at the Public Examinations. In these tests at the end of 1934 our boys did well. In the Leaving Honours we gained eight full certificates, several high places on the Credit lists, three good places on the General Honours' list, and a Government Bursary was awarded to G. W. Bunday, while H. B. Holmes was debarred from taking one because he already held the Thomas Price Bursary. In the Leaving, thirty of our candidates gained or completed the certificate, and some very good passes were gained. In the Intermediate we had thirty-seven certificates, and six of our boys, D. G. Lloyd, R. K. Wilson, R. A. Wegener, D. J. Davies, G. R. Cowley and J. R. Close were awarded Intermediate Exhibitions. This is the largest number of these awards we have ever gained.

There are, of course, in the School a great many boys who do not appear in these exam. lists at all. Among these the standard of work this year has been very good, and in all sides of School life the year has been one of good work and sound progress. The Debating Society and other such organisations, the Cadet Corps, the Scout Troop, and many other clubs have all carried on their work very successfully; and under the direction of the masters, to many of whom we are very grateful for the splendid work they are putting into these branches of our work, boys have enjoyed opportunities of taking responsibility and gaining experience which will be of enormous value to them later on in life.

The programme tonight contains, as usual, a long list of the names of old boys who have gained distinction in the examinations for degrees and diplomas at the University or at other seats of learning. It is rather tempting to give details this year, for seldom have we had a year when our old boys have done so well in these tests.

In the public life of this State we are proud to see our old boys playing so prominent a part. In the Parliamentary world important places are being held and splendidly administered by some of our men, while in the judicial sphere we have all been delighted this year at the preferment given to His Honour the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Angus Parsons, to His Honour Mr. Acting Justice G. S. Reed, and to Mr. R. J. Coombe and Mr. K. Kirkman. It was a source of great pride to his old School that His Majesty was pleased to bestow the honour of knighthood upon Sir Lavington Bonython in recognition of his long continued service and benefactions in municipal and other public matters.

During the year the Council has carried out several improvements in the School buildings. One long-needed addition to our equipment was the new bathroom and extra accommodation in the sick-room. This has made our means of dealing with sickness among the boarders much more satisfactory, and we are all very grateful to the Council for this help. The preparatory school buildings are at present under consideration, and before many months are gone, a definite scheme of rebuilding and improving the Prep. will be inaugurated. The floor of the Assembly Room in the big school is very old, and it is intended to relay the floor and to remodel the room so as to increase its capacity. We have a fine property at P.A.C., and I am sure that all friends of the school will rejoice to realize that the Council is determined not only to maintain the present buildings in good repair and order, but to make such useful additions as those I have mentioned above.

SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS

At last Speech Day I mentioned the new scheme of School Scholarships. As you will see from your programmes, the Council has chosen for this purpose the names of six men, everyone of whom, in his own way, has played a big part in the life of the School. I am sure that all old boys of the early days will be glad to see among these names those of Mr. S. Fiddian, the first headmaster of the College, and of Mr. S. Churchward, second master from 1874 to 1890. Very many old boys will rejoice at the use of the names of Mr. J. Ashton and Mr. F. I. Grey, who were both for so long very valuable members of the School staff. The other names are those of Mr. J. Craven and Mr. G. S. Cotton. Mr. Craven served the School well for a number of years as a member of the governing body, and by his generosity helped the Council to acquire more property. Mr. G. S. Cotton succeeded his father, the Hon. G. W. Cotton, as Hon. Secretary of the School. Between them, Mr. George Cotton and his father held that office for the first forty years of the School's life.

Among the prizes given tonight are some that are being presented for the first time. During the year we mourned the loss of Mr. J. C. Sunter, an old boy from the earliest days of the School. In memory of her husband, Mrs. Sunter has endowed a prize to be known as the J. C. Sunter Memorial Prize for languages. It will be given every year for the best work in the Upper Sixth in languages other than English. Mr. J. C. Walter, a much more recent old boy, is very interested in art work, and he has asked to be allowed to give a special annual prize for drawing. We have always had a Senior Arithmetic Prize in the list, but this year we include a Fifth Form, and a Fourth Form Special Arithmetic Prize as well. These are due to the kindness of Mr. H. C. Hosking, who made a very pleasing donation to the prize fund, which I am using in this way with his permission.

THE STAFF

This year has seen some changes in the staff. At the beginning of the year, Mr. Mattingley and Mr. Smith joined our ranks. Mr. Mattingley came to us with an Arts degree from the University of Tasmania, and Mr. Smith with a good Science degree from our own University of Adelaide. Each of these gentlemen has done very good work in his own subjects, and very soon made himself at home in the School, working with loyalty to the School and devotion to the ideals of teaching. Tonight we are saying "Good-bye" to Mr. W. S. S. Gilbert, who for a number of years has been master in charge of the preparatory School. Mr. Gilbert has given to the School years of loyal service, for which it will always be grateful; he has had a great number of small boys pass through his hands, and I am sure that in years to come he will find an abundant harvest of those friendships which make the school-master's the most richly rewarded profession in the world. Next year the Prep. will be in the hands of Mr. Norman Mitchell, who has had charge of this work at Trinity Grammar School, Kew, Victoria, for about ten years. Mr. Mitchell comes to his new task as one who has had a highly successful experience in Prep. work, and who has a thorough knowledge of teaching, for he has been for a long time a lecturer and demonstrator in the Victorian Teachers' Institute for the Training of Teachers. Mr. Mitchell is very keen on hand-work and hobbies for boys, and he and Mrs. Mitchell have had several years in charge of a house at Trinity. May I express the hope that the parents of the boys and all friends of the Prep. will give to Mr. Mitchell their most loyal support, and try to make his first year among us a very happy and successful one for him and for the School. I know it will be a source of pleasure to many to hear that the desire to increase the efficiency of the Prep. school work has induced the Council to increase the teaching staff at the Prep. by the appointment of Mr. R. J. Painter, B.A., a gentleman who has had about five years' successful experience in teaching boys of Prep. school age.

THE PASSING OF TWO REVERED MASTERS

It is not given to many men to serve a school continuously for fifty-five years, but that is the record held by Mr. H. C. Shortt, who passed to his rest in the early part of this year at the age of eighty-four. There are thousands of old P.A.C. boys all over the world who knew and loved Mr. Shortt, and for those of us who knew him well, his fine spirit of devotion to duty, his courteous, kindly ways, his genial hospitality, and his shrewd wit will ever remain a memory of delight, and an inspiration to better living and service. Mr. Shortt was a master in the School from 1877 to 1910, and then from 1911 to 1932 he carried out the duties of Bursar with that meticulous care and exactitude so characteristic of all his work.

Mr. James Ashton was Drawing and Art Master at P.A.C. for about forty years, from the eighties to his retirement about 1926. Many generations of boys remember his lessons with joy, and there are several well-known artists who owe their love of Art partly at least to Mr. Ashton's inspiration. He was a great sufferer from arthritis, but yet no one ever saw him out of humour, or heard him complain. In July of this year he paid a visit to the School on Old Boys' Day, and had a royal reception from the hundreds of old boys assembled on that day. It was in his own phrase "a glorious day." Before a week had passed he had gone to his long rest. But I am sure that if James Ashton had known what lay before him, no desire would have been stronger than to spend one long last great day among his old and young friends at Prince Alfred.

NEW METHODS IN EDUCATION

To say that we live in a rapidly changing world has become so trite a truism that one is afraid to utter the words. To fit boys for that world, or for what that world will be in a few years' time, is the difficult task of modern education; and schools have need of great wisdom, courage and foresight to enable them to grasp what is good in the new, adapt or abandon the old, and yet not lose their heads in following too freely all the will-o'-the-wisp educational movements that are springing up. We are trying to keep in touch with at least some of the modern movements in education. Our cinematograph projector is a very popular means of instruction in certain subjects, and we are making more and more use of the broadcast lessons for the middle and lower school work. During the middle term we had a very successful series of talks on international affairs from our old friend Mr. J. H. Vaughan, O.B.E., while Mr. Dean Berry gave to the Sixth Forms a very valuable course of lectures on the history and development of Architecture. To both these gentlemen I feel that we owe a heavy debt of gratitude for their help in thus broadening the general knowledge and interests of our senior boys, and I am sure that it will be long before the boys forget their talks. We have continued through the year with the weekly part-singing lesson for the School, and again tonight you are having the opportunity of hearing the sort of thing we are trying to do. Our special thanks are due to Mr. Norman Chinner, our music master, for the zeal and patience he has brought to this work.

This year has been marked by a distinct increase in the number of boys who have left school during the year to go to work. This is a very healthy sign; and coupled with the fact that many people are now beginning to talk about the depression as something in the past, makes one realize that times are really a little better. The chances of employment for boys are very distinctly better than they were two or three years ago. I sometimes wonder whether these last few bad years have not got us all into bad habits of thought and action. When positions for boys were so scarce, parents were rightly very apt to think that they must miss no chance, but take for their son the first position that offered itself, however young he was, and whatever the position might be. May I urge you to give your boys as long at school as you can? This is the time when their characters are being formed. We think that this can be done, and is being done by the self-disciplined life of a school better than anywhere else. There is so much that is purposeless in modern life; it is surely important to let your boy have as long as he can in an atmosphere which will help him to feel that there are things of supreme value in life, and that service to one's fellows and one's country is ultimately the main source of human satisfaction and happiness.

We have had very little sickness except the ordinary mild influenza and colds. May I again say how much the School owes to the careful oversight of the boys' health, exercised by Dr. L. L. Davey. We have had a good year in the games, as you have heard. Our exam. results have been good; more important still, the general standard of work throughout the School has been high. A very large majority of our boys have taken an intelligent interest in their studies, and are laying the foundation of a sound character. We can feel that this year's work has helped to turn out the type of boy and man we want to see come out from our schools—fair-minded citizens capable of understanding the other man's and the other nation's point of view, and filled with the desire to do something to make this world better for all.

In conclusion, may I express my sincerest thanks to all those who have helped to make 1935 pass so successfully for us at P.A.C.? To the masters, one and all, for the loyal support and help in all that is for the good of the School; to the prefects and senior boys for their control and influence over the rest of the School; to the members of the Council, and especially the officers, for friendly advice and help so willingly given, often at the expense of much time and personal inconvenience; to the old boys, both individually and collectively in the Association, for invaluable help in so many different ways; to the matron and her staff, and all those others who each in his own way have done what they can to keep the School moving along its path pleasantly and in due order.

GAMES REPORT

Mr. President, Members of the Council, Mr. Ward, Ladies and Gentlemen.—The School has had another very successful year at sport. Of the five Inter-collegiate events we have won four, the tennis, athletics, football and cricket.

At the beginning of the year tennis first occupied our attention, and as the teams playing at the Memorial Drive Courts had performed well during the season, we had high hopes of a victory in the match against St. Peters. Our team, captained by Ash, displayed excellent form and won, for the seventh year in succession, by 11 rubbers to 4. Newcombe, one of our team, won the School-boys' Tennis Championship for the second time.

The athletics resolved itself into an exciting tussle, and after a very keenly fought contest, we defeated our old rivals by 70 points to 60. Three records were broken that day. Tregoning raised the putting the weight record, and Wellington, the captain, and Craven lowered the records for the 440 yards flat, senior and under 16, respectively.

A week later a large crowd of parents and friends witnessed the Annual School Sports Meeting, which provided an excellent day's sport. The School cup and 100 yards College championship were won by Wellington. All the events were well contested, and the under age events showed that we have excellent material for future athletic teams.

We were not so successful in the rowing. Our Eight had improved during the term, and we were looking forward to a victory. We rowed well to defeat Scotch in the first heat by three-quarters of a length, but lost to Saints superior crew in the final by three lengths. Our junior crews were disappointing this year, partly owing, perhaps, to last-minute re-arrangements in the boats, but we must realize that there is much hard work to be done if we are to put out a winning Eight next year. Dunn, who left during the year, capably filled the offices of stroke and captain, and after he had left, McBride was elected to take his place as captain of the boats. Yesterday the Forms' Regatta was held, when a programme of twelve events was successfully carried out.

The School has had a most successful season at football. The performance of the first eighteen has been particularly outstanding, the team having played 13 matches, of which 11 were won, 1 lost and 1 drawn. Captained by Wellington, they defeated St. Peters at the Oval by 18 goals 18 behinds to 8 goals 6 behinds after a fine exhibition of football. Towards the end of the second term we played matches against teams from Wesley and Scotch Colleges, Melbourne. For some years we have been unable to defeat Melbourne teams, but this year we proved definitely superior, defeating Scotch by 16 goals 15 behinds to 9 goals

4 behinds, and Wesley College by 25 goals 24 behinds to 7 goals 9 behinds.

The medal for the best and fairest player in the school section of the Students' Association was awarded to Paterson, who also achieved the remarkable record of kicking 162 goals during the season.

Our other football teams had a satisfactory season on the whole, and here again we have some promising juniors. The under 14 team was again undefeated.

The cricket team opened the season with some disappointing scores, but, showing considerable improvement, they performed better in the Intercollegiate match, to defeat St. Peters by seven wickets. This is the sixth time in succession we have won the match, and this creates a new record.

Earlier in the year it was announced that the First XI, as premiers of the Adelaide Turf Association, had won the Pryor Shield for the 1934-35 season.

The junior teams have again performed creditably, the under fifteens and under thirteens having been defeated once only.

The School Cadet Corps was beaten by a narrow margin by Scotch College, Perth, who won the A.N.A. Shield for rifle shooting. This shoot was held late last year, but the results have only just been made known. On the 10th of December the Corps again shot for this trophy, and several good scores were recorded.

Last week the boxing and gymnastics competitions were held. The standard of both boxing and gymnastics is improving every year, and reflects great credit on Mr. C. E. Bennett and his assistant, Mr. Price, our capable instructors. The boxing this year was indeed good. Doudy won the School championship, while the winners in the lower divisions were Roberts, Jackson and Moore.

Roberts also gave a fine exhibition of gymnastics to win the championship from Smith.

During the year merit badges have been awarded to Carmichael, Paterson, MacIntosh and H. G. Bennett for representing the School in three Intercollegiate contests.

In conclusion I should like to thank those members of the staff and others who so willingly give up their time to the various teams. Messrs. Luke, McLean, C. R. Davies and Williams among the Masters, and Messrs. Wadham and Ackland have devoted much time and energy to coaching the senior teams. To those who have undertaken the equally important task of teaching the junior players, namely, Messrs. Smith, Potts, W. L. Davies and M. D. Close, we extend our hearty thanks.

INTERCOLLEGIATE CRICKET MATCH, 1935

FIRST DAY—THURSDAY

The opening day of the match was a perfect cricket day. Green turf, blue sky and cool breezes all contributed to the enjoyment of both players and spectators.

Catt lost the toss to Stokes, and Princes team took the field at noon in the presence of a very small crowd. Paterson opened the attack from the river end, and there was a yell of delight from Saints supporters as Holthouse turned the first ball of the day to fine leg, and an easy single was taken. Fryar, the other opening batsmen, played out the over. MacIntosh bowled a maiden from the Cathedral end. Our bowling, in fact, was not very hostile, and with the score at 10, Gurner took Paterson's place. At the other end Fryar hit the first four of the day off MacIntosh.

At 29 Pearce bowled in place of MacIntosh, and the fifth ball of his first over glanced Fryar's bat and shattered the wicket: 1—10—29. Both Gurner and Pearce were getting pace off the pitch and required careful watching. Paterson took Gurner's place at the crease, and LeMessurier, playing back to the first ball, nicked it to first slip, where Gurner snapped up a splendid catch: 2—2—40. Stokes was the next man in, and off his first ball he gave a difficult chance to Catt, which was not accepted. Saints' captain then went ahead very confidently; he pulled a short one from Paterson to the leg boundary, square cut the next (a full toss) past point for four, but the next ball, keeping low and turning in from the off, took his leg stump: 3—16—60. Holthouse was now batting very confidently, although he showed a decided weakness in running between the wickets. This running between wickets was one of the weakest features of the match, Saints being too eager, and our men losing runs again and again by not running hard for the first one. At lunch the score stood at 3 for 89.

Shegog commenced the attack from the northern end after lunch. Holthouse and Dawson were now batting exceedingly well; the batting during this partnership was by far the most entertaining during the whole day. With the score at 134, Dawson reached forward to a ball from Pearce and cocked it up in the direction of silly mid-off, where Turner, who was fielding well, took an easy catch: 4—34—134. The partnership had added 74.

Hutton, after surviving one over, was caught behind by Catt off Shegog: 5—0—137. Maiden, a left-hander, did not start very confidently, but later square-cut Shegog to the fence and then hooked him for three. Three overs later, however, he played over a ball from the same player, and was bowled middle stump: 6—9—149. Shegog, in his second spell, had taken 2 for 10.

Holthouse turned Pearce to leg to bring up the 150 in 153 minutes. Gurner took Shegog's place, and Holthouse belted an overpitched ball to the leg boundary, but a little later he played forward to Pearce, and Tregoning, at silly mid-on, took an easy chance: 7—85—179. Holthouse had batted very steadily, and looked like reaching his century. His score included two boundaries.

Stewart and Boucaut were now together, but presently Pearce completely beat Boucaut, and Catt had the bails off with the batsman still out of his crease: 8—0—185. Pearce now had 4 for 47. Stewart was batting very stubbornly, but at 191 he was out l.b.w. to MacIntosh, who had taken Gurner's place.

