Editorial

As civilisation has progressed, it has been found necessary to do away with haphazard methods and to standardise our efforts. We have taken the original invention of some one man and have used that as a standard to which other men's work must conform. The chief field of standardisation is industry. Individual craftsmanship would be impracticable in a modern factory, and whereas a man will take a pride in the work of his hands when it is sold under his own name, he is not likely to be so thorough and interested when articles are being produced in mass.

The old pride of the craftsman in his work has been eliminated. The craftsman's daily work was once his means of expression. Whether it was work in wood, brass, gold, silver, iron or leather, it was the portraiture of his soul; in fact, it was almost the workman himself. His time and his profits were subsidiary.

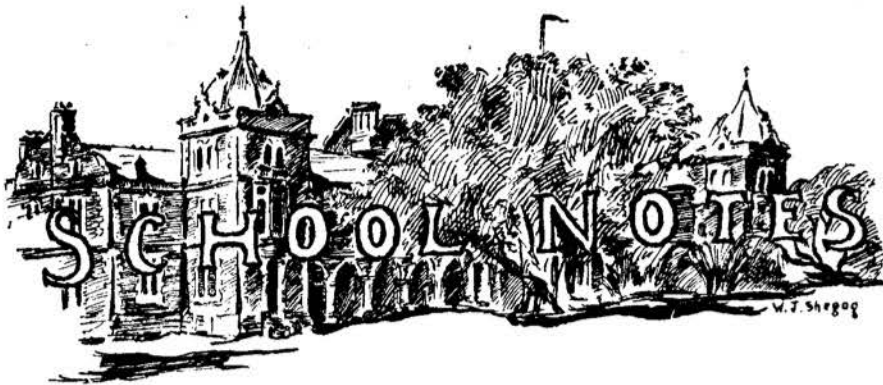

Now, however, the work of the artisan has been commercialised. Time and profits, in a factory, are almost the only consideration, for a company or factory has no soul to express. In this way the artisan's work has become monotonous and expressionless; nowadays a man will not as a rule turn to the crafts unless driven to them. The modern chain system, which renders industry so reliable, has a nerve-wracking and degenerating effect on the men employed. They are the cogs of a great machine. If one of the cogs breaks, it is replaced, and the machine rolls on.

Standardisation has proved so efficient in business that it has spread to some extent into all social activities. Let us take education, for example. We have set up examinations, by which we may judge a man's learning. Many examinations, however, may be passed just by cramming or by use of rules. Examiners realise the danger of this, and they now discourage as far as possible the use of formulæ and prefer the use of reasoning. In the recent educational conference, the authorities pointed out that education for life required a breaking down of old educational standards. Even in religion standardisation may set in. When religious leaders lose the spirit of, but still wish to perpetuate their faith, they set up observances, standards of ritual, and petty by-laws, so that the degree to which a man observes these Pharisaic practices determines his standing in the religious world.

As long as standardisation is confined to the earning of one's living, it is at least in its right place. Many are able to earn a living without knowing much about what they are doing. But when standardisation intrudes into our real lives it is out of place. Modern machinery and systemization of industry have so shortened the time in which man need work for his living that he has, or should have, more time left for self-expression, and that is more time for living. Although the craftsman cannot now express himself in his daily work, he should have enough leisure in which to express himself. In fact, an age of greater leisure must come. It is the logical issue of standardised industry. The world's output has increased enormously because of the machine, so the resulting unemployment, if properly directed, should prove a blessing and not a curse.

The first term of 1938 will go down in the annals of the School as the "Paralysis Term." When School should have opened on February 8, the epidemic was so serious that the postponement of School till March 21 was a decision greeted with unanimous approval. The result of the late start and of the restrictions due to the epidemic has been a rather serious curtailing of some of our ordinary School activities. There was no first term cricket; we had to abandon our swimming sports; the College branch of the Australian Student Christian Movement has not yet begun to meet; no films have been shown this term; and the usual weekly part singing for the School has only been held in the last two weeks of the term.

Congratulations to the boys and to the Masters on the excellent effort made during the six weeks of correspondence work! To distribute books for over 400 boys, organise a scheme for handling correspondence lessons in a big variety of subjects, and have the first assignments ready to be sent out, all within about one week, is an achievement of which the staff can justly be proud. Over 95 per cent. of the boys sent in the lessons regularly, and in very few cases was the work unsatisfactory in quality.

A hearty welcome to our new Masters. Messrs. Hall and Mansfield in the Big School and Mr. Hickman in the Prep. have all rapidly made a useful place for themselves in the life of the School, and we hope they are happy in their new surroundings.

The School is very grateful to Mr. A. A. L. Rowley for his generous gift of the new woodwork room. An official inspection and opening is to be arranged for some day very early next term, but Mr. Rowley came to have a look at the room and the work during the term, and was delighted with what he saw, and especially pleased as are all the members of the Council that so many boys, nearly 100 in all, are engaged in this work.

Sir John Melrose, who like Mr. Rowley is an old scholar of Prince Alfred, has also been very generous to us. He has presented the full equipment of tools for the work in the Rowley Room. Sir John's fine gift was the result of a remark in the Headmaster's report at Speech Day. The speech suggested that other Old Boys might emulate Mr. Rowley. Sir John took this to heart, and our fine set of tools is the result. The whole School is deeply grateful for the practical help and for the real interest in the School which the gift displays.

Our Cadets looked well in the Anzac Day procession in spite of the wet weather. Congratulations to Captain Davies and the Corps.

All good wishes for a happy year of office to Max Stain and his team of School prefects, and to Sampson and his companions in the House.

We lost the tennis match for the first time since 1928, but it was the closest and most interesting game we have had against St. Peter's for a long time. Congratulations to the team; they all played well.

One thing we need badly—more boys who can jump. That was the outstanding weakness in the Intercollegiate Athletics. Though we lost it was a fine contest. We had more first places than our rivals, but they gained more second and third places.

A very pleasant function was held at the rowing shed on 30th April, when the nine boats of the College fleet were all given names. Mrs. Edgar Michell had just presented to the School the fine tub-four which she named the Edgar Michell in memory of her late husband. Our very grateful thanks are due to Mrs. Michell for this generous gift.

One result of the epidemic which may have caused joy in some hearts is the omission of terminal exams. this term. It was felt that with starting so late better use could be made of the term if time were not taken up with exams. All must realise that this makes the work from day to day more important and emphasises the need for careful revision.

The whole School sympathises with John Southwood and Geoff. Halloran, who have unfortunately contracted infantile paralysis. Both are showing some improvement, and are as well as can be expected under the circumstances.

Among the visitors to the School this term was Mr. W. G. Kither, an Old Boy of the late Eighties and early Nineties. Mr. Kither is the Managing Director of the Goodyear Tyre Co. in Sydney, and had not been at P.A.C. for a long time. He was very pleased with the changes in the School, and has offered a five guinea prize to be awarded at the discretion of the Headmaster. More of this later on. With Mr. Kither came his brother-in-law, Mr. Clem Hill. It was a great pleasure to see at the School our most famous cricketer. Since Mr. Hill's visit here, we have all been very sorry to see that he has suffered a great loss in the death of his wife. We extend to Mr. Hill and his family our deepest sympathy.

Mr. Bob Lawrence, of Victor Harbour, and Mr. S. M. Wreford, of Perth, were here on Sports Day, and had a pleasant time looking at all the new and old things in the School, and they enjoyed a long talk with Mr. Iliffe.

The School Sports Day was a great success. Congratulations to Stain on his fine victory in the Cup Competition. It was very fitting that he should have the cup presented to him by his own mother. We are very grateful to Mr. Stain for the fine cup for the under sixteen championship, and congratulate Dalwood on his victory.

Mr. W. M. Anderson, an Old Boy of 1889, called during the term, and was delighted to see how the School had developed. Mr. W. G. McNeil came back to the School from Kalgoorlie. He left School in 1915, and had seen very little of it since. It was a pleasure to him and to us to show him the changes since his day.

Old Boys of the Seventies will all remember the Mack brothers. Hans Mack was one of the outstandingly clever boys of the School in those years. Miss Mack, a niece of Hans and daughter of E. A. Mack, who was at P.A.C. 1876-78, called while in Adelaide on her way to England. She was very eager to see the School that her father and uncles had all talked about so much. E. A. Mack is living in Sydney, Mornben Avenue, Mosman.

Heartiest thanks to Harry Freburg and his people for the fine trophy for the junior coxswains. Also to Mr. B. K. Marshman for his trophy for the rowing. Such gifts do much to encourage the boys, and are helping to build up the tradition of rowing in the School.

Finally, we congratulate the rowing crews, the stroke Shannon, and the coaches. The Regatta was a great day for us. We won the three major events, and were in the final for the other two. The finish of the eights against St. Peter's was again very close. The Blackmore Shield has never been won by more than about half a length.

Owing to the late opening of School this term we found ourselves with only two weeks for practice before the Inter-collegiate match. Nevertheless, the competition for places in the team seemed even keener than it usually is. Hence the selection of the team was not made until the Thursday before the match.

Seeing that we only had two weeks in which to practise for the Intercollegiate match, no matches were arranged as in previous years. Nevertheless, we take this opportunity of thanking Messrs. Lock, Newcombe and Clements, who found time to come out to School and help us with our tennis.

We also thank those people who so generously placed their courts at our disposal, and will be pleased to hear of any Old Boys and friends of the School who can help us in this matter in the future.

Mr. Luke once again has shown his great interest in us by giving up much of his time to coach us. We all wish to thank him for this. Our thanks are again due to Mr. Dennis, who has spent many afternoons in coaching juniors.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS, 1938

The result of this year's contest, which was held on April 2, was the closest for many years, St. Peter's winning in the final rubber of the day by eight rubbers to seven. The weather, although doubtful in the morning, turned out fine in the afternoon, making a glorious day for tennis.

Our team consisted of Pfeiffer, R. D. (captain), Battye, G. R., Hiatt, S. G., Solomon, M., Boer, M. D., Wilson, C. L., while St. Peter's selected Bennett, J. B. (captain), Rudall, P. S., Whitehead, G.

E., Skipper, J. S., Dunstan, J. E., Opie, J. M.

In the first round of doubles our first pair, Pfeiffer and Battye, used their greater experience to defeat Saint's third pair, Dunstan and Opie, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Bennett and Skipper, Saint's first pair, were too strong for Boer and Wilson, our third pair, defeating them 6-1, 6-2.

