A. E. CLARKSON

A benefactor of the School and formerly a member of the School Council.

The Late Mr. A. E. Clarkson

The tragic passing of Mr. A. E. Clarkson came as a shock not only to the School but to the community at large where he was so highly esteemed. Although he was not an "old boy" of the School, Mr. Clarkson had been closely associated with it in so many ways that his sudden death was felt as a very real loss. His five sons are all honoured "old boys" of Prince Alfred, and until recently he himself was a member of the School Council and a very active member in every phase of its work. In 1927 he founded the Clarkson Scholarship, and many boys have enjoyed and will continue to enjoy its benefits. To say that he was interested in Prince Alfred College is easy, but only those who have worked with him know how intimate and insistent was his knowledge of all its doings and how proud he was of all its successes. One of his greatest sources of pride was that his eldest son, Mr. L. S. Clarkson, is, this year, president of the Old Collegians' Association.

Though his time was claimed by his own firm, in which he rose from the position of office boy to that of managing-director, and by his many other interests in the business world, Mr. Clarkson never lost his keen interest in his Church, and for many years was one of the outstanding laymen in the Methodist Church. For many years he was chairman of the South Australian Local Preachers and Laymen's Association, and until recent years it was customary for him to conduct two services every Sunday. In numerous honorary positions on charitable organisations he worked with enthusiasm; for example, he was president of the Deaf and Dumb Mission from 1919 until 1933.

An impressive tribute to his memory was paid at the memorial service held at Pirie Street Church on Tuesday morning, April 28th. Hundreds of business men and citizens attended in silent token of their respect for one whom they had long admired as a churchman, a successful merchant, and a genial and upright man. At that gathering the Attorney-General, Hon. S. W. Jeffries, spoke of his value to the community and recalled the fact that the Government had on more than one occasion turned to Mr. Clarkson for assistance and advice. That confidence had not been misplaced.

Mr. Clarkson's death has left a great gap in many circles in Adelaide, but we can and must make his life and outlook on things an inspiration for better living. In these days when so many are absorbed in the pursuit of success in the material things of life, it is a great thing to have the example of a man who was pre-eminently successful in business and yet had not lost his ideals of life and had not allowed the material to cloud his view of spiritual things.

Such a man was Mr. A. E. Clarkson. The School desires to join with countless others in extending deepest sympathy to Mrs. Clarkson and the members of the family.

Editorial

Despite the conflict apparent in the world today, or perhaps because of it, there is an ever-intensifying demand for closer co-operation between all peoples of the world.

Perhaps one of the greatest experiments in human brotherhood is embodied in the Covenant of the League of Nations. Brotherhood connotes love and unselfishness, and is not swayed by changing circumstances. The principle of "collective security," and any other such method of attempting to promote world peace, will never realize its ideals until all selfish motives and aspirations are placed in the background. At present each nation is trying to maintain its own national sovereignty and to seek its own good at the expense of others; economic jealousy is provoked by prohibitive tariffs, while armaments continue to be strengthened.

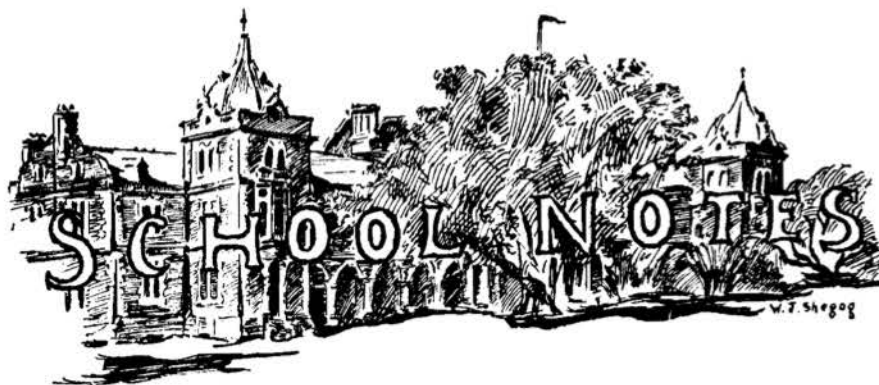

Never before in the history of the world has there been such discussion of, and such an earnest longing for peace as exists today. The recent Peace Ballot in Great Britain has shown the exact state of British public opinion. But here a paradox arises: although movements for peace have never been stronger, nations are strengthening their armaments to an unprecedented degree.

The welfare of the world, and the development of a true spirit of brotherhood lie in co-operation, which means some common agreement in facing economic problems, the reduction of armaments, and the education of backward races. We may recall with satisfaction that Great Britain for years gave a practical lead in disarmament. Other nations, unfortunately, failed to follow it, and hence the world is drifting once more nearer the whirlpool of war. We must do more than approve of efforts to promote world peace and solve our economic problems: we must apply these principles in everyday life. What is the use of pleading for peace when, at the same time, we are increasing our armaments and considering the introduction of compulsory military training? Why denounce the present financial system when we lend our support to lotteries and betting shops? These are symptoms of a disease which threatens the very foundations of modern human society.

We can apply this principle to our school life. The School is greater than its scholars. A body, although it consists of different members, is not merely the sum-total of those members; it has a spirit distinct from it—an entity of its own. That spirit, while combining the traditions of the past, is a living spirit, and capable of growth. It can only grow in proportion to each scholar's contribution to the life of the School. Let all take some part in its many activities and try to carry out that spirit of brotherhood not only within the School but beyond it, and in all walks of life.

In the actual number of weeks the first term is the shortest of the year, but the frequent breaks in its continuity, due to Easter and the various sports events, make it in retrospect seem a very long time. It has passed for 1936, and on the whole a very happy term.

At the beginning of the year Mr. Mitchell joined us as Master-in-charge of the Prep. He has by now made himself thoroughly at home in his new work. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have had a long experience of all sides of school life at Trinity Grammar School, Kew, Victoria, and are beginning to make their presence felt at P.A.C. We wish them a long and happy reign at the Prep.

Mr. R. G. Painter also joined the Prep staff. He, too, quickly made his influence felt among the small boys, and we wish him success and happiness in his new work.

On February 27th the prefects and House prefects for the year were appointed, and R. L. Cotton was made Captain of the School. We wish them all every success in their year's work.

The remodelling of the old Assembly Hall rather upset the School at the beginning of the term. On April 6th we had our first practice assembly to find our seats in the new surroundings. Tuesday, April 7th, saw morning prayers held there for the first time. The School as a whole is very grateful to the Council for this fine addition to its equipment. It has been done several times already, but may we once more congratulate the architects, Messrs. H. H. Cowell and P. R. Claridge, on the excellent work that has been done, and assure them of our appreciation of the new, dignified and beautiful surroundings for our School assemblies.

On March 3rd, largely due to the enthusiasm of Mr. Mattingley, the School swimming sports were revived after a lapse of many years. A very enjoyable afternoon was arranged, and we must congratulate Mr. Mattingley and his committee on their success. Let us hope they will do it again.

Early in the term we had the usual visit from members of the Methodist Conference. The cricket match and tennis provided, as in previous years, a good game for the School and a pleasant interlude in the rigorous business of the Conference.

We greatly appreciated the opportunity of seeing something of the team of Cingalese boys from Royal College, Colombo, and are very grateful to those friends of the School who helped by entertaining the visitors. One would like to have kept one or two of them as object lessons in fielding for our team.

The School would like to congratulate Sir Herbert Angas Parsons on the Knighthood conferred upon him by His late Majesty King George V. at the time of the New Year Honours. Sir Herbert has had a long and honoured career in the Law Courts of South Australia, both as a barrister and as a judge. We hope that he will be spared for many years to enjoy the honour that His Majesty has conferred, and that all his friends feel is so well deserved a tribute to his fine work and character.

Another honour of which we are all proud is the elevation of Mr. E. E. Cleland, K.C., to be a judge of the Supreme Court. This is almost the highest honour that can come to a member of the legal profession, and we are, with all Mr. Cleland's friends, delighted that his long career of fine work should have been crowned with this great distinction.

The School this term mourns especially the loss of some of its older "old boys." Mr. Justice Piper, for so long known as Mr. A. W. Piper, passed away on February 20th. An enthusiastic "old boy," a great lawyer, and a fine gentleman, Mr. Piper was by his character and his work in his profession, his church, and the whole life of this State an inspiration to great numbers of P.A.C. boys, of whom perhaps personally he knew few. There are many whose lives will seem poorer for his passing, but as time goes on we shall realize more and more that we have a great treasure in the memory of such great men as he.

Mr. Harry Chester, an "old boy" of the early eighties, has also passed to his rest. After a long honoured service with the Bank of Adelaide he had been living in retirement for some years at Woodville. Mr. Chester was closely connected with the College in that he was an uncle of Mr. David Waterhouse, the Hon. Secretary of the College Council.

Just a day or two before the term closed we had the news of the death of Mr. Alfred Grayson, an "old boy" of the eighties. Alf. Grayson was best known as a great footballer and a great oarsman. The School owes a great deal to Mr. Grayson for the interest he has taken in the College rowing. He helped coach the crew in 1932 and 1933, and was keenly interested in all our doings right up to the end.

During the term Mr. G. G. Wallace died in Melbourne. Mr. Wallace was a master at P.A.C. almost twenty years ago, and will be remembered with affectionate regret by many boys of his time.

On March 10th we suffered one of the saddest losses that the School has sustained in the last few years. Frank Hunter, who had just passed his twentieth birthday, died as the result of an accident on that day. Many boys still at school remember him as a boy of such bright and happy disposition that sadness in connection with him seemed impossible. His death seemed to cast a real shadow over the whole School, and we do again express our deepest sympathy with his parents and brothers. It is sad to think that one who had so many years of useful life before him should so suddenly have gone, but his brave, gay spirit will remain with many of his school fellows for many years as a very precious memory.

It is always a pleasure to meet "old boys" who come back to visit the School. Among those who have called in this term are Mr. Leo Kaines, from Melbourne; Mr. Hornsby, from West Australia; Mr. K. R. Roach, who has been in Queensland for many years; Mr. R. J. S. Muir, who was representing the Queensland Sugar Growers at the Exhibition; and Mr. C. A. Tudor, from Jamestown.

Mr. Ian Hunter, an elder brother of Frank Hunter, called and presented a practice ball for use of the First Eighteen. We would like him to know how much we all appreciate his gift and the feeling that prompted the giving.

The Opening of the Remodelled Assembly Hall

During the afternoon tea interval at the Annual School Sports meeting, the ceremony of declaring open the newly-furnished Assembly Hall was performed by Mr. W. R. Bayly. Many expressions of approval were heard as the throng of parents, old scholars and visitors trooped into the room. So great was their number that many could not obtain seats and clustered at the open doorways.

On the platform were the Headmaster (Mr. J. F. Ward), Rev. A. B. Lloyd (School chaplain), Mr. L. D. Waterhouse (secretary), and other members of the School Council, Mr. L. S. Clarkson (President of the Old Boys' Association), and the guest of honour, Mr. W. R. Bayly. After being introduced by the Headmaster, Mr. Bayly formally declared the hall open. In a characteristic speech he referred to the old Assembly Room, and recalled some of its notable occasions. He remembered the day when our late King George, then but a sailor lad, entered the room with his brother through the lower doorway; then later the mustering of khaki-clad figures— young crusaders—who went overseas at the call of duty. "This room," he said, "enshrines the soul of the School, and if walls could speak, what records of triumph and failure would they reveal." Now we were called to witness the passing of the old school-room with its scarred desks and long forms, a room where formerly much of the teaching of the School took place. He concluded by adapting Newbolt's lines on Clifton Chapel—

This is the Schoolroom: here, my son,
Your father thought the thoughts of youth,
And heard the words that one by one
The touch of Life has turned to truth.

Mr. Waterhouse moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, supported by Mr. L. S. Clarkson. The singing of the National Anthem then brought the proceedings to a close, and all adjourned to the dining hall for afternoon tea.

The new hall will now accommodate 450. The traditional forms and desks familiar to thousands of old boys of the School have now been replaced by chairs. An ample stage has also been provided for School entertainments and other important meetings. Walnut has been used for the panelling of the walls, surmounted by panels of blackwood, which will carry the School honour rolls and names of scholarship and prize winners. A new floor of polished jarrah has been laid and additional doors provided. A modern lighting system has been installed, and the whole effect is pleasing, impressive and dignified. The architects supervising the alterations were Messrs. P. R. Claridge and H. H. Cowell, both past presidents of the Old Boys' Association.

When all the names which formerly found places on the old mural scrolls have been transferred to the new panelling, a photo of the new Assembly Room will be taken. This will appear in a later issue of the School "Chronicle," and will give those who have not had the opportunity of seeing the new hall a better idea of the transformation that has taken place.

Our Contemporaries

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the following exchanges:—

South Australia.—"Adelaide High School Magazine," "St. Peter's College Magazine," "M.L.C. Annual," "Scotch College Magazine," "Queen's College Magazine."

Victoria.—"The Corian" (Geelong G.S.), "The Pegasus" (Geelong College), "Wesley College Chronicle," "The Melburnian" (C. of E.G.S.), "The Scotch Collegian," "The Mitre" (Trinity G.S.).

New South Wales.—"The King's School Magazine," "The Newingtonian," "The Sydney," "Hawkesbury Agri. College Journal."

Tasmania.—"The Launcestonian."

England.—"The Cliftonian" (Bristol), "The Limit" (Loughborough).

The beginning of the year saw much hard practice when it was apparent that there would be keen competition for places in the team; it was not until a week before the match that the final team was chosen.

Both "A" and "B" teams finished the series of matches at the Memorial Drive high up on the lists. Although we do not put out our best teams in these matches, we try to afford everybody the opportunity of playing.

On March 2nd we played the annual match against the Methodist Conference, whose team this year was weaker than usual. However, the match afforded good practice against various styles, and was enjoyed by all.

On March 10th we played a match against the Eastern Extension Club, who were also weakened by the absence of some of their best players.

RESULTS

P.A.C. v. Methodist Conference
P.A.C.—18 sets, 108 games.
Methodist Conference—0 sets, 40 games.

P.A.C. v. Eastern Extension
P.A.C.—13 sets, 54 games.
Eastern Extension—3 sets, 38 games.

Later in the term a team arranged by Mr. R. S. Wilkinson gave us good practice. The team consisted of Messrs. R. S. Wilkinson, M. H. Baudinet, R. R. P. Barbour, Formby and Heard, and Dr. F. R. Hone.

We desire to thank these gentlemen for their interest in our tennis and for their willing help in arranging matches. We also desire to thank those who so generously placed their courts at our disposal.

We take this opportunity of congratulating W. A. Mates on winning the Schoolboy Championship of South Australia. This is the fifth year in succession that this event has been won by a P.A.C. boy.

Mr. Luke has again tirelessly devoted himself to coaching the teams, and his continued interest has been an inspiration to all taking part.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS MATCH

The Intercollegiate tennis was played on March 14th. Although it rained on the Tuesday, Saturday was an almost perfect day for tennis. Our team consisted of R. L. Cotton (captain), J. Tregoning, R. T. Hand, W. A. Mates, R. K. Wilson and W. R. Howe.

The first round of doubles began at 10.15 a.m. Mates and Howe played Biven and Wells, Cotton and Tregoning played Keen and Dawson, Hand and Wilson played Bennett and Mehaffey.

Cotton and Tregoning combined well, having played together in last year's contest, and, with Tregoning smashing powerfully, Princes won the first set 6—3. The second was more closely contested, but we eventually won 6—5.

Hand and Wilson, our third pair, were opposed to Saints' first double, Bennett and Mehaffey. Wilson appeared to be a little nervous and could not get into touch, and Saints won 6—2. In the second set our pair played better tennis, but Saints were superior, and took the set 6—5. This made the score 1 rubber all.

Our first double, Mates and Howe, quickly settled down, and, playing sound tennis, won the first set 6—2. They kept up the pressure in the second set, and won 6—4. Saints had been employing the tandem formation in the doubles.

In the first round of singles, Tregoning played Wells, Howe played Bennett, and Wilson was opposed to Dawson.

Tregoning kept a good length with his drives, and won the first set 6—2. It looked as though we might lose the second set when Wells led 4—2, but Tregoning picked up to win 6—5.

On the second court, Howe and Bennett were having an interesting struggle. In the first few games, Howe's service had Bennett in trouble, but from then on both players were content to remain on the baseline and wait for the other to make a mistake. Howe was steadier in the first set and won it 6—2, but in the next two sets, Bennett kept a better length with his drives and, coming into net more often to volley winners, won the second and third sets 6—2, 6—3.

Wilson and Dawson were also having a close game. Dawson won the first set 6—4. Games went with the service until four all was called in the second set, and then Wilson broke through and won 6—4. The third set went to five all, and amid great excitement Wilson won it 6—5.

The morning's play was quite satisfactory, and we went to lunch with a lead of four rubbers to two.

In the afternoon round of singles, Mates played Mehaffey, Cotton played Biven, and Hand played Keen. The single between the first players of each team, Mates and Mehaffey, was very interesting. In this match there were many fine rallies, and although Mates was not finding the lines with his usual accuracy, he won the first set 6—2. The tennis was even better in the second set. In this set there was one particularly fine rally. Mehaffey was at the net and had Mates running from side to side, but finally he passed Mehaffey with a beautiful cross-court drive.

The single between Hand and Keen was one of the closest of the day. Hand was serving with terrific power, and at times he was almost unplayable. Keen won the first set 6—4. Hand captured the second at 6—5, and Keen ran to a 5—2 lead in the third. At this stage Hand produced some of his best tennis, and evened at five all. However, Keen won the odd game for the set.