Jeffries turned MacIntosh to the leg boundary, and two byes brought up the 200 in 195 minutes. Tea was then taken. After the interval the total was taken to 205, but Jeffries, in attempting to hook Pearce, trod on his wicket.

Pearce, playing his first Intercollegiate game, had achieved an outstanding success with five wickets for 50 runs.

Catt and Tregoning opened our innings at 4.35 to the bowling of Nairn and Stewart. The first twenty minutes were deadly slow, the first six overs from the Cathedral end being maidens. At 26 Catt skied a full toss from Jeffries, and only a misunderstanding between Stewart and Maiden prevented him from being caught. Two overs from Dawson yielded 21 runs, however, and from then on the scoring rate brightened. After Boucaut, Jeffries and Stewart had each had another turn with the ball, Stokes came on. Tregoning attempted to square cut the fifth ball of his second over, but did not get across, and Holthouse accepted the chance: 1—40—81. Tregoning had shaped well. H. G. Bennett played out time. With 81 on the board (Catt being forty), we were definitely in a good position at the end of the day's play.

The fielding of both teams was very patchy, our throwing-in being particularly poor. Shegog, however, did very well in this department, while Hutton shone for Saints. Catt was not at his best behind the wicket, and missed several chances.

SECOND DAY—FRIDAY

The opening over of the day was a maiden to Catt from Stewart. Princes' captain, however, scored two boundaries off Stokes' first over, and a two past mid-on gave him his half-century in 95 minutes. H. Bennett jumped out to the first ball of Stokes' second over, missed, and was easily stumped: 2—5—97. The sixth ball of the same over came in sharply from leg and knocked back F. C. Bennett's leg stump: 3—0—97.

Paterson swung a short one from Stokes to the boundary, and turned him to fine leg for two. Later he off-drove the same bowler for four, but in the same over he jumped well down the pitch, missed, and LeMessurier had the bails off: 4—11—119. Catt was still going along nicely.

With the advent of Pearce the scoring rate slackened considerably. After Nairn and Boucaut had bowled without success, Stewart came on at the river end, and in his second over he had Pearce stumped behind—a remarkably slick piece of work: 5—7—142. We were fast losing our grip on the game and, in fact, were now fighting with our backs to the wall. Worse was to follow, for after Catt had hooked a short ball from Jeffries to the square leg fence, Turner, who had not scored, fell an l.b.w. victim to Stewart: 6—0—148. Stewart was now really bowling well, and in his next over Catt gave a chance in the slips which was not accepted. Gurner powerfully drove Stokes to the boundary and square cut him for two. At lunch the score was 6 for 159, Catt being 84 and Gurner 8. From our point of view it had been a disastrous morning's cricket, five wickets having fallen with the addition of only 78 runs.

Stokes opened the bowling from the pavilion end after lunch, and after each batsman had scored a single, Gurner reached forward and swept a full toss to the fence. Stewart opened from the other end, and Catt, playing forward to the fifth ball of his first over, cocked the ball up and Fryar, diving forward, snapped up a brilliant catch: 7—85—169. Catt had batted splendidly for his 85 (which included 10 boundaries), and he received well-merited applause as he returned to the pavilion. During the day Stewart had taken 3 wickets for 18 runs off 10 overs.

MacIntosh joined Gurner, but the latter, lashing out at Stokes, skied the ball, and was caught in the long field by Boucaut: 8—15—171. At this stage it seemed unlikely that we would overhaul Saints' total. Carmichael, however, undaunted, went for the bowling, and 18 runs were added for the ninth wicket partnership. But at 189 McIntosh was well caught by Holthouse at mid-on off Stokes.

Still confident, Carmichael continued to hit hard and often, and with Shegog rendering good service they carried the score past the 200 mark. Carmichael made the scores level with a two to mid-off. Shegog scored a single to put us in front, but was caught in Stokes' next over: 10—7—205.

The side, amidships, had failed, and had it not been for the splendid opening partnership of Catt and Tregoning and Carmichael's spirited knock we should have been in a very unsatisfactory position. Stokes returned the excellent figures of 7 for 61, while Stewart obtained 3 for 45.

Holthouse and Fryar opened Saints' second innings at 3.10 p.m. to the bowling of Paterson and Tregoning. The latter was soon penalized for bowling three no-balls. At 23 they were replaced by Gurner and Pearce. The second ball of Gurner's second over was well pitched up, and came in a trifle from the leg to shatter Holthouse's wicket: 1—18—28. The seventh ball of Pearce's third over kept low and came straight through, rapping Fryar on the pads, and an appeal for l.b.w. was upheld: 2—10—35. After Gurner had had the unique distinction of bowling a maiden to Stokes, the latter hooked and then square cut Paterson to the boundary. Tea was taken with the score at two wicket for 49.

Carmichael and F. C. Bennett bowled for the first time during the match after the adjournment. At first the scoring was slow, but later both batsmen brightened. Gurner came on at the river end, and in his second over H. G. Bennett snapped up a splendid catch in the slips off LeMessurier: 3—16—79.

Stokes continued to bat brilliantly, getting runs from all bowlers. He pulled an overpitched ball to the leg boundary to bring up the 100 in 103 minutes, and in the same over reached 50 with a single to leg. In the next over, however, he straight drove one and ran. MacIntosh darted around from mid-on, picked the ball up cleanly and threw the wicket down with Stokes just out of his ground: 4—55—114. It was a spectacular piece of fielding. Hutton and Dawson were now together, and they carried the score to 138 before Dawson snicked F. C. Bennett's faster ball to first slip, where Gurner took a splendid catch low down: 5—15—138. Maiden was run out in the next over without addition to the score. Hutton and Stewart played out time, the former being 22 n.o. at stumps.

THIRD DAY—SATURDAY

A much larger crowd congregated to see the final stages of the game. Carmichael bowled the first over on Saturday from the Cathedral end, and his first ball caused a sensation. Hutton reached forward to sweep it to leg, but caught it on the side of the bat and gave Tregoning an easy catch: 7—22—148. Boucaut and Stewart batted very stubbornly and added 23 runs. When they were both at 13, however, Boucaut played over a ball from Gurner, and was clean bowled: 8—13—171. Gurner now had taken 3 for 26.

Jeffries, batting very shakily, and Stewart held up the attack for seven overs, but with the score at 183, Stewart gave Turner a chance at deep mid-off, and the catch was accepted: 9—20—183. Nairn immediately drove one hard and high to H. G. Bennett, who accepted a splendid left-hand catch, and Saints were out for 183. Our men had done splendid work in dismissing Saints for 183.

Catt and Tregoning opened the innings to the bowling of Nairn and Stewart, and seven came from the first over. Boucaut bowled the last over before lunch, and the last ball of the over whipped through fast and low and took Tregoning's off stump: 1—9—17.

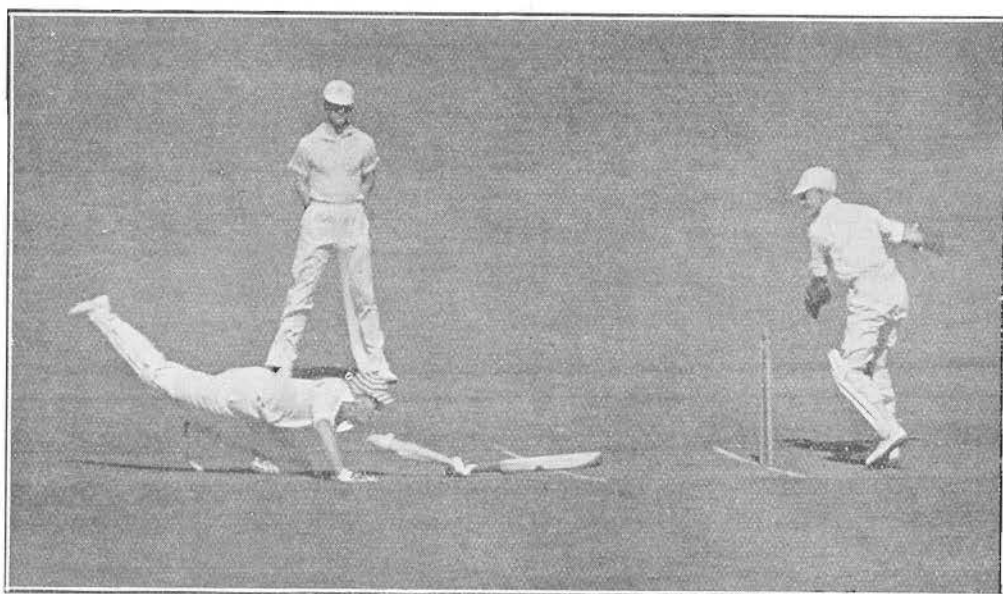

H. G. Bennett went to the wicket with Catt when play was resumed. Boucaut was now bowling well, and neither batsmen could score freely from him. Two overs from Jeffries, however, yielded 16 runs. Stewart kept the runs down at one end, but runs came freely off Stokes. Both Catt and Bennett were now batting very confidently. Catt swung Jeffries to the square leg fence, and then scored four for a drive past mid-on to bring up his half-century in 89 minutes. Catt on drove Stewart for four. Bennett repeated the stroke in the same over, and then twice slammed Dawson through the covers to the boundary. Two overs later he, too, reached his half century, made in 90 minutes. The batting was now most entertaining, and none of the bowlers presented difficulty. Tea was taken with the score at 1 for 145, Catt being 71 and Bennett 60.

Jeffries and Boucaut were the bowlers after the tea interval, and in Boucaut's second over Bennett gave a difficult over. H. G. Bennett twice glanced Jeffries to fine leg, a two resulting on each occasion. F. C. Bennett opened his account with a smartly-run single. In Jeffries' next over H. Bennett scored three successive two's for shots wide of mid-on. He was now batting with the greatest confidence and getting plenty of power into his shots. The game was won when H. Bennett cut the first ball of Stewart's next over past point, and an easy single was taken.

The outstanding feature of the match was the fine double performance regis-chance at square leg, which was not accepted. Catt scored a four to square leg, and two for a straight drive, but in Jeffries' next over he was brilliantly caught and bowled: 2—81—161. Catt had taken 139 minutes to score his runs, and had hit nine boundaries.

Gurner joined Bennett, and the scoring rate slackened considerably. The new batsman was most uncomfortable, and after having skied a catch just out of Stokes' reach, he swiped lustily at a ball from Stewart and was clean bowled: 3—0—166. F. C. Bennett played out the tered by Catt. In his three innings in Intercollegiate cricket Catt has scored 100, 85, 81. There can surely be few performances to rival this. Catt's partnership of 144 with H. G. Bennett in the second innings was by far the most prolific and entertaining of the match.

The bowling honours were carried off by Pearce in the first innings, and Pearce and Gurner in the second. Except for the first day the team's fielding was of a high standard, several difficult chances being accepted. The running out of Stokes and Maiden in the second innings no doubt had a considerable influence on the fortunes of the game, for Stokes, restraining his natural impetuosity, looked very dangerous. For Saints, Stokes bowled exceptionally well in the first innings, but was not so dangerous in the second, while Stewart kept an immaculate length throughout.

CRITIQUE OF THE TEAM

(By the Captain)

Tregoning, J. (Vice-Captain)—A good opening bat, capable of punishing the bowling. With more experience, should develop into a first-class batsman. A good change bowler, but apt to be erratic in length and direction.

Bennett, F. C.—A solid batsman who covers the ball well. Bowls medium pace, with an in-swing. A fair field, but should have more consideration for the 'keeper when throwing to the wicket.

Gurner, C. M.—A useful right-arm bowler, who swings the ball both ways. Also a forcing bat, but should concentrate more on his defence. Good field.

Bennett, H. G.—Is a very promising bat, and when he has overcome a weakness in some of his on-shots will go a long way in cricket. He is to be congratulated on his fine innings in the Intercollegiate match. Excellent field.

Pearce, A. E.—One of the best bowlers in the side, spinning the ball both ways. He must be congratulated on his excellent bowling in the college game. Has the makings of a good bat.

Paterson, C. M.—Has shown distinct promise as an all-rounder. His batting has improved out of all knowledge. He is a good medium-pace bowler. Good field, with accurate throw-in.

Turner, C. J.—Has many good scoring shots, hitting the loose balls with much force. Has a peculiar defence. Needs to improve his running between the wickets.

Carmichael, M. G.—A good reliable off-break bowler. His batting has improved, while his fielding is always clean and reliable.

MacIntosh, R. M.—A left-arm bowler who keeps a good length. Should vary his pace and length to capture more wickets. His batting has improved.

Shegog, S. B.—A good spin bowler, able to turn the ball both ways. Keeps a good length. His batting is slowly improving. A very good field at fine leg.

Catt, A. F. (by C. R. D.)—One of the best, if not the best, opening bats the school has had. In his three Intercollegiate innings he has scored 100, 85, 81. As a 'keeper he has done well, although below form in the Oval match. He is also a good bowler. He has captained his team successfully.

Cricket Notes

We have come to the end of another school cricket year, and a little stock-taking may be helpful. The First Eleven, owing to losses of cricketers during the year, had to build up a new side. With no prospective good fast bowler in sight, we had to rely chiefly on a medium pace attack, supported by several good spin bowlers. Early in the third term a series of wet Saturdays reduced most batsmen to the same drab level and made selection difficult. After losing the first two games the side seemed to pull itself together, and several batsmen showed definite signs of running into form. Thereafter we did not sustain a defeat, and at present stand second on the premiership table of the Adelaide Turf Association.

The most improved cricketer is probably Paterson. His century against East Torrens Colts being a delightful exhibition of crisp, forceful batting.

The Second Eleven has had a better year, and this term, under the leadership of Hodge, won four of the five matches played.

The Thirds and Fourths have not been so successful, the younger players of the Fourths being somewhat lax in attending practice at the nets.

The Under Age sides have performed well, although not brilliantly. Under 13 "A" and Under 15 each lost only one match, while the Under 14 side, although winning most of its games, was hampered for a time through the ill health of some of its regular players.

At present there is a definite shortage of wicketkeepers in the School, and boys who can handle the gloves skilfully will certainly be sought after next year.

FIRST XI GAMES

P.A.C. v. STURT "B"

(Practice Match)

This match was arranged for the Saturday before the Association games began. The wicket was in good condition, and Catt and Tregoning opened our innings against Miller and Newman. Both batsmen retired after batting steadily for 30 minutes. Pearce showed form by making 31 not out. Turner also batted well for 23. We were dismissed by four o'clock after making 122. MacIntosh and Wellington opened our bowling, but without success. The Sturt batsmen batted solidly and finished with 6 for 116. Our bowlers failed to make much impression.

P.A.C. v. PROSPECT

(Association Game)

With only three of our old players back we commenced the first round of Association matches. We lost the toss, and Prospect batted on a good wicket. Matheson and Symonds batted very well against us, and the first wicket fell at 85, when Matheson was caught off Pearce. Although our ground fielding was good, a number of catches were missed, and our opponents' tally steadily mounted.

Wickes played his first match for the First XI., and took four wickets. On the second Saturday the wicket was wet owing to rain the previous day, and our opponents had no difficulty in dismissing us for 83. We followed on and batted much better on a fast-drying wicket, to compile 128 for 3 wickets. Catt batted well, making 72 not out. Tregoning also showed form for 36.

P.A.C. v. S.P. OLD COLLEGIANS
(Association Game)

This match proved very disappointing to us. Continuous rain during the morning had affected the wicket. Losing the toss, we were sent to the wickets, and began disastrously, owing to the good bowling of Goldfinch. Catt and Tregoning were dismissed cheaply, and the others followed at short intervals. The side made 63, of which Gurner made 23. Goldfinch, who was almost unplayable, took 8 wickets for 16. Our opponents batted late in the afternoon and made 146. Shegog took two excellent catches on the leg side.

Fortunately the weather was ideal for cricket the following Saturday, and we again opened against the bowling of Polkinghorne and Goldfinch. Catt and Tregoning batted well for 89 and 21. Paterson also showed form with the bat. We compiled 160, and managed to ward off an outright defeat.

P.A.C. v. P.A. OLD SCHOLARS

(Association Game)

The Old Scholars won the toss, and had first use of the easy wicket. Good bowling by our boys, especially by James, stopped the Old Boys from scoring. James bowled exceptionally well, varying his pace and obtaining four wickets. The Old Scholars were soon dismissed for the low total of 83. Pearce confused the batsmen with his breaks, and took 4 for 16.

We opened against the accurate bowling of Shepley and Clarkson, and runs came slowly. The first wicket fell when Catt was bowled by Walsh. C. Bennett batted solidly for 71 not out, while Gurner and Paterson also batted well.

In the Old Boys second innings our bowlers again predominated, dismissing our opponents for 105, giving us a well-earned 8-point victory.

P.A.C. v. EAST TORRENS

(Association Game)

After winning the toss East Torrens decided to bat on a fast and true wicket. Paterson was the most successful bowler, dismissing the two early batsmen for 12. The tail-enders were difficult to remove. East Torrens compiled 206, of which Woodcock made 94 not out by excellent batting.

We opened on the following Saturday. The weather was ideal for cricket, and Catt and Tregoning took strike to Brune and Gibson. Paterson, showing improved form, made 116 not out, and must be congratulated on his fine performance. Catt also made a century. Both these batsmen helped to pass our opponents' score, and we finished the day with five wickets down for 323, our highest total for the season.

We went to the wickets at 4 p.m. and knocked up a total of 155 for five wickets. All of our batsmen showed form. Tregoning compiled 44, retired; H. Bennett, 30; and C. Bennett, 23.