Meanwhile, Solomon and Hiatt, our second double, were having a great struggle against St. Peter's second pair, Rudall and Whitehead. The Saint's pair eventually won the rubber, after attacking well in the third set, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

In the first round of singles Hiatt, attacking at the net vigorously, was too strong for Skipper, defeating him 6-1, 5-6, 6-1.

Solomon, using many tosses, upset his opponent, Dunstan, and won 6-5, 5-6, 6-1, after narrowly losing the second set.

Wilson was too steady for Opie, whom he defeated 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

This brought the score to 4 rubbers to 2 in our favour at lunch.

In the second round of doubles Pfeiffer and Battye had an interesting rubber against Bennett and Skipper. Our pair, concentrating on Skipper's rather weak backhand, defeated them 3-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Hiatt's net play again dominated the rubber in which our pair, Hiatt and Solomon, had little difficulty in defeating Opie and Dunstan, 6-3, 6-3.

Rudall and Whitehead were too powerful for Boer and Wilson, defeating them 6-1, 6-1.

At this stage we were still in the lead, the score being 6 rubbers to 3.

In the second round of singles all the rubbers were won by Saints, bringing the score to 6 rubbers all.

Pfeiffer was narrowly beaten by Bennett after a hard fight, in which both players drove splendidly. Bennett won 6-5, 6-5.

Battye also lost to Rudall, 6-4, 6-5, in a rubber in which there were many long rallies.

Whitehead had little difficulty in defeating Boer, 6-3, 6-3.

The third round of doubles was evenly contested. Pfeiffer and Battye lost to Rudall and Whitehead, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2, after a hard fight.

Hiatt and Solomon, playing good tennis, defeated Bennett and Skipper, 6-4, 6-2.

At this stage the score was 7 rubbers all, and the crowd of spectators surrounded the third court to watch the deciding rubber. Here Boer and Wilson, after winning the first set 6-1, were defeated by Dunstan and Opie.

Thus Saints won one of the most exciting tennis contests between the two Schools by 8 rubbers to 7.

CRITIQUE OF TENNIS TEAM

(By the Captain)

Battye, G. R.—A consistent player. He has a good backhand, but should hit his service harder. His volleying should be more decisive.

Hiatt, S. G.—He must be congratulated on his fine play in the Intercollegiate match. His volleying and his overhead play are both great assets to him in doubles play. His backhand is safe but lacks pace, while his serving is erratic.

Solomon, M.—An unorthodox player whose consistency troubles most of his opponents. He uses his fine tossing with great effect. His forehand and volleying lack that little extra pace which would produce winners.

Boer, M. D.—He has a good service and good overhead strokes, but his ground shots are inconsistent. Poor form in Intercollegiate match obviously due to lack of practice.

Wilson, C. L.—With confidence, which practice will give, he should make a really good player. He has a good service and a good forehand drive. There is room, however, for improvement in his backhand. He should try to attack his opponent's weaknesses more.

Pfeiffer, R. D. (By G. R. B.).—Has captained the team well throughout the season. He is a forceful player with a powerful forehand drive; volleys well but his service and smash are erratic at times. Played a good game at the oval.

Intercollegiate Athletics

This year the annual athletics meeting between Saints and Princes was held on the Adelaide Oval on Wednesday, May 11th. The weather was threatening, but rain held off until after the completion of the programme. During the day only one record was equalled—that of the mile, in which G. R. Kelly (P.A.C.) ran brilliantly to equal a ten-year-old record. The rather slow times recorded in most events were not surprising, however, as the track was soft and not in its best condition.

The medals were presented by Mrs. Pentreath, wife of the Headmaster of St. Peter's. This was a departure from the usual practice of inviting the Governor or one of the heads of the Churches to perform this duty.

Two records of long voluntary service were announced by Mr. Pentreath. He pointed out that Mr. S. Talbot Smith had acted as referee at these meetings for the past twenty-nine years, while Mr. F. K. Gould had had charge of the starter's gun for twenty years. Both these gentlemen have our warmest thanks and admiration for the splendid way in which they have carried out their duties in these honorary capacities.

This meeting was the first occasion on which we have made use of a loud speaker to announce the results of events, and this proved of great assistance, enabling the spectators to follow more closely the progress of the broad and high jumps and the shot-putt. Mr. Mattingley acted as announcer.

Our thanks are due to Messrs. J. S. Steele and E. A. Wadham for the way they devoted themselves to supervising our training. Mr. Steele especially was never too busy to come out to practice every night, and gave us much valuable assistance. He worked tirelessly to work us up to our top form in the short time at our disposal.

Unfortunately, sickness interfered with training to some extent. Stain, owing to a heavy cold in the last week, was not quite at his best, and in the disastrous junior high jump, Harley, with leg injury, did not start.

It is worthy of note that, although we gained the greater number of first places, Saints won the contest by their persistence in obtaining the minor placings. They gained 27 places in all as against our 17.

Event 1—120 yards hurdles (seniors). 1, Dalwood (P.A.C.); 2, Robinson (S.P.S.C.); 3, Dunstan (S.P.S.C.). Time, 17 secs.

Dalwood, an under 16, is to be congratulated on winning a senior event in such good time. Dunstan, of Saints, was a little unlucky in not gaining second place, as he hit two hurdles fairly hard. Frost ran quite well in spite of an injury sustained at training.

S.P.S.C., 4 points; P.A.C., 5 points.

Event 2—100 yards flat (under 16). 1, Martin (P.A.C.); 2, Martin (S.P.S.C.); 3, Wallman (S.P.S.C.). Time, 11½ secs.

Martin, of P.A.C., led all the way and won fairly comfortably, with Saints filling second and third places.

S.P.S.C., 7 points; P.A.C., 9 points

Event 3—100 yards flat (seniors). 1, Aitken (S.P.S.C.); 2, Stain (P.A.C.); 3, Burchell (S.P.S.C.). Time, 11 secs.

Stain was ahead twenty yards from the tape, but Aitken finished magnificently and won by half a yard. Burchell was inches away in third place.

S.P.S.C., 13 points; P.A.C., 12 points.

Event 4—100 yards flat (juniors). 1, Bruce (S.P.S.C.); 2, Harley (P.A.C.); 3, Bavistock (S.P.S.C.). Time, 11½ secs.

Bruce, the outstanding junior this year, took the lead at the gun, and held off Harley to give Saints first place.

S.P.S.C., 18 points; P.A.C., 14 points.

Event 5—High jump (seniors). 1, McMichael (S.P.S.C.); 2, Robinson (S.P.S.C.) and Hiatt (P.A.C.) dead heat. Height, 5 ft. 5¼ in.

Thomson, of Saints, was eliminated first, followed by Dalwood and Solomon, who both failed to clear 5 ft. 2 in. The three placegetters all failed at 5 ft. 5½ in. at the first attempt. McMichael cleared it, however, but could go no higher.

S.P.S.C., 25 points; P.A.C., 16 points.

Event 6—100 yards flat (Old Scholars). 1, Craven (P.A.C.); 2, Edelman (P.A.C.); 3, Thompson (S.P.S.C.). Time, 10½ secs.

Craven ran brilliantly and won with some yards to spare from his team mate, Edelman.

Event 7—220 yards flat. 1, Stain (P.A.C.); 2, Robinson (S.P.S.C.); 3, Burchell (S.P.S.C.). Time, 23½ secs.

Stain won by three or four yards with St. Peter's once more filling the minor places. Reed (P.A.C.) was very close up fourth and narrowly missed third place. Unfortunately for Saints, their first string, Aitken, failed badly because of a leg injury, which was apparent after the hundred.

S.P.S.C., 29 points; P.A.C., 21 points.

Event 8—High jump (juniors). 1, Bruce (S.P.S.C.); 2, Nation (S.P.S.C.); and Hay (S.P.S.C.) dead heat. Height, 4 ft. 10½ in.

Our representatives failed badly here, and never looked like gaining a place. Bruce jumped well, however, and quite deserved his win.

S.P.S.C., 36 points; P.A.C., 21 points.

Event 9—Putting the weight. 1, Dunstan (S.P.S.C.); 2, Marshman (P.A.C.); 3, Gray (P.A.C.). Distance, 36 ft. 8¼ in.

Our boys excelled themselves in this event, as their performances greatly exceeded their efforts at practice. Marshman did very well, his best putt being only 4 in. behind that of Dunstan, the St. Peter's captain.

S.P.S.C., 41 points; P.A.C., 25 points.

Event 10—100 yards hurdles (under 16). 1, Dalwood (P.A.C.); 2, Wallman (S.P.S.C.); 3, Thomson (S.P.S.C.). Time, 14½ secs.

As was expected, Dalwood won this event very easily, but Saints again took the points for second and third in spite of a determined effort by Jorgensen.

S.P.S.C., 44 points; P.A.C., 29 points.

Event 11—Broad jump (seniors). 1, Stain (P.A.C.); 2, Tucker (S.P.S.C.); 3, Opie (S.P.S.C.). Distance, 20 ft. 4¾ in.

This was the first event after afternoon tea, and proved very interesting. Stain jumped 19 ft. 8 in. at his first attempt, and subsequently reached 20 ft. 3½ in. and 20 ft. 4¾ in., these being the three best jumps of the day. Tucker and Opie followed with 19 ft. 6½ in. and 19 ft. 5 in., respectively.

It was noticeable in the broad jumps that our opponents took much longer runs than we did.

S.P.S.C., 48 points; P.A.C., 34 points.

Event 12—Broad jump (under 16). 1, Martin (P.A.C.); 2, Clucas (S.P.S.C.); 3, Bartholomaeus (P.A.C.). Distance, 18 ft. 9 in.

Martin jumped very well and cleared 18 ft. 9 in., while Clucas failed to reach this distance by only 4½ in. Bartholomaeus filled third place for Princes.

S.P.S.C., 50 points; P.A.C., 39 points.

Event 13—440 yards flat (seniors). 1, Robinson (S.P.S.C.); 2, Stain (P.A.C.); 3, Walters (S.P.S.C.). Time, 54¾ secs.

This race was perhaps the most exciting of the day. Stain led Robinson into the straight by a small margin, and they battled up the straight side by side with neither gaining. Robinson made a final effort in the last few yards and won by inches only. Walters, on the outside track, ran a well-judged race to fill third place.

S.P.S.C., 56 points; P.A.C., 42 points.