Meanwhile, on the third court the respective captains, Cotton and Biven, were having a very even struggle. Prince's captain won the first set at 6—5. The score was reversed in the second, Biven winning it 6—5. Both players were feeling tired, but Cotton lasted longer, and finally won the set 6—4.

The second round of doubles was started at 2.15 p.m. Our first double, Mates and Howe, was opposed to Bennett and Mehaffey. By means of good driving and volleying we took the first set 6—1, but then Saints changed their tactics and won the next two sets 6—3, 6—2.

Cotton and Tregoning played Saints' third doubles pair, Biven and Wells. Our pair ran to a 5—1 lead in the first set, but then lost it 6—5. They won the second set 6—3, but in an even third set Saint's pair were victorious and captured it 6—5.

On the third court, Wilson and Hand were playing Keen and Dawson. Both our players were striking out well, and with Hand serving very powerfully we were victorious, taking the rubber 6—4, 6—4.

This gave us a lead of seven rubbers to five, with one round of doubles remaining to be played.

Soon after the third round of doubles had begun, Mates and Howe decided the match, by defeating Keen and Dawson 6—0, 6—1. In this match Mates was outstanding.

Cotton and Tregoning had a close rubber with Saints' first doubles pair, Bennett and Mehaffey, but in the end the victory went to Princes, 6—5, 5—6, 6—2.

Saints won their sixth rubber when Biven and Wells defeated Hand and Wilson, after three fairly even sets, 6—5, 3—6, 6—3.

The final score was nine rubbers to six in our favour.

CRITIQUE OF THE TEAM

Hand, R. T.—A player with a good style but inclined to be erratic. He has a powerful service, but his smashing is rather weak. Has been an enthusiastic team worker.

Howe, W. R.—His left-handed service is a great asset to him, while his forehand is sound, but lacks confidence. Room for improvement in his backhand and volleying.

Mates, W. A.—A clever young player who makes good use of courtcraft, and at times makes uncanny placements. He is consistent and accurate, but is inclined to experiment with his service at the sacrifice of speed.

Tregoning, J.—Has been a useful member of the team. His service, although not always consistent, has terrific power, while his ground shots are consistent. He would probably do better if he attacked his opponent's weaknesses more.

Wilson, R. K., more than justified his inclusion in the team. He is a promising player with a good style. His service has improved considerably, but his backhand still needs to be speeded up.

Cotton, R. L. (captain) (by J. T.)—Has captained the team ably throughout the season. Played right at his top in the Intercollegiate match. Plays a good forceful game, both his backhand and forehand shots being sound. His service and overhead work are weak compared with his ground shots.

Swimming Carnival

After a period of over twenty years, the swimming sports have been revived. Mr. Mattingley was in charge, and the carnival was held on Tuesday, March 3, at the Crystal Swimming Pool, Unley, in the presence of the school and many parents and friends.

After two or three false starts in the first race, the swimming of the heats went off very well. There were some very exciting finishes, especially in the Freestyle Championship (open), 100 yards, which was won by a touch.

During the afternoon "Miss Swimming" (Miss Peggy White) in the Lord Mayor's "Miss Centenary" competition gave an exhibition of swimming.

We wish to thank Messrs. F. D. Provis, J. Crompton and an anonymous parent who so kindly donated prizes. At the conclusion of the programme the Headmaster presented the trophies to the successful competitors. Thanks to the efforts of Mr. Mattingley the function went off very smoothly.

Intercollegiate Athletics

The weather on Friday, April 24th, was ideal for the Intercollegiate athletics. The P.A.C. team, with the exception of M. W. Stain, who had an injured leg, and F. C. Bennett, were all well, and the hopes of P.A.C. supporters ran high.

In the first event of the day St. Peters gained most points, Boucaut beating Tregoning for first place in 17 seconds, while Steele (Saints) beat A. G. Rowe (Princes) by only a few inches for third.

P.A.C., 3 points; S.P.S.C., 6 points.

However, when R. W. Rowe (Princes) and Dawkins (Princes) tied for first in the next event, the under 16 hundred yards, P.A.C. took the lead, and retained it throughout the afternoon.

P.A.C., 9 points; S.P.S.C., 7 points.

Craven and Tregoning increased our lead in the senior 100 yards, Craven dead-heating with Boucaut for first place in $10\frac{3}{10}$ seconds, only one-tenth of a second outside the record, and Tregoning filling third place. Boucaut, unfortunately for St. Peters, tripped and cut his leg with his spikes at the conclusion of this race.

P.A.C., 14 points; S.P.S.C., 11 points.

Stain, in spite of his injured leg, ran well to win the junior 100 yards easily, but Saints filled second and third places. It was very noticeable that although P.A.C. won 12 out of the 16 events that counted for points, S.P.S.C. obtained second and third in seven of these, and Saints obtained either a second or a third as well as the first place in the four races which they won. We feel that this was due partly to Stain's injury and partly to the fact that Craven and Tregoning were overlapping in one event only, the 100 yards, in which we secured first and third places. Their programmes were restricted to four events each in which they were expected to do well, and Carmichael, who ran fourth in the 100 yards, was then saved for the mile.

P.A.C., 18 points; S.P.S.C., 14 points.

The senior high jump was a very close contest, but Craven gained another five points for P.A.C. when he cleared 5 ft. $3\frac{1}{2}$ in. at his second attempt, whereas Cowell failed to clear it.

P.A.C., 23 points; S.P.S.C., 18 points.

The Old Scholars' 100 yards was again won by H. Toms (S.P.S.C.) in $10\frac{1}{2}$ seconds, with A. G. Campbell and D. F. Cowell close behind. This event does not carry points.

Craven, running brilliantly, won the 220 by about 10 yards from Boucaut, while Jeffries (S.P.S.C.) just beat A. G. Rowe (P.A.C.) for third. Craven's time was $23\frac{2}{3}$ seconds, only $\frac{2}{3}$ second outside the record.

P.A.C., 28 points; S.P.S.C., 22 points.

Hiatt (P.A.C.), who jumped well to clear 5 ft. 1 in., was a little too good for Devonshire (S.P.S.C.), Saints' first man, although the battle royal between these two held everybody's attention for some time. Knight (P.A.C.) also jumped well to obtain third place. Hiatt failed in an attempt to break the record, 5 ft. 3 in.

P.A.C., 33 points; S.P.S.C., 24 points.

Tregoning, with an exceptionally good putt of 38 ft. $4\frac{1}{2}$ in., won the shot-putt from Boucaut and Magarey. This putt was nearly 8 ft. better than Boucaut's best. Although his 38 ft. $4\frac{1}{2}$ in. was an increase of 1 ft. $5\frac{1}{2}$ in. on his own record, established in 1935, Tregoning had three more putts, and the second of these was a really magnificent one, the distance being 40 ft. 7 in., being 1 ft. $9\frac{1}{4}$ in. advance on the Australasian schoolboys' record with a 16-lb. weight.

P.A.C., 38 points; S.P.S.C., 28 points.

It has been felt for a long time that a race of 120 yards over 3-ft. 6-in. hurdles was too much for a boy of 16, so this year the course was modified, the distance being 100 yards, and the hurdles 3 ft. 3 in.

The junior hurdle race was also shortened to 100 yards, but the hurdles were left at the original height, 3 ft. Dunstan (S.P.S.C.) won this event from Frost and R. W. Rowe (both of P.A.C.) in 14 $\frac{3}{8}$ seconds. Stain, whose leg was troubling him, fell at the first hurdle.

P.A.C., 41 points; S.P.S.C., 32 points.

Tregoning, with a jump of 20 ft. 4 in., won the senior broad jump from Kerr and Mayo (both S.P.S.C.). Shaughnessy, who, because of the rowing, had had only one practice, was beaten by a few inches for third place.

P.A.C., 46 points; S.P.S.C., 36 points.

P.A.C.'s lead was increased still further when R. W. Rowe, with a good jump of 19 ft. 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ in., only 5 in. short of the record, won the under 16 broad jump.

P.A.C., 50 points; S.P.S.C., 39 points.

Craven ran a fast race in the senior 440 flat, and won comfortably.

P.A.C., 55 points; S.P.S.C., 43 points.

When Frost, hurdling well, and Knight filled first and tied for third positions, respectively, in the junior hurdles, P.A.C. had a very substantial lead. Dalwood, who took Stain's place, was leading in this event, but hit a hurdle and fell.

P.A.C., 59 $\frac{1}{2}$ points; S.P.S.C., 45 $\frac{1}{2}$ points.

In the next two events, however, S.P.S.C. reduced this lead to two points, and the excitement of the contest gripped everybody.

Cowell ran a great race to win the 440 yards hurdles in 62 $\frac{1}{8}$ seconds, while our first string, Rowe, who had had a number of very close finishes awarded against him, was beaten by a matter of inches for second

P.A.C., 60 $\frac{1}{2}$ points; S.P.S.C., 53 $\frac{1}{2}$ points.

R. W. Rowe set a fast pace in the 440 yards flat, under 16, but could not hold it, and only obtained third place, being beaten easily.

P.A.C., 61 $\frac{1}{2}$ points; S.P.S.C., 59 $\frac{1}{2}$ points.

The last race of the day was the mile, and P.A.C., although they still had a two-point lead, needed either first, or second and third places to win the contest.

For the first two laps Cowley led the field, with Timperon, Carmichael and the S.P.S.C. competitors close behind him, but in the third lap, Game, from St. Peter's, took the lead from Timperon and Carmichael, and held it till partly round the fourth and final lap, when Watts, St. Peter's first string, started his run loudly cheered by his schoolfellows. Watts was leading by a little when 200 yards from the finishing line, but when Carmichael, sprinting brilliantly, and then Timperon, passed him in the straight he collapsed, and Carmichael went on to win by yards from Timperon, with Game, a long way behind, third. Carmichael's time was 5 minutes, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ seconds, somewhat slower than that in which he won this event in 1935.

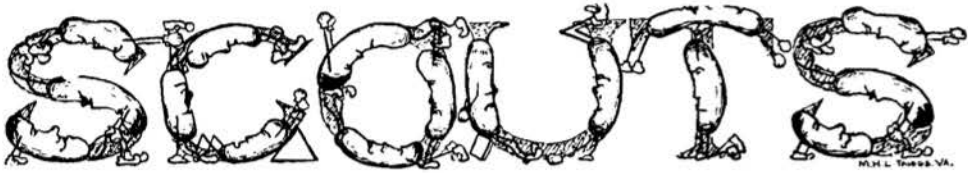

Final Scores were:

P.A.C., 69 $\frac{1}{2}$ points; S.P.S.C., 60 $\frac{1}{2}$ points.

The President of the Methodist Conference (Rev. F. Lade, M.A.) presented the medals to the successful athletes, and the cup to the P.A.C. captain, Tregoning.

The whole team did well, but amongst those who deserve special mention are Craven, who won his four events; Tregoning, who won the senior broad jump and broke the Australasian schoolboys' shot-putt record; and R. W. Rowe, who won two under sixteen events. Carmichael and Timperon are to be congratulated on the way in which they, and Cowley, have trained for what is the hardest race in the contest. The result of their training was seen in the manner in which they won.

The thanks of the entire team are due to Messrs. E. Wadham and S. Williams, and to those who have assisted them, for the enthusiastic help and advice they have given to the team.

So many of last year's Scouts had left school or had joined the cadets that our numbers at the beginning of the term were small. It was felt necessary, with only thirty boys, to cut down the number of patrols from six to four, but owing to an influx of new members, one or more patrols will have to be added next term.

Quite a large proportion of those who joined up were recruits, and a considerable part of the term was devoted to their training. Now that this is completed, patrol competition for the Abotomey Cup will be resumed after the holidays.

One small party of boys made a trip to the shack on the Saturday before Easter and revelled in glorious sunshine and their own cooking. A definite improvement has been shown in the quality of the cooking, and the party was regaled with a meal of roast chicken, chops and stew that would not have disgraced a restaurant. The seven boarders who went lived up to their reputation.

The muster at the Anzac Day Parade was disappointing. If more boys do not attend the Parade it will have to be made compulsory.

On the Saturday following the end of the term, sixteen boys went to the shack, near Mylor, for a short camp. Judging by their appearance as they left town they anticipated a good time, and laughed to scorn the threat of early mornings, cold showers and hard beds.

The patrol leaders for this year are J. R. Ingamells, W. B. Spencer, R. D. G. Reed and O. R. M. Siddall.

The two Jamboree medals, presented for the keenest Scouts in the troop, will be awarded to W. B. Spencer and O. R. M. Siddall.

The School Sports

Our Annual Sports Meeting was held on Saturday, May 2nd, on the College grounds. The weather was ideal for running, and we were very pleased to welcome a large crowd of parents and friends. The handicap events were well contested, and credit is due to the handicappers for their work in providing the spectators with so many close and thrilling finishes. The events were run off well up to time, and there was little delay.

The Old Boys' races were well contested as usual, although the entries were not as large as in the past few years. Owing to the large number of events some of the heats had to be run off on April 30th and May 1st.

Unfortunately, the School cup was the tamest part of the proceedings, and Craven won it very easily. There were only four entrants, and of these F. C. Bennett was unable to compete owing to an injured leg, while Craven was the only competitor to take part in the whole seven cup events. Of these he won six—an outstanding performance.

As has been customary for the last few years, a loud speaker was used to broadcast the results. This proved helpful to everyone present. We extend our thanks to Mr. J. S. Steele, the starter, who was kept very busy all the afternoon. We should also like to thank those gentlemen who officiated as judges, and those who so generously contributed to the prize fund. Especially we thank Mrs. W. R. Bayly, who kindly consented to distribute the prizes.

During the afternoon tea interval the remodelled Assembly Hall was officially declared open by Mr. W. R. Bayly. An account of this will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Rowing Notes

On returning from the vacation we found that most of last year's members had left the School, and saw that we would be hard put to in boating five crews for the Schools' regatta.

At the meeting held in the first week, N. C. Finch was elected captain, and M. Solomon vice-captain, while D. G. Shaughnessy and K. F. Filmer were appointed committeemen. A few weeks later Filmer withdrew, and E. E. Wegener took his place.

We were greatly pleased with the number of recruits who came to practice, and had difficulty in providing boats for them all. Our special task was, of course, to fill the Eight. With only Finch and Solomon back from last year's boat, and very few boys experienced enough to row on slides, we had a problem to solve. After three weeks' practice, the position became much clearer, and we were soon afterwards able to select the following Eight:

D. G. Wicks	Bow
E. E. Wegener	2
J. M. Shannon	3
R. R. Williams	4
T. E. Bowden	5
D. G. Shaughnessy	6
M. Solomon	7
N. C. Finch	Stroke
R. H. Burden	Cox

Thanks to the generosity of a number of friends and "old boys" we were able to row for three weeks in a new practice Eight, which proved of great value to us.

Our Eights have never before been able to use a boat of this kind before stepping into the racing Eight, but now we shall be able to use the practice boat all through the year.

On a number of Saturday afternoons we were glad to avail ourselves of the kindness of the Port Adelaide Rowing Club in offering us the use of the "Wallace," and rowed on the Port River. To the Port Club we extend our heartiest thanks.

Training went on steadily with few interruptions until Easter, when the crew was beginning to come on rapidly. It was impossible to do without training over this week-end, and the whole crew gladly agreed to row on the Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. These practices proved of great value to us. In the last ten days the Eight improved out of recognition, and on the Wednesday evening before the race put up a splendid performance against an "old boys" Eight stroked by D. O. Crompton. Conceding the "old boys" one and a quarter lengths, the Eight beat them by half a length over the course. This heartened us, and for the next few days we did only firm paddling and a few racing starts.

The Fours had varied experiences. Owing to sickness and the loss of two members, the Clinker crew had to be dropped.

The Open Fixed was then finalized as follows:—

R. W. Oliver	Bow
M. H. L. Triggs	2
R. A. Wegener	3
J. A. Roberts	Stroke
K. J. Davey	Cox

Joe proved a good stroke, and the crew settled down well.

Buttery's illness was a great setback to us, but finally we selected the Under 16 and Under 15 crews as follows:—

UNDER 16

W. R. Nicholls	Bow
J. L. Blacket	2
J. Marshman	3
T. B. Hamilton	Stroke
R. H. Turner	Cox

UNDER 15

P. H. Keipert	Bow
P. F. Edwards	2
B. G. Clarke	3
L. H. Kirkman	Stroke
A. W. Crompton	Cox

The Regatta.

Saturday, April 18th, was a perfect day for rowing, and our four crews went out in excellent condition. In the Eights races we had drawn Saints for the second heat, A.H.S. and Scotch meeting in the first. That race proved a victory for High School.

When the gun went in the second heat, Princes shot away from Saints to lead by three-quarters of a length, but dropped the rating too early, so that Saints slowly drew up, the two crews being almost level at Morphett Street. When they came out from the Bridge, the boats were racing neck and neck, but Saints drew ahead, and rowing in fine style went on to win by three-quarters of a length. They have our hearty congratulations. They did equally well in winning the final.

Our Open and Under 16 crews rowed well, and though unsuccessful lost by only a few feet.

The Under 15 Crew rowed splendidly and won both their heat and the final. We congratulate them.

We hope that all the crews keep together for the rest of the year, and that they lay a sound foundation for next year's rowing.

In conclusion, we wish most heartily to thank Messrs. A. E. McLean, M. A. P. Mattingley, L. Forrestal and J. C. Walter for all they did in coaching us.

The Dinner.