ANNUAL MATCH, v. OLD BOYS' ASSOC.

The annual match against the Old Scholars was played on a rather sticky wicket. The Intercollegiate team was played to give them practice for the coming match against Saints. The match began at 11 a.m., when Catt and Tregoning opened for the School. Tregoning was stumped when 20, and Gurner and Turner followed closely after him, being out to Johnston's bowling. H. Bennett and Catt compiled 52 and 58. We were dismissed by 3.30 for a total of 242.

The Old Scholars managed to make 153 before being dismissed. Richter, of East Torrens "A" side, treated our bowling with little respect, and made 59. Tregoning captured 2 wickets for 16, and Pearce 2 for 34.

SECOND ELEVEN GAMES

V. Concordia I.

The School, due chiefly to Matthews (35) and James (30) made 111 in the first innings. In the second we were dismissed for 72, Hodge making 29. Concordia won on the first innings, scoring 185. Munro, 3 for 36, and Mills, 3 for 29, were our most successful bowlers.

V. Rostrevor II.

Rostrevor batted first and made 61, Munro taking 4 for 14, and Hawkes dismissing the last two batsmen in his first over for no score. Our total was 165, of which James made 48, his score including two sixes. Taking 7 for 11, MacIntosh proved a decisive factor in our winning the match outright, as Rostrevor could only manage 40 in their second knock.

V. Teachers College II.

We dismissed the Teachers for 151, chiefly owing to Munro's 6 for 30. After a poor start, when 6 of our wickets were down for 63, we rallied, and a splendid partnership between Rowe (23) and Mills (103 retired), besides Carmichael's 35, brought our total to 219. We thus won the match on the first innings, our opponents playing out time.

V. King's I.

P.A.C. batted first, and MacIntosh (29 n.o.), Mills (20), and Munro (18) brought the total to 114, the other batting being mediocre. King's succumbed to the bowling of Shegog (5 for 19) and were dismissed for 60. This was only a one-day match, so we won by 54 runs.

V. St. Peter's College II.

In the last match of the season, Saints batted first and made 143. James took 3 for 28, and H. Bennett and R. Munro each took two wickets. Our team made 241 for the loss of only four wickets. C. Bennett was top scorer with 66, but he was backed up well by Munro (63 not out) and Webb (34 not out).

UNDER FIFTEEN ELEVEN.

Of the five matches arranged for the Under Fifteen Cricket Team, two were won, one was drawn, one lost, and one cancelled on account of heavy rain.

V. Scotch College.

P.A.C., 87 and 6 wkts for 69, declared (Letcher, 25); S.C., 26 and 6 wkts. for 39 (Close, 6 wkts for 11; Johnston, 4 wkts. for 1; Heddle, 3 wkts for 1).

The High School match had to be cancelled, as heavy rain fell on both Saturdays.

V. Pulteney Grammar School.

P.A.C., 70 (Davies, 26); P.G.S., 122 (Fisher, 4 wkts for 35) and 65 (Fisher, 4 wkts for 7).

V. Saint Peter's College (b).

P.A.C., 5 wkts. for 198, declared (Lloyd, 61 not out; Friebe, 45), and 3 wkts for 66; S.P.S.C. (b), 95 (Friebe, 4 wkts. for 7).

V. Saint Peter's College (a) (Drawn).

P.A.C., 6 wkts. for 129 (Fisher, Friebe, Davies, each 23); S.P.S.C. (a), 8 wkts. for 189, declared (Smith, 4 wkts for 2).

After the public examinations, a match was arranged between the Under Fifteen and Under Fourteen Teams. This match was played on our front oval on Friday, December 6. The Under Fourteens had included Pearce and Wikes, and both were of great service to their side. Stain won the toss, and put the Under Fifteens in to bat on a good wicket. The batting side realized 143 runs in two hours. Pearce and Provis opened the batting of the younger team, but Pearce, unfortunately, lost his wicket to Johnston in the first over. The Under Fourteens could only muster 43, and the Under Fifteens won by 100 runs.

Tennis Notes

During the term many of the younger players have shown promise, and with conscientious practice under the guidance of Mr. Luke they should improve next year. Neither of the teams playing at the Memorial Drive finished the season without defeat, but as we were experimenting throughout the term, the results, especially in doubles, were quite pleasing. Continual changes were made in the "B" team, and this accounted for the numerous defeats that they suffered. The young members of the "C" and Under 15 teams played quite well throughout the term, and their results were satisfactory.

At the end of the term the badly worn patches on the grass court were dug out and replanted. We wish to thank all who so kindly helped in the work. Part of the fence surrounding one of the hard courts was blown down during a gale at the end of November, but repairs are well under way, and they will be completed before school resumes next year.

Max Newcombe, who was a member of our Intercollegiate Tennis Team in the first term, was chosen to represent South Australia in the Triangular Interstate Matches in Victoria, and we congratulate him, even though he was unable to make the trip and participate in the contests.

Annual School Service

The annual service was held on Sunday evening, December 15, in the assembly hall. Many boys were accompanied by their parents, to whom the Headmaster extended a welcome, but he intimated that what he had to say would be directed to those who were leaving school. Mr. Mutton, at the harmonium, and Mr. Potts, at the piano, led the singing, and we followed our usual custom of remaining seated for singing and standing for prayer. After all had repeated a collect there followed the hymn,

"We love the place, O God, Wherein Thine honour dwells,"

in the singing of which all joined heartily.

After prayers had been offered for the King and our land, for all conditions of men and for the School, the Captain of the School, A. D. R. Marlow, read the Scripture lesson—Ephesians vi 1-20.

The Headmaster based his address upon a verse in 2 Chronicles, chap. xx, "For the battle is not yours, but God's." May his thoughtful and earnest plea live for a long time in the memories of those who are now leaving their schooldays behind them.

THE ADDRESS

There are just three things I want to say to you tonight, and especially to you who are leaving school this term. They are:—

1. That all of you will have a battle in life.
2. That it is your battle, and no one else's.
3. That it can be God's, and not yours alone.

In these days so much is being done to make life safe and remove its uncertainties that it may sound harsh to say that life is a battle. But it is so; in some way or other life must be a struggle if it is to be worth living. Some will have the hard fight against nature in opening up new land; fighting droughts in the effort to raise crops and stock. It is this struggle for existence that makes fine strong men, men on whom everyone can depend: such men as many of your fathers and grandfathers have been. Some may have the fight against ill health and misfortune. I hope you will not have much of that, but if it comes, remember you are the stronger and better for bearing it bravely. The men of character and force whom you admire are all those who have had some such contest in life. Those who have had no such contest to endure are seldom strong in any way. But whether you have these contests or not you will have the fight against temptation and evil—the subtlest of all fights. Many people talk as though there were no such thing as evil and temptation, but don't make any mistake about it! It is real enough, and if you want to keep your ideals and live a life that is of use in the world, you will have to fight for it. We cannot get rid of that struggle, and we should not want to. There is no easy way to a life that is worth while, and those who do not fight soon lose all that is fine and worthy in life.

Life is very like our games. It looks so easy for some fellows to play cricket or tennis or football, but that skill which makes success so inevitable comes only by constant practice and hard work. The player has had to fight for it; and so when you are feeling that your life is hard, while other fellows and older people have not these struggles, remember that they have them or have had them—there is no escape. If it seems easy it is like the fellow who plays the ball back so easily because he has had long hard practice to learn how it is done. Some will fail in the fight, and we are apt to say life was too hard for them, but the man who does not fail has often had a harder fight.

While you are at home and at school, your home, your family, and your school often shelter you from some forms of evil and the temptation to do some things that are wrong. Just because your home is what it is, some forms of evil have never come near your life. You are in a school where the majority of the fellows are clean in words and deeds; it is easy to be clean. And so, in a sense, you have not to decide about many things until you leave school and face life for yourself. Then comes the real strain. Are you going to do things that you have been brought up to think wrong? Others around you are doing them; will you? It is easy to follow the crowd, to compromise with your conscience. One of the subtlest forms of temptation is to think you will do a thing "just once." It would make you look and feel awkward to stand out this time, but next time you will not give way. Always remember that in this fight against temptation, the first victory is the easiest, although it may look so very hard. Easiest, because it is possible, while a win on the second occasion is very rarely even possible. You will meet all sorts of people who will talk as though there were no such thing as real right and wrong—as though the only thing that mattered in life were to have a good time and do as the crowd is doing. You have been brought up with definite ideas and ideals of life and conduct. Follow the line your conscience draws for you: keep right with your conscience, right with God.

The story of the text is worth remembering. Judah is being attacked by the men of Ammon and Edom and others whom they had spared when they invaded Canaan generations before; and now the children of Judah are in despair. King Jehoshaphat comes before the people and prays to God for help; but he is very hopeless. His attitude is rather, "Here are our enemies, and we cannot meet them: Thou badest us to spare them in the days of our ancestors, and now what are we to do?" A very hopeless case. But Jahaziel came in the Spirit of God and said to the people, "Be not dismayed by reason of this great multitude, for the battle is not yours but God's." In that spirit they attacked and won a great victory.

And so it is in life. If we are alone in this fight for right, for truth, purity and God's service, then we shall get nowhere and the case is hopeless. But as Jahaziel told his people, "it is God's fight, too." Jesus came to make this clearer still that we can have God's strength to help us in our fight for right and against evil. It is not that the battle becomes easy and no battle, but it becomes a possible fight. Perhaps it becomes harder, for if we take God's help we must accept Jesus' standards, and we shall have to stand firm for all sorts of things of which perhaps we took no notice before. But harder and finer though it may be, it is possible for us now to win because He fights with us and for us.

So take this message for your course in life as you go out to face its difficulties: "The battle is not yours but God's." You will have to fight, and it is you that must fight; but God will fight for you if you seek His help. You must fight, and here is the way to fight and win if you are to be the man you have dreamed of and desired to be in your better moments. In this fight, what are you going to be? You can be God's good men. May that be so! Fine men of God.

Intercollegiate Debate

The annual debate against S.P.S.C. was held at St. Peter's College on the evening of Saturday, November 2. Our team, Johnston, Tilbrook and Dibden, taking the pro side, were successful in the debate, "That Modern Nationalism threatens the existence of European Civilization."

Johnston, as first speaker, gave an excellent opening speech entirely without the use of notes, and laid a firm foundation upon which his colleagues built a very sound case. His main point was that nationalism renders peace impossible.

Blackburn opened for Saints with a slashing attack on the previous speaker's arguments. He advanced several telling points to support his own case.

Tilbrook discussed the economic and educational aspect of the question, and delivered a forceful and interesting speech.

Menzies was alternately scathing and flattering to his opponents, and put up a very fair fight for his side.

Dibden set about effectively attacking the case of the con side, and brought forward some fresh ideas.

Scarfe, last speaker for the negative, gave a sound but not very impressive speech.

Blackburn gave a highly amusing reply, and Johnston forcibly and swiftly summed up the arguments of the pro side.

The adjudicators, Messrs. Crosby and Genders, awarded the debate to our team by a fairly large margin. Blackburn proposed, and Johnston seconded, a vote of thanks to the judges, which was heartily supported by all present.

Cadet Corps

This term has been more or less uneventful, the only thing of any importance occupying our attention being a visit to the Port Adelaide Ranges on December 10. The day was warm and windy, but in spite of some difficulties the shooting was on the whole quite steady and good. The highest individual efforts were recorded by Cpl. Holmes with 72, Sgt. Marlow with 71, Cdt. Ash with 70, Cdt. Davies with 69, and Q.M.S. James with 68, all out of a possible of 75.

We have just heard that we were placed second in the shoot for the A.N.A. shield last year for the second year in succession. This was won by Scotch College, W.A., with a remarkably fine average of 65. We hope that this year our scores may be high enough to repeat our performance of three years ago, when we won the shield.

After the application practices, we had a rapid practice at 300 yards of 10 shots in 75 seconds. Here again Cpl. Holmes returned the best figures. This was an optional practice, and the scores do not count towards a cadet's efficiency.

Our numbers this year have not been as high as we should have liked. Many seem to think that by joining the cadets they let themselves in for a lot of irksome work. This is surely a selfish attitude. Thirty years ago, the P.A.C. Cadet Corps, a voluntary one, numbered 150. We urge all boys who have not yet joined up to do so, and next year we hope to see three or even four platoons engaged. We also look forward to the time when our cadets will wear a more attractive uniform, as this would undoubtedly help to raise the strength and efficiency of the corps.

Christian Union

This term, owing to examinations, we were able to hold only seven meetings of the Union. The first meeting was addressed by Rev. J. H. Crossley, who spoke on "Contentment and Aspiration." He showed us that it is a good thing to have a happy blend of both, for too much contentment leads to stagnation, and too much aspiration leads to extravagances. He gave us an example of a race rising from stagnation to a very high standard of culture in the Greeks. Yet we do not have to go to mythology for our ideal—if we follow Christ and live up to his example we shall be playing our part in the world and helping to make it a better place.

Mr. H. R. Ralph addressed the second meeting, choosing for his subject, "A Direction in Life." It is imperative to have a direction in life—aimless wandering will only lead us into chaos. We must, however, start finding our direction early, for once we lose ourselves we do not know which is the right direction. The world is losing its locality sense. Business, pleasure, the rush of everyday life are crowding out those things that really matter.

"Doctrine of Discipleship" was the Rev. G. H. Pemberton's subject at our third meeting. He spoke to us of one of Christ's apparently inconsistent teachings: "If a man hate not his mother, father, sister, brother, wife, children, he cannot be My disciple." This apparently conflicts with His doctrine of love, but means that if a man be Jesus' disciple, there will come a time when he will have to act as if he hates his relatives. This shows that discipleship is a life of sacrifice. It is a costly business, but when Jesus calls, we must obey.

At the fourth meeting, Rev. Bruce Montgomerie discussed his work at St. Luke's Mission in the West End of Adelaide. He told us of the different conditions of life in that part of the community, and how the Mission tries to alleviate the distress of the poorer classes. In the winter it supplies warm dinners for the children, and food, clothing and furniture to needy families. In the summer there is a beach camp for boys. There are Gospel, Bible and men's meetings and various other activities. There is great opportunity overseas for missionary work, but there is also much work to be done at home in spreading Christ's message.

The next meeting was addressed by Rev. T. P. Willason, who chose his subject from Psalm xxiii: "He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake." The speaker selected an analogy from shipping to illustrate his talk. Our conscience plays the same part as the seaman's compass: our will-power is the captain and the Bible is the chart. Our conscience, however, just like the compass, can be at fault, and has to be corrected at times. A captain steers his course safely through dangers by noting lighthouses. Jesus said, "I am the Light of the world," and the course that avoids the dangers of this world is to be found in his preaching. We must follow this course or disaster will follow just as it follows if a captain neglects his lights.

Rev. H. S. Grimwade spoke to the sixth gathering on the question of "Loyalty." He told the story of Absalom and Ittai from the second book of Samuel. Absalom was crafty and cunning, and set himself up as king in opposition to his father, David. Ittai, on the other hand, although once a hereditary enemy of David, remained loyal to him. We have to make our decision whether to be like Absalom or like Ittai. Today a great proportion of the community is turning away from the Church and Christ. The way of Christ is not easy, but we should be loyal and true to the Master.

The last meeting for the term was addressed by Rev. G. Kircher, padre of Toc H in South Australia. This society is a body of men who are pledged to serve. Kagawa summed up the work of this movement in the phrase, "Christian Action." Service is the rent we pay for our room on earth, and throughout Toc H is this unifying principle of service. Christ said, "He who will be greatest among you, let him be the servant of all." All great historical figures are those who have served their fellows and their countries magnificently.

This meeting concluded a very successful year, and we should like to thank all those who have by their instructive and inspiring addresses contributed greatly to the success of our meetings. We should also like to thank those boys who throughout the year have supported this movement and helped to swell our attendances.

The Gymnasium Championship

The competition to decide the gym. championship was conducted in the School gym. on Wednesday, December 11th. The competition was quite a good one, Roberts and Smith being the star competitors. Smith was the champion of 1934, but this year he was working very hard at his school work, and was scarcely at his best. Roberts did a lot of hard work in the gym., and that, combined with his boxing practice, put him in excellent physical condition, and he did exceptionally well to lower Smith's colours.

Keats did very well to come third, and he has made great progress during the year. Rowe, who was next, seemed to be the popular member amongst the competitors, because every time he went to the apparatus he was encouraged by vigorous hand clapping.

McLean, a new boy this year, has shown marked ability, and next year should be very near the top. The Cotton brothers both did very well, and they have made great progress during the year.

The standard of exercises set for the competition is high, and a boy has to work hard to reach this standard. It is a most interesting competition to watch, and boys who reach the stage of being competitors have wonderful control of their bodies and limbs. Neatness in performing an exercise counts for a great deal, and to get this finish a boy has to develop both concentration and determination.

The gym. lesson at school is always regarded by the boys as the star item of the week. Every boy, weak or strong, soon sees that by trying he can improve himself immensely, and he goes his hardest. An easy exercise is mastered, the boy is delighted, and he is ready to attempt another, slightly more difficult, and so he advances in easy stages, and his interest does not wane.

The weaker boys, and those who are nervous, are given special attention and encouragement by Mr. Bennett, and the improvement they show is wonderful.

Old scholars remember with pleasure their gym. periods at school. It is a pity more of them do not follow it up after they leave; if they did they would be better men in their jobs, and healthier men generally.

The Headmaster, who went through the gym. at school, knows its value, and he encourages the boys by kindly allowing them all down to see the competition, and he enjoys seeing it himself.