Event 14—100 yards hurdles (juniors). 1, Hay (S.P.S.C.) and Harley (P.A.C.) dead heat; 3, Dunn (P.A.C.). Time, 14¾ secs.

Two hurdles from the finish, Hay was in the lead, but Harley hung on well and wore Hay down. The judges after some discussion decided it was a dead-heat. Dunn, hurdling well, ran into third place.

S.P.S.C., 59 points; P.A.C., 46 points.

Event 15—440 yards hurdles. 1, Robertson (S.P.S.C.); 2nd, Hoad

(P.A.C.); 3, Hiatt (P.A.C.). Time, 61-3/10 secs.

The fast time here was mainly due to Provis (P.A.C.), who acted as pacemaker and gave the others something to catch. Robertson finished too strongly for Hoad and Hiatt, and ran a well-judged race.

S.P.S.C., 64 points; P.A.C., 50 points.

Event 16—440 yards (under 16). 1, Jorgensen (P. A. C.); 2, Vanstone (S.P.S.C.); 3, Sawers (S.P.S.C.). Time, 58 secs.

Saints needed only one point for victory, and gaining second and third places here had won the cup. Jorgensen ran excellently and thoroughly deserved his first place.

S.P.S.C., 67 points; P.A.C., 54 points.

Event 17—One mile flat. 1, Kelly (P.A.C.); 2, Draper (S.P.S.C.); 3, Elliott (S.P.S.C.). Time, 4 min. 55 secs. Equals record.

Kelly led for the first lap, but dropped back to allow Kirkman (Princes) to pace the second. Kelly and Draper battled on in the lead, but Kelly finished with a burst of speed that left Draper standing. Kelly equalled the record time of 4 min. 55 secs. established by A. L. Ellis (S.P.S.C.) in 1928, and deserved his success, for he timed his race perfectly.

Solomon, last year's winner, was disappointing, but he was unable to train sufficiently for the event because of the rowing.

Final: S.P.S.C., 71 points; P.A.C., 59 points.

School Sports

On 21st May the School sports were held on the College Oval. We were favoured by excellent weather, and consequently a large crowd attended to watch the contests.

This year about the same number of boys were competitors for the College Cup. Stain ran very consistently, winning five out of seven events, and gaining second place in the other two events. Hoad was runner-up, but though he ran with rare determination had scarcely Stain's fleetness. Park and Provis did not do as well as the other two competitors, but nevertheless they did their part in making the cup contest interesting. The final points were: Stain, 31; Hoad, 20; Park, 12; Provis, 5.

Owing to the length of the programme it was found necessary to run off several events during the week. These were the under 14 high jump, junior high jump, under 16 high jump, senior high jump, 440 yds. hurdles, mile, and heats of the 440 yds. flat, 220 yds. flat, under 15 120 yds. flat, and under 16 120 yds. flat.

The handicapping in one or two events was very much astray. In the half-mile, for example, several members of the Upper Sixth were on the limit mark, and small fourth and fifth formers were seen toiling manfully in their wake. Two of the three placed men were "limit" men, and members of the top form in the School. Surely this was a merry jest on the part of the handicappers, who, like gods on Olympus, must have smiled to see puny mortals striving heroically but hopelessly.

Previously there has been no trophy for competition among under 16 runners of the School. These boys do not always have the chance to compete for a senior prize, and so the Games Committee decided to introduce an Under 16 Cup Competition on the same lines as the College Cup. Mr. H. S. Stain very kindly came forward and presented a cup for under 16 competitors. The honour of winning this cup went to P. A. Dalwood, who gained 11 points. Jorgensen was second with 9 points. Six boys competed for this cup, and the keen competition justified the wisdom of this innovation.

The juniors are now the only ones not provided with a cup for competition, and we hope that in the near future the Games Committee will see fit to introduce a Junior Cup Competition.

We take this opportunity of thanking all those gentlemen who officiated at the sports and who helped us by contributing so generously to the Prize Fund.

Mrs. H. S. Stain kindly consented to present the prizes, and after being introduced by the Headmaster she did so.

The individual results were:—

COLLEGE CUP EVENTS

Boarders' Notes

Although the year threatened to begin badly, the House has not been unduly affected by the paralysis epidemic which occurred during the latter part of the Christmas vacation and delayed the opening of school for six weeks. This year, although there are not quite as many boarders in the big School, there has been a slight increase in the numbers at the Prep. This has more or less made this year's numbers equal to those of last year.

We must congratulate K. H. Sampson on being appointed Head of the House, and J. G. Andrew, M. C. Bartholomaeus, D. R. Downing, W. J. Nicholls, A. E. Norman, R. D. Pfeiffer, B. A. Riggs, J. M. Shannon and A. R. Weetman on being made House Prefects. Sampson and Pfeiffer are to be congratulated on their appointment as School Prefects.

In games the House has been well represented. Pfeiffer has gained distinction by captaining this year's Intercollegiate tennis team. Others have kept the House to the fore by gaining places in the athletics team. They were G. G. Hoad, G. R. Kelly, J. M. Shannon, M. C. Bartholomaeus, R. J. Wilson, M. Bond and F. O. Hill. In the School sports Hoad was runner-up for the College Cup, and put up a praiseworthy performance, as did the other boarders who won events at the sports. The Head of the River events are to take place after School closes for the holidays. This is unfortunate, as those boarders living in distant parts of the State will not be present. We congratulate Shannon on being selected as stroke of the Eight, and P. F. Edwards as emergency. We wish the Eight the best of luck.

The epidemic has curtailed the number of exeats this term, though at Easter most of the boys went home for the vacation. The absence of leave has made the term seem rather long, and it was not till 21st May that a welcome change hove in sight. A party was held on the day of the School sports, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Our thanks are due to the Headmaster for allowing us to hold the party and to Mrs. Ward and Matron for the supper and novelties which they provided for us. The masters helped us out well by acting as Masters of Ceremonies and by running the games and competitions. We, as a House, are looking forward to next term when, we hope, our routine will run along the normal lines once more.

We should like to know—

1. Who are our spiritualists?
2. Who, in the boarding house, employs a butler?
3. What brand of tanglefoot is there in the house this year?
4. Is February the month for German strawberries?
5. What relation has "alpha the common root" to mathematics?
6. Which is correct? "Parking places for cars" or "Cars for parking places."

B. N. C.

We are pleased to record that the Memorial Library has been well used during this term, and that unnecessary talking is on the wane.

Many new books have been added to our collection, and the position of some has been changed because of the expansion of certain sections. Notable among those lately acquired are a number of Latin and Greek books given by the family of the late Mr. W. R. Bayly, and several other good ones, mainly concerned with English Literature, which Miss H. M. Dowie very kindly presented. At the beginning of the year the Commercial Travellers' Association played a cricket match on our oval, and asked to be allowed to present several volumes. We wish to thank these and all others who have been good enough to present books to the Library, and assure them that their gifts are very useful to us in our studies.

The following is a list of the additions made during this term:

English Literature

1. "Works of Milton" (Beeching).
2. "Poetical Works of Sir Walter Scott."
3. "On the Study of Words" (A. Smythe).
4. "Gallipoli" (Masefield).
5. "Works of Dryden."
6. "Book of Humorous Poetry."
7. "Works of Tennyson."

[All presented by Miss H. M. Dowie.]

8. "The Essential Shakespeare" (Dover Wilson).
[Presented by the Commercial Travellers' Association.]

Classics

1. "Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities" (William Smith).
2. "Greek-English Lexicon" (Liddell and Scott).
3. "The Tragedies of Euripides Translated" (T. A. Buckley).
4. "Homer's 'Iliad'" (T. K. Arnold).
5. "Life in Ancient Athens" (T. G. Tucker).
6. "A Smaller Classical Dictionary" (William Smith).
7. "Translation of Thucydides" (H. Dale).
8. "Homeric Lexicon" (Arnold).
9. "The Comedies of Aristophanes Translated" (W. J. Hickie).
10. "Works of Plato Translated" (H. Carey).
11. "English-Greek Lexicon" (C. D. Yonge).
12. "The Genius of the Greek Drama" (C. E. Robinson).
13. "The Pageant of Greece" (R. W. Livingstone).
14. "Complete Works of Horace."
15. "Translation of the Works of Vergil" (Davidson).
16. "Comedies of Terence and Fables of Phaedrus Translated" (H. T. Riley).
17. "Cæsar's Commentaries on the Gallic and Civil Wars Translated" (H. T. Riley).

18. "Dialogues on Roman Life." (S. E. Winbolt).
 19. "Res Romanac" (E. P. Coleridge).
 20. "Works of Livy Translated" (D. Spillan).
 21. "History of Tacitus" (Church and Brodribb).
 22. "Works of Tacitus" (Dr. Smith).
 23. "Cicero's Orations" (Yonge).
 24. "Comedies of Plautus Translated" (Riley).
 25. "History of Tacitus" (Simcox).
 26. "Letters of Pliny Translated" (Bosanquet).
 27. "Lucretius' 'De Rerum Natura' Translated" (Watson).
 28. "Specimens of Roman Literature" (Crutwell and Bauton).
 29. "Cicero's Orations Translated" (Yonge).
 30. "Latin Grammar" (Lindsay).
 31. "Manual of Roman Antiquities" (Ramsay and Lanciani).
- [All presented by Mrs. W. R. Bayly.]

32. "Stories from Homer" (Church).
[Presented by Miss H. M. Dowie.]

History

1. "A Smaller History of Rome" (William Smith).
2. "A History of Rome for Beginners" (E. S. Shuckburgh).
3. "A Smaller History of Greece" (William Smith).
[All presented by Mrs. W. R. Bayly.]

Science

1. "Science for All" (compiled by the "Advertiser" Newspapers Limited).

Prefects' Jottings

This year Stain was appointed Captain of the School, and Sampson Head of the Boarding House. We congratulate them and feel sure that they will do their best to fill these responsible positions.

The prefects were well represented in sport this term. Pfeiffer was elected captain of the tennis, Stain captain of athletics, and Solomon captain of the boats. Solomon also played in the tennis, and Stain, Marshman, Gray, Solomon and Provis gained places in the athletics team. Three of our number, Solomon, Marshman and Gray, are members of the eight. We are reminded of this when we see them shovelling glucose into their systems after school. It is a strange thing, but other prefects seem to have acquired a taste for this stuff, and no doubt by the end of the term we shall look like a wrestling team instead of a sedate body of young men.