On the evening of the regatta the fathers of the Eight entertained the crew and Mr. A. E. McLean at dinner at the Richmond. Unfortunately, three of the fathers could not be present, but Messrs. E. Finch, Williams, Shannon, Wegener and Wicks were with us. We had a very happy time, and later went to "The Regent." To the fathers we extend our thanks.

The Practice Eight.

For several years we felt the need of a practice Eight in training the School Eight. The racing boat which the "old boys" purchased for us six years ago is still one of the best in the State, but the change from Tub Fours to a racing Eight is too great, and has handicapped our crews. The need for a practice boat was even greater this year, when we had to select for the Eight six boys who had never faced a starter.

During the first term Mr. McLean interviewed a number of "old boys" and friends of the School, explaining the position to them, and received such generous support that with some assistance from the School the necessary £100 was raised. The work was entrusted to Mr. J. W. Greenland, who built our tub boats so well, and he produced an excellent craft. Only the best cedar and ash were used in its construction, and the workmanship is a credit to the builder.

The School offers its grateful thanks to the following gentlemen who so willingly and generously helped us in this matter: Sir J. Lavington Bonython, Dr. C. Gurner, Dr. L. L. Davey, Messrs. F. Perry, P. R. Claridge, H. W. McGregor, W. W. McGregor, S. Cooper, T. Cooper, E. Finch, N. Solomon, J. S. Philips, K. R. Michell and R. J. Pelham.

The boat will be of inestimable value to us in preparing our crews, and we have already benefited greatly from its use.

FIRST XI GAMES

P.A.C. v. HAWTHORN

Losing the toss, Hawthorn were sent in on a rain-affected wicket. After a fine opening partnership they collapsed against the fine bowling of Ward, who finished with 5 for 21.

The School, however, fared worse still, and at stumps had lost 5 for 82, Carmichael being 20 not out.

On resumption, Rowe was dismissed without adding to the score, but brief stands by Webb and Pearce with Carmichael gave us a chance. Carmichael, however, lost his wicket in an attempt to force the pace, and Gurner not having arrived, the innings closed.

Ward again took the bowling honours in Hawthorn's second innings with 3 for 18. He had bowled exceedingly well in his first match, and it is to be hoped that he retains his fine form.

P.A.C. v. PAYNEHAM

Payneham batted first, and owing to a fine burst of bowling by Gurner, who for a few overs was almost unplayable, and then accurate bowling by Wickes and Pearce, Payneham were dismissed for the low total of 54.

Tregoning and Matthews soon put Princes in front, and a fine partnership between Tregoning and H. G. Bennett brought the total to 150.

Tregoning batted finely for his 103 not out, pulling and cutting with tremendous power. H. G. Bennett played a solid knock for 39, driving the ball hard.

Payneham batted much better in their second knock, making 187.

P.A.C. v. PROSPECT

The School was sent in on a good wicket, but apart from H. G. and F. C. Bennett (28 and 47, respectively) could not negotiate Prospect's fast attack, and we were all out for 142.

Wickes bowled exceptionally well (4 for 29), fighting and spinning the ball deceptively. Pearce had every batsman guessing, and deserved far better figures. He also batted well for 44 not out in the second knock.

Our fielding during the whole innings was very fine. H. G. Bennett took three good catches, and Pearce took a very fine catch off Wickes at point to dismiss Gray. The ground-fielding and throwing in were very good.

P.A.C. v. ST. PETER'S OLD COLLEGIANS

This was quite the most exciting match of the term. Pearce had all the S.P.O.C. batsmen guessing, and finished with the fine figures of 6 for 41. Again the fielding was good, not a chance being missed.

We received an early setback when Matthews and H. G. Bennett were both out for 14. Worse was to follow, when Tregoning was out to a very fast ball from Polkinghorne. Pearce followed three balls later, and with four down for 26 we were struggling for runs. C. Bennett and Carmichael weathered five more very fine overs from Polkinghorne, who was bowling at great pace and controlling his deliveries well. Carmichael left with the score at 79, having defended solidly. Four wickets fell quickly in a wonderful burst by Polkinghorne, but C. Bennett hit 14 off an over from Goldfinch to make the scores equal. Ward made the winning hit, C. Bennett having batted right through for 50 not out.

P.A.C. v. ROYAL COLLEGE (COLOMBO)

(Played at P.A.C. on Monday and Tuesday, April 20 and 21)

Although we had concluded the cricket season, and most of our senior boys were training for athletics, we were glad of the opportunity of meeting the Colombo schoolboy cricketers in a two-day game. Unfortunately we were unable to field our strongest side. Only three of our regular First XI players took part, the remaining places being filled from the Seconds. The weather was cold and wintry, and rain delayed the opening of the game on the first day. A second wicket having been prepared, the match finally began at 3 o'clock, the S.A.C.A. having been kind enough to send along two of its "A" Grade umpires. The Colombo boys batted first, adopting a free, open style, and accommodating themselves to the slow wicket from the outset. Our field was not set well at all, the majority being placed on the off, whereas the slow wicket invited vigorous hitting to leg. Consequently the three leg-side fieldsmen had all the work to do while the off-field for the most part shivered in the cold.

Our attack lacked variety as none of our regular medium-paced bowlers were playing, but nevertheless the Colombo boys showed that they were not afraid to hit the ball hard.

Our first attempt at the wickets was disastrous, and after a preliminary setback, when our three first batsmen were back in the pavilion for 1 run, we did not recover. Thanks to a fine stand by Pearce, who was acting as captain, the second innings was a better effort.

Prefects' Jottings

This year Cotton was appointed Captain of the School, and Rowe was elected Head of the Boarding House. We offer them hearty congratulations, and feel sure that they will carry on the high standards set by their predecessors.

The School song-book is at present being revised, and so new boys have been unable to purchase them. Thus, so far, the prefects have not had the experience of hearing stage-struck new boys recite songs. It is hoped that this year's new boys will have that experience in the near future. In spite of this, we more than held our own in the cheering at the Adelaide Oval.

In order to encourage the School spirit, two keen profiteers sold colours during the week before the first intercollegiate event, but under-estimated the demand to such an extent that the supply had to be replenished twice.

On account of the remodelling of the Assembly Hall, morning prayers have been held in the gymnasium for the greater part of the term, and, as a result, only three of our number have had the opportunity of demonstrating their ability, or inability, in reading lessons before the assembled school.

This term we have been well represented in the sports. Congratulations to Tregoning and Cotton on their inclusion in the tennis team; to Finch and Shaughnessy on gaining seats in the Eight; and to Tregoning, Gurner, Hodge, Rowe and Shaughnessy on their places in the athletics team. F. C. Bennett was unable to take part owing to a leg injury.

We have also been well represented in school work, the first four places in the School being gained by prefects; we heartily congratulate Rowe on being Dux of the School.

This year's prefects, according to our usually well-informed reporter, are a quiet, inoffensive group who are bearing with equanimity the blushing honours thrust upon them.

Cadet Corps

This year we have had an increased enrolment, and we are now organised on a three platoon basis.

The N.C.O. class has received special instruction under Warrant Officer Norman, and in the last week of the term an examination was held to confirm their promotions.

Our chief instructor is now Warrant Officer Bailey (43/48 Battalion), who was associated with the School many years ago in a similar capacity. Under his supervision our recruits are rapidly improving, although some still find the handling of the rifle a sore trial.

All were supplied with uniforms midway through the term, so that we were able to take part in the Anzac Day parade. The corps had the best muster it has had for years, and acquitted themselves well in the long march through the crowded streets. It is hoped to improve our cadet uniform at an early date by adding to it a jacket. Military approval, will, of course, have to be obtained first, and this takes time.

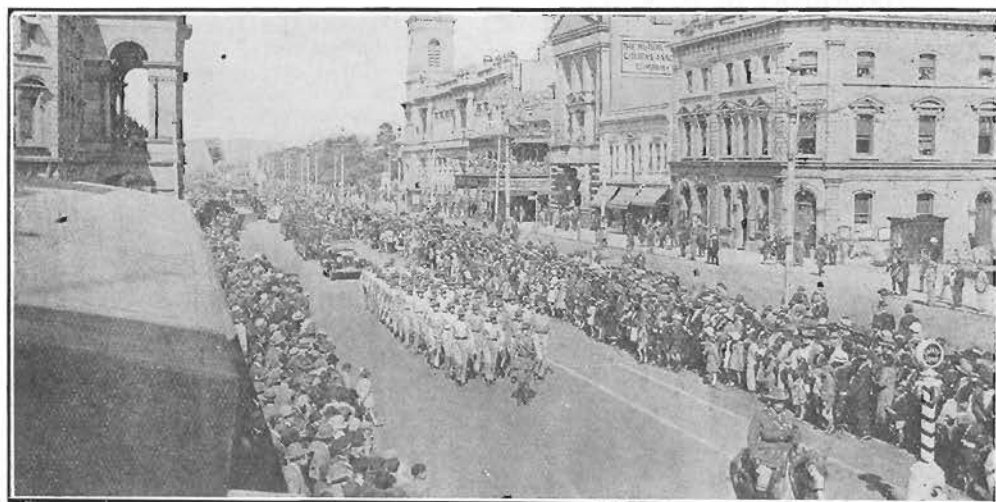

This year we had a much stronger representation at the Military Swimming Carnival held at the City Baths on February 27th. Our outstanding performers were Sutton, Provis, Barraclough, Roach and Hart, but lack of years and experience told against them, although they did their best.

Mr. Luke has superintended shooting on the miniature range during the term, and reports many promising shots among the recruits. The following promotions have been made:—

Cpl. B. Holmes to be C.S.M.
 L.-Cpl. A. G. Rowe to be Sergeant.
 L.-Cpl. J. R. Miller to be Sergeant.
 L.-Cpl. J. O. Cartledge to be Sergeant.
 L.-Cpl. J. R. Roberts to be Corporal.
 Cadet D. J. Davies to be Corporal.
 Cadet R. K. Wilson to be Corporal.
 Cadet H. G. Bennett to be Corporal.
 Cadet C. M. Gurner to be Corporal.
 Cadet R. D. Johns to be Corporal (A./Q.M.S.)
 Cadet D. T. Martin to be Lance-Corporal.
 Cadet R. H. Burden to be Lance-Corporal.
 Cadet R. B. Craven to be Lance-Corporal.
 Cadet R. A. Wegener to be Lance-Corporal.
 Cadet K. Dobson to be Lance-Corporal.
 Cadet R. R. Williams to be Lance-Corporal.

ANZAC DAY PARADE

Boarders' Notes

This year, as has been customary for several years past, the number of boarders greatly increased. Doubtless, in a year or two, the number of boarders will be a record. Two new dormitories have been made available, and the former Prep. dormitory has been transformed into one for senior boys. All the dormitories have been improved, and look much more homely now that the windows have red and white curtains. We extend a hearty welcome to the large number of new boys, who have now settled down to the routine of boarding school life, and are now quite a happy family. We also wish to extend a hearty welcome to Mr. R. G. Painter, who has joined the resident staff.

We all extend our congratulations to A. G. Rowe, school prefect and head of the boarding house; H. G. Bennett, school and house prefect; N. C. Finch, school and house prefect; Cowley, R. W. Rowe, Sampson, Timperon and R. A. Wegener, all house prefects. In addition to these we congratulate Gersch and Sanders on being appointed librarians.

We were well represented in Inter-collegiate contests this term, although we had no representative in the tennis. Hearty congratulations to N. C. Finch (captain of boats), Bowden, Shannon and E. E. Wegener on their inclusion in the Eight. In addition to these there were quite a number of boarders in the tub crews. Our representatives in the athletics were: Cowley, Knight, Nicholls, A. G. Rowe, R. W. Rowe, Timperon and Ward. Hearty congratulations to them all.

Our Saturday nights this term have been pleasantly spent. The Head kindly provided us with some new cards, draughts and ping-pong material, and so we found it much easier to fill in our leisure hours.

On several occasions Mr. Norman Chinner kindly came and provided us with some very fine music. We are all very grateful to him and take this opportunity of thanking him sincerely. On the night of the inter-Coll. athletics we all went to the "York" and thoroughly enjoyed ourselves.

Quite a number of the boys in last year's boarding house secured excellent results in the University Exams. We were all very pleased to see that J. A. Kelly won a scholarship at Roseworthy.

In concluding, there are a number of things on which we should like to be enlightened:—

1. Who have seen the Loch Ness Monster and Caliban?
2. What is the Green Goddess?
3. How long has Hubert Opperman been playing hockey?
4. Who proved the Law of Averages on the front drive?
5. Which boys are making men of themselves by developing their chest and abominable—sorry, we mean abdominal muscles?
6. Who answers to the name of "Grub"?

HITCHING YOUR WAGGON TO A SUNBEAM

Christian Union

The meetings this term have been addressed by various ministers from around Adelaide, each of whom had something interesting to say, and some practical application to suggest. This was proved by the large attendance, which have hovered consistently around the ninety mark.

The Headmaster addressed the first meeting, as is customary, and told us of the history and growth of the world-wide Student Christian Union.

Rev. R. E. Stanley, of Mount Gambier, told us the importance of order in our religion, just as in everything else. He gave some interesting examples, mentioning the Shrine of Remembrance in Melbourne, where, at eleven o'clock on the 11th of November, a beam of sunlight falls on the words: "Greater love hath no man than this."

Rev. S. Forsyth, of the Central Mission, described his trip to New Zealand, where he saw the glow-worm caves and the ruins of the once famous pink and white terraces. While he was there he met a man who had been helped by Kuitpo Colony, and had since risen to be the manager of an insurance company.

Rev. J. R. Andrew, who is home on furlough from Papua, described the fine work being done there by the Methodist Mission, and gave us a vivid idea of the continual state of fear in which the natives once lived. The natives are very intelligent, doing their own carpentry, launch-building and printing.

Rev. W. A. Dunn urged us to keep our sense of wonder alive, and suggested that we read Carlyle's "Heroes and Hero-worship." We would welcome a few books like this in the library.

The Rev. J. H. Allen, who has just returned from mission work in India, told us about the simple lives his students live, and about the other great religions of India, which have very high ideals, and in many ways resemble Christianity. The native Christians are most enthusiastic, and "are all for Christ."

Rev. J. A. Lewis, B.A., told us to mind our own business, and then suggested how. With three laws he showed us how to organise our religious life, which should mean our everyday life.

Rev. J. Gilding reminded us that "the only person Jesus ever told to go to hell was the man who did nothing." All our powers are lent to us by God, and we do not know how great they are until we try them, so in common gratitude we ought to exercise them for Him.

Rev. W. J. Bailey spoke about adventurous religion, taking as a basis for his address the four "absolutes" of the Oxford Group Movement—absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute love, and absolute unselfishness. We can find God by surrendering ourselves and our wills absolutely to Him. We must change ourselves before we can change others.

To all our speakers we give our warmest thanks for the services they have rendered.

Library Notes

This term several splendid new books have been added to the shelves of the Memorial Library. The sixth forms have made good use of the library, especially during the dinner hour, for some quiet reading. All are urged to treat both books and furniture with the greatest care.

The following books have been added this term:—

Shakespeare's "Hamlet," "Richard II.," "Macbeth" and "As You Like It" (Warwick editions), presented by D. J. Davies and R. L. Cotton.

"Shakespeare at Work," by G. B. Harrison.—This book traces the development of Shakespeare as a man and dramatist alongside the events of his day. A most interesting volume.

"What Happens in Hamlet," by J. Dover Wilson.—The purpose of this book is to recover the network of effects which bind together and fill out the framework of the play. It is another helpful addition to the many and varied interpretations of Shakespeare's greatest play.

"Genius and Character," by Emil Ludwig (presented by the Prefects of 1935).—This book contains a collection of biographies of seventeen famous men of modern Europe, written as only Ludwig could write them.

"Central Australia," by C. T. Madigan.—"Central Australia is the strangest and most desolate part of the Commonwealth." Mr. Madigan has always been attracted by the vast expanses beyond the northern ranges, and, after a series of expeditions all over the territory, getting to know its scattered inhabitants and its natural history, he is now a great authority on the subject. This book is one which everyone should read, as it deals with a subject of which we are hearing more and more, and yet know so little.

"The Pursuit of Music," by Sir Walford Davies.—The author has answered the question "What is Music about?" "He has distilled into his book the quintessence of his life work," and all the qualities that made him famous are here. This is a book for everyone who seeks a deeper enjoyment and understanding of the greatest of all the arts.

"The Renaissance in Italy," by J. A. Symonds. This is published in two volumes, and the most scrupulous care has been given to every detail of the undertaking. This work should prove very helpful to history classes because of its wealth of detail.

"Concise Universal Biography," by Sir J. A. Hammerton.—This is published in four beautifully-bound volumes, which would be a credit to any library. The publication may be regarded as a companion to the Encyclopædia.

TRIPPING AND SLIPPING TO BROKEN HILL

During the last Christmas vacation my brother and I decided that the ideal holiday would be a motor car trip to Broken Hill.

We had left the car to the mechanic for an overhaul a few days before, and trusted him to fix all defects, but after driving for a short time the engine rapidly over-heated. Thus we had to clean the radiator at the hour of midnight.

Finally we left at about three o'clock the following morning for our long drive. We had enquired from the Automobile Association about the road conditions, but were assured that although they were slippery in places we would be able to get through without any difficulty.

We reached Burra without mishap, but on leaving this town we were enveloped in a thick fog, which made driving exceedingly unpleasant. Frequently we would be forced to stop and get out to see if there were a turn or a railway crossing ahead. However, we reached Terowie at about ten o'clock, and to our amazement saw the Broken Hill-Adelaide Express held up there. This was the beginning of the worst, we feared.