Rowing Regatta

On Tuesday, December 17, a successful afternoon's rowing was held on the river. Eleven events were decided between crews put out by the various forms, and the afternoon was finished by an eights' race. Many of the boys who rowed in this race will be contenders for seats in next year's Intercollegiate crew.

The first race of the afternoon was between VI a and VI b. Unfortunately, the stroke of the VI a crew had trouble with his swivel, and they were forced to stop half-way. The VI u crew then rowed a bye.

The fourth forms were the next to show their prowess, and what they lacked in science they made up for in vigour. The IV c first crew defeated IV b by one and a half lengths, after which V d rowed a bye. V b defeated V a by one and a half lengths, while IV c second crew, considering they were only a second crew, achieved a notable success by defeating IV a by three-quarters of a length. V c rowed against the V d second crew and defeated them by one and a quarter lengths. This completed the heats, and the finals in each division (that is, fourth, fifth and sixth forms) were then decided.

The first final was between VI u and VI b. The former crew included two of the School eight, but the latter pressed them very close, and in an exciting race VI u just managed to scrape home with three feet to spare.

The fourth form final was a IV c affair, as their first and second crews contested the final; the former gained the victory by one and a half lengths. This form contains many young and enthusiastic rowers, who in future years will no doubt play a big part in our rowing.

Three crews, V d i, V b and V c contested the final of the fifth forms. A good race. V b, rowing quite well, were the winners, with V d in second place. The next event was fought out by three crews who had been defeated in the heats. After a period of much splashing and comparatively little movement, IV b proved too strong for V a and V d ii.

The last race was between eights stroked by McBride and Finch, respectively. Unfortunately, the cox of the latter crew went too close to the pier of the bridge, and his crew had to cease rowing, thus allowing McBride's boat to secure an easy victory.

The whole School was extremely sorry that, owing to ill health, Mr. McLean was not able to manage the proceedings. To Mr. Mattingley, who took his place, and to Messrs. Mutton, Steele and Russell Ward we extend our heartiest thanks for their assistance.

Although we achieved no outstanding successes in rowing this year, nevertheless, sound progress has been made. Owing to the fact that Dunn and Gilbert, captain and vice-captain, respectively, during the first term, had left school, new officers had to be elected for the third term. McBride and Dibden were chosen to fill the vacancies, with Philps and Marlow as committeemen.

During the third term about sixty boys have been rowing regularly. Many of them have shown excellent promise, and we hope that they will capably fill the many vacant seats in next year's crews.

SCOUTS

The Public Exams. caused our meetings this term to be rather less frequent and useful than those of the previous terms. However, quite a number of first and second-class tests were passed.

The Abotomey Cup was won for the second year in succession by the Hawk Patrol. Although it contains some of the least experienced Scouts it has easily surpassed the other patrols in enthusiasm. It was led during the earlier part of the year by P. B. Bidstrup, but during the latter it has been in the capable hands of W. L. Cleland. Both these patrol leaders are to be congratulated on their excellent handling of their patrol.

The medals given by an "Old Boy" for the two keenest Scouts will be awarded this term to T. B. Hamilton and A. R. Weetman, who have shown themselves to be worthy of the honour.

Quite a number of boys entered their names for the Christmas camp, but one by one they withdrew until only seven remained.

We went to the shack at Mylor on Friday, December 20th, and remained until the 24th. Although we were a small party we thoroughly enjoyed our short stay. The shack again proved a great boon, and now that we have equipped it with a petrol lantern it is an ideal place in which to spend a wet evening.

On Sunday, after a hot, tiring walk to attend Church service at Bridgewater, we arrived at the shack to find that Mr. and Mrs. Weetman had brought up a churn of ice cream and drinks on ice. We felt that our four-mile walk had been worth while. Later in the afternoon we were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Dalwood and Mr. and Mrs. Dixon.

Monday proved to be unpleasantly hot, so quite a number of the Scouts, after bathing with the leeches in Cox's Creek, spent the rest of the day in only their shorts. On the arrival of the Headmaster and family towards evening, one or two of the Scouts had to beat a hasty retreat into the scrub and remain there until their shirts were delivered to them.

It rained heavily on Monday night, but we slept untroubled within the shack.

On December 7th the Scouts-Parents Match was held on the back oval. The parents were badly beaten, only managing to collect 116, of which the Scoutmasters were responsible for 104. The Scouts knocked up two hundred odd, the chief scorers being Dalwood, E. F. Johnston, Allen and Heddle. It is difficult to say which side won at the afternoon tea provided by the ladies.

I should like to express my appreciation of the assistance given me by the Parents' Association, and by the two assistant Scoutmasters. Without their aid I could not have completed all the work that was necessary to be done during the year.

Boxing Competitions

The boxing competitions were held in the School gym. on Monday, December 9th. With one exception, every boy in the boxing class took part, and the absentee had a genuine excuse, as he had been away from school owing to illness.

The boys were all keen, and their boxing reflected credit on Mr. Price, who is Mr. Bennett's assistant. In cases where a boy found he was superior to his opponent, the boy showed a fine sporting spirit, and refrained from taking undue advantage of his superiority. This is good sportsmanship, and old scholars and friends can rest assured that this is the spirit right throughout the School. Any of the weaker or nervous lads who join the boxing class are looked after and encouraged by the other boys, and they gain confidence and improve themselves out of all knowledge.

The numbers of the class have kept up well this year, but more boys should avail themselves of the opportunity of learning to look after themselves, and we hope that next year the class will be much larger.

Owing to the difference in size of the boys it was necessary to have four divisions. The first bout was between Doudy and McBride, of the first division. This was a very interesting contest. McBride was better with his left, and better at dodging than Doudy, but Doudy, who is very strong and burly, boxed well, and his extra weight helped him to win.

Oliphant and Judell, of the second division, were the next pair. Judell, possibly a little nervous, should have gone back to his corner after the preliminary handshake before starting boxing, but to the merriment of the boys he gave Oliphant one to go on with. Oliphant was both surprised and amused. This pair provided a very good contest, and both took and gave in great style.

Their boxing was good and even, but Oliphant seemed to have a little more stamina, and won.

Timperon, of the first division, and Wickes, of the second division, provided a bye, and of course neither of them wasted any energy.

Roberts and Norman, of the second division, came next. Both these boys were very smart, and showed good boxing. Lack of ring experience cost Norman the verdict. Roberts has a bad habit of turning right round, and if he had been meeting a more experienced opponent he would have been caught on the turn and done to a turn. Roberts will be well advised to drop this habit, or it will eventually receive its penalty.

Jackson and Rayner, of the third division, then came along. This was a real sparring event, without much weight behind the blows. Rayner seemed intent on concentrating on Jackson's head and forgetting that he had a body to hit. He did quite well, but he was unable to cope with Jackson, who is an exceptionally good boxer, and an exceptionally good sport. As soon as Jackson has the measure of his opponent, he shows the true sporting spirit of his school, and does not take any advantage.

Norman and Mann, of the fourth division, were the next gladiators. They were not very big, but they knew what was expected of them. Norman went in with a will, and for a while Mann must have thought the gym. had fallen on him. Mann, however, weathered the tornado, and did very well, but he was inclined to hit the air instead of Norman. He did extremely well considering the time he has been learning.

Tuck and Black, of the third division, were next. This was a fairly quiet bout. In the second round, however, Tuck produced a little energy from somewhere, and things became more interesting. Tuck won.

Moore and Dixon were the next two cave men. Moore was the bigger of the two, but Dixon, who may invite me into the ring unless I give him his proper title of "Tiger," was the elder. "Tiger," true to nature, sprang into action straight away, and had Moore trying to dodge his claws. Moore was very cool and had a good defence, and thus being able to deal with the Tiger's frantic onslaughts, won.

Kelly and Black then staged a bye, and it wasn't a very violent one; but Kelly provided a touch of humour for the audience.

Doudy and Timperon then decided the final of the first division. Timperon, who is tall, and has a good reach, gave a good exhibition, and he often had Doudy guessing. Doudy couldn't be killed with an axe, however, and Timperon could make no impression on him. Doudy boxed well and secured the verdict.

Roberts and Wickes then fought the semi-final of the second division. This was quite an interesting contest, but Wickes did not make enough use of his reach, and he allowed Roberts in, and then he had to hop for his life. Roberts was too good and won.

Oliphant and Norman fought a bye, and they made things a little more interesting than some of the others.

Jackson and Tuck then decided the semi-final of the third division. Tuck boxed well, but he was no match for Jackson, who again eased up as soon as he had Tuck's measure.

Moore and Norman then fought the final of the fourth division. Norman was again vigorous, and threw his mighty weight of about four stone nothing at Moore, but Moore was the Rock of Gibraltar. He used his reach well, and kept Norman from spoiling his school-boy complexoin. Moore was the winner.

Roberts and Oliphant were the finalists of the second division. This was an exciting contest, and Roberts had a very close call. The first round was decidedly Oliphant's, but in the second round Roberts' better physical condition told, and he outpointed Oliphant, but there was little in his favour. The last bout of the day was the final of the third division between Jackson and Kelly. Kelly, who is a bit of a humourist, said farewell to all his friends before he went into the ring. Kelly has not been learning long, and was not expected to beat Jackson; he didn't. He now claims he is greatly in favour of byes.

We were again fortunate in having three good judges, Messrs. Mutton, Frank Nicholls and Jack Williams. Frank Nicholls, who while at College won the gym. championship, recently won the title of Amateur Middleweight Boxing Champion of the State, and I am sure all present and old scholars join in congratulating him.

We missed an old friend, Mr. Mick Schlank, who was absent from the State. It is the first time he has been unable to attend since the competitions were first started, and I feel sure he was just as sorry about it as we were. Mr. Price acted as referee in Mr. Schlank's place.

Cups were kindly provided for the winners by the Headmaster, Dr. Erichsen, Messrs. P. A. McBride and M. Schlank, and we are very grateful to these gentlemen for their kindness.

The Headmaster again allowed all boys time off to see the competitions, and this consideration was greatly appreciated. We would be glad to see more parents and old scholars at these competitions, as we know they would be delighted with the exhibitions the boys give.

THE EARL ROBERTS' TROPHY

Our illustration is of the 1935 rifle team. In justice to them, and by way of correcting several foolish rumours which have drifted back to the School, we propose to record briefly a few facts.

Our team competed in the preliminary contest for the Earl Roberts' trophy at Port Adelaide ranges on August 10, and won. Subsequently we learned that a protest had been lodged because we had included in our team several non-coms. This was no mistake or oversight on our part. We claimed the right to do what was being done in other parts of the Empire, and what had been the general practice for years in England, Canada, New Zealand and elsewhere. Moreover, our rifle team of 1934 which won this Empire trophy contained non-coms, and the shield, after being inscribed by the military authorities, was handed over to the custody of the School by the then Chief of Staff, Major-General Bruche, who congratulated our cadets on their fine performance. This was fairly common knowledge, but only serves to make the lodging of a protest on such grounds all the more inexplicable. However, rather than cause ill feeling over the matter we decided to withdraw from the competition, and notified the military authorities accordingly.

The 1935 winners of the trophy have now been announced. They are the Otago Boys' High School, N.Z., and we heartily congratulate them on their success.

Still more recently a ruling from the National Rifle Association, Bisley, has been forwarded to us from the military authorities, and this finally and definitely justifies our claim. It reads: "Any cadet irrespective of rank may compete."

It is unfortunate that our rifle team was thus unable to defend the Empire trophy which we won last year. The shield still stands in the Assembly Room, but will shortly be despatched to New Zealand.

A Letter from Auckland

We publish with pleasure the following letter and article from Bruce Nelson who left us midway through 1935, when his father was transferred to New Zealand.

5 Eastbourne Road,
Remuera, Auckland,
12/12/35.

Dear Mr. Editor—First of all let me thank you very much for sending me the last Chronicle. We have quite settled down in Auckland now, and are liking it very much. I am gradually becoming used to the school and the uniform. On the first morning that I went to Grammar I was put in a room with other new boys, and on looking round was very surprised to see Hargraves, late of Princes, there too. I have been very fortunate in securing a position in the First XI as opening batsman, and have been doing fairly well. I hope P.A.C. does well in the cricket match. I was glad to hear that both Catt and Paterson had made centuries a few weeks ago. Wishing you a merry Christmas and a bright New Year.—Yours sincerely,

Bruce R. Nelson.

THE AUCKLAND GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The Auckland Grammar School is one of three large schools for boys in the Auckland metropolitan area, and is somewhat like an Australian High School in that it is a government school, education for the most part being free. The school, which is the largest in the Dominion, has a roll of some 900 boys. Of the other two Grammar schools, one, the Takapuna Grammar School, is situated across the harbour, and the other, the Mount Albert Grammar School, is about four miles out of Auckland in a new residential suburb. A boy must attend the school situated in the district in which he resides.

I will now confine my remarks to the Auckland Grammar School, and will tell you of some of the things which impressed me most on becoming a pupil at this school. It is situated in an elevated position above the city and commands a wonderful view of the beautiful harbour. From the flat roof of the school one also obtains an unrivalled view of the Auckland gaol and a large brewery. (We seem to have heard of another school which enjoys an unrivalled view of a large brewery—Ed.) The gaol grounds immediately adjoin the school, and prisoners derive much pleasure from watching sporting activities in progress.

I think one of the first things I noticed in Auckland was the boys' uniform. This consists of a navy blue flannel shirt, open at the throat, with the sleeves rolled up to the elbows; navy blue shorts, a dark leather belt, black shoes and stockings, and a funny little cap which fits on the back of the head. This uniform is compulsory and is worn throughout the year, with a navy blue gabardine overcoat on wet days.

Some of the differences to which an Australian schoolboy had to become accustomed were: two assemblies a day, one in the morning for prayers, and one in the afternoon when the headmaster gives out notices; the hourly periods; military drill for half-an-hour every morning; the leaving of all one's books at home except those needed for the day, for the masters stay in their own rooms all day, and the classes move around to them.

The military drill is compulsory, except for those boys who are physically unfit. The school battalion has an artillery section with two guns, a machine gun section with four Lewis and two Vickers guns, an ambulance section, a signalling section, a band, and several companies of infantry. Form shooting, in which all boys must participate, is held every year.

The out of school activities include a Dramatic Club, Rifle Club, Crusader Union, Camera Club, a Choir and an Orchestra. The school also possesses a fine gymnasium and a carpentry shop. Of the sporting activities of the school, rugby football, soccer and hockey are played in the winter, and cricket and tennis in the summer. You will be interested in the fact that an English professional cricketer, L. F. Townsend, comes out to Auckland every season to coach the senior and school teams.

I think you will realize that all these factors, together with a great difference in books and syllabus, made the change from Princes to the Auckland Grammar School no easy matter.

Our New Movie Camera

During 1934 the School had the good fortune to secure a 16 m.m. moving picture projector. Naturally, interest in the operation and working of this machine grew very quickly, and it was decided that this year we would supplement our cine apparatus by purchasing a camera. With the help of the prefects, in organising a very successful Bridge evening, we were able to find funds enough to be able to buy a first-class camera. Throughout the second and third term many different cameras were sent to the School for trial. Some of these cameras were good, some not so good, but a thorough examination was made of each, and not until it was absolutely certain that we had the most suitable camera for our purpose was a purchase made.

A Bell & Howell, Filmo model 70-E, was chosen. This camera is a wonderful piece of mechanism, and is driven by a clockwork motor, which will run at four speeds, namely, 8, 16, 24 and 64 frames per second. The normal speed for silent "movies" is 16 frames per second, while 24 is the standard "talkie" speed. The eight frames per second, when projected on the screen at 16, gives one the idea that the subject is moving twice as fast, and vice versa for the 64 frames, which makes the subject appear to move four times more slowly. This last is known as slow motion. The mechanism of the 70-E is so accurately made that the camera starts instantly on a single frame at a full predetermined speed, and stops as quickly immediately the starting button is released. This gives a performance foreign to many cameras, and means much in the saving of film.

This Filmo 70-E has a single lens seat, in which special purpose lenses are quickly interchangeable with the standard lens. This gives us an opportunity to use either telephoto wide-angle or ultra-rapid lenses on our machine, in substitution for the standard lens supplied, which is a Cook 1-in. F-3.5.

Another added advantage of our camera is its ability to take up to one hundred feet of film on one reel, whereas most cameras allow only up to fifty feet of film to be exposed on the one subject.

With the School definitely owning a first-class camera, it is now intended to make a Gazette of the outstanding events at P.A.C. next year. Should this prove as successful as most of the "shorts" that have been made this year, we shall be very proud of our efforts in this innovation. Our thanks are due to Mr. Klose for his advice and unfailing interest.

Library Notes

During the term a splendid addition has been made to the shelves of the Memorial Library in the form of the latest edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica.

The encyclopædia which we already had was old and out of date, and the new set supplies a long-felt want. Consisting of twenty-four beautifully bound volumes it contains, in addition to complete information on all topics, an abundance of photographs and illustrations. The last volume includes an atlas superior, probably, to any other in the library.

Apart from these twenty-four volumes, twenty-eight books have been added during the year. This is a good number, and the School desires to record its thanks to those who have kindly donated either books or magazines.

The committee hopes that many of those who are leaving school, and who spent many pleasant hours in the library, will not be unmindful that there is a practical way of expressing the gratitude they feel.