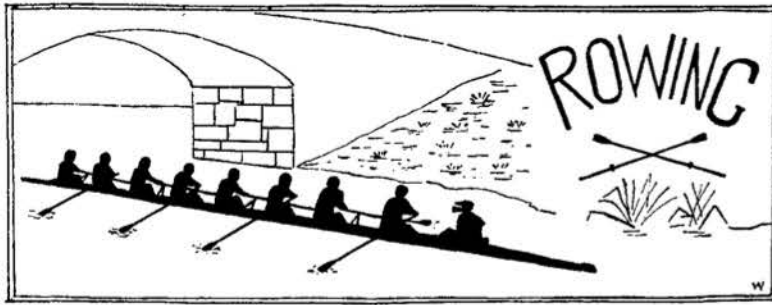

However, we are by no means entirely a sporting group, for the first five places in VIu are held by prefects, with Hughes dux of the School for this term. One of these learned members impresses us greatly by quoting Latin and Greek proverbs to us.

This year we decided to make all new boys learn the School songs. No sooner do we settle down to a quiet lunch-hour than someone tells us that there are several new boys waiting to recite songs. So with pasty in hand we go out to hear them struggle with the weird words that constitute a war-cry. But now we can happily report that at least the prefects know the School songs.

Finally, we wish to express our regret that Alex. Gray found it necessary to sell "The Flying Ice-box." Designed jointly by Lord Nuffield and A. F. Gray, that car (?) brings back many memories to both us and its former owner, for shall we ever forget the morning when one of the front wheels fell off? Rumour has it that he gave someone five pounds to cart the thing away, but we know this is not true, for the tyres must have been worth at least ten shillings.

D. F. P.

We have just completed the most difficult and yet the most successful rowing term we have had; the most difficult because of the unavoidable delay in opening School, and the consequent postponement of the Public Schools' Regatta, and the most successful because of the valuable gifts made to our club, the large number of boys who rowed, and our successes in competition.

For several years we have been greatly handicapped by a shortage of tub boats in which to teach the large numbers of beginners who come to our shed. Every season we have lost twenty or more of these lads whom we have needed in our crews. During the vacation Mr. A. E. McLean put the position to a number of the supporters of the School and met with a gratifying response.

Mrs. Edgar Michell, of Fitzroy, whose son, Mr. K. R. Michell, is an Old Boy, very generously donated a tub four boat in memory of her late husband, whose interest in the School is well remembered. An order was immediately placed with Mr. H. Louder for the construction of the boat from the choicest cedar and spruce, and on March 15 Mrs. Michell came to the river to see it launched. It is an excellent boat, and should serve the club well for a very long time. The School is most grateful to Mrs. Michell for her gift, which, bearing as it does the name "Edgar Michell," will be a constant reminder of the close interest which the Michell family has taken in the School.

A number of Old Boys and supporters joined together in donating a second tub four, which will be completed in August, and to them the School offers its grateful thanks. They are Messrs. H. E. Fre-burg, M. J. Shannon and F. Royal, Dr. H. Rischbeith, Messrs. H. W. A. Miller, C. J. Glover, C. S. Claridge and E. F. Hamilton.

This boat will be the third of its kind to be added to our fleet and will be of great value to us.

THE TERM'S ROWING

As the date set down for the Public Schools' Regatta was 9th April, the boys available were brought together to practise in the Eight from the first week in February. Only light work was done for the first fortnight, but as the crew showed promise it was entered in the Maiden Eights event at the Henley-on-Torrens Regatta held on 26th February. A few sprints and two courses served to bring the crew on well, and in the final race the boys defeated University by almost a length. The crew was seated as follows:

Bow	J. K. Marshman
2	P. G. Sullivan
3	L. H. Kirkman
4	A. F. Gray
5	G. B. Black
6	P. J. Claridge
7	M. Solomon
Stroke	J. M. Shannon
Cox	R. H. Turner

After a week's spell the crew was then brought into serious training to prepare it for the Championship Junior Eights to be rowed over a course of two miles at Port Adelaide. Buttery, who had been unwell, was now in the crew, Sullivan being emergency.

Continuously rough conditions were met with at the Port, but the crew did splendid work, and was certain to give a good account of itself. Unfortunately, the starter left our boys at the post, sending them off after their competitors had covered four lengths. Nevertheless, the crew rowed well, gaining considerably on all crews except the winners, Port Pirie. Though disappointing in some respects, the experience proved valuable.

After another break, light training was resumed, but the decision to hold the School's Regatta on 28th May necessitated a fortnight's spell. These interruptions in the training made the work of the coaches very difficult.

By this time the other crews were in training and did good work in the first month of the term. The regatta held when the boats were named proved especially valuable to them.

Unfortunately, a few days before the regatta, J. C. Whitehouse, who was doing splendid work as stroke of the Under 15 crew, fell ill, and J. N. Close, who was still under 15, was called on at the last minute to stroke both under age crews, a responsibility which he cheerfully accepted.

Early in May the Eight again took up light work, and after hard training in the next to last week, and a few sprints during the last few days, was ready for the Head of the River Regatta.

A fortnight before the Regatta the Eight was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McLean at a picture evening, at which films of the crew at work were screened and valuable instruction given. Mr. T. K. Qurban, the coach of the King's Cup Crew, very kindly showed and commended upon some of his films, giving valuable advice.

The last week-end was, thanks to the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Turner, spent in a cottage at Seacliff, where the crew was able to relax completely. The club is deeply grateful for the help given in this way.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS' REGATTA

The morning was very pleasant, but by mid-day threatening clouds gathered, and an hour after the regatta commenced rain started to fall, frequent showers making conditions unpleasant for the spectators and difficult for the crews.

UNDER FIFTEEN

We were fortunate this year in being able to enter a crew in every event. Our first appearance in the Regatta was in the Under 15 event, in which we met Saints. The crew rowed well, and won its heat by two lengths. In the final it met Scotch, to whom it lost by two feet after a great race.

The crew was as follows:

Bow	I. H. Hobbs
2	D. L. Waxman
3	M. G. Western
Stroke	J. N. Close
Cox	A. W. Crompton

UNDER SIXTEEN

The Under 16 crew was equally successful in its heat against Scotch, winning comfortably by two and a quarter lengths. In the final it met Saints, who had defeated High School. The short interval of ten minutes between the final of the Under 15 and Under 16 events made Close's task very difficult, and the crew lost by two lengths. Those in the crew were:

Bow	G. D. Stokes
2	R. E. Gryst
3	R. D. Keller
Stroke	J. N. Close
Cox	D. H. Buttery

Both these under age crews are to be congratulated on their efforts.

OPEN SLIDES

After many setbacks and alterations of the crew because of sickness, the Open Slides crew was boated as follows:

Bow	F. H. Voss
2	J. H. Lavis
3	L. E. Thurston
Stroke	R. G. Schulze
Cox	B. C. Dixon

Rowing with great determination against A.H.S. in the second heat the crew won by one and a quarter lengths. In the final it made a splendid effort against Scotch, who had defeated Saints in the first heat, and had a length to spare at the finish. The crew is to be heartily congratulated.

SECOND CREW

It is not often that we can boat a crew in a Clinker Four, but this year we managed it. Though quite light, the crew always rowed powerfully and with dash, and succeeded in winning the first heat of the Second Crews' event from A.H.S. by a length. In the final it met Saints, who had rowed a bye. It was a great race. Starting from the northern position, the crew quickly drew alongside Saints, and settled down to a long tussle. Sullivan stroked the crew with great spirit, and was backed up by every boy behind him. At Morphett Street our crew was slightly in the lead and held off repeated challenges by Saints. At Long's Point, Princes were half a length in the lead, and finishing strongly went away from Saints to win by a length. It was an excellent performance.

Their victory meant that the Wallman Trophy, presented for the first time in the Second Crews' Race, came to the School.

The crew was as follows:

Bow	D. J. Guppy
2	R. P. Woollard
3	P. F. Edwards
Stroke	P. G. Sullivan
Cox	D. N. Kirkman

"HEAD OF THE RIVER" EIGHTS

Our Eight had had a very broken period of training, but came up on the day fit and well. In the first heat the crew met A.H.S., having drawn south side. From a powerful start the crew went straight out to a lead of a third of a length, which it maintained at a steady 36. Rowing splendidly together, and well within themselves, the boys came out of Morphett Street about the same distance ahead of A.H.S., and did not raise the rating till opposite Long Point, where Shannon called for a dozen, which took the crew to a lead of a clear length, which it maintained at 36 to the finish, completing the course in 3 min. 1 sec.

In the final the crew met Saints, who had defeated Scotch by half a length in 3 min. 2 sec. The start was perfect, and our boys shot into the lead, but the starter required both crews to go back, and after a little delay they were sent off again. Again our boys took the lead from the heavy Saint's crew, and near Morphett Street, where Turner took the bend splendidly, they were about three-quarters of a length ahead. From there Saints made a determined bid, but our crew was rowing in good form, which it maintained to the last stroke. Shannon was unruffled by the repeated challenges, and did not quicken until he reached Long's Point, where the whole crew jumped into the work, and rowing with vim resisted Saint's final challenge to win by half a canvas. It was a great race, such as we have come to expect whenever the two School crews meet. Changed conditions militated against fast time being made, the crews taking 3 min. 8 sec.

This victory retained for us the Gosse and Blackmore Shields.

His Excellency the Governor very kindly attended the latter part of the Regatta, and presented the trophies from the Rotunda. Solomon, as captain, stepped up to receive the Gosse Shield, while Shannon, as vice-captain and stroke, took the Blackmore, and Sullivan the Wallman Trophy.

It was a great day for us. We won all five heats and the finals of the three senior events. Much of the credit for our success goes to Shannon, who stroked the Eight to victory, and to Solomon, who as an experienced seven proved invaluable, not only in the races but all through the term.

Mr. A. E. McLean and Mr. L. G. Forrestal have spent a great deal of their time coaching the Eight and Clinker, and their combined efforts resulted in both crews winning. Mr. M. A. P. Mattingley has put endless energy into coaching the junior crews, which won four of their six races.

In the evening Mr. M. J. Shannon, the father of the stroke, entertained the Headmaster, the Eight and their fathers, the coaches, and Messrs. W. O. Menz, J. C. Williams, J. C. Walter and R. R. Williams at dinner, and afterwards at the theatre. He also generously donated a cup to every member of the Eight. Mr. Shannon's kindness is greatly appreciated.