Should we continue or not? Rather than kick our heels at Terowie for an indefinite period we decided to go on, though two inches of rain had fallen a few hours before. Crawling along at five or six miles per hour we sank to the axles or slithered from one side of the road to the other.

We had plenty of company, however, in an hour or so, for we came to one stretch of road where no less than eight cars were attempting to pass an extremely rough creek bed. One rather optimistic driver had a new car, and as it was very low slung it found difficulty in getting through. The tail continually hit the ground, and although the car passed over the difficulty the owner had the unfortunate and unenviable experience of seeing his bumper bars and the tail end of the car twisted and bent into positions which would have defied any motor body firm to straighten.

The cream of the joke was that an old model T-Ford came through without a scratch.

With the rest of these motorists we arrived, after crossing a number of creeks, with water up past the running-board, at Paratoo, where we saw people preparing to camp for the night. This seemed rather odd, but they politely informed us that if we wished to get through we would have to pass through four feet of water. Thus we were faced with a stay of a number of hours until the water level fell. Some venturesome people crossed this creek by means of the railway line; we were tempted to do the same, for a "knowall" informed us that there were no trains for at least five hours. Gangers, however, prevented us from going, for they explained a train was due any minute, and true enough a fast goods train came into view a moment later.

About daybreak the next morning, after having spent a bitterly cold night in the car, without getting much sleep, the procession of cars, which numbered eighty-four, gradually succeeded in passing through the creek. We had breakfast at Yunta, and then continued our long journey.

We aimed at arriving at about one o'clock, but were again held up at Cockburn. Here was a brand new car up to its axles in mud, with the driver trying to get out. The back wheels were just spinning around idly in the mud.

After arriving we found that those who did not come through the worst section from Terowie onwards were held up for another three days on account of heavy rain, so we congratulated ourselves on our decision.

When the rest of the party did arrive, they were all given prominence in the local newspaper, and everyone agreed that it was the most eventful trip they had ever experienced. Certainly I never wish to have to drive there again with the road in such condition.

RUBA-RUBA OF WARRAWEE.

Living on a small island called Warrawee, which lies just off the coast of Northern Australia, is a native called Ruba-ruba. He was of fine physique and belonged to the Mau tribe which inhabited that island.

About twenty years ago this man became ill, and probably it was only his strength that saved him from death. One day the natives came to his hut where they found him lying motionless. Believing him to be dead they wrapped him up in some bark and buried him face downwards across two trees as was their custom.

For three days no one came near him because they believed that the spirit had not yet left him. After three days had passed they returned to his burial place, and to their amazement Ruba-ruba moved. They removed him from the tree and found him still alive.

He claims that during the period of his unconsciousness he was fed by some substance which fell from the branches of the trees. He is still living, as strong and stalwart as ever.

MOTORING IN CEYLON

We left the Hotel Galleface, in Colombo, which stands within fifty yards of the sea, at nine o'clock in the morning, and drove along avenues bordered by open lawns and gardens, which looked their best in the comparative coolness of the early morning.

We passed Elephant House, where tremendous quantities of drinks are manufactured each month, and the Regal Theatre, which is one of the best theatres in Ceylon and stands on the outskirts of the business part of the city.

Having traversed the largest bridge in Ceylon, the Victoria Bridge, over the River Kelani, which, like most of the rivers on the island, is very wide and shallow, we entered the native quarters of the city. The streets in these quarters are very narrow and are congested with bullock-carts, bicycles and natives of many different castes and races. The drivers of the two cars were forced to blow their horns almost constantly in order to drive through.

When clear of the native quarters the roads were wide, possessed excellent surfaces and were almost empty of traffic of any kind, so that the drivers, making good use of their opportunity, soon made up the time lost in the city.

These roads led through dense groves of coconut palms, amongst which could be seen native homes, made of clay and leaves obtained from the palms which towered above them.

As we proceeded the coconut groves disappeared and the low-lying country was covered with ricefields, in which natives and their bullocks worked ankle deep in water.

At eleven o'clock we stopped at a road-house, where refreshments can always be obtained. These road-houses, of which there are many, possess large, shady verandahs, where one may recline in chairs almost as restful as beds and forget the heat, which, by eleven, is very intense.

However, after leaving the road-house the roads began to wind, and as we gradually climbed higher and higher the temperature became lower, and when we reached Kandy, a world-famous tourist resort, the day was perfect.

Kandy is built round a lake, the business section being on one shore, and the residential section on the other.

We spent two days at Kandy, seeing the famous "Temple of the Tooth," and also watching the temple elephants bathing in the river. The town is surrounded by cocoa, coffee, and rubber plantations. The tracks through these plantations are not used at night because of the great number of snakes that frequent them. . .

Having left Kandy we entered mountainous country, and the road began to wind sharply and to climb steadily. As we climbed higher and higher the temperature dropped considerably, and soon we were driving into mists and light showers of rain. There is a great amount of rain in these mountains in the monsoonal seasons, and the tall grass is so wet that it contains hundreds of leeches which, although tiny, cling to the legs and inflict very painful bites. The mountain-sides were nearly all covered with tea plantations, and in some places the tea-pickers, with large baskets on their backs, were picking the leaves, of which only the smallest, tenderest buds are selected.

We stopped for a time to visit a tea factory, which was the largest and contained the most up-to-date machinery of any in Ceylon. The picked leaves are brought here, and in a very few hours are sorted, cleaned, dried and packed ready for exporting.

Between this factory and Nuwara Eliya the roads were very narrow, and were winding continually. When we met motor-buses we had to pull in at the side of the road, while they were carefully driven past. A feature of motoring in Ceylon is the very clear system of road signals used by every driver, and the wonderful help which the native police give to motorists.

Nuwara Eliya, which possesses an excellent golf-course, is surrounded by high mountains, in which there are many leopards.

The journey was extremely interesting, and we were able to form an opinion of the country which it is not possible to do when travelling in any other manner.

THE TUBBSON GHOST

Yow-w-w-w-w-l Yow-w-w-w-o-o-o-w-w-w-l-l-l-!!! Yap! Yap! Yap!! Tubby Tubbson shivered with horror and dived under the blankets, as did every other member of the Tubbson family.

CRASH!!!

Tubby (and ever other Tubbson) dived deeper and shivered harder. Every night for the past week, at midnight, the ghost had howled and something had been broken.

On the following morning, however, Tubby (and every other Tubbson) forgot about the ghost as they were going to meet the train on which Jim Cummings, Tubby's friend, was coming to stay with the Tubbsons for a month.

That night the ghost came again and Jim, a keen naturalist, seemed very interested.

The boys went shooting next day and secured a fine bag, which they split between them. After tea, Jim went down to the village to buy several little things. Strangely enough the ghost did not break anything that night and only gave a short howl.

On the following morning, when Mrs. Tubbson commented on the absence of broken articles. Jim smilingly replied, "I'm afraid I've laid your ghost by the heels. Come with me." He led them to the back of the shed and there, to everybody's surprise, was a large trap, in which was lying an apparently dead tomcat. "You see," said Jim, "I realized that the wail was that of a tomcat, so last night I bought this trap. I fixed a syringe to the drop-door and baited the trap with one of our rabbits. Of course, as soon as the cat took the bait, the syringe came down and drugged it."

THE SNAIL'S DERBY

The snails arranged a wondrous race—
They'd never run before—
The course was from the water tank
Down to the greenhouse door.

The slugs and worms turned out in crowds
To see their sporting cousins;
The earwigs smiled behind their hands,
The ants flocked round in dozens.

The snails felt gratified to find
Their friends had come to cheer,
And on they slithered at the rate
Of fifteen yards a year.

'Twas on the Glorious First of June
That curious "Derby" started;
And though it is not finished yet,
The snails are not downhearted.

A JOURNEY TO THE HIMALAYAS

We set off in a local train, which rumbled along very slowly and stopped at every station. After two or three hours we reached the terminus of this little railway. We took our luggage across to the other side of the station and then waited for the express. In about half-an-hour the big train thundered into the station and came to a standstill. We quickly bundled our luggage in and took a seat. In five minutes we were off. We rushed along, only stopping at the main stations. One of these, Fyzabad, is noted for its monkeys. We saw hundreds of them. One of them even jumped into our carriage and made off with half-a-dozen bananas.

At about half-past six we reached Lucknow, a very big place, with a station as big as our own in Adelaide. The train waited there for nearly half-an-hour, so we obtained some tea, had supper and prepared for night. It was dark when we reached the next station. Now that we had stopped, mosquitoes began to worry us, and, as it was very hot, we longed to be off again. Hundreds of insects and moths were flying round the lamp in our carriage, and the din outside only helped to make our position worse. Flaring petrol lamps lit up the station. Here and there lean, hungry pariah dogs were quarrelling over a piece of meat.

Next morning we woke up to find ourselves among hilly country, covered with dense vegetation. It is in this part of the hills that so many panthers are shot. The train steamed into Dehra Dun, the terminus, at half-past seven. Almost immediately four or five coolies jumped into our carriage and began to handle our luggage. This they took to the weigh-bridge, and when it had been weighed we were allowed to pass on. Our coolies carried it to the other side of the station, where several motor buses were standing near the curb.

We took our seats as soon as the luggage had been stacked on top of the bus, which was scheduled to start in a few minutes, in order to catch the eight o'clock gate. The road up to Sunny View takes only one-way traffic; at certain times it is closed to "up" traffic and at other times closed to "down" traffic.

The scenery while we were going up was marvellous. The great high hills were covered with woods. Here and there a mountain torrent foamed down to the plains. Occasionally we caught a glimpse of a place where half a mountain-side had fallen away and left a high precipice.

At last we reached Sunny View, where coolies again took our luggage, and set off for Landour, a little township about three miles from Sunny View. The usual mode of travel in the Himalayas is either to go in a dandy or a rickshaw. A dandy is a very strange kind of sedan chair which is carried by four men, two in front and two behind. A rickshaw is something like a small buggy and is pulled along by five coolies, two pulling at the front and three pushing at the back. To reach Landour the road was too steep for a rickshaw, so we took a dandy. It was a long time before we reached our house. We arrived there very tired, but very happy after so interesting a journey.

THINGS OF INTEREST

1. In the waterless plains in the North of South Australia there are low mounds which are hollow on the top and contain clear springs, some of which have dried up. Many travellers have passed by these mounds and died of thirst in sight of water.

2. The Tin Town.—On a small plain in South Africa is a little town. As it is on the road which goes from Capetown to just beyond Kimberley much motor traffic passes over it. Many petrol tins are needed for the cars. From every car that goes through a few petrol tins are thrown. The natives grab them, and the village accordingly is made entirely of petrol tins—the church, the houses, and even the children's toys are made of that material. The tins which make up the roofs are shaped with stones to the form of tiles.

3. During my travels in the East I visited many strange places and saw many strange things. At Bali, a small island off the end of Java, I saw weird and wonderful temples in which Balinese native girls danced to the music of tom-toms and flutes made of bamboo. At Singapore, one of the greatest ports in the world, the British Navy has established a marvellous base for warships and aeroplanes. It is interesting to note that there was a settlement at that place in 1300 A.D. There is also a cable station, and usually a cablesnip. The population is as mixed as it can be. In addition to the many native races there, there are French, Italian, American, Australian and English peoples. The Governor is called the Resident, and his house is called the Residency.

THE ALCHEMIST

I know a philosopher—ever so old;
 He's lived for some hundreds and hundreds of years;
 He hasn't a family (so I am told),
 He's just lived for ever (or so it appears).
 He was once wont to say but "Lo and behold!"
 And thereupon everything turned into gold;
 But alas! he's forgotten just how it was done,
 Or the potion perhaps is not the right one.

The tail of a rat, and the hoof of a calf,
 The eye of a toad and the wing of a bat,
 The leer of a ghost and the horrible laugh
 Of a nightmare, all mixed with the howl of a cat;
 Then pour in the hemlock, or something like that,
 And this must be stirred in a magical vat—
 Now how did it go? but he can't get it right,
 And still he is working all day and all night.

ARRIVING LATE

Master: Why are you so late, Jenkins?
 Jenkins: Please, sir, I saw a sign down the road.
 Master: Come, come! What has a sign to do with your being late?
 Jenkins: Please, sir, the sign said, "School ahead. Go slow!"

R. A. G., IV a.

[This calls to mind the very naive excuse offered by a boy whose father had motored him to school. "I should have been in time, sir, but we could not travel faster than 25 m.p.h. because speed-cops followed us all the way."]

DEPARTING EARLY

In a certain country town an entertainment, which included musical items, was in progress.
 As the programme was very long many in the audience quietly stole away. When the last singer stepped on the platform the hall was empty except for one old woman in the front row. "As you have been so kind as to stop and hear me sing," said the performer, "I will not disappoint you." "All right," said the old woman, "get it over quickly. I am only waiting to put out the lights."

A STORY OF MOHAMMED

In the town where Mohammed was living was a temple known as the Kaaba, and in one of the walls was a curious black stone which was regarded as very sacred. One day, however, a flood damaged the walls of the Kaaba, and it was necessary to rebuild them.

Everything went well until the famous stone had to be replaced. Then quarrels arose between the four tribes as to who should have the honour of handling it.

It looked as though there would be conflict, but one man had an idea. "Listen to me," he said, "let us ask Mohammed."

It was not easy to give a decision to please all four parties, but Mohammed was shrewd and performed the apparently impossible.

He spread his shawl on the ground, placed the sacred stone on it, and, taking four men, one from each tribe, told each to take a corner of the shawl and lift it from the ground.

Thus supported, the stone was carried to its place in the wall and guided into position by Mohammed himself. So Mohammed increased his prestige still more and satisfied all.

WYNARKA

Thirty miles by rail and road from Murray
 Bridge is the small township of Wynarka.
 There are only two shops, but these are well stocked. The township boasts of no school, so the hall, which is of considerable size, is used for the purpose.

Down its only street trees have been planted by the school children on arbour day. The surrounding countryside is covered with scrub, and on sunny days, when the tips of the leaves shine in the light, delightful effects may be seen.

The farms around are large, the average holdings being two to three square miles in area. Limestone covers the fields, and this is gathered and placed in huge heaps, which dot the fields. These heaps provide excellent homes for multitudes of rabbits, and trappers have to be employed to keep their numbers down.

The country around is very sandy, and mallee is, therefore, allowed to grow on the borders of the paddocks to prevent drifts.

Nearby are the Jabuk Ranges, which are named after an Afghan who lost his life at a waterhole close at hand.

The main products are wheat and wool, but a large quantity of mallee roots are railed annually to the city. These have to be cleared from the land to allow crops of wheat, barley and oats to be grown.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF PARKING

(To the Editor)

Dear Sir—At the last meeting of our club
 the vexed question of parking was discussed.
 Certain gentlemen of our municipality for some time past have experienced difficulty in parking their motor cars. After much deliberation the following proposals were unanimously adopted and will be gazetted forthwith: (1) Each motor car shall park in the same place every day. (2) No driver may change his parking place without the permission of the club. (3) If any driver has daily occupied the same parking position for a period exceeding seven years, any person attempting to jump his claim will be severely dealt with. (4) If, however, A's place is illegally filled by B, A shall not park immediately behind B and so cut off his retreat.

Another matter to which we gave considerable attention was that of speeding along the drive of a certain boys' school. Some who drive cars to this school violate all the laws of motor-ing etiquette. One driver in a supercharged Stromberg-Carlson tears up the drive with the speed of a greyhound. On arriving at his parking area he puts his car into a terrific broadside and sends gravel hurtling in all directions. On several occasions bystanders have been hit by these flying missiles. Further, on Monday, April 27th, he recklessly turned to park beneath a Moreton Bay fig tree, and left marks of paint on the seating that protects the tree. This second matter we decided to leave in the hands of the Kent Town police.

Thanking you, sir, for affording us space to ventilate these complaints.

I remain,

Yours sincerely,
SPOG (Hon. Sec.)

[The editor sympathises with the contributor, and to lessen both difficulties and dangers still further, makes the following suggestions which, he hopes, will be found helpful.

Bylaws.

1. That all Grays, Sunbeams, Moonbeams and Silver Bullets park perpendicularly, and while in this position their underneath parts be decently covered with a tarpaulin. Failing this let them park vertically and opposite.
2. That on Gala days parking arrangements be simplified as follows: Let there be no parking at all in front of the School.
3. That prefects' cars before parking must number from the right and then form fours.
4. That any motor car emitting pestiferous odours must be removed and parked near the Chem. Lab.
5. That no motor vehicle may park on the back balcony or in the prefects' room.
6. That motor cars parking beneath the shelter of the Bay fig trees be charged at the usual rate (no supercharging allowed), to wit, 6d. for every twelve hours or part thereof, 1/- for every twenty-four hours or part thereof.
7. That the music master's car be parked "con moto" and "con espressione."

As no complaint regarding motor-cyclists seems to have been made, the old by-laws relating to them will, we presume, still hold good, viz., to wit, that is to say: no motor cyclist may carry more than one lady passenger on the pillion seat nor more than two on the handle-bars.

Finally, we recommend those who are penalized for infringement of any of these by-laws to bear in mind Shakespeare's dictum in Antony and Cleopatra, "He has deserved it, were it carbuncled like holy Phœbus' car.]"

THE BAY-FIG TREES

Now that the School is growing old,
How many tales could it unfold
Of gentlemen now wearing wigs
Who once played under its bay-figs?
If only those two trees had ears,
How might their chattering leaves with cheers
Now scandalize each gentleman's son
With tales of pranks just done for fun!

THE MARCH OF PROGRESS

Scene I

The scene is the library of an English noble's country house. Lord Hardup is seen pacing slowly up and down, looking financially worried.