A Trip to Mt. Buffalo

For the fourth year in succession a party from the School journeyed to Mt. Buffalo for winter sports in the September holidays. The total South Australian party was eighty-four, of whom thirty were from P.A.C. From the very start the party was a happy one, and as usual was too full of life and interest to get much sleep on the way to Melbourne. On arrival there we were met by officials of the Victorian Tourist Bureau with a fleet we walked around the city area until our train left for Porepunkah at 4.30 p.m. If one had wished to have a grumble, the journey on the branch line from Wangaratta to Porepunkah would have provided the opportunity, but it could not damp the spirits of a party of eighty schoolboys—and girls. (I forgot to say that there were twenty-six senior girls from the Methodist Ladies College, who were not the least happy of the party, and were certainly the most popular.)

of cars, and were conducted on a tour around Melbourne. In addition to having many of the more important public buildings pointed out, we inspected the Art Gallery (were astounded at the value of some of the pictures there), the Museum (made a bee-line for Phar Lap), the Fitzroy Gardens (where the Conservatory was a blaze of colour), Captain Cook's cottage (removed from England and rebuilt in Melbourne), and the Shrine of Remembrance. After lunch

Our real Mount Buffalo experiences began at Porepunkah at 11.30 p.m. on Friday, September 6. Anyone who does not make that first ride of eighteen miles from Porepunkah to the Chalet in brilliant moonlight will miss a beautiful experience. The cars sped along, winding round and up the hillsides, while the cold—unknown as yet in physics, but well known at Buffalo from this time on—wound around and up our feet and legs. Trees (including the wattle in full bloom), snow feet deep, and precipitous hillsides along the road, and all lighted by the brilliant full moon, made the drive with its three hundred bends and turns one of splendid scenic beauty. Seldom has coffee been more immediately necessary or more immediately effective than at the Chalet at 12.30 that night.

Saturday morning we found ourselves part of a full house, with more than two hundred guests in residence. Any brain fever we imagined we had after the term's exertions soon cooled in the fresh invigorating air that set everybody walking and talking (providing in many cases, of course, that madam also would walk and talk). Readers must understand that at Buffalo everybody knows everybody else and the holiday develops into a delightful house party. Each morning an official of the Victorian Tourist Bureau accompanies those who desire it on a conducted walk to Bent's Lookout, Lake Catani, the underground river, the Monolith, or some other point of interest, and proves himself a mine of information on the discovery, history, formation and flora of the surroundings. We enjoyed many of these walks and others taken at random in an atmosphere full of nip with a brilliant sun overhead.

On Saturday afternoon we had our first lesson in ski-ing. One experience of this sport and the rest of the holiday centres round it. No other experience at Buffalo could compare with the exhilaration of rushing down the snow-clad hills and the successful achievement of reaching the bottom not head first and nearly buried in snow.

Next followed the trip to The Horn and The Cresta Run. This was an all-day trip per motor and snow tractor, and we went in mixed parties of twenty on successive days. Few negotiated successfully The Cresta Run, with its steep slopes and quarter-mile length. It was much too fierce for many of us, who started half-way down, and were then nearly entombed in snow when we crashed. Each one will long remember his trip to The Horn. Lake Catani was thawing, so that skating was off, but for those who found the ski-ing too vigorous, the toboggans provided high speed, plenty of thrills and less spills.

Amateur photographers were in ideal surroundings, but of course took dozens of snaps that could have been taken without going as far as Mount Buffalo.

The beautiful days were followed by cold, sharp nights, when the Chalet was the best place, with central heating and roaring fires. Here dancing, ping-pong, billiards, bridge and music gave everyone his chance of enjoyment. On Sunday evening a concert was given by various performers in the house. Our combined party rendered two or three songs from those learned at school through the year. Those going next year would be well advised to guard against a repetition of this item.

On Tuesday night table tennis, billiard and bridge tournaments were conducted. Here our party excelled. Winner of table tennis was R. T. Hand; runner-up, R. Carmichael; winner of billiards, R. Carmichael; runner-up, T. B. Hamilton; winner of bridge, J. R. Miller.

Wednesday night the fancy-dress ball drew a full house, and many were in fancy-dress. T. Willason earned a first prize for best juvenile character, and Mr. and Mrs. Williams first for humorous costume. The evening closed with supper in the cafe, presentation of prizes, and expressions of thanks and farewell to the management and officials who had made our stay at The Chalet a very happy one.

Not many of us had proved experimentally that clocks work at 3.15 a.m., but that was the hour that we rolled out of bed the next morning to start the return trip. We shall close our report with a recommendation to others to try this trip next year if they need a real tonic to set them up for the last term's work.

Boarders' Notes

There have been very few activities during the term, because most boys have spent their time preparing for Public Examinations.

No doubt the Howe Brothers consider themselves greatly honoured at being made members of the House for part of the term, and we hope they enjoyed their short stay with us.

H. Bennett, Paterson and Shegog gained places in the cricket team, and we congratulate them heartily. Special congratulations to the former pair, who have both gained merit badges. After an excellent season's football, Paterson has brought honour both to himself and the Boarding House by gaining the Gosse Medal for the fairest and most brilliant player in the Students' Association, and also the medal for the best player in the Oval match.

The House was well represented at the Rouge, and whom do you think we saw rushing round trying to catch a last glimpse in the mirror of his glossy hair and cream trousers? Well, first there was——. But no, this is not a confession. Why embarrass the boy?

Early in the term an evening was given in our honour by the senior students at M.L.C., and an excellent evening of games, followed by a delightful supper, was arranged for us. We thank all those who contributed to our enjoyment.

During this year a number of new books were added to the Boarders' Library, and they were greatly appreciated by all. This was clearly shown by the fact that they were seldom on view on the book-shelves.

Once again the house can boast of having the champion boxer of the School, a title which we have held for the last three years, and we take this opportunity of congratulating Douly on his success.

On the last Sunday of the term the Annual School Service, conducted by the Head, was held in the assembly hall, and a large crowd of boys and their parents were present. No doubt there will be a number leaving us this term, and we hope that pleasant memories of their life at "the best school of all" will linger with them for ever. We wish them all good luck and hope they will not forget their old School.

Before closing we would be very grateful to anyone who could enlighten us on the following:—

1. Why do some people refuse to do jerks?
2. Who held the fashion parade along the wing?
3. Who saw "Redheads on Parade"?
4. From which room on the wing do we hear weird noises at night?

A. T. A.

Swimming Club

At the end of the term Mr. Mattingley called a meeting of the boys interested in the formation of a swimming club, and about fifty of us attended. We elected a committee of three: A. G. Rowe, D. G. Wicks and J. C. Norman.

We expect to hold a carnival early next year, so that it will not interfere with any of the existing sporting events. A list of events was submitted, and with a few suggestions the following programme was drafted:—

Open Events—

- 220 Yds. Championship.
- 100 Yards Championship.
- 66 Yds. Breast-stroke Championship.
- 33 Yds. Back-stroke Championship.
- Dive.
- 66 Yds. Open Handicap.
- 66 Yds. Breast-stroke Handicap.
- Under 16—66 Yds. Championship, Dive.
- Under 15—66 Yds. Championship.
- Under 14—66 Yds. Championship.
- Under 13—33 Yds. Championship.
- Under 12—33 Yds. Championship.
- Novelty Events—Under Water, Fancy Dive, Balloon Race, Relay Race (Day Boys v. Boarders).

We shall hear more of this next term, when there will be another meeting. We hope to hold the carnival in the Unley baths about a fortnight after the re-opening of School.

Preparatory and Junior School Sports

SCHOOL SPORTS

The Prep. and Junior School sports meeting was held in delightful weather on Saturday afternoon, November 9th. The occasion was a special one, for this year marked the silver jubilee of the establishment of the Prep. School, and in view of that many parents and friends made a special effort to be present. The birthday spirit was manifest in a more striking and substantial way at the afternoon tea interval, when parents and officials assembled in the dining hall. There, dazzling all by its ravishing symmetry, toothsome, alluring, debonair, sparkled the magnificent birthday cake, replete with the exact number of candles, and set off with the School colours. Presently it was a mass of twinkling lights, for by happy forethought Mrs. J. R. Robertson had been invited to light the candles and cut the cake. Having been introduced by the Headmaster. Mrs. Robertson, in a charming little speech, recalled her association with the Prep. in its early days, and the happy years she and Mr. Robertson had spent there. Then the youngest member of the Prep., Master Jimmy Gardyne, came forward and presented Mrs. Robertson with a beautiful bouquet.

To Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, to the judges and other officials, to those who so kindly contributed towards the prizes, to Mrs. Robertson, who so graciously handed them to the successful competitors, to matron and her staff, to all who contributed to make the function so successful we offer our thanks.

Of the performers on the tracks, D. Jorgensen, amongst the older boys, and B. Manuel, among the younger, were particularly prominent.

TO BARBARA

I bring my heart to thee,
Whate'er its worth may be:
Broken, returned to me,
Or cherished,—lovingly,
It ever thine will be,
My Barbara.

You frown provokingly,
Fiends are tame to thee!
Hold not my heart in fee,
But give it back to me!
Thou hast alone the key,
Please, Barbara!

Curst may that gloaming be,
When thou satst on my knee,
Dece'ving,—cruelly.
Thou wert no ladie!
Give me my liberty!
Curse Barbara!

THE RISE OF JAPAN

The Japanese are a people with a marvellous power of assimilating new ideas while remaining true to the absorbing passion of patriotism. It is only in the last fifty years that Japan has risen to the position of a Great Power.

What happens in Japan and the Far East is today part of world history, but formerly it was not so. From the dawn of history until 1853 Japan was out of touch with Europe; its age-long isolation was broken at last by a visit from the American Fleet under Commander Perry, who had been sent to obtain from the Japanese permission for American whaling ships to use their ports.

Hitherto Japan had never been in contact with a foreign power, except for a brief period in the Middle Ages when she secured partial domination of Far Eastern waters; but this maritime activity was chilled when events connected with the propagation of Christianity taught the Japanese to believe that national safety could not be secured without international isolation. This was the reason for the closing of all ports to foreign ships, except those flying the flags of China or of Holland, while a strictly enforced edict forbade the building of any vessel of greater capacity than 150 tons. Ocean-going enterprise ceased altogether.

After 1853 the European Powers claimed privileges similar to those granted to the United States of America, and soon Japan was linked by treaty with nearly all the world.

The impact of Western ideas had a stimulating effect on the Japanese: in one memorable year, 1868, the whole social order was revolutionized; European models were followed—a German army, an English Constitution, a European calendar and laws, and the best of Western educative systems. It is hardly too much to say that in 1868 Japan became a Western Power.

In 1899 a Constitution, which had been carefully prepared, was granted to the people by the Emperor, whose reigning dynasty is the oldest in the world. There is a Cabinet of Ministers, a Privy Council of Elder Statesmen who advise the Emperor, and a Diet of two Houses, the Ministers being responsible, not to the Diet, but to the Emperor. This Constitution has been not the least factor in Japan's meteoric rise.

Japan's railway system has also contributed largely to her internal development. Railway construction was vehemently opposed by the Japanese, and it was only in 1869, when a rice famine in the southern island necessitated quick transport of rice from the northern provinces to the south that the first railway was built, between Tokyo and Yokohama; even then the opposition was so great that the road had to be laid on an embankment constructed in the sea. Since then numerous railways have been built.

Japan has had only three foreign wars, and has been successful in each. In 1894 the Westernized Japanese army attacked the province of Korea, which was nominally part of China, and gained an easy victory. However, the European Powers robbed Japan of her gains, and she retired and waited for the day of reckoning.

In 1904 Japan demanded the Russian evacuation of Manchuria, and, since this was not forthcoming, prepared to carry it out by force. By this war Japan became the dominant power in the East. Again, in 1933 she engaged in a successful war with China, and set up the puppet State of Manchukuo.

In March, 1933, Japanese foreign policy turned over a new leaf when she withdrew her membership from the League of Nations because her policy with regard to Manchuria was incompatible with the League. Simultaneously an Imperial Decree was promulgated, explaining why Japan was obliged to leave the League, and that she would continue to co-operate with international movements aiming at the welfare of mankind.

Since many parts of the globe, including Australia, are practically closed to Japanese immigration, Japan has embarked on a policy of industrial expansion as a means of absorbing her population problem. But the present economic nationalism has crippled trade expansion by the erection of high tariffs and restrictions put on imports. The present boycotting of Japanese goods by foreign rivals means the cutting of the throat of the nation, and it is possible that if this is carried too far the nation will turn from fighters in peace into fighters in war.

Today Japan stands as a great Power; her position has been brought about by intellectual, social, industrial and national changes during the last fifty years, and now this formerly isolated, powerless, nation demands parity with the other Powers in naval armaments.

PAST AND PRESENT

Last week I was reading an historical book named "Ivar Dhu." The scene was set in Scotland in the tenth century, and I was particularly interested in the description of an entertainment at the castle of the Highland chief. A minstrel chanted to a harp accompaniment stories of the warlike deeds of his forefathers, and his saga so inflamed and inspired his listeners that they drew their claymores and, with wild battle cries, swore to set forth at once and raid the neighbouring clan. I could not help wondering what those ancient people would feel if they could "listen-in" to modern entertainment—the radio.

It is a far cry from the primitive musician to the complication of scientific instruments which go to produce a wireless programme.

At one end of the comfortable studio stands the microphone, and it provokes an eerie feeling to think that every word spoken or sung into that small circular box may be heard on the other side of the world.

I watched a play being produced the other night. Three or four men stood before a microphone and told in dialogue of a stirring battle in the Khyber Pass. They described the wind, the rattle of rifle fire, and the fierce gallop of horses up the hill. As they talked they watched for signs through a glass window which led into another room, where a man could be seen very busy putting on various records and working effects. I went out to investigate, and found it very entertaining. I could hear the voices of the actors, but in addition I could hear the wind and the various effects as the operator placed the records on the turn-tables. I found that the firing of guns had actually been recorded during the manoeuvres of a famous regiment. Then I went into the control room, and there the illusion was complete, the voices of the actors and the noises from the effects room were judiciously blended, and by closing my eyes I could imagine the scene in the Khyber Pass.

But have we advanced so very far?

It was only a story after all, and not any more thrilling or inspiring than that of the minstrel of the tenth century; in fact, I doubt very much of it would be possible, over the air, to rouse an audience to such a frenzy that they would be prepared to rush forthwith to battle.

Accelerating

THE DESERT

A stranger plods thro' the desert,
Waterless, barren and bare,
Mocking mirages before him
Cast by the cruel sun's glare.

Never a sign of humanity
Appears on the arid waste,
No stir among the spinifex,
Nor any water to taste.

Burning sun above him,
Sand burning beneath his feet,
His eyeballs bloodshot and smarting,
The desert pulsating with heat.

Beautiful under the sunset,
Blood-red against the dawn,
Tempting men to destruction
More surely than Pied Piper's horn.

Cruel and merciless sandhills
Baffling and barring the way,
Mocking, mysterious desert,
Waiting to claim its prey.

Fatal lure it possesses,
This challenge of sun-smitten space,—
The lone figure falters and stumbles,
Falls forward and lies on his face.

THE FISHING FLEET

The waves rolled lazily towards the shore,
With white caps gleaming 'neath a morning sun;
No sail was seen; nor heard the sound of oar;

The town was not awake nor work begun.
The gulls awoke the town with their shrill cries,
The haze began to lift from off the sea;
From soot-grimed chimneys smoke commenced to rise,

And from their beds the folk stepped sleepily.
Then on the far horizon shone the sails
Of fishing smacks, well filled and homeward bound,

A fleet made strong to stand the fiercest gales
For which that rocky coast was far renowned.
Like sea-birds floating on from crest to crest,
They found at length their haven, homes and rest.

DEATH'S DOOR

We wandered through the dark and lonely hills,
We heard no human sounds, no earthly cries;
The rain came down in torrents from the skies,
To change to raging streams the tiny rills,
Like one who starteth up before he kills
His helpless cow'ring prey. Before our eyes
Staring in mute appeal, there seemed to rise
A gloomy mount, the home of all the ills.
Our terror gripped us; motionless we stood
And tightly grasped each other's palsied palm.
The mountain split with thunder, and we saw
The spectre, Death, with scythe and cowl and hood;

He beckoned us with long and skinny arm,
And led us shrinking through Death's awful door.

THE ELIZABETHAN STAGE

Plays were written, often, by playwrights in conjunction—there were sometimes as many as five collaborating, and their work was often hurried. In contrast with the long run a popular play might have nowadays, then a different play was presented each day. This required that the companies of actors should have a much larger repertoire and, also, that the playwright should turn out as many plays as possible. Shakespeare and Ben Jonson were the only two who did not make a practice of collaborating.

Playwrights and authors who today grumble about the censor cutting out some of their works, need not think that this censorship is a new innovation. In Shakespeare's time all plays had to be taken to the Master of the Revels, i.e., the censor. He, however, was not worried about immorality, but was concerned solely with political references, and references disrespectful to the established order. He might slice out whole scenes or perhaps alter only one word.

The plays were presented in the afternoon at three o'clock, when a flag would be flown and a trumpeter would appear in the tower. There was no drop curtain and no interval between scenes, although there was a break between acts when music was played or some variety entertainment took place: for example a dance accompanied by a song. Instead of concluding with the National Anthem, as we do today, for there was no National Anthem then, the plays were concluded in much the same spirit, with a prayer for the sovereign.

From these humble beginnings, as plays increased in popularity, theatres were improved, scenery was introduced, and today we appear to have reached perfection with elaborate scenery and lighting effects, luxurious theatres, and such things as the revolving stage, which help to produce those quick changes of scene that are so necessary in some plays.