Our thanks are due to many others: to the Headmaster for his help and encouragement; to Messrs. B. K. Marshman, C. S. Claridge and E. F. Hamilton, and Mrs. BATTERY for providing us with transport; to Messrs. A. F. Gregory, J. C.

Williams, J. C. Walter, R. K. Dunn, R. A. Wegener and R. W. Oliver for rowing with the crew; to the Port Adelaide Rowing Club for many kindnesses; and to a great many friends and Old Boys for encouragement and help in various ways. We hope that they have had as much satisfaction from the term's rowing as we have.

CRITIQUE OF THE EIGHT

Marshman, J. K. (Bow)—He is a neat, clean oarsman, with a remarkably good leg drive, and invaluable in the bow, where he kept the boat trimmed and steady.

Kirkman, L. H. (2)—He improved remarkably during training, rowing a strong, clean blade, but still tends to be short forward.

Black, G. B. (3)—One of the most improved oarsmen in the crew, he rows with great power, ripping the blade through, but tends to be heavy handed when forward.

Gray, A. F. (4)—The least experienced of the crew, he trained with real determination and has developed into a valuable oarsman. He is still a little slow off the stretcher and should strengthen his finish.

Buttery, R. H. (5)—In build he is almost an ideal No. 5, and can row with real skill, but is inclined to be slow in recovery and a fraction late at the catch.

Claridge, P. J. (6)—An oarsman with great fighting spirit, he is always there when the pressure is on. He has a powerful leg drive but is sometimes rather heavy with his hands when forward.

Solomon, M. (7)—The most experienced oarsman in the boat, he was ideally placed. He rows powerfully and with rare polish, and by reason of his coolness and sound judgment is an inspiration to the whole crew.

Shannon, J. M. (Stroke)—Following Williams of last year, he had a difficult place to fill, but quickly won the confidence of his crew and stroke coolly and well.

Turner, R. H. (Coxswain)—He is the most experienced Coxswain we have had, possessing excellent judgment, the ability to steer accurately and well, and able to get the last ounce out of his crew.

Naming the Fleet of Boats

On Saturday afternoon, 30th April, a happy and interesting ceremony took place at the boat-shed on the banks of the Torrens. All the boats, nine in number, were christened in the presence of a large crowd.

The Headmaster, Mr. Ward, told the gathering that Mrs. Bayly would name a practice "eight" the "W. R. Bayly," in honour of her husband, who had always taken a great interest in rowing. As it was the enthusiasm of the Old Scholars that had made it possible for the School to have a boat-shed and a fleet of boats, it was felt desirable to honour certain gentlemen, and three names had special significance in this direction. They were A. G. Collison, L. B. Shuttleworth, and H. W. A. Miller, who for so long had rendered such splendid service to the Old Scholars' Association and to the School. Mrs. Michell, who recently presented a "four" to the rowing club, would be asked to name it the "Edgar Michell," after her late husband. Another boat, continued the Head, would be named after the late Owen Crompton, whose family had had such a long association with the School. The two masters who had been in charge of rowing since its revival in 1929, were also to be remembered, Messrs. F. L. Tomlinson and A. E. McLean. Lastly, there was the racing eight which would be called the "Prince Alfred."

Each boat was then carried by its crew from the shed and laid upon the trestles, where it was christened. The ladies who took part at this stage of the function were Mrs. Bayly, Mrs. Shuttleworth, Miss Collison, Mrs. Trott, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Michell, Mrs. J. Crompton and Mrs. McLean, each being introduced by the Headmaster. We should like to express our thanks to them for their co-operation.

After the ceremony there was a parade of boats on the river, a number of races—accompanied by a commentary from Mr.

J. Crompton at the amplifier—and then afternoon tea was served in the University boat-shed. It was, as the press reporter observed, "a formidable demonstration of the enthusiasm and strength of both the numbers of boys taking part in the sport at Princes and the interest of the parents in the rowing club."

RESULTS

The Eight defeated an Old Boys' Eight by one length.

The Clinker Four defeated an Old Boys' crew by two lengths.

Western's crew defeated Whitehouse's crew (2nd) and Schulze's crew (3rd) by half a length.

Senior Fours

Claridge's crew defeated Shannon's by three feet.

Sullivan's crew defeated Claridge's by three-quarters of a length.

Senior-Junior Fours

Schulze's crew defeated Western's by one and a half lengths.

Woollard's crew defeated Schulze's by six feet.

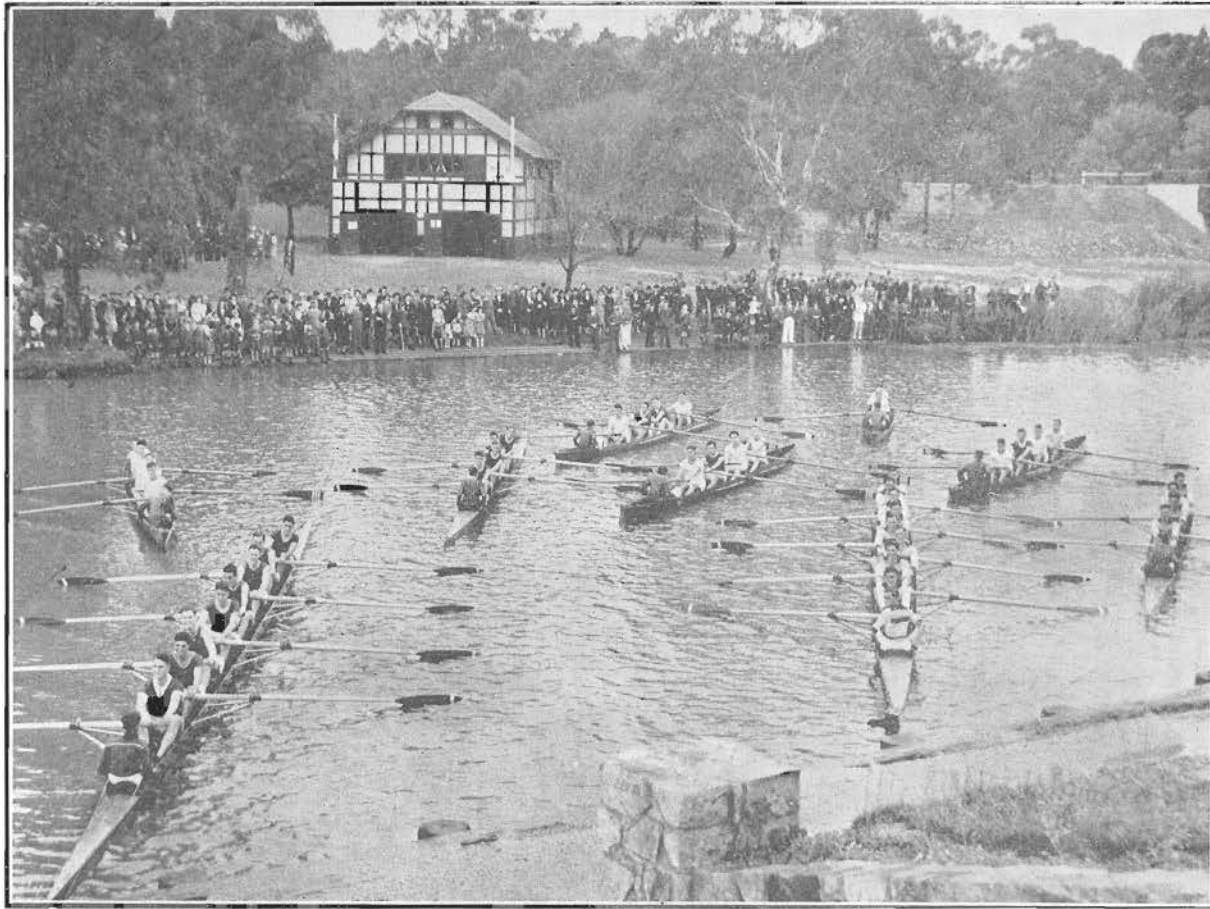

Junior Fours

Gryst's crew defeated Whitehouse's by two feet.

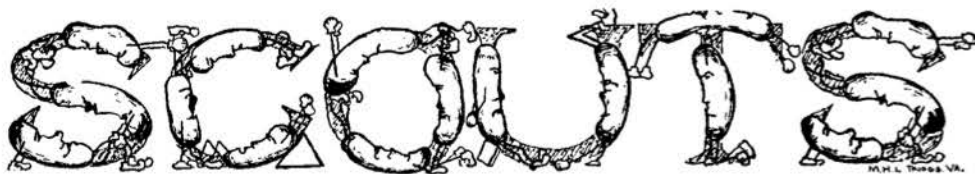

Sullivan's crew was required to concede three lengths to Woollard's crew when each rowed a bye in its own division, Woollard's crew winning by a foot.

MRS. WARD NAMES THE "PRINCE ALFRED"

OUR FLEET OF BOATS

When School resumed, and the first parade was held, the number of boys who were present led us to believe that there would be a small troop, but gradually recruits have come in until now the troop contains thirty-two members. Most of the new members are recruits, and are young boys, whose scouting will not conflict with other School activities. The Preparatory School supplies nine of the new members.

The patrols have been cut down in number to four, and in charge of them are: Kangaroos, J. C. Jennison; Eagles, S. W. Howland; Magpies, E. C. Forsyth; and Woodpeckers, D. R. Newman. The patrol leaders have chosen as their seconds, I. W. Dickson, T. H. Allen, R. W. Peters and J. P. Keeves.

All the recruits have passed their Tenderfoot test, and three boys are to be congratulated on obtaining their second-class badges.

At Easter time a small party visited the Scout shack at Bridgewater. Three of the party hiked up from Mitcham, and after wandering by devious ways managed to stray from the narrow and not so straight path and lose themselves. A detour to Loftia Park, however, gave them directions for continuing their journey and a couple of extra miles to traverse.

Fishing lines were taken for the first time in the history of the shack, but all the party got was a wet week-end and no fish. Rain set in on Friday night and stopped only once in two days. Occasionally it hailed.

Despite the inclement weather everybody enjoyed himself. Gilberton Troop, who were camped about a mile away, on the banks of Cox's Creek, were not so fortunate. They were forced to break camp on Sunday night and join us in the shack, which managed to keep out most of the six inches of rain that fell.