Enter Tippim, the butler, showing in Mr. Hiram Jones, who is, of course, a millionaire. Tippim fades away again.

Hiram: "Waal, waal, Mr. Hardup——"

His Lordship: "Pardon me, but my title is——"

Hiram: "O.K. big boy, but that there label don't cut much ice with me. It's the man with the money who is the big noise these days, an' I've plenty. Now, this here mansion of yours, I suppose it's pretty old, eh?"

Lord Hardup: "Well, as a matter of fact, it was begun by the house of Aelfric, the Saxon, the stones of his building being now incorporated principally within the present foundation. Then, after the advent of the Conqueror, it passed to a knight——"

Hiram: "O.K., cheesit! You see, Mamie asked me to take her back a li'l present, so I've sure hit on the grandest idea! I'll ship this joint to the States; it's just the bee's knees. Now, name your figure!"

Lord Hardup: "A most excruciatingly humorous idea, doubtless, but, I fear, totally impracticable. As a member of the British nobility I feel constrained to refuse your proposition, particularly as I doubt whether you would value this manor at—ah—say two hundred thousand pounds sterling!"

Hiram: "A million bucks! And I always thought the Scotch were the Jews over here. Say, what special gadgets are there here to make the price so hot?"

Lord Hardup: "Well, really I dislike intensely such inquiries, but sordid necessity compels me to mention that we have, among the shades of our ancestors, several lords and an admiral and even two spirits of the Conqueror himself, one as a mere youth with a battle-axe protruding from his head, and the other as the king in his armour. But you need not worry, about the armour, for it only rattles punctually at midnight on New Year's Eve."

Hiram: "Gee, what a hit that would make! Say, you ain't kiddin' me, are you?"

Lord Hardup: "Most certainly not. Do you agree to my figure?"

Hiram: "O.K. Where's my platinum fountain-pen?"

[Curtain]

Scene II In God's Own Country.
The same mansion re-erected. New Year's Eve. The curtain rises on a scene of revelry, American fashion.

Hiram: "Waal, now folks, you should all have your opposite numbers for the ghost-hunt. And here let me tell you that these are genuine ghosts, come over with the joint. It's nearly twelve, so hold tight." (Switches out the light.)

(Nothing happens for a couple of minutes; then a noise of hard breathing is heard from a suit of faintly luminous old armour, and out steps Sir Guy, holding his head in his left hand. He stares haughtily around, looking straight through the assembled Yanks. Then he speaks.)

Sir Guy: "Oddsboddikins, Sir Ralph is not yet here. Surely he will not miss our annual duel. Aha, Lady Matilda approaches to distribute the honours. Madam (bowing profoundly), you appear more beautiful than ever."

(Enter Lady Matilda, followed by Sir Ralph.)

Sir Ralph: "No, demme; I dislike it profoundly, these commons ogling us. Methinks yon thin-visaged person to be a Jew, a money-lender. Faugh! Let them be gone."

Hiram: "Here you, do you know whom you're talking to? My name is Hiram Jones, see."

Sir Ralph: "Well, methinks it is not thy fault, but by my halidon thou meritest a knavish name. Begone!"

(Sir Guy, Lady Mary and Sir Ralph stalk towards the guests, then through them and disappear. Hiram appears agitated, and pours himself a cocktail, which is picked up off the table and drained by the shade of an admiral, a Gilbert-and-Sullivan admiral.)

Admiral: "'Hail, blithe spirit,' as someone once said in something I've read somewhere."

Mamic: "Gee! Sounds like a sob-sister anthem to me. I've sure got the creeps."

Admiral (bursting into a sea-shanty): "I'll sing you the song of the Nancy Lee," etc.

Hiram: "Gee, I must've mixed that cocktail a bit too strong for him."

Admiral: "That's better, much better. O very much better, than ever I got from my porthole—bung-hole—hic, porthole." (He sinks through the floor.)

Enter, through the fireplace, Sir Ralph and Sir Guy, fighting in silence. Their rapier blades are glowing with a blue steely light, and they gradually approach Hiram, who jumps back nervously. Then the shade of the conspirator, Guy Fawkes, enters, waving a bomb, with its fuse burning.

Guido Fawkes: "Aha, comrades, zis night will we strike a blow for freedom, liberty. Down with all tyrants! Now watch; ze bomb is about to explode. Von, two——"

(There is a sudden wild rush for the door by the Yanks, who exeunt in a body, so nervous that they forget to take the cocktail shaker. The bomb bursts with a mild hiss, grey smoke hides everything, and the curtain falls.)

THE NEW CADET

THE NEW BOY

The Preparatory School

The Prep. welcomes Mr. N. H. Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell, who have taken up their duties enthusiastically. Towards the end of the term, at a gathering held in the newly-furnished Assembly Hall, parents were given the opportunity of meeting the new master of the Preparatory School and his wife. Many availed themselves of this opportunity, and a very pleasant evening was spent. The School cinema was brought into action, and those present saw some excellent views of our out-of-school activities.

A hearty welcome is also extended to Mr. R. J. Painter, who joined us at the beginning of the term.

Five matches have been played this term—two House matches and three against other schools.

In the first House contest, Chapple House defeated Robertson by 30 runs, the scores being 64 to 34. Davies, 20 (retired), and Gurner, 5 wickets for 4 runs, performed well for Chapple, and Bruce Cheek succeeded in taking three wickets for Robertson House.

On March 13th the School played a team from King's College on our own ground. The visitors could manage only 26 runs, due largely to the fine bowling of Bruce Cheek, 5 wickets for 4 runs, and Gurner, 4 for 11. The School finished with 8 wickets down for 71, of which Gray contributed a valuable 25; Len Jessup, 13; and Bruce Cheek, 12.

A week later a match was played at P.A.C. against a team from Queen's College. It is customary for each side to bat for an hour. We batted first, and at the end of an hour had lost 5 wickets for 67 runs. Queen's followed, and a few minutes short of the time allotted were all out for 95. It was unfortunate for us that the two visiting batsmen who caused a rapid acceleration in the rate of scoring were missed quite early in their innings.

On March 27th the Prep. played a return match against King's College. King's won the toss and sent Princes in to bat on a slow wicket. An hour's play produced 78 runs for the loss of 7 wickets, the most successful batsmen being Len Jessup, 22; Gray, 21; Gurner, 13; and Barraclough, 10 not out. King's replied with a score of 52, twice their previous total. Gurner, 6 for 13, and Bruce Cheek, 2 for 6, were the outstanding bowlers.

The final contest for the term was the second House match. This time Robertson House turned the tables on Chapple, winning by a margin of 25 runs—79 to 54. The respective teams, for the most part, comprised those boys who had attended practice regularly, but had not yet played in a match. Barraclough, a new boy from Tasmania, must be congratulated for his splendid all-round performance. Besides making 10 runs for Robertson House and taking 5 wickets for 21, he showed uncanny judgment in throwing down the wicket from the outfield. In four throws he broke the wicket as many times. The best players for Robertson were Bruce Cheek, 19; Keith White, 15, and Michael Hone, 7 not out; and for Chapple House, Mann, 18; Meller, 12; Potts, 9, and 4 for 8; and Clive Cooper, 3 for 25.

FROM ENGLAND TO AUSTRALIA

We left Tilbury Docks on the R.M.S. "Orford" for Australia. In the Bay of Biscay we had calm weather, and three days later, when we arrived at Gibraltar, it was calm and cold. The tender, a small launch, took us to the shore. We went for a motor drive around the galleries to No Man's Land, which is a small stretch of land with no buildings on it, between the Spanish town La Linea and Gibraltar. There were many donkeys, mules and Spaniards about, and we were lucky enough to see a Scottish Regiment. The water catchment is a great concrete wall against the Rock, which catches 5,000,000 gallons each year. However, we did not go up the Rock and see the Apes, although we went to see Europa Point at the southern point of the Rock, which has camouflaged guns everywhere. We also saw the Trafalgar cemetery. At the narrowest point it is only eight miles from Gibraltar across to Africa. Gibraltar is the smallest British possession, being only seven miles in circumference.

PRINCE ALFRED COLLEGE PREPARATORY SCHOOL

We next called at Toulon, and went ashore after lunch. It poured with rain as we walked around the town, observing the quaint French customs and houses. The harbour was full of battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

Having passed the Isle of Capri, we entered the Bay of Naples and arrived in the city of Naples, the boat coming right up to the main street. Mount Vesuvius was snow-capped. We then went to Solfatara, a semi-extinct volcano a few miles out from Naples; it was most interesting with all its boiling mud and sulphur fumes. The day after we were there it erupted; it had not erupted since the twelfth century.

We next arrived at Port Said and walked through the numerous streets to the Simon Artz stores. It was very interesting, and we wished we could have had longer on shore watching the natives. We then steamed along the Suez Canal.

Our next port of call was Aden, which is situated in the crater of an old volcano: on one side one can see the salt heaps, and on the other side a military aerodrome and the famous old tanks.

Several days later we were pleased to land at Colombo. Having hired a native car from Cook's, we drove to the Cinnamon Gardens, where we saw a snake charmer make a mango tree grow in five minutes. He also had a mongoose and two cobras, which began fighting. We then went on through picturesque country to Mount Lavinia. The scenery was marvellous, and we wished we could have stayed longer.

The lonely Cocos Island was our next port of call. From the boat we saw the beautiful lagoons and tropical scenery. Three boats sailed out to meet us, and we dropped a barrel of food and magazines. The men sent up a cheer as we left. There are only 20 white men on Cocos Islands.

After calling at Fremantle we crossed the Great Australian Bight, and were very happy to arrive at the Outer Harbour exactly five weeks after we had left England.

A VISIT TO MISS GUY'S POSTER EXHIBITION

One Friday morning, early in the term, we visited Miss Guy's Poster Exhibition in the Adelaide Institute. Here we saw about four hundred coloured posters and maps of Great Britain. As well as displaying the posters, Miss Guy explained them very clearly to us. In some cases she told us little stories about the towns. One wall of the room was devoted to London and its many beautiful views. After this visit we have a very clear picture of England in our minds.

OUR VISIT TO GLEN EWIN.

At 1.15 p.m. on Thursday, May 7, we left for Glen Ewin Jam Factory. On arrival we were divided into three groups, each headed by an instructor. We were then shown through the factory. Mr. McEwin and his sons explained the various processes of making the tins and their contents. We saw flat pieces of tin going through the different stages, until they were tins ready to hold jam. We saw melons being skinned, and ginger being cut for jam. We next went to the packing shed, where we saw the tins labelled and packed ready for sale. We then went to the garden and thoroughly enjoyed a delightful afternoon tea, which Mrs. McEwin had very kindly prepared for us.

After afternoon tea, Mr. Mitchell called everyone together, and Bruce Cheek made a short speech, thanking Mr. and Mrs. McEwin for their kind hospitality. Then Bruce called for three cheers, in which we joined heartily. We returned home, laden with tins of jam and tomato soup, after a most interesting afternoon.

OLD BOYS'

SECTION

Edited and controlled by the Committee of Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Association, Incorp.

The co-operation of Old Boys is earnestly invited to make this part of the Magazine of real interest to all P.A. Collegians. Letters, reminiscences, or paragraphs containing news of interest about Old Boys, their whereabouts, and their doings, will be welcomed. All communications should be addressed to the Secretary.

From down the far years comes the clarion call:

The Objects of the Association are: To keep Old Boys, wherever they may be, in touch with one another and with the boys at the School; also to foster and maintain their interest in the School.

"Old Boys' Week" is observed annually towards the end of July, during which a dinner and other social functions as well as sports contests are held. Also social gatherings are held whenever any occasion arises that makes them desirable.

The Association has donated the following Scholarships to the School:

Old Collegians' Scholarship.
J. A. Hartley Scholarship.
Fredk. Chapple Scholarship.
W. R. Bayly Scholarship.
A. G. Collison Scholarship.

"The P.A.C. Chronicle," of which a large part is devoted to matters of special interest to Old Boys, is forwarded to each member of the Association.

The subscription is six shillings per annum. It is suggested that Country Members should remit sufficient to cover four years' subscription or become Life Members by payment of £5 5s. Any Old Boy wishing to become a member can do so by forwarding his name and address to the Head Master, or to any member of the Staff, or to one of the Secretaries.

Editorial

The re-dedication of the Assembly Room to the service of the School was a pleasant ceremony for all present, but one which stirred mixed feelings in the minds of many old boys, especially those of last century. As memory recalled the history of the School of their day and the pageant of the past seemed to pass before their eyes, they missed the old familiar setting which made it all so real. A genuine sense of regret was theirs aptly expressed in Longfellow's words:—

"And a feeling of sadness comes o'er me
That my soul cannot resist;
A feeling of sadness and longing,
That is not akin to pain,
And resembles sorrow only
As the mist resembles the rain."

This feeling, though quite natural, represents the "old boy" in a weak moment, when emotion overrides reason; it may be dangerous in that it may express itself in interference. Of all the influences at work, none is more helpful and stimulating to those administering the School than the whole-hearted support of the "old boys"; none is more hampering and embarrassing than their interference. Let "old boys," then, be on guard against allowing emotion to override reason in their attitude towards the efforts of the Council to keep the School abreast of the times!

It is gratifying to know that this room will no longer be used as a classroom. The distinguishing characteristic of our public schools, founded on the ideals of the English public schools, is recognition of the principle that a boy has a soul to ennoble and enrich for service in life, as well as a mind to train and a body to develop. The classrooms and playing fields are specially adapted to their functions, and it is well that our Assembly Room should stand wholly for the first element in ideal training. In the absence of a school chapel, it stands for the soul of the School. The beauty and dignity of the room will intensify that atmospheric influence so essential to a full realization of those unseen powers that should permeate the whole life of the School, and is so vital to it. Hence the Lectern supporting the volume of the Sacred Law is the distinguishing feature of its furnishing, and may well prompt those of an older generation to say in all sincerity to those of a younger in Newbolt's words:—

. . . here, my son,
Your father thought the thoughts of youth,
And heard the words that one by one
The touch of life has turned to truth.

We congratulate all responsible for the change on the success of their efforts. The old setting was associated with the joys and sorrows, the successes and failures, the triumphs and defeats of sixty years of the School's history—in the main a very inspiring record. As the architectural beauty of the present far exceeds that of the former, so may the records of the future outshine those of the past! This is the heartfelt prayer of Old Collegians, as they ask the boys of succeeding generations to receive it as a heritage from the past, to cherish it as a sacred trust, and to hand it on enriched by lives that represent the School at its best.

In conclusion, may we commend to present boys the following exhortation given to the boys of one of the oldest English public schools on the occasion of a Royal visit:—

"Whatever may be your subsequent career you all have the opportunity of becoming trained in the knowledge and accomplishments of gentlemen; and disciplined to self-restraint, the consideration for others, and the loyal acceptance of private and public duties, which are the ideals of our race. I exhort you to value and to make the most of this training and discipline."

MR. JUSTICE CLELAND

Edward Erskine Cleland was born at Beaumont, South Australia, on the 17th April, 1869. He entered Prince Alfred College in 1870, and left in 1885. He was admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Laws of the University of Adelaide, and in 1890 to the Bar of South Australia.

After being Associate to Mr. Justice Bunday he became junior partner in the firm of Fenn & Hardy. In 1898 he joined the firm of Symon, Rounsevell & Cleland, and appeared with Sir J. H. Symon in a number of important cases. In 1912 he was, while still a partner of Sir J. H. Symon, K.C., himself appointed King's Counsel. From 1914 to 1920 he practised alone, and from 1920 to March, 1936, when he was appointed to the Supreme Court Bench, he was the senior partner of the firms of Cleland, Holland & Teesdale Smith and Cleland & Teesdale Smith, successively.

Mr. Justice Cleland devoted himself to the practice of law, remaining aloof from every kind of political connection, and participating little in public life. His practice in the Courts of this State, and in the High Court of Australia, was very extensive, while he appeared before the Privy Council in the cases of South Australia v. Victoria (1913), the Wheat Case (1923), and Stuart v. Kingston (1924). He never indulged in rhetoric. Discarding the irrelevant, he was accustomed to state his propositions in the simplest and most concise form the facts and the law would permit. He excelled in the not unimportant quality of making himself understood.

At school he was a member of the first twenty, and played against St. Peter's in 1885. After leaving school he captained the Kensington Cricket and the Knights-bridge Lacrosse Clubs. For a number of years he played tennis, and has always been, and still is, exceptionally active.

Mr. Justice Cleland has been Chairman of the All British League, the Kindergarten Union, and the S.A. Football League.

DR. L. W. JEFFRIES

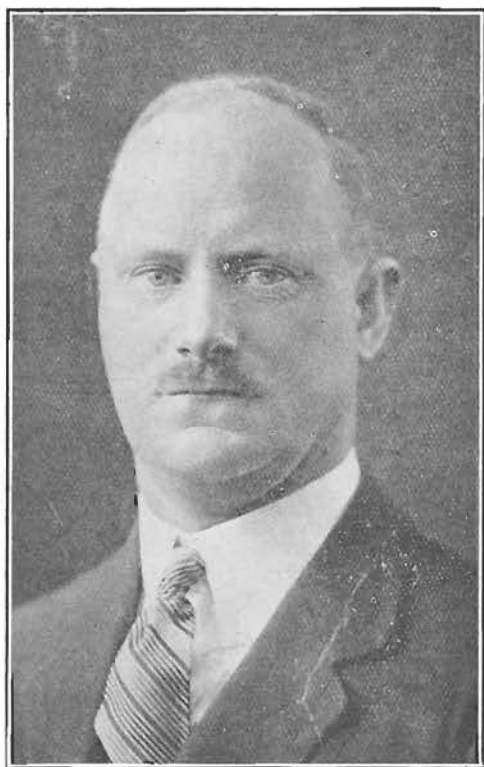

Dr. L. W. Jeffries, of Clarence Park, who graduated at the Adelaide University, has been appointed to succeed Dr. B. H. Morris as Inspector-General of Hospitals.