It now remains for time to show what further changes will be made necessary by the requirements of modern drama.

THE VICTORIAN

"HEAD OF THE RIVER"

During the first term vacation of this year the Victorian schools held their "Head of the River" regatta, and some fine rowing and thrilling finishes were witnessed. The regatta was held on two consecutive days, the heats on the first day and the finals on the second.

In the first heat of the eights championship Melbourne Grammar School, whose average weight was 11 st. 9 lb. and who started from the centre position, and Wesley College, whose average weight was 11 st. 8 lb., rowing from the north position, were matched. Soon after an even start Wesley pulled a "crab" and lost several lengths. From that point Wesley rowed brilliantly in an effort to make up the lost ground. In a thrilling finish Melbourne

Grammar held Wesley off to win by quarter of a length, in the comparatively slow time of 5 minutes 39 seconds for the $1\frac{1}{8}$ miles.

The second heat was between Scots College, average weight 11 st. 7 lb., north position, and Xavier College, weight 12 st., from centre position. From an even start both crews rowed well, and with a quarter of a mile to go they were still level. From this point Scots seemed to stay the distance better, and eventually won by a quarter of a length in the good time of 5 minutes 31 $\frac{1}{2}$ seconds.

The final heat was between Geelong College, 10 st. 11 lb., from centre, and Geelong Grammar School, 11 st. 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ lb., from the north side. At the start Grammar slipped away with a length and a half lead, and rowing easily, but well, led throughout to win in the even time of 5 minutes 36 seconds.

In the final Melbourne Grammar drew centre, Scots drew the short north side, while Geelong Grammar drew the long south side. Scots dwelt a little at the start, and thereafter were unable to bridge that gap. Meanwhile Geelong Grammar, rowing easily, forged half a length ahead of the dark blues, who were also rowing in fine style. Rounding the Henley bend, Geelong Grammar still held pride of place from Melbourne Grammar, with Scots striving to make an impression on the leaders. At the quarter mile post the order was unchanged, and in a desperate finish Geelong Grammar defeated Melbourne Grammar by two-thirds of a length, with Scots a similar distance back. Thus last year's winner, Geelong Grammar, again succeeded in capturing the Victorian schools "Head of the River" title.

Editorial

Critics might say that an editorial is not the place to appeal for support of our Endowment Fund. Whether they are right or not is immaterial.

When something is done out of place it usually causes comment, and the more comment and thought we can provoke concerning our aims for the betterment of the School, the more are we likely to achieve them.

One of the objects of our Association is stated to be "The furtherance of all that appertains to the welfare of Prince Alfred College." When the activities of our Association are analysed it is clear that the above is the underlying object of our being, and well may we be proud of the services which in the past we have been able to render in promoting the welfare of our School, thereby showing our appreciation of its work.

We must not, however, be content with what has been done, but must strive to achieve still greater things.

In the hearts of all of us affection for the School smoulders all the time, and on occasions such as the Old Scholars' Service and the Annual Dinner, where personal contact between the members is brought about the smouldering affection kindles into flame. Unfortunately, it is impossible to make personal contact between the committee and the majority of the members to stir those feelings of affection which lie deep in the hearts of all of us—unfortunate because the written appeal does seem so cold and unemotional as compared with the spoken appeal of a man imbued with these feelings of gratitude for the past and enthusiasm for the future.

The initial launching of any appeal to a large extent determines its success or otherwise. We must succeed in this scheme in the same way as we have in all others connected with our Association. Our past successes, however, have depended on the support members have individually given to the committee. The committee now calls on members again to play their part in achieving success for the most ambitious scheme yet attempted, and in doing so feels confident that the future will prove that such call has been answered in a manner befitting "The Best School of All."

Proposed Centenary Fete

At the last committee meeting of the Association the holding of a Centenary Fete to augment the College Endowment Fund was discussed. The School Council has promised its whole-hearted support. A sub-committee has been formed to go fully into the matter of holding a two-day Fete during September or October next.

Our President

MR. LEONARD S. CLARKSON

Mr. Leonard S. Clarkson, our newly-elected President, is the eldest son of Mr. A. E. Clarkson, who has always been a keen supporter of the School and was for many years a member of the School Council.

Attending the School in 1914-1915, our President was the first of five brothers to enter the College, the others being Harold, Lloyd, David, and Alan.

He represented the College in inter-collegiate cricket, football, and athletic events, and has always been keenly interested in sport.

Soon after leaving school Mr. Clarkson enlisted in the A.I.F. and went into camp with a number of other Old Reds, including Mr. W. S. Kelly, a former President of the Association; he went to France and joined up with the 32nd Battalion and saw active service for many months, eventually being severely wounded during the attack on the Hindenburg line at the end of September, 1918, and he was subsequently invalided home.

After the war Mr. Clarkson played "A" Grade cricket for Port Adelaide, and later transferred to Kensington, for which team he played for some years, being a member of their 1927 premiership team.

On the formation of the Old Collegians' Cricket Club four years ago Mr. Clarkson was appointed captain, and he has acted in that capacity ever since.

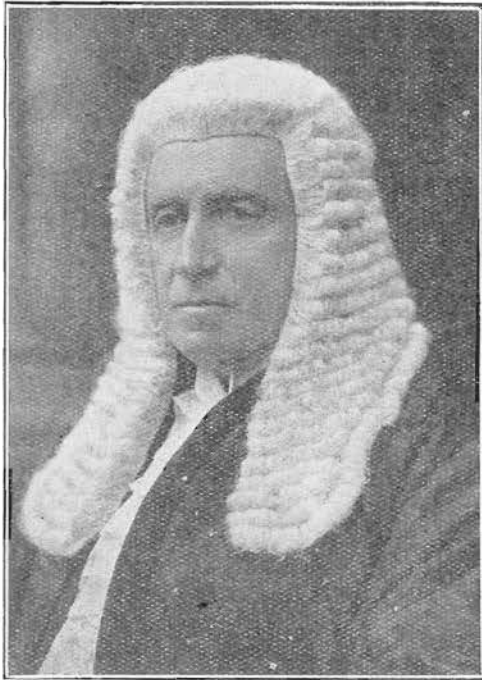

He has served on the Old Collegians' Committee for several years, and has always been an enthusiastic worker for the School; in addition, he is a member of the School Council, in succession to his father.

Mr. Clarkson is one of the youngest Presidents the Association has had, being 36 years of age, and he is anticipating an exceptionally busy year of office.

He is a Director of Clarkson Ltd., is a member of the Council of the Chamber of Industries and the Epworth Book Depot, and is also a member of the Legacy Club, and takes a keen interest in religious matters.

Sir Angas Parsons

We offer our heartiest congratulations to Sir Angas Parsons upon the honour conferred upon him. He is the Acting Chief Justice, and has been a judge of the Supreme Court since 1921. The whole of his legal career has been one of outstanding brilliance; and he was formerly active in political life also, for a time as Attorney-General and Minister of Education. Descended from George Fife Angas, one of the founders of South Australia, the new Knight is connected with two other South Australian Knights,

SIR ANGAS PARSONS

Sir Langdon Bonython, whose eldest daughter he married in 1900, and Sir Lavington Bonython, another "Old Red."

Son of the late John Langdon Parsons, M.L.C., also a former Minister of the Crown, Sir Angas Parsons was born at North Adelaide on May 23, 1872, and was educated at Prince Alfred College (1882 to 1889), winning the Colton Scholarship in 1888, Roseworthy Agricultural College, and the University of Adelaide. Subsequently he spent three years on farms and stations. He graduated at the University of Adelaide as Bachelor of Laws at the age of 25, and in the same year was admitted to the Bar of the Supreme Court. He was selected for appointment as King's Counsel in 1916.

Entering the House of Assembly as one of the members for Torrens in February, 1912, Sir Angas Parsons, after a comparatively brief career as a private member, was appointed Attorney-General on the retirement from the Peake Ministry of Sir Frederick Young, at the beginning of 1915. He also became Minister of Education. From 1918 to 1921 he represented the district of Murray. Sir Angas Parsons was for some years a senior partner in the legal firm of Glynn, Parsons, McEwin and Napier.

Apart from his legal and parliamentary work, he has taken a prominent part in many public activities, and as a speaker has earned a high reputation.

In October, 1904, he was appointed Consul for Japan in succession to his father, who had held the post from 1896 until the time of his death in 1903. Sir Angas held the position of Consul until 1921. He visited Japan towards the end of 1934, when he was entertained by the Vice-Foreign Minister, who paid a tribute to the distinguished services which Sir Angas and his father had rendered in a consular capacity. Sir Angas Parsons has been prominently connected with the British Immigration League, the Prison Reform Association, and the Cornish Society. For a number of years he was president of the Automobile Association. In 1908 he was one of the Commissioners appointed to represent South Australia at the Franco-British Exhibition in London.

In 1921, the year of his appointment to the Supreme Court bench, Sir Angas Parsons was awarded the Japanese Order of the Rising Sun. In 1927 he became senior puisne judge. He has been Warden of the Senate of the University of Adelaide since 1927, and was elected president of the South Australian branch of the Empire Society in 1934. Among other leading positions occupied by Sir Angas have been president of the English Speaking Union, president of the S.A. branch of the Navy League, and president of the Royal Society of St. George.

He is a Life Member, No. 40, of this Association.

Hon. E. W. Holden, M.L.C.

We congratulate Mr. Holden upon being elected to the Legislative Council as a representative of Central District No. 2.

Mr. Holden will be an acquisition to Parliament. His sound knowledge of business practice will be of great assistance when matters of interest to business people, and particularly in regard to the promotion of secondary industries, are being considered.

Mr. Holden is Chairman of Directors of General Motors-Holden's, Limited, and a Director of other companies, including the Bank of Adelaide and the Adelaide Cement Co. He is a member of the Adelaide City Council, and has indicated that he intends to be a candidate for the office of Lord Mayor at the next election.

He is a Life Member, No. 719, of this Association.

HON. E. W. HOLDEN, M.L.C.

Dr. H. R. H. N. Oaten

Dr. Harold R. H. N. Oaten, who has just completed his medical course, has had a brilliant University career. He entered the School in February, 1917, and left in December, 1925. He commenced studying pharmacy in 1926, and medicine in 1930.

He passed his final examination in pharmacy, and was awarded the Guy Parker prize for best student of his year. In medicine he had an uninterrupted course, passing his first year in the same year in which he took his final pharmacy exam.

He gained top credit in his second year, and top credit and the Dr. Davies Thomas Prize in his third year. In his fifth year he was awarded the Lister Medal and Prize, and gained second credit, being named as "proxime accessit" for the Dr. Davies Thomas Scholarship for the fourth examination. In the sixth (final year) he was awarded the B.M.A. Prize, and secured second credit, being named "proxime accessit" for the Everard Prize.

Mr. Acting Justice Reed presented to the Full Court a commission from his Excellency the Governor (Sir Winston Dugan) appointing him as acting Judge of the Supreme Court during the absence on leave of Mr. Justice Napier, who is chairman of the Banking Commission. The commission was read by the Deputy Master of the Court (Mr. K. H. Kirkman), and Mr. Justice Richards ordered it to be recorded.

F. H. Metters, of Murrayview, Waikerie, who is president of the Federal Citrus Council of Australia, and also president of the Murray Citrus Growers' Co-operative Association, recently left in the "Niagara" on a visit to California. He intends to investigate fully matters affecting the citrus industry in the hope that the handling of fruit in Australia for export will be improved. Mr. Metters was accompanied by his son, Mr. R. M. Metters, and expects to return early in 1936. He has been granted an Honorary Commission to enquire into the citrus industry.

F. Colin Hassell, who graduated in architectural engineering at the University of Adelaide in 1933, recently left for London. He was awarded a Travelling Scholarship by the Associated Shipping Lines on the merits of his course at the University. He intends to enter an architectural office for further experience, and also to continue post-graduate study in architecture and engineering at the University of London. After 10 years at Prince Alfred College, Mr. Hassell gained a scholarship which took him to the Adelaide University. In his course at the University he gained 13 credits, eight of which were top credits. He was articled to Mr. Hubert H. Cowell, and later was employed by Mr. Philip R. Claridge, with whom he has recently been taken in as an associate architect. Mr. Hassell is an associate of the Royal Australian Institute of Architects, and of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

Rev. A. H. Bell, who has been appointed Acting Principal of Parkin College during the absence of Principal E. S. Kiek in England, is one of the best Hebrew scholars in Australia, and for some years has been examiner in Hebrew for the Melbourne College of Divinity. He took his B.D. degree at London University with honours in Semitics.

Mr. Bell is in charge of Rose Park Congregational Church, but will leave in February to become a full-time lecturer at Parkin College, where he has been part-time lecturer for 12 years. A son of the Rev. William Bell, M.A., principal of the Queensland Baptist College, he was trained at Bristol Baptist College, England, but graduated M.A. at the University of Adelaide. He attended College 1900 to 1902 (School Reg. No. 3,319). He has been appointed Chairman of the Congregational Union in succession to the Rev. L. E. Bradbury, of Vardon Memorial Church, King's Park.

J. L. Allen, who has had a brilliant career at the University, has left for India, where he will sit for the Indian Civil Service examination in May. Mr. Allen, who is 22, and an Arts student, expects to complete his course at the University this year. During the past nine months he has concentrated almost exclusively on Honors Classics. Since he entered the University in 1932, Mr. Allen has been top in every examination, except two, for which he has sat. While at Prince Alfred College he won six prizes and scholarships. He has also played a prominent part in sport, having been a member of the All-Australian team which visited New Zealand, and captain of the Australian team against the Indian players. He was awarded his Blue. He represented the University in inter-University and district tennis.

He is a member of this Association, and for two years has acted on the General Committee of the Association.

College Endowment Fund

Your committee consider that satisfactory progress has been made during the past three months. During that time Mr. Philip R. Claridge (President) has paid visits to Melbourne, Sydney and Perth, in order to explain more fully the aims and objects of this fund.

In each State the matter has been well received, and various local branches will now be able to discuss the subject more fully, with the idea of formulating some suitable scheme.

Old Reds in New South Wales have suggested a contribution of £250, spread over several years, whilst several West Australian Old Boys have already contributed their donations.

Fifty Years Ago

[Extracts from the P.A.C. Chronicle.]

"A lawn tennis club has been formed amongst the boys, and Mr. Chapple and Mr. Martin, of the masters, have joined it. The first match was played on Saturday, September 19, against the "Skribs" at Kensington Park, and resulted in an easy win for P.A.C.

"It is hoped that regular practice may be held, say every Wednesday, and great improvement seen. The Headmaster is an enthusiast in the game, and will do all he can to forward it."

"We expect to hear of the arrival of the P.A.C. boat, four-oared half outrigger, any mail now. Mr. Van Senden has kindly taken a great deal of trouble in the matter, sending the order to Salter of Oxford, seeing to the shipping at the London Docks, etc. Forty pounds were remitted on account some months ago, and it is hoped £50 will cover everything."

"University Scholarships.—It will be remembered that when the last public competition took place for these valuable scholarships, open to all under eighteen, worth £50 a year for three years, Holidge, of P.A.C., was first, Duence, of P.A.C., second, and Hayward, the famous cricketer of St. Peter's third; Joyce, of P.A.C., and Andrews, of S.P.S.C., were marked 'proxime accesserunt.'"

"The Annual General Meeting of the P.A. Old Collegians' Association was held at Messrs. F. D. Beach & Son's restaurant on Saturday, September 12th.

"The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mr. J. A. Hartley, B.A., B.Sc.; vice-presidents, Messrs. F. Chapple, B.A., B.Sc., A. Scott, B.A., and J. T. Sunter, B.A.; hon. secretary, Mr. E. B. Colton; hon. asst. secretary, Mr. C. S. Mead; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. Langsford; auditors, Messrs. P. Wood and E. H. Bakewell; committee, Messrs. J. R. Anderson, G. W. Cooper, G. S. Cotton, G. M. Evan, A. H. Hill, M. Meyrick and C. E. Robin.

"The secretary's report records a splendid muster at the annual dinner, where a very enjoyable evening was spent. 'The success attending the dinners is in a great measure due to the fact that they are held at the College.'"

"Annual Cricket Match, v. S.P.S.C.—The annual match between the pinks and the blues was played on the Adelaide Oval on Thursday and Friday, November 19 and 20, and unfortunately resulted in a draw, although in our favour.

"The wicket prepared by the indefatigable Checkett, the caretaker of the oval, left nothing to be desired; indeed, it is said that it is the best ever played on, on the Adelaide Oval. The attendance on both days was very large, and included a good sprinkling of the fair sex. P.A.C. ought to congratulate itself that it includes in its ranks such a rising young batsman as J. Darling, whose score, 252, the highest ever made on the oval, was truly a marvellous performance; he was at the wickets for more than six hours, and gave only two chances. Fry, too, batted for his 125 in a very free style, hitting well on both sides."

The game began at 1.30 on each day, the umpires being Messrs. D. G. Evan and H. D. O'Halloran.