Another camp is to be held at the shack during the first week-end of the holiday. About half the troop will be present, so with the consent of Jupiter Pluvius we should have quite an enjoyable time.

Cadet Corps

Our work this year has been retarded by the late opening of the school year and also by the fact that most of our non-coms. left school at the end of 1937. An encouraging number of recruits joined up in March, so that our strength is now 75, and we continue to function as a three-platoon organisation. All the recruits were drafted to platoons 2 and 3.

The fitting and supplying of uniforms was scarcely completed in time for the Anzac Day Parade, but we turned out strongly for the wettest Anzac Day on record. By remaining under shelter until the last possible moment we escaped the drenching showers which soaked the militia units, and we were able to march through King William Street dry clad if not dry shod. Under the circumstances the bearing of the new recruits was excellent.

Towards the end of the term staff officers examined a number of candidates for promotion, and as a result twelve succeeded in qualifying for the rank of corporal. They were: A. R. Weetman, R. D. G. Reed, A. F. Gray, R. P. Woolard, P. M. Williams, V. L. Hawke, R. H. Buttery, P. J. Claridge, H. W. Linn, D. F. Provis, D. R. Downing, G. B. Black. That so many are seeking promotion is a good sign, but it is pointed out that only a thorough grasp of the work will give the necessary confidence which is looked for in a leader. In future Military Headquarters will issue certificates to those who pass such examinations.

During the first week of the vacation a five-day school for cadet officers and non-coms. was held at Keswick Barracks, the chief instructor being Major C. E. Prior. Lack of funds limited the number of vacancies allotted to each school, but we had no difficulty in filling our quota. In spite of wintry conditions and an unauthorised issue of mud all agreed that the camp was a great success. The messing arrangements were excellent, and an issue of military boots enabled us to combat wet and mud without discomfort.

On the Thursday evening we were shown a film, "The Fighting Patrol," which depicted very clearly the work of a platoon which had been given a definite task. On the final afternoon of the school we were inspected by Brigadier Martyn, and then marched past. For the rest of the afternoon we suffered the throes of an examination, and afterwards, chastened in spirit, retired to lick our wounds.

"And now I'll do it!"

Woodwork and Its Value

With the introduction of woodwork to the curriculum comes a new phase in the life of the School.

Woodwork certainly is a definite means of education. It has as subsidiary aims the sponsoring of an interest in manual work in general, and the teaching of a hobby, but the chief aim is to develop co-ordination between thought and action: to train the hand to work in conjunction with the eye; to develop that mental characteristic whereby thoughts are translated into actions.

Ours is a world of action. Dreamers have their places, but for every dreamer we need a multitude of doers. It was Carlyle who said, "Produce! Produce! If it is but the infinitesimal fraction of a product, in God's name produce it."

To succeed in this life we must study, and study hard. We must read of the lives and works of great and virtuous men. But it is not sufficient that we should read. We must endeavour to follow their lead. We must apply the knowledge gained from reading of their experiences and carry out experiments for ourselves. It is only in this way that we can assist in the progress of civilisation.

Subjects such as physics and chemistry encourage in us this incentive to experiment, to find out for ourselves the laws of the universe. Many contend, however, that manual training in some form is essential for a thorough, all-round education.

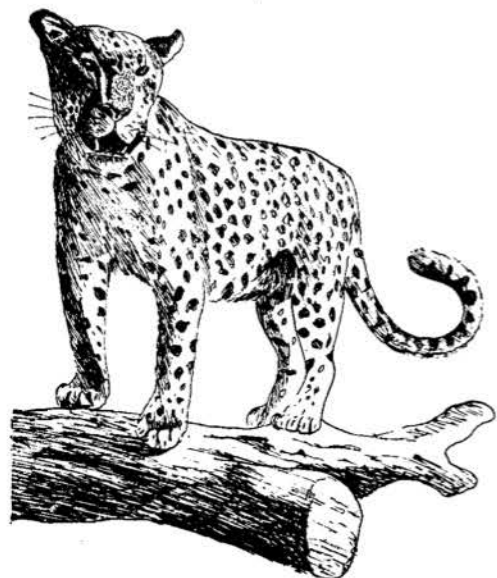

Working in wood or metal provides a real opportunity to produce and to create. It fosters imagination, initiative and æsthetic appreciation. It develops perseverance, accuracy, creative ability, and manual dexterity. Above all, it develops the "motor centres" of the brain.

Woodwork is only remotely related to carpentry and allied trades in that the tools and materials used are much the same. In woodwork, however, we are not concerned so much with the finished product as with the "method" by which it is produced. It is the training involved—mental, moral and physical—which is of so much importance.

The lad who has completed a course in woodwork will have no claim to be called a carpenter or cabinet maker, but he will have laid a foundation that will be of the utmost value to him whether he becomes a farmer, a surgeon, a clerk, a carpenter, or enters any other branch of useful human activity.

"Let the youth at once learn to take a straight shaving off a plank, or draw a fine curve without faltering, or lay a brick level in its mortar, and he has learned a multitude of other matters which no lips could ever teach him."
—Ruskin.

Argument—On Thursday, 19th May, as we were sitting on the balcony during an economics lesson, the master being away for a short time, the waters of the rowing-tank were noticed to be in motion, whereupon two went to discover the cause of this, and finding therein a dog they rescued it. On which subject, at Mr. Mutton's suggestion, the author has written the following lines, which he though all unworthy, respectfully dedicates to the greatest of epic poets, Homer.

The earth was bathed in Phœbus' glorious rays,
And round about the entrance of the cave
A group of fair young men sat, studying
The noble science "household ruling" called.
Before them, sitting upright on their bench,
With book in hand was Chiron, teaching them,
Whose ravings economic poured forth
Have brought sweet sleep to many a school-boy's eyes.

And then it him behoved from us to part,
And we were left alone a little while,
In which respite from long and painful toil
One of our band espied not far away,
He of good counsel, noble Kirkman's son,
A splashing of the waters of yon stream,
Whose sweet, pure odour spreads the land around,
As running down from mountain-top to sea
Past our fair cave its course is wont to make.
Then thinking in that stream one might be found
Who had not means or strength but will to swim,
And fearing lest for Hermes there should be
One more to lead to Hades' dusky realm,
He of good counsel, noble Kirkman's son,
Before our mind with speed his thought brought down,
And thus did speak to us in winged words:

Dear friend, see you in yonder stream a form,
As if with toil and labour greatly spent,
Like Heracles, who of great Zeus was born,
When having cleansed the filthy stalls at Elis,
Whose king three thousand oxen in them kept,
Uncleaned for thirty years, he weary was?
Methinks of us two noble youth should go
To see if helpful aid we there may offer.

Thus spake brave Lauri, whose eagle-glinting eye
The first had been to see this woeful sight,
And straightway he who next to him was seated,
E'en Venables of Holland the fair son,
Uprose and to the other's plan agreed.
Then light of foot along the path they sped,
And down the winding track towards the stream;
They hastened o'er a meadow wide and green,
Until upon the river's bank they came,
Where, struggling in the wild and stormy waters,
They saw, poor thing—nor heav'n would not him help,
Who many years before the gods enraged
By deeds unworthy—Bonzo named, a dog.

Whom Zeus regarding from the glorious heights
Of Mount Olympus, where he reigns supreme,
And those desiring him to service do,
Sent Hermes, swift of foot, with winged cap,
To fly from his abode through ether clear,
And coming to Prince Alfred's happy realm.
To find the stream wherein there was in grief,
Th' Eumenides whom troubled, one whose name
Of all the best is for a dog, I deem;
Whom having come to he must counsel give,
That near at hand are they who will him save.
So from the heights of many-peaked Olymp
Came Hermes, he whose task it is to do
Whate'er the gods command, and flying far
And over many lands at last he saw
Hard by the Centaur's cave, and near at hand
The wide and roaring torrent of the flood, Whose mighty waters spread from shore to shore,
As from the mountain-top it swiftly foams
Towards the open sea, where with his trident
Earth's mover, and the fruitless ocean's king,
That Helicon and th' Aegean deep dost hold,
Great Poseidon, of Zeus the father's son,
In gladness rules within his watery realms.
Thus flying low unto this stream he came,
Brave Hermes, swift of foot, with winged cap,
Who, finding Bonzo struggling in the deep,
With accents clear and friendly thus addressed:

Good Bonz, whom though thou hast much sinned before
Kind Zeus of boundless mercy hath forgiv'n,
Give here thine ear, I shall a tale unfold

Which fresh hope to thy weary heart will bring.

For on the bank of this great roaring torrent
Now stand two noble students, who have come
To rescue thee from out his fatal grasp,
If thou wilt but towards them bend thy course.

This wise messenger thus spake he, and ere
In winged flight returned to heav'n afar
Above that fruitful land around he flew
To see whate'er therein was carried out,
Which pleased him greatly, since he saw and heard

Both here and there in useful labour toiling,
Who fortunate within this land did dwell,
From Chiron and his sort great things to learn,
To strengthen and to bless for years to come.
Pleased by this sight of earnest ones preparing
Great Zeus to serve, he to the stream returned,
Where meanwhile, many efforts unavailing,
At last affrighted Bonzo they had saved
By hauling with their weight upon the band
Around his neck which lies, and him had placed Rejoicing on dry land. Whom having shaken
Himself by which the water to remove,
They left, and went away, these to the cave
to learn,
And he, the son of Atlas, to Olympus did return.

ODE TO THE FLYING ICE-BOX

[With apologies to A. F. G. and A. J. H. G.]

Brave Frederick's brow is darkened,
No more we'll hear him say,
"She's as flat as a boarding-house pudding;"
For they've taken his chariot away.

The light of his life has vanished
Like the dew in the midday sun;
And we miss its whine in "bottom"
As we piled on one by one.

Pride of a famous designer,
Joy of its owner's heart;
Its pick-up was ever its glory,
And driving it was an art.

Once in the distant ages
Its brakes were known to act,
But now he slows down to stop,
Or grimly waits for impact.

A wheel fell off one morning
To the peril of limb and life,
For the axle and wheel had parted
After months of mighty strife.

Gleaming white was its body colour,
Its upholstery shone bright red;
It was really a keen supporter
Of its owner's school, Alf Fred.

A pardonable error was thinking
That one was leading a band,
For oft one was told to "swing it!"
When a tool was thrust in his hand.

It would dream through the hours of school-time
As docile as any white lamb,
And then it would charge o'er the gravel
Not caring a twopenny —

Rumour has it he sold it;
Some think he gave it away;
Yet another theory maintains
He paid them to take it away.