It is a further cause for gratification that Dr. Jeffries is a returned soldier with a record of distinguished war service. Dr. Jeffries is most highly regarded in medical circles, and is also appreciated for his charming personal qualities.

Dr. Jeffries is a son of the late Rev. W. Jeffries and a brother of the Attorney-General (Hon. S. W. Jeffries). He was educated at Prince Alfred College, 1899 to 1902 (School Reg. No. 3,222), and graduated in medicine and surgery at the Adelaide University in December, 1907. He is a registered medical practitioner in South Australia and also in Great Britain. After graduating at the Adelaide University, he was for some time house surgeon at the Adelaide Hospital, and then became assistant to Dr. A. Powell in private practice.

He visited America and Europe and did post-graduate work in pathology and surgery at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, U.S.A., and also visited all important hospitals in Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Rochester. This was followed by post-graduate work in anatomy, pathology and anthropology at the Breslau University in Germany.

Among the important appointments held by Dr. Jeffries while abroad, were those of surgeon to the Church Missionary Society Hospital,

DR. L. W. JEFFRIES

Kashmir, India; casualty surgeon to Queen's Hospital for Children, London; house physician to Queen's Hospital for Children, London; resident medical officer to Queen's Hospital for Children, London; and, for a short period, medical officer, West End Hospital for Nervous Diseases, London. Dr. Jeffries also studied at University College Hospital and Ormond Street Hospital for Children, London.

Dr. Jeffries was for some time demonstrator of anatomy at the Adelaide University. He was also reporter to the Australian Medical Journal for the council of the South Australian Branch of the British Medical Association. He is a member of the council of the District Trained Nursing Society, has acted as surgeon to the St. John Ambulance Brigade, and has been associated in an honorary capacity with the Boys' Legacy Club.

On the outbreak of war, Dr. Jeffries was appointed a captain of the Australian Military Force (provisional) in August, 1914. He was appointed Medical Officer, Defended Ports, in the same year. He became captain in the Army Medical Corps, Australian Imperial Forces in October, 1914, and was allotted to the 4th Field Ambulance. Subsequently he was transferred to the 50th Battalion. He was appointed to the command of the 12th Field Ambulance in December, 1916, and later became Deputy Assistant Director of Medical Services, 4th Division, Australian Imperial Forces. In January, 1918, he was appointed Assistant Director of Medical Services, Administrative Headquarters. While acting as captain to the Bearer Division on Gallipoli, he was wounded in May, 1915, and was evacuated to Egypt.

He was twice mentioned in despatches and was awarded the Distinguished Service Order while acting as Regimental Medical Officer, 50th Battalion, at Moquet Farm, in August, 1916. As assistant director of medical forces, he was responsible for all medical arrangements for transport and hospital ships, and was for six months in sole charge of the medical services administered at headquarters until demobilization was complete.

He was awarded the order of the British Empire (Military Division) in June, 1919.

He represented the School in Inter-collegiate gymnastics in 1902, and is a member of this Association.

MR. H. T. M. ANGWIN

Mr. Hugh T. M. Angwin, B.E., M.I.C.E., has been appointed Engineer-in-Chief in the Engineering and Water Supply Department.

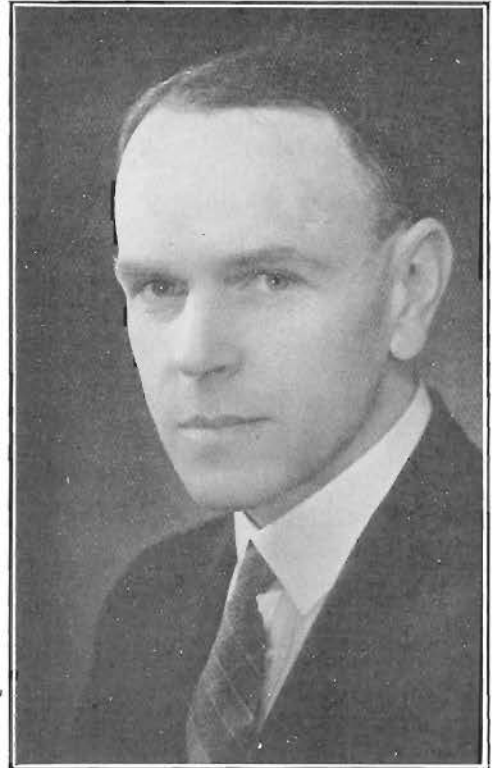

Mr. Angwin, who is a son of the late Rev. T. B. Angwin, was educated at Prince Alfred College, attending 1902-1906 (School Reg. No. 3,419), and then proceeded to the Adelaide University, where he obtained the Degree of Engineering and Fellowship of S.A. School of Mines. He was awarded the Angas Engineering Scholarship in 1912, and proceeded to England for overseas experience.

Upon his return in 1913 he entered the State Service, and until 1929 was associated with the construction of the River Murray locks and weirs and Lake Victoria storage, with the exception of a period overseas with the Australian Imperial Forces.

In 1929 he was appointed Engineer for Water Supply in S.A., and for the next five years he was Chief Engineer, S.A. Harbors Board—during that period a very large reconstruction programme was undertaken.

Mr. Angwin was transferred to the Engineering and Water Supply Department as Deputy Engineer-in-Chief in 1935, and also appointed a Commissioner of the S.A. Harbors Board.

He is a Member of the Institution of Civil Engineers (London), and also a Member of Institution of Engineers, Australia.

MR. H. T. M. ANGWIN

College Endowment Fund

Steady and satisfactory progress has been made since the beginning of the New Year.

Mr. Geoffrey T. Clarke found that owing to increasing business ties he would not be able to devote sufficient time to carry out the committees programme. The Endowment Fund sub-committee then approached Mr. W. S. S. Gilbert and enlisted his sympathetic support. Mr. Gilbert has entered wholeheartedly into his work, and your committee are very gratified at the results so far achieved.

It is confidently expected that the Centenary Fete will very materially augment this Fund.

THE DEBATING SOCIETY

On February 20 the half-yearly business meeting was held, when the report and balance-sheet were presented and adopted. Then J. D. Iliffe read his prize essay on "Knowledge is Power," which was favourably criticised; and the opinion was expressed that the paper was certainly not below the average of those which had gained "The Advertiser" cheque in former years.

On March 6 the question "Was the Character of Napoleon Bonaparte Admirable?" was debated. The affirmative was upheld by C. Harding, and the negative by H. W. Crompton. After a long and warm discussion the question was answered in the negative by a majority of eight votes.

Five anonymous papers were read on April 17. Their titles were: "Phrenology," "The Tarantula," Sigurd the Volung," "Tennyson" and "Burns."

We have to record with pleasure that the interest taken in our meetings has considerably increased during the past half-year.

SWIMMING NOTES

The newly-organised swimming club held its first annual matches in the City Baths on April 5th, in the presence of fully 400 spectators. The racing in some events was very exciting. Mr. Basedow, M.P., was voted to the chair, and in the course of some remarks urged the boys to pursue the art of natation. The programme consisted of seven events:—1, Learners; 2, Championship of 200 yds.; 3, Headers; 4, Championship Under 15; 5, Long Swim Under Water; 6, General Natation; 7, Old Scholars.

At the conclusion of the races, Mr. Bastard gave an exhibition of his powers, which was greatly appreciated.

ROWING NOTES

The racing boat which was ordered last year from England is now on its way to the colony in the ship "Barunga," which is expected almost immediately.

On February 2 a meeting at the College was held, when the following committee was elected: The Headmaster, Rischbeith, Braund, J. M. Solomon, with D. Fowler as secretary. We were very pleased to see such a large gathering; it was quite a surprise.

BOYS WHO HAVE LEFT

All the Sixth are back but Finlayson and Beyer, but the Lower Sixth has lost many.

The Debating Society loses members in Simpson, Maegraith, Castine, Aldersey, Barnes and Tilly, and a worthy officer in its late treasurer, Woodhouse Crompton.

Angel has given up his exhibition and commenced work upon the press, Iliffe has turned to teaching, and Cleland to law; Tilly and Rowley go to the Agricultural College, and Bollen to Scotland to study medicine; Walker has joined his father on the railways of N.S.W., and Gurner his father in business here.

The cricket team loses Rowley Hill (vice-captain and wicketkeeper), Pam. Heath (the diligent secretary, good all-round man and pleasant companion), and Castine (fast bowler and thoroughly-reliable man).

END OF TERM

The first term of 1886 ended on Friday, April 2. Easter comes late this year, and the four school terms are made nearly equal in length: one of ten weeks and three others of eleven each; so the holidays did not come as usual at the close of the School quarter.

An assembly was held in the big schoolroom on Friday, April 2, to formally close the term.

Centenary Fete

It was announced in the previous issue of "The Chronicle" that the Old Collegians' Association had decided to organise a P.A.C. Centenary Fete, to augment the funds of the Building and Endowment Fund, and arrangements have been energetically entered into, and it can be safely said that the scheme is now well launched.

The P.A.C. Centenary Fete has been included in the list of Centenary fixtures, and will be of two days' duration, and has been set down for October 9th and 10th, at Prince Alfred College. It will be remembered that a very successful Fete was held in 1921, in aid of the funds for the new Memorial Block, and as a result of this Fete nearly £2,500 was raised. A further Fete was held in 1923, which augmented the funds by about £1,500, and the Old Collegians' Committee has decided to make as its objective this time the raising of £2,000.

The sub-committee appointed to organize the Fete is as follows: Messrs. L. S. Clarkson, J. Crompton, S. G. Lawrence, M. W. Evans, R. P. Goode and L. B. Shuttleworth.

In order to gain the maximum results, and engender the utmost enthusiasm, it was decided to allocate stalls to various districts. A preliminary meeting of the wives and friends of members of the Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Association Committee, and of the College Council, met in the School's remodelled Assembly Hall, when more than 80 ladies were present, and approximately 50 apologies were received. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed. The ladies present were welcomed by the Headmaster (Mr. J. F. Ward), and the meeting was then addressed by Mr. L. S. Clarkson and Mr. J. Crompton, and the following stalls were decided upon, and conveners appointed:—

Torrens Valley (General)—Organiser, Mr. A. W. G. Pitt; conveners, Mesdames H. E. Pitt, H. J. Hobbs and C. Marlow.

Malvern and Mitcham (Cakes)—Conveners, Mesdames C. R. Sutton, H. S. Stain, W. H. Williams and G. S. Reid.

North Adelaide, Medindie, etc. (Afternoon Tea)—Conveners, Mesdames A. G. Trott, H. G. Prest, S. Gilbert Lawrence and L. L. Davey.

Tusmore and Burnside (Cakes)—Conveners, Mesdames J. Crompton, W. L. Cleland and R. A. Brinsley.

Rose Park (Sweets)—Conveners, Mesdames B. K. Marshman, W. J. Hiatt, K. H. Kirkman and F. L. Bunday.

Glen Osmond, Glenunga, Linden Park and Parkside ("White Elephant Stall")—Conveners, Mesdames P. A. McBride and F. Maughan.

Western Suburbs (Work Stall)—Conveners, Mesdames R. G. Burnard, A. J. Clarkson, V. S. Shephard and F. Stanford.

College High Tea Stall—Conveners, Mesdames J. F. Ward, L. S. Clarkson, P. R. Claridge and J. E. Langley.

Dutch Garden—Convener, Miss Molly James.

Book Stall—Rev. J. H. Allen.

Stalls have yet to be arranged for Glenelg, Brighton and Seacliff; and Kent Town, Norwood, etc.

The conveners appointed on that occasion have since met, and reported that excellent progress is being made. On April 23rd the Headmaster invited all the parents of scholars in the big School to be present at a meeting in the remodelled Assembly Hall at 7.45 p.m., and a very large attendance was present. A series of moving pictures, illustrating College life during the past two or three years was shown, and the meeting was then addressed by Messrs. L. S. Clarkson and J. Crompton, and the support of all those present enlisted for the Fete.

The following week the Headmaster invited to the College the parents of scholars in the Preparatory School. Mr.

Crompton addressed these parents, and it was decided that the Preparatory School would be responsible for a special effort of their own, and Mrs. Mitchell (wife of the Preparatory School Master) was appointed to organize.

"Princes' Banner"—The committee has decided to issue a Centenary "Princes' Banner." This booklet will be similar to the ones printed for the 1921 and 1923 Fetes, and will be informative and entertaining, and should be instrumental in raising considerable funds. The sub-committee appointed to control this feature are: Messrs. L. S. Clarkson, S. G. Lawrence, G. T. Clarke and M. S. Joyner.

Old Scholars' Cricket and Football Teams—A committee has been appointed to organize a special effort to be made by the Old Scholars' Cricket and Football Teams. The sub-committee are: Messrs. H. N. Shepley, L. S. Walsh, M. W. Evans, and Dr. H. G. Prest.

Old Collegians' Side-Shows.—Various entertaining side-shows will provide variety at the Fete, and the following have been appointed to organise them: Messrs. F. L. Collison, F. T. Cooper, M. S. Joyner, and Drs. A. G. Trott and A. R. Southwood.

The architect in charge of the stalls and general arrangements is Mr. H. H. Cowell, and Mr. A. G. Collison has been appointed treasurer of the Fete.

"Prince Competition"—The Masters at the College have decided to organise a Prince Competition, and a number of boys will be selected as candidates, each representing a particular sport, e.g., cricket, football, tennis, etc., and the Masters are entering whole-heartedly into this scheme.

Masonic Flower Stall—Mr. R. P. Goode (a member of the Old Collegians' Committee, and a Worshipful Master of the Old Collegians' Lodge) has indicated his willingness to undertake the organising of a Masonic Flower Stall.

Other Features: Mr. Rex Dawe, a well-known amateur comedian, has kindly offered to organise three short concerts, to be held on each evening of the Fete, and also to organize two concerts during the winter months, to be held at the College, and it is hoped that Mr. Malcolm S. Joyner will be able to provide some diversions by an aerial display over the College.

"Old Sea Dog" Stall—Mrs. P. T. Martin, of Semaphore, has undertaken to organise what will be known as the "Old Sea Dog" Stall. This stall will be of a most interesting character, and will be in keeping with the marine character of the district. Mr. Clarkson and Mr. Crompton will shortly be addressing a meeting at Semaphore, convened by Mrs. Martin.

The above resume indicates the progress which has been made, and the enthusiasm with which arrangements have been entered into.

The utmost co-operation from all "old boys" and supporters of the School is desired. Country "old boys" will be communicated with in due course, asking for their definite support in sending produce, etc., and it is hoped that each country district will be organised. "Old boys" both in the metropolitan area and in the country can definitely begin helping immediately by bearing in mind the Book Stall and the "White Elephant" Stall mentioned below.

GIVE A BOOK AND BUY A BOOK!

Every "old boy" of the School is asked to give at least one good book to the Book Stall. Give something valuable, that may possibly remain unused on your shelves if not passed on.

Write your name on it, and in a few words as possible your appraisal of the volume—why you value it. That will enhance its value to the Old Red who buys it.

Do it quickly, so that we may know what books we have to sell. Please send your book to Mr. S. Williams at the College, or to the convener of the Book Stall, Rev. J. H. Allen, 33 Kensington Terrace, Norwood.

"Old boys" from the country, when coming to Adelaide, are urged to bring a book or books with them.

"WHITE ELEPHANT" STALL

This stall (mentioned above) is of a somewhat unusual character. The idea is to get together articles from the home which have become no longer necessary, or for which there is no further use in that home. In every home there are articles such as this, for instance, perams., toys, etc., etc., and "old boys" are asked to enter enthusiastically into the support of this stall, and they can keep it in mind whenever they are visiting the city, and any such articles may be left in the care of Mr. S. Williams at the College.

Further progress reports of the Fete will appear in "The Advertiser" from time to time.

Purely Personal

The following appointments at the Adelaide Hospital have been made:—

Charles Edward Dolling, M.B., B.S., to be Honorary Clinical Assistant to the Dermatological Section.

Malcolm William Miller, M.B., B.S., to be Honorary Anæsthetist, and also Honorary Clinical Assistant to the Medical Section.

Alec Letts Dawkins, M.B., B.S., to be Temporary Honorary Assistant Surgeon.

Kenneth Hainsworth Kirkman, LL.B., S.M., Deputy Master of the Supreme Court, has also been appointed Deputy Sheriff, Acting Comptroller of Gaols and Prisons, Acting Chief Probation Officer, and Acting Marshal in Admiralty during the absence from the State of the Sheriff and Marshal in Admiralty, Comptroller of Gaols and Prisons, and Chief Probation Officer.

R. S. Dawe was recently admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court.

Mr. C. R. J. Glover was re-elected a director of the Bank of Adelaide. Other "old boys" on the Bank Board are Hon. E. W. Holden, Messrs. A. E. Hamilton and A. A. Simpson.

Dr. J. L. Rossiter, M.A., Headmaster of Wesley College, Perth, has been attending the recent Headmasters' Conference in Adelaide. During his stay he was the guest of Mr. W. R. Bayly for a few days.

Mr. W. A. Leitch, the general manager of the Union Bank of Australia Ltd., will shortly retire. He entered P.A.C. in 1884 (School Reg. No. 1,345), and is a Life Member, No. 101, of this Association.