Results—P.A.C., 500 runs; S.P.S.C., two wickets for 132.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION

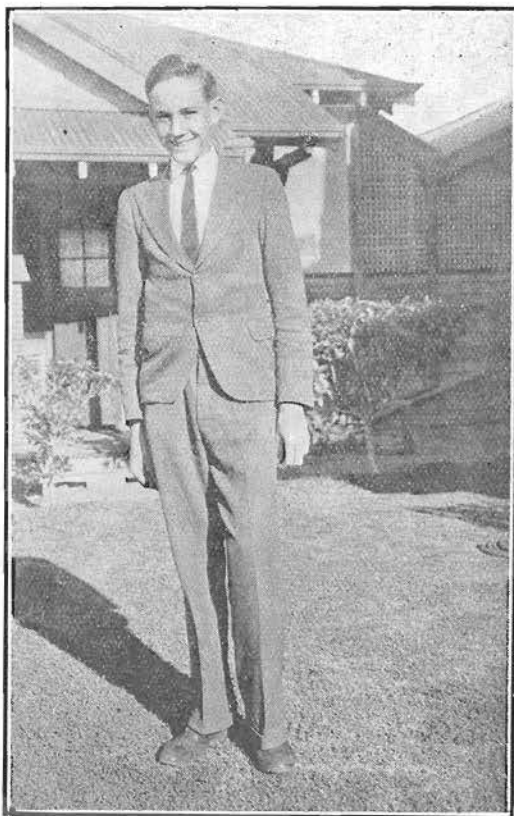

Ordinary Members are reminded that the subscription for the current year, viz., 6/-, is now due. The Committee will be pleased if members will kindly remit their subscriptions to the Secretaries as early as possible. The financial year ends on the 30th September. Cheques and Money Orders should be made payable to "Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Association."

The "Jim Throssell" Memorial Fund.

The many friends of the late Hugo Throssell, V.C., will be gratified to learn of the excellent progress made by his son Eric, who is now being educated at Wesley College, Perth, under the scheme controlled by the W.A. Branch of this Association.

The following extracts from his third term report are very satisfactory:—Form IV., age 12 years 7 months (average age 13 years 6 months). Percentage for term, 89.7%. English, 85; Latin, 98; French, 80; History, 81; Geography, 84; Arithmetic, 89; Algebra, 96; Geometry, 98; Elementary Science, 97. Classification—Attendance and conduct, each A; citizenship, B. General Report—"A very good result after a year's hard work. He promises to develop into a boy who will be a power of good in his school."

Further contributions to the fund are needed to complete this boy's education, and an appeal is made to the personal friends of the late "Jimmy Throssell" to forward their contributions to either Mr. E. Witherage Cotton, 5 Melrose Crescent, North Perth (secretary W.A. Branch), or Mr. R. J. B. Miller (treasurer Throssell Fund), c/o Bank of Australasia, 237 Murray Street, Perth, or to the joint secretaries of this Association.

ERIC THROSSELL

The Committee Attends "Assembly"

Members of the Association Committee again attended morning service at the College on Tuesday, 17th December.

Rev. A. B. Lloyd (President of the School) and Mr. J. F. Ward received members in the study.

Mr. Ward, in introducing Mr. Len. Clarkson (President of the Association), briefly stated that the visit was to enable the senior boys who were about to leave an opportunity to learn more about the work and objects of the Association.

Mr. Clarkson thanked the School authorities for the opportunity of addressing the boys, and urged every boy to join up with the Association, and continue unbroken the friendships made at school. Mr. A. G. Collison also supported the President's remarks.

ASSOCIATION TOKENS

Owing to increased cost of gold and manufacturers' Sales Tax, Association Tokens will be issued to members upon payment of 20/- (in lieu of 18/6 as formerly). These remain the property of the Association, and are returnable if the holder ceases to be a member. To the end of December last, 1,240 tokens have been issued.

Old Boys About Town

No. 25—Mr. W. PERCY DAVIES

We are again indebted to Mr. R. W. Blundell, of Sydney Branch, for his clever sketch

"TURNING THE WHEEL FROM THE HUB"

W. Percy Davies is Managing Director of The Hub Limited—Sydney. The attributes characteristic of this fine type need no further elaboration. All functions in Sydney associated with Prince Alfred College have his support and punctual attendance. He is a keen motorist, very fond of music, and a supporter of all athletic sports, besides being a good cricketer. He has a fund of good stories, and his laughter is contagious.

Obituary

DEAN—On the 7th November, at a private hospital, North Adelaide, Harry, the beloved husband of Elizabeth Fraser Dean, of 56 Mills Terrace, North Adelaide, aged 76 years.

Mr. Dean was one of the very early scholars, attending the School in 1871 to 1874 (School Reg. No. 161). He was a keen supporter of this association and was one of its foundation members in 1878. He was one of the guests of honour at our last Annual Dinner, and also attended the morning service held at the School on Old Boys' Day, 1935. (See September, 1935, "Chronicle," p. 314.)

GOOD—On the 6th December, Joseph Ernest, M.B., B.Sc., beloved husband of A. M. Good, aged 68 years.

The death occurred suddenly of Dr. J. Ernest Good, at his home, Prospect Road, Prospect. Dr. Good was born at North Adelaide, and was the youngest son of Mr. Thomas Good, of Good, Toms & Co. He went to Prince Alfred College, 1879-1882 (School Reg. No. 755), when he left for England and attended Millhill School for some years, returning through America with his brother, Mr. Charles T. Good. He began his medical course at the Adelaide University, but after passing his first examination returned to England and entered the University of Edinburgh, where he graduated M.B. and C.M. in 1894. He was appointed Resident Medical Superintendent of the smallpox hospital in Edinburgh, and later was for three years attached to the City of London Hospital for diseases of the chest. Afterwards he joined the staff of the Hospital for Children, and then that of the Royal Free Hospital, both in London. After his marriage in England to Miss Agnes Minnie Williams, he returned to South Australia, entering into practice at Prospect, where he remained until his death. Dr. Good is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mesdames Keith Angas, of Lindsay Park, Angaston, and C. L. Colley, of Clare. He was a Life Member of this Association, No. 83.

PASCOE—Mr. Francis Pascoe passed to his long rest in September last, aged 79 years.

He attended the College in 1873 (School Reg. No. 306), coming from the Clare district, where he was born. After a useful experience in wheat-growing in the Clare and Terowie districts he became associated with the late Sir Frederick Holder in the newspaper, "The Terowie Enterprise." From that point he went from State to State, each move being a step upwards on the journalistic ladder. For a period he edited the "Port Augusta Despatch," and then proceeded to the "Morning Herald," Perth, Western Australia. Next he joined the "Mercury" at Hobart, then the "Age" at Melbourne, and the "Daily Telegraph" and "Morning Herald" at Sydney. As a journalist Mr. Pascoe was associated with numbers of episodes of historical importance. In Melbourne he was a leading figure in the famous David Syme railway case, and was in the press gallery in the early stages of the Federal Parliament. To the last he told numbers of good stories about the celebrated men of that period, and particularly of Messrs. Playford, Symon, Downer, Reid and Kingston. He was in the inner circle of journalists reporting the visits to Melbourne and Sydney of the present King and the American Fleet.

During the bubonic plague in Sydney he was required to contact with the doctors who fought that scourge.

Mr. Pascoe had a ready pen both in prose and jingle, and possessed a wit which made him popular among his many friends. Throughout an extraordinary long life in the profession he displayed a love of country, which expressed itself in a profound confidence in Australia's mission in the Pacific.

PITT—On 21st October, at Houghton (suddenly), Arthur Ebenezer, aged 76 years.

Mr. Arthur Ebenezer Pitt, of Felixstowe, who collapsed and died suddenly as he was about to take part in a lodge meeting at Houghton, was a well-known fruit and vegetable grower and exporter. Mr. Pitt was the founder of A. E. Pitt & Sons, fruit exporters, who began operations 50 years ago with a shop in King Killiam Street, City, where the premises of Stempel & Jolly now stand. From this shop the operations of the firm have spread to many seaport towns in Australia and abroad. The Pitt family has been associated with market gardening for more than 80 years. The late Mr. Pitt's business will be carried on by his sons, Mr. A. E. Pitt, who controls the Melbourne office, and Mr. A. V. Pitt, head of the Adelaide office. Mr. Pitt was a son of the late Mr. Ebenezer Pitt, who came from England. He was educated at Prince Alfred College, 1872 to 1873 (School Reg. No. 200). He was a keen municipalist, and for 10 years he represented Felixstowe Ward on the Payneham Council, of which he was chairman for two terms. His brother, Mr. A. W. G. Pitt, is a member of the Council at present. Mr. Pitt was a foundation member of the Payneham Bowling Club. He was well known in Masonic circles, and was a member of the Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Lodge, No. 51, S.A. He is survived by a widow, two sons, and two daughters—Mesdames A. H. Pretty (Felixstowe) and W. M. Titley (Largs Bay). Three brothers and a sister who survive him are Messrs. A. W. G. Pitt (Marden), H. C. and G. G. Pitt (Balhannah), and Mrs. F. T. Norsworthy (Balhannah).

Annual Meeting

The 57th Annual General Meeting was held at Prince Alfred College on Thursday, 28th November. The President, Mr. Philip R. Claridge, was in the chair. There was an attendance of about 80 members. The minutes of the previous Annual Meeting were confirmed. The annual report and balance-sheet were taken as read.

In moving the adoption of the annual report, the President emphasised the satisfactory increase in membership, the success of Old Boys' Week, and the general progress of the Association. He also gave a brief outline of his Interstate trips, and paid a tribute to the excellent management of the various branches. Mr. A. G. Collison gave further details of the good work achieved from the Benevolent Fund.

The report and balance-sheet were adopted.

The following officers were elected:— President, Mr. Len. S. Clarkson; vice-presidents, Dr. H. G. Prest, Messrs. F. L. Collison and Philip R. Claridge; treasurer, Mr. A. G. Collison; hon. auditor, Messrs. C. W. L. Muecke and J. H. Burgess; hon. secretaries, Messrs. L. B. Shuttleworth and S. Williams.

General Committee.—The following retain their seats from the previous year: Messrs. H. H. Cowell, T. C. Craven, B. D. Jolly; Drs. A. R. Southwood and A. G. Trott; Messrs. L. S. Walsh and H. N. Shepley. A number of nominations were received, and the following were elected for two years: Dr. D. L. Barlow, G. T. Clarke, J. Crompton, M. W. Evans, R. P. Goode, M. S. Joyner and S. G. Lawrence.

Mr. Clarkson moved a vote of thanks to the retiring President, congratulating him upon his very active and successful year of office. Mr. Claridge in reply thanked the officers and members of the Association for the whole-hearted support, and also Mr. and Mrs. Ward for their hospitality during the year.

Mr. Ward, in acknowledging, said that the Association was doing excellent work in conjunction with the School, and especially in connection with country reunion functions.

A hearty vote of thanks to the auditors for their assistance during the year was carried.

Address on Aviation

At the conclusion of the Annual Meeting members adjourned to the Physics Laboratory, where Mr. Malcolm Joyner delivered a very interesting address on aviation.

During the lecture numerous illustrated slides of various types of machines were shown, and Mr. Joyner gave a brief history of the "flying machine" from its earliest days, which proved most interesting to the audience.

At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Joyner. Members then adjourned to the dining hall for refreshment.

Memorials to the late James Ashton and H. C. Shortt

Mr. W. R. Bayly has kindly offered to present a very fine etching of the late James Ashton, to be placed by the Association as a memorial with a suitably inscribed tablet in the School library.

The committee of the Association is also desirous of presenting a suitable memorial in memory of the late Mr. H. C. Shortt.

Arrangements are now being made with the School Council to have these ideas carried out. It would seem fitting to have some ceremony on "Old Boys' Day," 1936, in connection with these memorials.

Retiring Committeemen

Members will regret the retirement of the Hon. S. W. Jeffries from the committee of the Association. He has found that his public duties prevent him from taking an active part in the doings of the Association.

Mr. Jeffries has been on the committee for several years, and was elected President in 1933. During his term of office he made a special feature of visiting country branches, and the Association had a most successful year.

Mr. Jeffries still remains a member of the School Council, and he still retains his deepest interest in Association matters.

Owing to his departure for India Mr. J. L. Allen found it necessary to retire. He has served on the committee since 1933, and has always taken an active part in keeping Association matters before Old Reds at the University. We shall miss him in future Old Boys hockey matches.

::

Mr. W. S. S. Gilbert has been on the committee since 1923. He has always taken a very active part in the Association matters, and has given long and valuable service on the various sub-committees. He has always taken a very great interest in the Old Collegians' Football Team, and undertook the secretarial work in connection with its formation.

New Committeemen

Mr. Geoffrey T. Clarke was elected at the last Annual Meeting. He entered the School in 1917, School Register No. 5,173. He is a Life Member, No. 422, of this Association.

Upon leaving School he entered the office of Messrs. Neill, Neill & Burgess, where he studied accountancy and obtained his diploma as a chartered accountant. He was recently appointed secretary of the Taxpayers' Association of South Australia, and prior to his election to the above committee has been organising secretary for the College Endowment Fund during the past six months.

Mr. Malcolm S. Joyner was also elected to the committee. He entered the School in 1914, School Register No. 4,835. He represented the School in Intercollegiate Football and Athletics. Upon leaving he studied dentistry at the Adelaide University, obtaining his B.D.S. degree, and is now in practice on North Terrace. He was awarded his "Blue" at the University for lacrosse, and has represented this Association on several occasions in the Old Scholars' lacrosse matches. He has been a member of this Association since 1922, and has always taken a deep interest in the School and the Association.

Mr. Joyner is keenly interested in aviation, and, as an "Old Red" representative, won the "Head of the Air" race in 1933 and 1934.

Mr. R. P. Goode was again elected to the College committee. In 1909 he was first elected to the Association committee and for three years carried out the duties of committeeman, including two years as joint secretary in conjunction with Mr. H. W. A. Miller, when he did very valuable work in assisting the Association.

Mr. Goode is now employed on secretarial duties in Adelaide. He is a keen supporter of the School and the Association, and Worshipful Master of the P.A.C. Old Collegians' Masonic Lodge, No. 51, S.A.C.

We feel sure that these newly-elected committeemen will be of great assistance in successfully maintaining the Association's work and continuing its progress.

Branch Reunions

UPPER MURRAY

The Annual Re-union Dinner of Old Reds and Old Blues was held at the Barmera Hotel, Barmera, on Saturday, 12th October, 1935, and proved most successful and enjoyable.

Mr. E. H. Kernot (S.P.S.C.) occupied the chair and welcomed the representatives from Adelaide: Messrs. J. F. Ward, Len S. Clarkson and L. B. Shuttleworth (P.A.C.); Rev. Guy Pentreath, and Messrs. F. Lancelot Parsons and W. D. Henderson (S.P.S.C.).

In proposing the toast of "The Schools," Mr. L. B. Dean (S.P.S.C.), in a humorous speech, suggested for the consideration of the present Headmasters that a suitable punishment for schoolboys would be the making of a speech. The Rev. Guy Pentreath and Mr. J. F. Ward, in response, thanked the proposer for his suggestion, but considered the punishment would then fall upon the masters.

Mr. F. H. Nixon (P.A.C.) proposed "Our Associations," and outlined the good work being done. In replying, Mr. Len. Clarkson and Mr. F. Lancelot Parsons urged every old boy to loyally support his Association by joining up immediately on leaving school.

The toast of "Our Visitors" was proposed by Mr. E. D. Sims.

The dinner was well attended, about 50 being present, others for various reasons were, unfortunately, unable to attend.

The joint secretaries were Messrs. F. E. Fenwick (P.A.C.) and J. M. Wishart (S.P.S.C.), who with their committee are to be congratulated upon the excellent arrangements.

MID-NORTH

On Saturday evening, 26th October, the fourth Mid-Northern Combined Dinner of St. Peters and Prince Alfred Old Collegians was held at the Lodge Hall, Aberdeen. The re-union was a huge success, nearly 50 old collegians being present. The interior of the hall was completely transformed by the simple but most ornate design evolved and carried out with royal blue and white and red and white streamers, the colours of the two Colleges, respectively. A large Union Jack was prominent on the western wall. On the platform were large bowls containing huge quantities of the flowers just as charmingly arranged as those which decked the tables. The ladies responsible were Mesdames D. M. Steele, W. F. Pickering, F. R. Pontifex and C. J. Butler.

Apologies were received from Mr. J. F. Ward, Headmaster of Prince Alfred College, who had to leave for Melbourne on Saturday, and Mr. W. S. Murray, of Cappedee, the Chairman, on account of family bereavement. Other visitors present were Mr. P. R. Claridge, President of Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Association; Mr. W. L. Davies, of Prince Alfred College; Mr. J. A. Maitland, who represented the Rev. Guy Pentreath, Headmaster of St. Peter's College, and Mr. W. D. Henderson, Vice-President of St. Peter's Old Collegians' Association.

In the absence of Mr. Murray, Dr. D. Macdonald Steele was chairman, and after full justice had been done to the excellent menu, the loyal toast duly honoured and the National Anthem sung, the Chairman extended a very cordial welcome to not only the visitors, but to the old Collegians, many of whom had travelled long distances to honour the function. The toast "Prince Alfred College," ably proposed by Mr. L. A. Davies, P.A.C., was followed by the hearty singing of the old College song, "Our School Colours," and responded to by Dr. Steele, P.A.C. To Mr. Pickering, S.P.S.C. was given the toast of "St. Peter's College." "Here's to the good old school" was lustily rendered, and the response given by Mr. J. A. Maitland, S.P.S.C. "The Old Boys' Association," proposed by Mr. M. W. Bednall, S.P.S.C., was musically honoured with "The more We are together," and the responders were Messrs. W. D. Henderson, S.P.S.C., and P. R.

Claridge, P.A.C. A toast to the ladies, proposed in an eloquent speech by Mr. Roy McWaters, P.A.C., was drunk with enthusiasm. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" closed a very successful and happy re-union.