So no more we'll hear the roar
Of its vibrant battle song;
We'll shed a tear and strive to cheer
Our Frederick brave and strong.

THE ARM OF THE LAW

One may ask whether the human race is the only race which keeps policemen to uphold the law. We are able to dispute this fact when we realise that flies also employ some of their number to arrest wrong-doers.

One can actually watch these "policemen-flies" at their work in a River Murray fruit-shed where hands are cutting apricots for drying. They settle near some favourite haunt and pounce upon the nearest offender. There follows a short tussle ending in victory to the arm of the law, who, with a triumphant buzz, carries his prey off to the "lock-up," where it is supposed the law breaker duly serves his sentence with hard labour for misbehaviour.

One can examine these "policemen" closely only on imprisoning one beneath a half an apricot and then coating him with juice, thus sticking him fast, fit for observation. It is seen that he is slightly larger than the common fly, being provided with two feelers at the front, and a sting at the rear. He is very efficient at his job, and on seeing flies made drunk by excessive consumption of fruit juice he shows his contempt for them by his rough handling.

After seeing these stout fellows at work, one wonders whether any crime would exist if the policemen of today were as capable in executing their duties.

A. E. N.

The boys are tense and silent, and the atmosphere is strained,
For the master full of righteous wrath has heatedly exclaimed,
"Come here, my boy, and follow me,
I tire of your frivolity."

I see the master's gleaming eye, and hear the creaks of chairs,
As out the door I slowly pass, 'midst sympathetic stares.
I know full well the dreadful fate
Which in his study doth await.

The cane is falling rhythmically, and causing me much pain,
And as it falls I make a vow to never err again.
"That's all, my boy. Come, follow me.
You've paid for your frivolity."

AN UNDERGROUND TOWN

In the opal fields near the Stuart Ranges, in Central Australia, is a small mining town by the name of Coober Pedy. This town derives its name from a native word, meaning a "hole in the ground."

Leaving the Adelaide Railway Station by the East-West Express, a person has a long railway journey of four hundred and seventy miles ahead of him. The train does not go to Coober Pedy, but to Kingoonya, two hundred miles away.

When one reaches this small town of Coober Pedy, with its population of about one hundred and sixty people, he notices that there are no houses built of wood or brick.

The people live in dugouts made in the sides of the hills. These are cool in summer months, and warm in the winter, and are well ventilated,

The post office, bank, hospital and general store are similarly built, either being cut out of a hill or made underground.

Unfortunately, the summer is very hot, and most of the inhabitants have to return to Adelaide.

In order to avoid water trouble, a storage tank, with a capacity of 500,000 gallons, has been erected.

Although there are no police, hotels, churches, doctors, clergymen, or telephones, the people live a very contented life.

THE SONG OF THE FROGS

On summer evenings, clear and cool,
We sing our songs in every pool—
Brekeke—kek—co—ax!
All through the night, both far and near,
Hark to our call, so loud and clear—
Brekeke—kek—co—ax—co—ax!
Brekeke—kek—co—ax!

In winter, in the earth we sleep,
In spring, out of our beds we creep—
Brekeke—kek—co—ax!
And then our fun begins once more;
We dive and croak, just as before—
Brekeke—kek—co—ax—co—ax!
Brekeke—kek—co—ax!

With flop and splash in the ponds we dive,
And 'neath the reeds we mate and wive—
Brekeke—kek—co—ax!
But if some unknown foe draws near,
Without a sound we disappear—
Brekeke—kek—co—ax—co—ax!
Brekeke—kek—co—ax!

A COUNTRY SCENE

The winding brook
Goes gurgling by,
And leafy trees
They wave and sigh.

The fleecy clouds
Go scudding past;
I watch them till
They fade at last.

The North wind blows
The leaves around,
And moves the grass
Upon the ground.

The golden sun
Sinks in the West,
While all the birds
Fly home to rest.

AN EASTER HOLIDAY

Recently I spent a very enjoyable holiday at Encounter Bay with some friends. We left on Thursday afternoon, and had our tea in the car, arriving after dark owing to engine trouble. We were to camp in a shack, but my friend and I slept in a small galvanized iron lean-to at the side.

After about half-an-hour's unpacking we made our beds and settled in them, although mine was by no means comfortable. I went to sleep very soon, however, and awoke at about six o'clock next morning. As soon as I was dressed I walked to the jetty with my friend, and by the time we arrived back for breakfast our appetites had become keen. That morning we went to Port Elliot in the car, and had some very enjoyable surfing. There was quite a high sea and I was thrown from my feet several times to find myself washed high and dry on the beach. We had our lunch and left for Victor Harbour. By this time the sea was still higher and we realized that a storm was brewing.

I went to bed feeling rather uneasy, but I soon dropped off to sleep. About one o'clock in the morning I woke to find water pouring in on me, and after putting up the covering of the lean-to I covered the end of the bed with hessian. The wind howling outside prevented my sleeping again that night. In the morning the waves looked like hills, and the sea was a mass of white crests.

Luckily for us the shack was on a hill, for the sea rose until it was a foot deep over the road in several places. Some people who were camping in tents between the beach and the road were swamped at midnight and had to leave all their belongings.

In the afternoon we braved the weather and visited Victor Harbour in the car. The damage there was appalling—the promenade was under water, and the beautiful gardens and bowling-grounds were covered by great masses of seaweed. At Port Elliot the damage was even worse. We walked to a small cove where, in calm weather, there is a beach with swings and see-saws. A hill rises from this beach, and a path goes round the hill about half-way up. The swings had been wrenched from the beach, hurled against the hill, and smashed to drift-wood by the great waves. The ground to the foot of the hill was covered thickly in frothy white spume. As each wave, after being broken up by the rocks outside the cove, dashed against the hill, bubbles were blown from the crest and sailed through the air to land on the hill-slope. It was a most extraordinary sight.

On Monday morning we set out to walk to Petrol Cove, which is on the other side of the Bluff from Victor Harbour, but we succeeded only in getting thoroughly drenched by a down-pour of rain. In the afternoon we were more successful, and we stayed there watching the spray for some time. When I arrived home on Monday night I felt that, in spite of the rough weather, I had enjoyed my holiday immensely.

EVENTIDE

The river winds across the plain,
The day is nearly done,
The meadow freshened by the rain
Shines in the westering sun;
The little birds sink in their nests,
Darkness falls—and earth's at rest.

MOUNT ARAPILES

Many picturesque beauties exist in Australia. One that may be numbered among the best is the lone Mount Arapiles, in Victoria, only about fifty miles from the South Australian border in the Western Wimmera district.

This mountain, though only about eight hundred feet high, can be seen for miles around. For a radius of forty miles the ground is very flat, making the rugged mountain appear very prominent. On approaching this mountain from the East one has to search for a long time before finding a path that will lead to the summit. Rumour has it that this spot is an old haunt of bushrangers.

It may be asked, "How did the mountain receive its name?" It was named by the great explorer, Major Mitchell, after a little village in Spain, where his brother was killed a little time before he discovered this lone mountain. Major Mitchell was the first white man to climb it. On the top of the mountain there are great boulders split by the sun and frost after many years of exposure. From the top of the mountain the Grampians can be seen fifty miles away to the south-east. Looking north, south or west one can see nothing but flat plains dotted with lakes.

There are not many trees and plants on the mountain, probably because of the solid granite. Nature has added a beautiful colour to the sheer wall of granite on the eastern side, which, when caught by the rising sun, has an appearance of shining copper. But let us hope that there are no such minerals in Mount Arapiles, because human hands would soon deface its rugged grandeur.

[With apologies to Felix Leigh.]

"The great events of History
Appeal to me a lot,
And fix whole pages in my mind
Which else might be forgot."
For instance, I delight to think
Of Alfred and the spider—
Apart from her, he would have been
For me, a rank outsider!

The cakes that Nero left to burn
Provide me with a thrill:
Just as they smoked upon the grate,
I seem to see them still!
And when bold Raleigh strides across
The Runneymede, a river,
I feel all down my spinal cord
A palpitating quiver.

A vision I can summon up,
Of Wolsey's splendid cloak
Spread o'er a puddle in the street
For 'lizabeth on her "moke."
And so although in Maths. and things
My reputation's shrinking,
The great events of History
I memorise like winking!

A GEOGRAPHICAL NIGHTMARE

When I'm asleep and dreaming
 My geography comes easy,
 So that I can tackle any question
 In a manner swift and breezy.

Launceston I place serenely,
 With its exports, mostly cocoa,
 On the dark and placid waters
 Of the rolling Orinoco.
 Timbuctoo's in Irrawaddy,
 Famous for its trade in coral;
 And I blandly give Nagassa
 As the chief town of Balmoral.

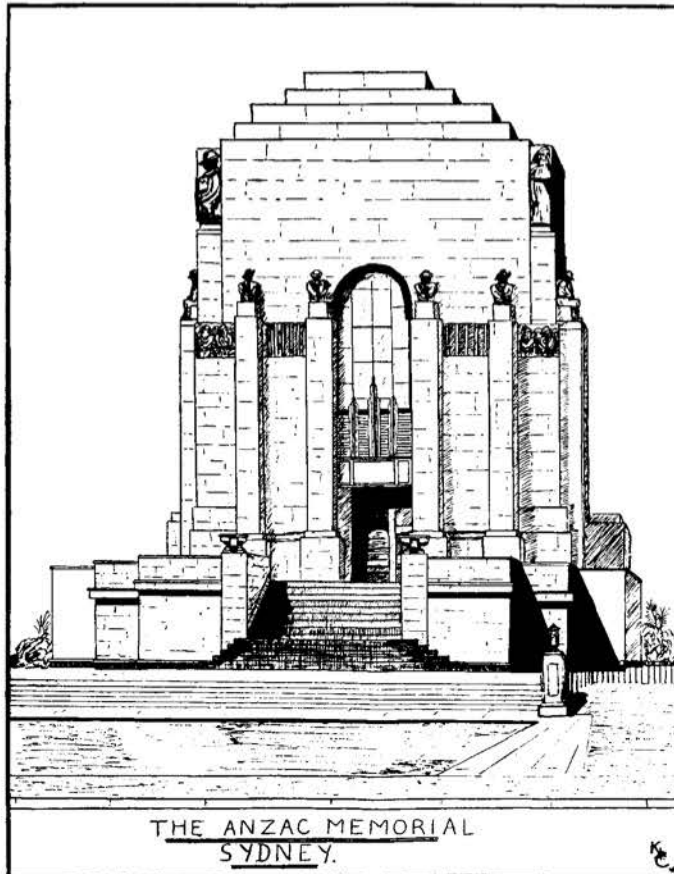

I announce that the equator
 Is a peak of height terrific
 Of that range of well-known mountains
 In the Atlantic or Pacific.
 And if I'm asked to name the tropics,
 'Tis with confidence I answer,
 "They're a pair of native rulers
 Known as Capricorn and Cancer."