Mr. Leitch has been associated with the Union Bank for 40 years. He began his banking career in 1890, when he joined the staff of the Bank of South Australia. Six years later that bank was absorbed by the Union Bank, and Mr. Leitch entered the accountant's branch of the Union Bank in Adelaide. Later he served in Brisbane and Wellington (N.Z.). He was promoted manager of the branch at Wanganui and returned to Australia in 1912. He then became manager of the Townsville and Newcastle branches, and in 1919 was appointed inspector for Victoria, South Australia and Tasmania. Later he became permanent inspector for New Zealand and, in 1927, returned to Australia as chief inspector for the bank. A year later he succeeded the late Mr. A. H. Chambers as general manager. While general manager he was elected chairman of the Associated Banks.

Dr. Laurence Bret Day, who attended King Fuad, of Egypt at his deathbed in Cairo, was educated at Prince Alfred College, 1898 to 1904 (School Reg. No. 3155), and, after serving a term with an Adelaide dentist, went to the United States of America. He took his degree as a doctor of dental surgery at the University of Pennsylvania in 1912, and in the same year went to Edinburgh, where he obtained his licentiate in dental surgery of the Royal College of Surgeons.

Returning to Adelaide, he built up a practice on North Terrace. In 1915 he enlisted for war service, and left Australia with the 1st Dental Corps of the A.I.F., and was attached to the headquarters staff in Egypt.

Later, military service took him to the A.I.F. camp in Salisbury (England) and to France.

After the war Dr. Day returned to Cairo, and now has an extensive dental practice.

A few years ago he became dental surgeon to the King and Queen of Egypt.

The extent to which Dr. Day had become a favourite at the Egyptian Court is shown by the statement in the cables that he had kept a solitary vigil in the late King's bedchamber for four nights preceding his death, and that the King had refused other nursing assistance.

Dr. Day has not been back to Australia since the war, but some years ago his parents spent a holiday with him in Egypt.

At Home and Abroad

T. A. Laurence, Rupanyup, Victoria, writes:—

"I have taken to bowls and am now a great grandfather, so surely must be getting old.

"Two youngsters were looking through a fence and saw a number of men of all ages playing bowls. One said to the other, 'I thought it was only old men that played bowls,' and the other replied, 'No, not all, but they've all got something the matter with them.'

"I just missed meeting the late King George at Prince Alfred College. When the Princes visited the old School in 1881, Newton Moore (now Sir Newton, M.P.) and myself left Fremantle for Adelaide on December 22nd, 1881, and arrived in Adelaide about ten days later. I suppose the photo of the Princes still hangs somewhere in the School with the accompanying letter they wrote to the boys at that time."

New Members

We are pleased to again report a satisfactory increase in membership. We sincerely hope that all members will do their utmost to obtain further increase in membership.

Obituary

COOPER—On the 8th February, at a private hospital, Adelaide, Charles Edward, aged 54 years. Mr. Cooper entered the school in 1888 (School Reg. No. 1978) and was a member of this Association.

GRAYSON—On the 8th May at Adelaide, Alfred James, of Kensington Road, Norwood, aged 68 years. By the death of Mr. Alfred James Grayson the State has lost one of its best-known athletes of the nineties. He was particularly prominent in rowing and football circles of those days, and won more than 100 trophies for his sporting achievements. Mr. Grayson, who was born at South Terrace, Adelaide, had been a member of the Adelaide Rowing Club since 1885, and was one of the club's most useful oarsmen for more than 20 years. He was a champion stroke, and captained the club for a number of years. He represented the State in several Interstate rowing contests, and on one occasion stroked a crew which secured second place in an Australian championship at Queensland. An honorary life member of the club, he coached the crews for a time after his retirement from active rowing. He also rendered valuable service to the Prince Alfred College crew when the "Head of the River" contests were instituted, when Princes won on two occasions. As a footballer, Mr. Grayson rendered sterling service for Norwood, and shone in Interstate games. Long kicking was a feature of his play, in defence. He was also a life member of this club. A tireless worker in the interests of the Norwood Club Incorporated, Mr. Grayson had been secretary of that organisation for 25 years. Life membership of that body was conferred on him recently. In addition to his secretarial duties, he served as librarian. At one time Mr. Grayson was an auditor of the Kensington and Norwood Corporation. He attended College from 1882 to 1883 (School Reg. No. 1099) and was a member of this Association.

HUNTER—On the 10th March at Kensington Park, Frank Lawrance, dearly loved youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hunter, aged 20 years. Mr. Hunter died as the result of a gun accident. He entered College in 1924 (School Reg. No. 6143) and was a Life Member of this Association (No. 936).

PIPER—On the 19th February, at Fullarton, Hon. Arthur William Piper, aged 70 years. Following a distinguished career at the bar extending over 45 years, the late Mr. Justice Piper had been a most highly regarded member of the Judiciary since 1927. He was one of the most unobtrusive, yet one of the most popular occupants of the Supreme Court Bench. Although essentially a South Australian, Mr. Justice Piper was born at Faversham, Hertfordshire,

England, on July 5, 1865. He came to South Australia at an early age, his father being the Rev. Thomas Piper, a well-known pioneer Methodist minister of this State. Mr. Justice Piper received his early education in public schools, and entered Prince Alfred College as the holder of a Government Exhibition in 1878 (School Reg. No. 625), matriculating two years later in the first class. He entered on his legal career with the firm of Fleming, Boucaut and Ashton, to whom he was articled, and in July, 1886, at the age of 21, he was admitted as a practitioner of the Supreme Court. He then entered into partnership with Mr. F. A. Joyner, and later they were joined by Mr. McDiarmid. In 1892 Mr. Piper joined the firm of Symon, Bakewell and Stow, and for many years was a member of the firm of Bakewell, Stow and Piper. Later, he was the head of the firm of Piper, Bakewell and Piper, two of his sons, Messrs. H. B. and F. E. Piper, being included in the partnership. Mr. Piper acquired a high reputation as a legal adviser, and he was created a King's Counsel in 1911 on the silver jubilee of his career as a barrister. Owing to his ability and high legal reputation, Mr. Piper was mentioned on several occasions as likely to be offered a judgeship, and, on the death of Mr. Justice Poole, accepted the vacancy of the Supreme Court Bench, his appointment being made on June 7, 1927. Before his appointment, Mr. Justice Piper had been a member of the council of the statutory committee of the Law Society for many years, and was president of the society for five years. Mr. Justice Piper always took a keen interest in public affairs. Freemasonry particularly appealed to him, and he was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge for five years. He was initiated in Lodge St. Alban No. 38 in 1902, and having passed through the various offices of his lodge, was elected Worshipful Master in 1908. He was Grand Treasurer of the Grand Lodge in 1914, and from 1915 to 1918 occupied the office of Deputy Grand Master. He was appointed Grand Master of the Grand Lodge in 1919, retaining the position until 1924. When he was called upon to preside over the destinies of the Craft in this State there were about 82 lodges in active work, but during his regime as Grand Master he issued warrants for 30 lodges, and the increase in the membership of the Lodges and Chapters was large. Literature and science attracted the active attention of Mr. Justice Piper, and from 1907 to 1909 he was president of the Literary Societies' Union, and from 1910 to 1913 president of the South Australian branch of the Royal Geographical Society of Australasia. For three years, from 1916 until 1919, he was president of the Liberal Union. He was also actively interested in religious matters and was for many years a deacon of Stow Memorial Church, Adelaide. He was a keen follower of football and cricket, taking particular interest in the activities of the Norwood Club. He was president and subsequently patron of the Norwood Football Club. He also was a member of the Norwood and Parkside Bowling Clubs. Mr. Piper has always taken a deep interest in the School and this Association. In 1896 he was elected President of this Association, and was Life Member No. 38. Mr. Justice Piper is survived by his widow, two daughters and five sons—Misses Dorothy and Edith Piper, of Adelaide, and Messrs H. B. Piper (Adelaide), F. E. Piper (Adelaide), R. A. Piper (Western Australia), J. C. Piper (Adelaide), and Dr. C. T. Piper (Bute). The Rev. E. J. Piper is a brother, and Mrs. E. J. Bertram a sister.

RAYMOND—Arthur Hartley Raymond, who died at his home at South Esplanade, Glenelg, on April 21, was the eldest son of the late Rev. Samuel Raymond, a prominent minister of the former Primitive Methodist Church, and later of the Methodist Church of South Australia. Mr. Raymond was born at Saddleworth 70 years ago, and was educated at Prince Alfred College, 1880 to 1881 (School Reg. No. 803). He entered the firm of Donaldson, Andrews & Co., as a boy, and continued there as secretary and accountant until five years ago, when he retired from business. He married Miss Rosa E. Goldring, of Prospect, 44 years ago, and lived for a number of years at Malvern, but 20 years ago he went to Glenelg. He was interested in bowls, and kept up his association with the game until failing health necessitated his retirement. Gardening occupied most of his attention in recent years. For a number of years he was a steward in the Moseley Street Methodist Church and a member of the Quarterly Meeting. The surviving members of the family are the widow, Mr. L. E. Raymond, Ethel May (Mrs. C. J. Jackett), and Messrs. Douglas, G. and Ronald H. Raymond. There are five grandchildren. One of Mr. Raymond's children, Eric Raymond, was killed at the battle of the Somme in 1916.

SHERRING—On the 10th March, at a private hospital, Edward Sherring (late of J. H. Sherring & Co.), beloved brother of Mrs. B. Boyle, of 83 Grant Avenue, Toorak, in his 74th year. Mr. Sherring attended College from 1875 to 1877 (School Reg. No. 446).

WALLACE—On the 16th March, 1936, at his residence, Box Hill, Victoria, George Gilbert, aged 57 years. Many South Australians will have read with regret of the death of Mr. George Gilbert Wallace, who was well known as both journalist and schoolmaster in South Australia. Old boys of Prince Alfred College will remember his stern but kindly rule (1918-1920), and people on the West Coast and on Kangaroo Island will recall him as proprietor of the "Streaky Bay Sentinel" and the "Kangaroo Island Courier." Mr. Wallace was also proprietor of the "Eyre's Peninsula Tribune." Early this week the ashes of Mr. Wallace were scattered at sea in Port Phillip Bay off Sandringham, where his two sons were drowned on Melbourne Cup day, 1928. At the time of his death he was a master at Box Hill High School. Before that he had been a master at other Melbourne colleges.

WILSON—On the 24th April, 1936, at Booleeroo Centre, Lancelot Kelly, the loving third son of Mrs. and the late Mr. L. C. Wilson, of Fifth Avenue, St. Peters, aged 25 years. He died as the result of a motor accident. He attended School 1925-26 (School Reg. No. 6244) and was a member of XI and XVIII in his final year. He joined the staff of Elder, Smith and Co., Ltd., on leaving school, and was thereafter stationed in the country, being for varying periods at Balaklava, Jamestown (six years), Peterborough, Crystal Brook and, lately, second in charge at Port Augusta. He played football, cricket, tennis and golf in each centre, and his big hitting in country cricket matches is talked about with enthusiasm. Lance was a keen member of the Association and arranged his annual leave, when possible, to coincide with Old Scholars' Week, in order to renew his many friendships. His death on the threshold of a promising career is the more to be regretted.

SUCCESSSES OF OLD BOYS

W. G. Chapman was one of the successful candidates for the post graduate course with the British Thomson-Houston Co. at Rugby, England, and recently left as Assistant Engineer on the "Port Melbourne."

MEMORIALS TO THE LATE JAMES ASHTON AND H. C. SHORTT

The School Council has accepted the offer of this Association to provide suitable memorials to these former masters, and the arrangements are well in hand. It is proposed to unveil these memorials during the interval on "Old Boys" Day.

ASSOCIATION BLAZERS

The Association Blazer is finding favour amongst members. Orders entitling members to secure a blazer are obtainable from the Secretary of the Association.

Monthly Luncheon

The monthly luncheon of the Association is now held regularly on the last Thursday of each month at the Piccadilly Cafe (Chas. Birks & Co.), Rundle Street, at 1 o'clock.

Many interesting subjects are discussed at these gatherings, which are primarily held for the purpose of offering more facilities to our country and city members to meet their friends.

At the January luncheon there was a record attendance of 62 members, and the captain of the State cricket team (Mr. D. G. Bradman) and Old Scholars who have made their mark in the cricketing world were entertained. The Old Scholars who were the guests of the Association were Dr. C. E. Dolling, one of the Australian selectors; Clem Hill, a former Test captain; A. F. Richter, R. G. Williams and R. A. Parker, members of the State team.

The president (Mr. L. S. Clarkson), in welcoming the guests, said that two former Test captains, Joe Darling and Clem Hill, had been scholars at Prince Alfred College.

Mr. Bradman congratulated the Prince's boys on the way in which they played in the State side. Much credit had come to him, he said, but without the co-operation and support of the team as a whole, success would have been impossible.

Mr. O. L. Isaachsen, who recently returned from a trip abroad, gave a very interesting and instructive address on economic conditions abroad at the February luncheon, while Rev. J. H. Allen, who spent many years in India, gave an illuminating address on Indian economic problems at the March function.

Mr. Ronald Muir, who is well known throughout the Queensland sugar industry, and who is assistant secretary to the Queensland Cane Growers Council, delivered an address on "The Sugar Industry" at the luncheon held on April 30th.

Branch Reunions

SOUTH-EAST DINNER

The first Old Collegians' Dinner to be held in the South-East for many years took place on Saturday, March 21st, at Naracoorte. The delegates from the Old Collegians' Association were: The President, Mr. L. S. Clarkson; the Vice-President, Mr. F. L. Collison; and a committeeman, Mr. L. S. Walsh.

The Headmaster of the College (Mr. J. F. Ward) made the trip with these three delegates, and his presence added considerably to the success of the function. The party travelled by car, and broke the journey at Robe, and proceeded to Naracoorte next day, where they were accommodated at the homes of Old Reds, and this hospitality was greatly appreciated by all.

On the Saturday afternoon a tennis team of Old Reds, captained by E. P.

Copping (who has twice been South Australian Country Champion), played a team from the Naracoorte Tennis Club, and the local men won by 7 sets to 5. Messrs. F. L. Collison and L. S. Walsh played for the Old Reds team, and despite the long journey they had just completed, they played very creditably.

The Reunion Dinner took place at the Commercial Hotel that night, and a very good attendance of Old Reds was present. The toast of the "Old School" was proposed by Mr. D. A. Roberts, and responded to by the Headmaster. The toast of the "Old Collegians' Association" was in the hands of Mr. L. R. DeGaris, and the response was made by Mr. L. S. Clarkson, supported by Mr. L. S. Walsh. The further toast of "Our Visitors" was proposed by Mr. Hunt, M.P., and responded to by Mr. F. L. Collison. School songs were sung, and very happy reminiscences exchanged.

The members present were: Rev. R. E. Stanley, Messrs. D. A. Roberts, N. G. Kilsby, C. Davis, L. V. Shepherd, P. Schinckel, R. W. R. Hunt, M.P., H. F. Copping, B. J. Magarey, R. H. Shepherd, A. E. J. Williams, K. D. Harris, Leslie Pender, W. D. Thomson, J. DeGaris, F. Hastwell, L. A. DeGaris, R. McLachlan, C. King, G. Moseley, J. Matheson, E. J. Price, R. E. DeGaris, C. M. Barr, C. W. Wright, W. R. Smith, D. Schinckel, W. J. Thompson, R. G. Norsworthy, E. P. Copping, J. W. Magarey, R. McEwen, A. W. Pearson, N. McBain, Roy Pender, G. Herriot, D. Chapple, F. Cockington, A. C. DeGaris, A. King, R. J. Moseley, W. H. Copping, W. A. Clifford and L. R. DeGaris.

On the Sunday morning, the ordinary Church service was conducted by the Headmaster and Mr. L. S. Clarkson. Mr. Ward delivered the sermon, and Mr. Clarkson the children's address.

Altogether the trip was a very successful one, and great enthusiasm was displayed, and the hope was expressed that the function would be the forerunner of many more.

We congratulate the local committee, and especially Mr. L. R. DeGaris, for so successfully organising the function.

VISIT TO MAITLAND

In connection with the Diamond Jubilee celebrations of the Maitland Methodist Church, the officials of the Church had arranged a banquet for men on April 7th. This banquet was arranged and organised by the Old Scholars of P.A.C. and Methodist Ladies' College, but was open to all men in the Yorke Peninsula Circuits.

The minister of the Church (Rev. Harry Alvey) invited the Headmaster (Mr. J. F. Ward) and the Secretary of the College (Mr. David Waterhouse) to be present, and also the President of the Old Collegians' Association (Mr. L. S. Clarkson). It was decided to make the trip, although it was not an official Old Collegians' function.

Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Clarkson accompanied the delegation. A most successful evening was held. Nearly 200 men were present—a big proportion of whom were Old Reds—and the entire gathering was wholeheartedly in sympathy with the College.

The toast of "Prince Alfred College" was proposed by Mr. Waterhouse, and responded to by the Headmaster; and the toast of the "Old Collegians' Association" was proposed by Mr. R. A. Symons, LL.B., and responded to by Mr. Clarkson.

Members of the Delegation afterwards expressed the opinion that the visit had been well worth while, and great praise is due to the Church authorities for the admirable way in which the function was carried out, and the splendid programme of musical and elocutionary items which was arranged.

NEW COMMITTEEMEN

Mr. Frank T. Cooper, of Kensington Road, Leabrook, was appointed to fill the vacancy on the general committee owing to the resignation of Dr. D. L. Barlow. Mr. Cooper represents the second generation of the "Cooper family"—a family that has loyally supported the School since its foundation, and equally loyally supported this Association in all its activities. He attended College from 1894 to 1902 (School Reg. No. 2,678). Mr. Cooper has also been elected to the general committee of the School.