Mr. K. M. Drew was joint secretary for this Association.

PORT LINCOLN

When the idea of holding a combined Old Scholars' dinner at Pt. Lincoln was first suggested, it was enthusiastically received. An active committee, compris-

Dr. D. M. Steele presided, and among those present were the Headmaster of Prince Alfred College (Mr. J. F. Ward), the Senior Master St. Peter's (Mr. John Hill), the President of the P.A.C. Old Collegians' Association (Mr. P. R. Claridge), the Secretary of the St. Peter's Old Collegians' Association (Mr. P. H. Andrews).

The health of the two Colleges was proposed by Mr. C. R. Doudy, who paid a tribute to the founders of the Colleges. They were carrying on traditions which ing Dr. D. M. Steele and Messrs. C. R. Doudy and K. E. Jacobs (P.A.C.), and Messrs. W. D. Randall, G. C. Harrington and K. S. Moyes (S.P.S.C.) was formed.

The dinner was held at the Grand Hotel, Pt. Lincoln, on Tuesday, 26th November, 1935, and there was an excellent attendance from members of both Associations.

It is hoped that this function will become an annual fixture, and the committee are to be congratulated upon the very successful inaugural dinner.

the founders set down, he said. Without doubt the pioneers built wisely and well, and the teachers had carried on the traditions of the old School by passing out into the community generations of youths who gave service by revering and reverencing constitution and government, and by exercising a steadying influence upon the many political nostrums of the day.

Messrs. Ward and Hill replied.

Mr. Andrews, replying to the toast of the Association, drew attention to the gradual increase in the strength of Old Collegians' Associations.

Mr. Claridge said that former scholars of P.A.C. had decided to educate at Wesley College, Perth, the son of a past student, Hugo Victor Throssell, who gained the V.C. at the war. Mr. Claridge appealed for subscriptions to assist the fund. The P.A.C. Old Collegians' Association, he added, was the strongest organisation of its kind in the southern hemisphere.

SOUTH-EAST

Arrangements are still in progress for the holding of a re-union dinner in the South-East. Mr. L. R. DeGaris, Naracoorte has kindly consented to do the organising, and has circularized members in connection with the proposal.

All "Old Reds" interested in the matter are requested to advise Mr. DeGaris as early as possible. He will also welcome any suggestions from members.

It is hoped that a successful re-union will result, with the possibility of it becoming an annual function.

Association Scholarships

The Association scholarships are awarded upon the Rhodes Scholar lines. In response to the Association advertisement, 23 boys sat for the examination. The Association is obliged to Mr. Ward for making the necessary arrangements for the examination at the School. Applications were received from the country, and arrangements were made for their local examination.

The scholarship awarded H. C. Bennett in 1933 has been extended for another year.

This Association has awarded the A. G. Collison Scholarship to Peter Kitto. We trust he will worthily uphold the record of previous boys who have received this award.

LOST TOKENS

Tokens remain the property of this Association, and are held by members on trust only. In the event of the loss of a token, the member should immediately report this to the Secretaries of the Association.

Monthly Luncheon

The monthly luncheon of the Association is now held regularly on the last Thursday of each month at the Piccadilly Cafe (Chas. Birks & Co.), Rundle Street, at 1 o'clock.

Many interesting subjects are discussed at these gatherings, which are primarily held for the purpose of offering more facilities to our country and city members to meet their friends.

At the luncheon held in November last we were pleased to meet Mr. A. V. Robertson (West Aust.), who was on his way home after a two years' tour of England and the Continent.

The attendance of both city and country members is desired. There is no fixed charge, each one paying for his own requirements.

New Members

We are pleased to again report a satisfactory increase in membership. We sincerely hope that all members will do their utmost to obtain further increase in membership.

ASSOCIATION BLAZERS

The Association Blazer is finding favour amongst members. Orders entitling members to secure a blazer are obtainable from the Secretary of the Association.

Old Boys in Sport

Three Old Boys in Parker, Williams and Richter were picked to tour with the South Australian side on its Eastern trip. Parker seems now to have firmly consolidated his position in the regular XI, and the International possibilities of this lad daily seem more promising.

Another of the younger generation of cricketers who continues to gather success is Ross Stanford, who recently made his first century in "A" Grade competition. This player hits the ball forcefully, and although displaying a variety of shots, he has a penchant for off-drives. His masterly innings was the cause of pleasant comment among sporting critics.

Arthur Dawkins still hits the ball with a seemingly electric blade, and spectators in one accord are appreciative of his stroking artistry.

Gordon Harris seems to be running into form again. Last season he did not bat with his usual efficiency, but now he seems to be regaining that form which in his hey-day could almost produce centuries at will. Port Adelaide should greatly profit by his return to form.

Bob Wright and Lindsay McKay have been regular members of the successful Kensington side, and Angus Woolcock is again captain of West Torrens, a team which appears to be strong contenders for the premiership this summer.

In the annual match played between the "B" Grade and the Turf Association, two "Old Reds" in Mervyn Evans (captain) and Terry Bond played for the latter side.

TENNIS

Old Boys were very prominent in the Xmas Tournament held recently on the Kensington Gardens courts. It is many years since Gar Hone first participated in the finals of the Doubles Championship in this tournament, and when he entered the finals again this year, he continued a sequence which has been unbroken for something in the vicinity of 15 years.

Brother Ron. further supported the family reputation by winning the Men's Special Doubles. Ken. Berriman, who is often "on the air" broadcasting "the big tennis," showed that talking tennis is not his only achievement, for he gave visible proof of his own ability by winning the Second Open Doubles with Norm. Dawkins, another "Old Red." Ken. was also runner-up in the Mixed Doubles Handicap, and so he can well look back on the tournament with satisfaction. Colin Fleming, a member of the Unley Park Club, further added to the "Red" successes by registering a fine win in the "B" Grade Mixed Doubles. Allen Edwards, Norman Todd and George Bayly were all seen to advantage, and were only eliminated from their respective events when nearing the finals.

The Mount Gambier Hard Court Championships were contested in early January. The State country champion, E. P. Copping, scored a meritorious win in the Singles, after a stirring exhibition of powerful driving. With Ted Luke, Copping regained the Doubles Championship which they lost last year, and to add further to their successes this pair won the handicap events as well. The win in the Championship Doubles entitles Luke to keep the Jens' Cup, as it was his third win in this event, and in view of his excellent work as coach at the College all "Old Reds" are particularly pleased with his victory.

NATIONAL GAMES

At the Australian National Games, which are set down to open on January 25, at least two Old Boys will participate. Clarrie Shimmin has been elected as the South Australian first string in the Pole Vault, whilst Phil. McBride, the University 440 Low Hurdler, has been chosen as a State representative for that event.

Nevil Hack, the sprint swimmer, has recently been performing very creditably in Melbourne, where he now lives. As he has not yet fulfilled his residential qualifications in the East he is still at liberty to compete for this State, and it is reported that he has signified his willingness to do so. Whether South Australia will avail itself of this opportunity still remains to be seen. His recent performances indicate that his training has not been neglected.

RIFLE SHOOTING

The recent win by A. L. (Bob) Cooper in the Metropolitan Kingship was a very popular result, as Bob is one of the State's young shots who is rapidly coming to the front. He only lost the Military Kingship at Hahndorf after a shoot-off, and he also was seen to distinct advantage at the Kapunda club's matches last October. Those who have witnessed shoots this year speak of Bob as a most promising junior, and predict an excellent future for him.

Presentation to Mr. W. S. S. Gilbert

Upon his retirement from the Headmastership of the Preparatory School a presentation was made to Mr. W. S. S. Gilbert by Mr. Reg. Cheek, on behalf of the parents and "Prep." boys and other "Old Boy" friends. Through the energetic work of Mr. R. H. James a substantial amount was received.

In presenting this, Mr. Cheek referred to the good work done both by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert during their residence at the Preparatory School, and reminded them that the many friendships made would prove happy recollections in their future years

Etching of the College

Recently Mr. Austin H. Platt, of Sydney, produced a very good etching of the School, and kindly forwarded one to this Association. It has found a ready sale amongst Old Reds in Sydney. The cost of the etching unframed is £1/17/6. Any Old Boy requiring further information should write to Mr. Pratt, Standard Buildings, 55 Pitt Street, Sydney, or to the Association Secretary.

Luncheon to Mr. Paull Fiddian

The Association Committee entertained Mr. Fiddian at luncheon at the Commercial Travellers' Club, North Terrace, on 1st October last.

Mr. Philip R. Claridge (President) welcomed Mr. Fiddian on behalf of the Association, and emphasised the debt that the Association owed to Old Boys, like Mr. Fiddian, in other States who were keeping their interest going in the School. Mr. Claridge thanked those in Melbourne for the kindnesses shown him on his recent visit.

Mr. S. G. Lawrence supported the remarks of the Chairman and explained that the Old Boys were taking a very deep interest in the School. Mr. Mattison also expressed appreciation of the many kindnesses shown him whilst in Melbourne.

In reply, Mr. Fiddian thanked the Committee for the opportunity of meeting the members. He hoped Mr. Claridge would again visit Melbourne, and put forward the Endowment Fund scheme. Mr. Fiddian said he believed that the love of their old School was dearer to the S.A. boys than to Victorian boys, where the tendency was to remember their particular University College. In outlining the history of the Melbourne Branch he expressed the hope of being able to increase the membership.

Life Members' Certificates

Life Members who have not yet received their membership certificates are requested to communicate with the Secretaries.

The newly-designed Life Membership Certificates are now available. These will be issued under the seal of the Association, and are obtainable by all Life Members upon payment of 2/6 to cover necessary costs of printing.

Life Members who have been already issued with old style Certificates are eligible to obtain a new Certificate if they so desire.

Old Collegians' Cricket Club

At the annual meeting of the club, held before the season started, indications were that a very good season would be experienced, but in the early matches the Old Collegians' Team, after a good start, suffered one or two reverses. The team was handicapped by the limited number of players available for the first few matches, and results did not quite come up to expectations. Nevertheless, the friendly and breezy manner in which the games are played creates a splendid feeling of goodwill amongst the members.

L. S. Clarkson was appointed captain; H. N. Shepley, vice-captain; and L. S. Walsh, secretary, for the season 1935-1936.

A brief summary of the matches up to the time of this publication going to press follows:—

October 5 and 12—V. Hawthorn.

Batting first, Old Collegians, on a good wicket, registered 139 (M. W. Evans, 38; L. S. Walsh, 23; N. Harris, 28 not out). An exciting finish occurred on the second day, when Hawthorns were dismissed for 134—5 short of the Old Collegians' tally (D. A. Clarkson, 3 wickets; H. P. Kirkwood, 3 wickets; H. N. Shepley, 2 wickets).

October 19 and 26—V. Payneham, at Payneham.

Owing to rain on the first day, this match was limited to the second Saturday, and resulted in a draw. Payneham batted first, and were dismissed for 158 (H. P. Kirkwood, 6 for 40—a splendid effort).

Old Collegians had very little time in which to force a win, but when stumps were drawn the score was 126 for the loss of 5 wickets (L. S. Walsh, 39; N. Harris, 30 not out; E. J. Male, 18).

November 2 and 16—V. P.A.C., at P.A.C.

This was a disastrous match. Winning the toss, Old Collegians were bundled out unceremoniously for the very poor tally of 83 (L. S. Walsh, 27; M. W. Evans, 15; R. Johnston, 15).

In reply to this the School secured 201 (D. A. Clarkson, 3 for 49; L. S. Walsh, 2 for 15). H. N. Shepley bowled particularly well, without taking a wicket, his analysis being 10 overs, 5 maidens, 6 runs.

Going in to bat again P.A.O.C. could manage only 105 (H. G. Prest, 23; M. W. Evans, 19; L. S. Walsh, 15; H. P. Kirkwood, 14 not out; G. Male, 12). This was the first innings defeat suffered by the Old Collegians' team since they entered the Turf Association.

November 23 and 30—V. S.P.S.C., at S.P.S.C.

H. N. Shepley won the toss, and Old Collegians batted first on a good wicket and secured 143 (M. W. Evans, 43; L. S. Walsh, 34; N. Harris, 25), the remainder of the side collapsed very badly.

When Saints went to the creases they lost 4 wickets very cheaply, and a win for the Old Collegians' team looked very probable, but on the second Saturday Saints batted stubbornly and, passing our score, won by 26 on the first innings. H. N. Shepley secured 3 wickets for 32.

December 14 and 21—V. S.P. Old Collegians, at S.P.S.C.

At the request of the St. Peter's Old Collegians this game, which was scheduled to be played at P.A.C., was transferred to S.P.S.C., as they were anxious to reciprocate our hospitality of the previous season when the two teams met.

On the second Saturday an afternoon-tea adjournment was made, when both teams and supporters were entertained by the St. Peter's Old Collegians' Association.

Mr. L. T. Ewens, captain of the St. Peter's Old Collegians' team, welcomed our team and the visitors, and a very happy function was enjoyed by all. The match resulted in a very exciting finish. Batting first, S.P.O.C. had the advantage of a splendid wicket, but were dismissed for 99 (H. N. Shepley, 2 for 19; R. Johnston, 2 for 14; H. P. Kirkwood, 2 for 18; L. S. Clarkson, 4 for 12). When stumps were drawn on the first day, P.A.O.C. had scored 105 for the loss of 7 wickets (L. S. Walsh, 53 not out; R. Johnston, 20). On the second day our captain declared the innings closed, and it was arranged that both sides should go for the runs. When the tea adjournment was made, S.P.O.C. had scored 123 for the loss of 4 wickets (L. S. Walsh, 3 for 14; D. A. Clarkson, 1 for 30). Our team was left with 118 runs to make in 105 minutes. The innings opened disastrously, and with 5 wickets down the tally was only 38. N. Harris and L. S. Clarkson then became associated in a steady partnership, and later Kirkwood and Harris evened the scores with only three balls and two minutes to go. Kirkwood was then bowled, but Shepley clinched the match next ball with a well-placed single (N. Harris, 34 not out; H. Kirkwood, 23; L. S. Clarkson, 18). We thus secured an outright win against our old rivals.

At the time of going to press the team is in fourth position on the premiership list.

Old Boys' Bowls and Tennis

BOWLS

Arrangements have been made to hold this contest between "Old Reds" and "Old Blues" on the South Park Bowling Rinks on Wednesday, 26th February. Last year our representatives were successful, and the evening proved most enjoyable. The sub-committee hope to arrange for ten rinks (including the Executive rink).

Refreshments will be provided for players and spectators, and it is hoped that a good attendance of Old Boys and friends will support our representatives.

Old Boys desiring to play in the match are requested to forward their names to the secretaries immediately.

TENNIS

This annual match between "Old Blues" and "Old Reds" will be played at St. Peter's College grounds, probably early in March, but arrangements are not yet finalized. Players interested are requested to communicate with the secretaries.

interests of "Pop," as he is known to Young Australia Leaguers, are cricket, running, rifle-shooting and bowls. He attended College 1883-1891, and is a member of the West Australian Branch of this Association.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Sixth Annual Meeting of the W.A. Branch was held at the Wattle Tea Rooms, St. George Terrace, Perth, on Thursday, 12th December, 1935.

colours of the junior team in '97. When the maroons fielded a team for the first time in the League competitions in 1901, Mr. Boas was elected, having previously been a member of the Perth eighteen. The administrative side of football has also had his attention. He served in the various capacities of treasurer, secretary, patron and delegate. His sterling work for the Subiaco Club and league was suitably honoured in 1914 with life memberships of both. Other

The report showed the membership had increased by one, and the total number is now 75.

The usual monthly luncheons are still very popular. During the year a luncheon was tendered to Mr. Will Ashton.

The financial statement shows a small surplus for the year, which is considered quite satisfactory.

The Annual Dinner was held in Royal Show Week, 9th October. It was well attended, though several were unable to be present on account of illness.

Mr. Philip R. Claridge was entertained at dinner at the Palace Hotel by this branch. Mr. Claridge explained the College Building and Endowment Fund, and was also able to obtain information in regard to the "Jim Throssell Fund.

MR. H. H. WHEATLEY AND DR. J. L. ROSSITER

Eric Throssell has completed his first year at Wesley College. The school reports are most satisfactory.

Present: Mr. E. H. Stirling (President), in the chair, Sir T. M. Coombe, K.B., Dr. J. L. Rossiter, Messrs. S. M. Wreford, S. J. Dimond,

The Sixth Annual Report and Statements of Accounts for the year ending 30th September, 1935, as approved by the Hon. Auditors, having been circularized were taken as read and adopted.

Sir Thomas Coombe announced that he expected that the Prince of Wales Theatre buildings in Murray Street would shortly be reopened, and that he would then have a room there placed at the disposal of the committee and members, an offer which was muchly appreciated by those present.

Mr. Joseph Marychurch Jenkins, an old-time Master at P.A. College and an hon. member of the Association, sent along as a present to the Old Collegians, with best wishes for "A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year," and with an accompanying letter, a very nicely executed carving in jarrah of the College shield and motto, which he had just completed. The piece of jarrah used was cut over forty years ago, and had since then been in the State Savings Bank at the Town Hall, Perth. The secretary was requested to send a letter to Mr. Jenkins thanking him in appropriate terms for his splendid gift and heartily reciprocating his greetings.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was completed as follows: Patron, Sir Thomas M. Coombe, K.B.; president, S. M. Wreford, Esq.; vice-presidents, S. J. Dimond, Esq., and R. J.