ASSOCIATION TOKENS

Owing to increased cost of gold and manufacturers' Sales Tax, Association Tokens will be issued to members upon payment of 20/- (in lieu of 18/6 as formerly). These remain the property of the Association, and are returnable if the holder ceases to be a member. To the end of April last, 1,272 tokens have been issued.

OLD BOYS' WEEK

JULY 20th - - JULY 26th

::

The following Programme has been arranged:

MONDAY, JULY 20th—

Bridge Match. Old Blues v. Old Reds, at Arcadia.

TUESDAY, JULY 21st—

Hockey and Lacrosse at P.A. College. Old Blues v. Old Reds.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22nd—

Baseball and Football at St. Peter's College. Old Blues v. Old Reds.

At 7.30 p.m.—Masonic Temple—United Collegians' Chapter meets.

THURSDAY, JULY 23rd—Old Boys' Day at the College.

8.50 a.m.—Morning Assembly.

Football—Town v. Country.

Unveiling of Memorial to late Jas. Ashton and H. C. Shortt during interval.

At 7.30 p.m.—Annual Dinner at the South Australian Hotel.

FRIDAY, JULY 24th—Annual Dance at Palais Royal, North Terrace, 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

SATURDAY, JULY 25th—Intercollegiate Football.

At 7.30 p.m.—Masonic Temple—Old Collegians' Lodge meets.

SUNDAY, JULY 26th—11 a.m., Old Scholars' Service.

THURSDAY, JULY 9th—Golf. Old Blues v. Old Reds, at Kooyonga. To be followed by a combined "Golf Dinner," which will be held in the Clubhouse.

Old Boys' Week

This year no alterations have been made in the programme for "Old Boys' Week." Members are requested to assist the various sub-committees by promptly advising in which contests they wish to participate.

Golf Match.—To suit the convenience of players this match has been arranged for Thursday, 9th July, at Kooyonga. Very few country players take part, and it was suggested to play the match on a Thursday prior to Old Boys' Week.

After the match it is proposed to hold the usual "golf dinner," when the Rymill Cup will be handed to the captain of the winning side.

Bridge Evening.—Either Auction or Contract Bridge may be played, as arranged with your opponents. This match will be played on Monday evening, 20th July, at Arcadia Cafe. You will greatly facilitate arrangements if you will kindly arrange for your own partner, find two opponents, and send in the four names early to the Secretaries.

Football Matches.—Members are requested to forward their names early for these matches. As at least 27 players will be required, country members are specially requested to give their support.

Morning Assembly.—In response to the expressed wish of one of our "older" "old boys," Mr. J. F. Ward (Headmaster) has invited to the Morning Assembly on Old Boys' Day, Thursday 23rd July, at 8.50 a.m., all Old Reds who attended College 60 years or more ago. Last year's attendance warrants a continuation of this function.

Old Boys' Day.—A record attendance of "old boys" is expected on this occasion, and a larger proportion of country "boys" is anticipated.

During the interval of the Town v. Country matches, memorials to the late Messrs. Jas. Ashton and H. C. Shortt will be unveiled.

Annual Dinner.—Your committee have arranged for the Annual Dinner to be held at the South Australian Hotel, North Terrace, and look forward to a very successful function. The price of the tickets will not include refreshments, for which each member will pay according to his requirements. This will be a more equitable arrangement, and the Association will be relieved of a substantial loss which has had to be met on previous occasions.

Annual Dance.—An active sub-committee is attending to the arrangement. Dancing will be from 8 till 1 a.m. Guests will be received on arrival by the President (Mr. Len S. Clarkson), Mrs. Clarkson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ward. As usual, an excellent programme of dances and music is being arranged.

Old Scholars' Service.—Rev. J. H. Allen (who recently returned from India) will deliver the address; being an Old Red, a record attendance is hoped for. The proceedings will be broadcast for the benefit of country and Interstate "old boys."

REPRESENTATION ON SCHOOL COUNCIL

At the General Meeting of Prince Alfred College, held on 17th March last, the following members of the Old Collegians Committee were elected to the School Council: Messrs. L. S. Clarkson, P. R. Claridge, F. L. Collison, H. H. Cowell and T. C. Craven.

Life Members' Certificates

Life Members who have not yet received their membership certificates are requested to communicate with the Secretaries.

The newly-designed Life Membership Certificates are now available. These will be issued under the seal of the Association, and are obtainable by all Life Members upon payment of 2/6 to cover necessary costs of printing.

Life Members who have been already issued with old style Certificates are eligible to obtain a new Certificate if they so desire.

Old Collegians at Bowls

The annual Old Scholars' Bowls Match against St. Peters Old Collegians was played at South Park on Wednesday evening, 26th February. At the commencement the scores were fairly even, but gradually Princes forged ahead and won the 8 rinks by 177 to 131. In addition the Executive and St. Mark's rinks both ended in our favour.

Old Boys in Sport

Tennis

During Easter, when many tournaments were held throughout the length and breadth of the State, many "old boys" performed with varying degrees of success. In the State hard-court championships held at Port Pirie, Ross Lock was runner-up in the singles, and even bettered this result in the doubles, which he and his partner won. Allan Edwards spent the Easter at Clare, and a win in the championship doubles, as well as a creditable performance in the singles, must be looked back upon with satisfaction.

Max Newcombe added both the singles and doubles championship trophies of Murray Bridge to his rapidly-growing collection. The daily papers were very high in their praise of his play during the course of this tournament. A. J. Wright, the diminutive 'Varsity player, was another who did well. He played at Reade Park and reached the semi-final in one or two events.

It is rather unusual to record a loss for E. P. Copping, but at Naracoorte this year he was beaten in the final of the singles championship by a Melbourne player. Ron. Hone won the doubles at Ardrossan, after eliminating Luke and Ash in the semi-finals. It is difficult for the editor to keep trace of the performances of all "old boys" during the Easter competitions, so if perchance an effort worthy of inclusion in this column has been overlooked he will still be a welcome recipient of the information.

NARACOORTE CLUB v. P.A.C. OLD SCHOLARS

One of the activities of the Prince Alfred Old Scholars during their reunion at Naracoorte was to play a tennis match with the Naracoorte Club. Some interesting games resulted, the match being in favour of the local club by seven matches to five.

RESULTS

Naracoorte, 7 matches, 13 sets, 116 games.
P.A.C.—5 matches, 11 sets, 110 games.

Dolan and Hewitt lost to E. and H. Copping, 1—6, 6—5, 2—6; Mehaffey and Follett d. Walsh and Collison, 4—6, 6—2, 6—4; Wade and Burke d. P. Schinckel and Magarey, 6—2, 6—3; Bald and McEachern lost to Cockington and Herriot, 5—6, 6—4, 5—6; Brown and Langeluddecke d. Kilsby and Wright, 6—3, 5—6, 6—3; Duffield and Caldwell lost to M. Magarey and R. Pender, 2—6, 6—5, 3—6; Kidman and Hannaford lost to D. Schinckel and Chapple, 2—6, 5—6; Mehaffey and Follett d. E. and H. Copping, 6—3; Dolan and Hewitt d. Walsh and Collison, 6—5; Bald and McEachern d. P. Schinckel and J. Magarey, 6—0; Clark and Burke d. Cockington and Herriot, 6—4; Duffield and Caldwell lost to Kilsby and Wright, 5—6.

Cricket

During the past summer Old Reds have continued to reap their fair proportion of success on the cricket field, both in Interstate and Grade competitions. Frequent references have already been made in previous editions of the "Chronicle" to the ever-increasing capabilities of Ron Parker, and this report on the sporting activities since last Christmas would be incomplete if further mention were not made of his performances. During the season in club games he compiled 600 runs in 12 innings, two of which were uncompleted, thus giving him an excellent average of 60. His artistic, as well as solid displays, as one of the South Australian opening batsmen, have received laudable recognition from all quarters. He is also a live wire in the field!

The following list of averages from club figures may possibly be of interest:

Batting
	Im.	N.O.	H.S.	Aggr.	Averg.
R. A. Parker	12	2	154	600	60.0
R. M. Stanford	14	5	108*	376	41.8
A. G. Holman	14	3	94*	423	38.5
J. S. Palmer	11	3	102*	258	32.2
N. A. Walsh	12	—	106	368	30.7
A. F. Richter	17	—	82	384	29.8
G. W. Harris	14	—	118	412	29.4
R. R. Wright	13	2	57	319	29.0

Bowling
	Wkts.	Runs	Averg.
R. G. Williams	25	479	19.2
L. T. McKay	27	627	23.2
R. R. Wright	20	535	26.6
A. F. Richter	15	405	27.0

Of the ten teams participating in "A" Grade Club competition, four are captained by "old boys" of the School. Angas Woolcock led West Torrens, the premiership team; Norm. Walsh skippered the runners-up (Sturt); Gordon Harris, Ports; and Jack Palmer on occasion led East Torrens.

During Easter, when a team representing the Victorian Banks played matches against a South Australian combined Bank team, Neil Shepley, who for many years was a power of strength to the Kensington XI, turned on some fireworks, and in one innings took 8 for 18—no need to worry about Bank crashes if this is any indication of local Bank strength!

Towards the close of the season, Richter and Wright toured the Murray Districts with a South Australian side. At Renmark they found one of the opposing eleven to be Roger Jacka, whom it will be remembered showed great promise as an athlete whilst at College.

Ross Stanford is another who has just complete a successful season, as indicated in the foregoing list of aveages. He was also chosen in the State team that played Tasmania on the Adelaide Oval, and this graduation we hope is a stepping stone to ever higher planes.

Rowing

At the Head of the River Regatta held on Saturday, April 18th, the following crew represented this Association: A. J. King (Bow), R. K. Dunn, R. Stacey, F. A. Dibden, D. C. Philps, F. Nicholls, J. C. Walter, D. O. Crompton (Stroke), and H. E. Freburg (Cox).

In the first heat our crew beat Adelaide High School Old Collegians by four feet, but were beaten in the final by St. Peters Old Collegians by three-quarters of a length. The final was a great race in which Princes led over the first 200 yards, but were gradually worn down by the tremendous finishing power of the Old Blues.

It is not often that we can boast of two members in the South Australian crew representing this State in the coveted King's Cup, but this year such was the case, and the two Old Reds were Jack Williams and Max Richardson. The race was rowed in Perth, and our crew came second to the strong N.S.W. combination.

Jack has been a prominent member of the Adelaide Club for some years, and Max trains with Torrens; during the winter months the latter plays football for the Old Collegians in the Amateur League.

Old Boys' Tennis

The annual Old Scholars' Tennis Match against St. Peters Old Collegians was played at St. Peters College on Thursday, 20th February. Both sides fielded strong teams, and some excellent tennis was witnessed with very interesting finishes. Unfortunately Dr. Gurner met with a slight accident, which prevented him from continuing playing. The match ended in favour of St. Peters Old Collegians by 5 rubbers 11 sets to Princes 3 rubbers 9 sets.

Results

- T. S. Bowen-C. S. Stokes (St. Peters) lost to R. Lock-A. Edwards (Princes), 6-5, 1-6, 2-6.

Old Boys' Cricket Club

It is with very great sorrow that we have to report the passing of our club President, Mr. A. E. Clarkson—a good friend, and an enthusiastic supporter, always giving that word of encouragement which helped considerably in the success of the Club. We will miss him greatly in the future.

During the latter part of the cricket season the club's performances were affected considerably by the inability of several of the prominent players to take part in more of the matches, and it is, therefore, more credit on the teams which turned out to find that our club gained the fifth position on the premiership table.

The club congratulates N. Harris on gaining top place on the batting averages with 30.4, and also our agile veteran, H. P. Kirkwood on his magnificent bowling figures, claiming 41 wickets with an average of 10.

The following table gives the aggregates and averages for the season:—

Old Boys' Football Club

Owing to five new teams being admitted to the Amateur League this season we were promoted to Grade A1. Although the club has not been successful in either of its first two engagements, the absence of leading players on both occasions has considerably weakened the team, and we are confident of giving a good account of ourselves in the near future.

E. C. Stephens was re-elected captain at the annual meeting, with A. L. Bradshaw vice-captain. The latter was forced to resign on account of an old injury, after five years of excellent service to this club, during which he gained Interstate honours.

This season saw the retirement of two other stalwarts in Merv. Evans and Jack Woods, both of whom have brought honour and distinction to this club. N. K. Anderson was subsequently elected vice-captain. A practice match was played against Saints' Old Scholars on April 18th, and after a very enjoyable game Old Blues ran out winners.

Our first Association match was played at Semaphore, against the Centrals. With only seven of last year's team available we were forced to reconstruct the side, and although soundly beaten, several new players showed great promise. Amongst these Wellington, last year's Intercollegiate captain, and N. Harris were outstanding. Others who registered a good performance were Tideman, Waldeck and N. Anderson.

Strengthened by the inclusion of Shaughnessy, Wright, Cowan and D. Burnard from the 'Varsity Club, the team did much better in its second game, to fully extend West Adelaide United, who a fortnight previously had soundly defeated University in a practice match. The final scores were 9—17 to 7—10. In this game Chapman, at full back, was our outstanding player, marking and kicking excellently throughout the match. Weatherly at the other end of the ground gave a brilliant exhibition of high flying, though his kicking lacked direction. The best players were Chapman, N. Anderson, Shaughnessy, Weatherly and Jones.

Once again we urge all "old boys" to link up with the club and to make an effort to turn out to practice on Tuesday and Thursday nights at the College.

A "B" team has again been entered in the Students' Association; the team plays matches against various college teams, and good grounds are available. It is the ambition of the committee to build up a strong second team, from which promising players can be promoted to the "A" team, and which at the same time can achieve some success in its own Association.

The secretary is Ross Johnston, 284 Rundle Street, East (C 4343).

Interstate Branches

BROKEN HILL

The Branch Secretary is Mr. R. P. Wheaton, c/o E. S. & A. Bank, Broken Hill.

NEW SOUTH WALES

The Acting Branch Secretary is Mr. Allan Lyon, No. 350 George Street, Sydney.

PERSONAL

Ernest A. Kesting, who has been appointed Resident Secretary of Newington College, writes:—"This is a very happy circumstance, as in many ways it is a sister school to P.A.C., and there are many links between them which make the atmosphere here quite familiar to me. One of these, which may be of interest to you, is the Millner Memorial Gates at the college, which were given by Col. T. J. Millner, in memory of his father, the late W. J. Millner, who was, I understand, one of the earliest scholars enrolled at P.A.C. His grandsons were students here at Newington. I enclose a copy of the programme for the opening ceremony of the Memorial Gates, and the Memorial Avenue, in which is a tree commemorating each old Newingtonian who fell in the Great War." ...

QUEENSLAND

The Branch Secretary is Mr. Len King, Secretary's Office, Royal Queensland Golf Club, Eagle Farm, Brisbane, Queensland.

During his visit to his home town (Adelaide) Mr. Ronald J. S. Muir, Assistant Secretary of the Queensland Canegrowers' Council, attended the April monthly luncheon and delivered a very interesting and instructive address on the Sugar Industry. He also took the opportunity of visiting the "Old School," and we hope he will be able to tell "Old Boys" in Brisbane all about the improved Assembly Hall.

VICTORIA

Mr. Paull Fiddian is the Branch Secretary. His address is, Perpetual Trustees Buildings, No. 100 Queen Street, Melbourne.

BRANCH DINNER

The Annual Reunion Dinner will be held in Melbourne on Thursday, 23rd July. All "Old Boys" are requested to communicate with the Branch Secretary.

PERSONAL

We are pleased to report that Mr. F. I. Grey, of 34 Leura Grove, Upper Hawthorn, is making a very satisfactory recovery from his recent serious illness.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

The Branch Secretary is Mr. E. Witherage Cotton, No. 5 Melrose Crescent, North Perth, who will be pleased to hear from all Old Reds in W.A.

NEW MEMBERS

The following have been elected: Frederick S. Pilgrim, 1896 to 1901, c/o Union Bank, St. Georges Terrace, Perth; Allan Leslie Humphries, 1919 to 1921, No. 116 Churchill Avenue, Subiaco.

OLD COLLEGIANS' CRICKET

Princes broke a series of losses in the annual Old Scholars' Cricket Match with Saints, played on Wesley College ground on February 22. Last year skipper Geoff. Burgoyne put the other side in, and this year Warburton returned the compliment.

Geoff. Eaton was the star performer for Princes, carrying his bat for a fine century; and Freddy Waldeck hit high, hard and often for a very useful 27. Growden, fresh from Country Week, and as fit as a fiddle, worried all the batsmen, and the Old Reds were glad that he couldn't bowl from both ends.

It looked for a time as if Princes were going to win easily, but Harley played a great innings for Saints, and with Stewart Auld hitting hard with him, Princes began to feel anxious. There was a sigh of relief when Geoff. Burgoyne held a skyer from Auld. Princes' bowling was fair. The star artist, however, was Billy Stokes behind the stumps.

Lunch was held on the ground, and Old Saints' president, Dr. R. McKellar Hall, and Stan Wreford, for Princes, said nice things about Drs. Rossiter and Wesley for making their ground available again. Captains Warburton and Burgoyne toasted their respective opponents.

It was a very pleasant function, marred only by the unwonted absence of Ted Cotton, who had all his teeth removed on the previous day, and could not even gnash them at home. The gathering did not seem the same thing without the heart and soul of the Old Red's Association.

After the game "Warby" invited the teams to his house, where a barrel was dealt with severely.