Thus when I'm asleep and snoring,
 Up and up my marks go soaring;
 But in waking hours I notice
 The masters do the scoring.
 So I'm led to the conclusion
 That my brains are useless lumber,
 Since they only seem to function
 When I'm wrapped in happy slumber!
 E. V. C., Vic.

Now the football's thud has replaced the whizz
 Of the flying cricket ball,
 And the slippery mud instead of the turf
 Has you in wait for a fall.
 It's time to prepare for the rush and tear
 Of a regular football scrum,
 Where you go for the knock, and the other man's block
 Fits gracefully into your tum.
 So see to your boots, and the sprigs in each sole,
 And practise your kicking, boys, straight for the goal!

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

The moment I laid eyes on her I knew that she was meant for nobody but me. Her supple body, although not slim, had such beautifully rounded curves that I could not help being attracted; nor could you, had you but seen her. The wonder to me was that nobody else had seen and sought to possess her. That such a perfect specimen could go for so long without being taken by some young man seem impossible. However, it seemed that at last the fates had decided that I was to be the lucky one, and after a short time I was proudly able to announce that I had bought that tomato.

O wherefore, master, didst thou verse require?

For I must sit and scratch an empty head,
Since I am wont to do as you desire,

That lived, that loved, that longed to be in bed.

Come, brain, be bright,

Out, pen, and write

The poem of my heart.

Tongue, go thy way!

Ink, have thy say!

Now write, write, write, write, write.

A RIVER TOUR

Nearing Waikerie from Blanchetown the tourist catches his first glimpse of the typical Murray vineyards and fruit orchards. Two thousand acres of vines and orchards encompass Waikerie, one of the most beautiful towns along the River, and important with its rail terminus not only for its orchard products but for wheat which is grown outside of the irrigation areas.

Woolpunda water tower, situated fourteen miles from Waikerie off the Kingston Road, supplies nearly a thousand square miles of mallee country with domestic and stock water, and this once despised region is now developing into good wheat land. The tower is a notable landmark, being one hundred and twenty-five feet high; one of the tallest in the world.

Near Kingston more vineland appears, and across the river at Cobdogla is the largest water pump in the Southern Hemisphere. A smooth bitumen road connects Cobdogla with Barmera and Renmark, but the town is handicapped without railroad facilities. To Barmera the land is one mass of vineyards and orchards.

The approach to Barmera is excellent—one long shady avenue of palms and gums leading to the very heart of the township. Since 1932 the progress of Barmera has been phenomenal.

It was in this year that the residents decided to set up a community hotel, which with its spacious lounges and modern appointments is now one of the most up-to-date of its kind in the State. This has proved a very valuable asset to the town, for all profit goes to the Town Council for the purpose of beautifying the streets and the Lake Bonney foreshore.

A women's croquet lawn, a men's bowling green, a turf oval and five hard tennis courts have been laid down, and the main street, Barwell Avenue, is a credit to the town, with its lawns and flower-beds.

To settle one hundred soldiers around Barmera cost the South Australian Government a million and a half, but it has many times repaid it. The township recently celebrated the centenary of the discovery of Lake Bonney by Joseph Hawdon in 1838, and an obelisk was erected in his memory early in this centenary year 1938.

Near Glossop, on the main highway to Berri, stands the Berri Co-operative Distillery, the largest of its kind in the Southern Hemisphere, handling over twenty thousand tons of grapes annually. The storage capacity is immense, amounting to over four million gallons of wine and spirits. There are nearly two hundred and fifty fermentation tanks.

More than 500 of the 600 shareholders in the company are returned soldiers, and grapes are brought principally from Barmera, Berri, Glossop and the surrounding areas.

Barely a mile further along the road an enterprising city firm has erected its own packing shed, one the most up-to-date along the River, handling nearly two thousand five hundred cases of fruit annually.

NICKNAMES

During the Middle Ages, and especially among the Norman nobility, it seemed the fashion to add to a man's name some characteristic by which he could be known and distinguished. This practice was not a custom peculiar to the Normans only, for it was also used by the Germans and English. Several of our own ancient English kings are known to us by such names as Alfred the Great, Edward the Confessor, and William the Conqueror. These names have been bestowed for reasons easily seen, as have such names as Richard the Fearless, and his successor, Richard the Good.

Many of the names, such as Charles the Bald and Charles the Flat, seem to ridicule their owners and to us appear quaint, but even these are overshadowed when we find that the great Charlemagne's mother was called Bertha with the Big Feet. I wonder what arch-humourist created this "nickname" to be handed on to posterity.

When the Danes, or Northmen as they were called, invaded France, their leader was a man named Rollo the Ganger, but I would hasten to add that at this time America, Chicago and gangsters were unheard of. In these days of enlightenment, it is considered very bad taste to stare at, or talk about a man's deformity, but such things do not seem to have bothered the ancients, who even went so far as to call one of their leaders Louis the Stammerer, while another rejoiced in the name of Charles the Simple, although this gentleman soon proved to his enemies that he was not so "green" as he appeared.

When Germany became a leading nation her first emperor was a man named Henry the Fowler, for after he had been elected king and messengers rode north and south to find him, they came upon him at last out hawking in the mountains. Another German emperor and a strong man was named Frederick Barbarossa, which, being interpreted, means Frederick with the Red Beard.

A prominent figure in early Frankish history is Charles Martel, who was named Charles the Hammer, because of the way in which he hammered his enemies out of the way in his struggle for power.

The fashion even seems to have spread to the Norman's original pagan gods, for two of them were named Balder the Beautiful and Thor the Thunderer.

Yet another nobleman was known far and wide by the aggressive name of Robert the Devil.

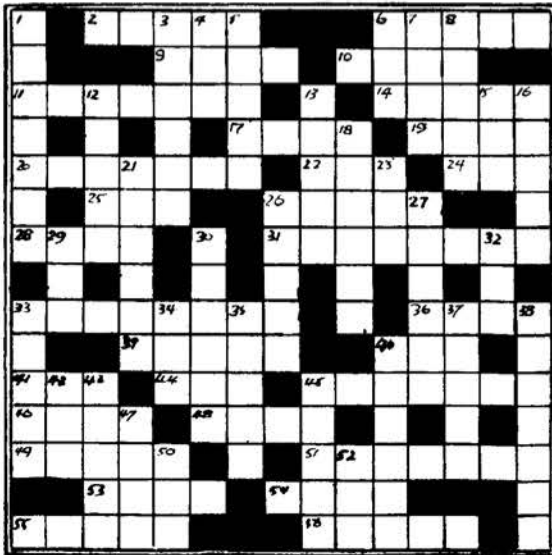

In modern times these "nicknames" have not entirely disappeared, but most of them have been changed to a less objectionable form. As time has gone on we see no connection between the original name and the altered form. Today we do not connect Gosse with goose, or Brock with badger, nor does Fitch mean pole-cat as it originally did. We still have names descriptive of prowess or habits, such as Dunkwater and Armstrong, while such names as Black, Brown, White or Green were once only "nicknames."

Prep Notes

Owing to the delay in starting school the usual cricket matches and practices could not be held. In their place a tennis tournament was run. This event was suggested by Mr. E. K. Barraclough, who has kindly offered a cup for the winner. The competition is of the "ladder" variety, and as about forty boys have entered, the winner cannot be decided until later in the year.

After Easter, football practices were commenced. All the boys are keen, and many of them show promise of developing into good footballers.

Two House matches have been played. The players were enthusiastic, but much of their enthusiasm led to scrums, from which the ball could only be extricated by the umpires whistle. In the Seconds' match, originality of attack was the outstanding feature. At one stage everybody on the field, including the umpire, stood still to watch an extraordinary duel. The ball lay at the feet of two opposing players, who, for the moment, failed to realise its importance. In the heat of the battle it was forgotten. Chapple feinted with a right, but Robertson, not to be drawn, stood off, and like an infuriated crustacean made wild crab-like swings with his claws. Chapple turned oyster and the tussle finished with crab still swinging his claws at a safe distance from the oyster. Chapple were successful in both matches.

Greer, Barraclough, Ferguson, H. Welch, Dunn, Johns, Peters, Zeppel, Truscott, Bunday, J. Cooper and Clarkson are to be congratulated on the games they played.

THE LIBRARY

The Reference Library is rapidly growing in size, thanks to many generous benefactions. At present, about two hundred books and a number of useful magazines occupy the shelves of the room, the tasteful furnishings of which remind us of our debt to our friends of the Port Adelaide Ladies' Committee.

The thanks of the School are due to the Old Collegians' Masonic Lodge for a very much appreciated gift of a large number of beautiful volumes. We would like to assure the Old Collegians that they could not possibly have made a more useful gift.

We would also like to thank Mrs. W. R. Bayly, Mrs. H. C. Shortt and Miss Shortt, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Dunn for their generous gifts.

We also thank Keeves and Cheek for the splendid volumes that they presented.

The Library Committee consist of Dunn, Ferguson, P. Martin, Peters, D. Thomas and Thurston, and all have rendered keen service.

The lending library, in the capable hands of Ware and Babidge, has also been well patronised.

As there is still plenty of space on our shelves, we are still making our appeal for more books.

THE HORSE

The faithful horse all dappled grey
Toils mid the stubble brown;
There's not a patch he does not know
As he tramples up and down.

He wanders neighing to and fro
Until his task is done,
And then you'll see him trailing home
In the light of the setting sun.

And in the morn he's up again
To start his work anew;
He slaves with all his might and main
Till the falling of the dew.

A WINTER'S NIGHT

The driving wind,
The blinding rain
Are thrashing on
My window pane.

I toss and turn
All through the night,
While lightning makes
A brilliant light.

The road is black
And cold and bleak;
It winds around
The mountain peak.

WISHES

I wish I had a station
With sheep about the plain;
I wish I were a rifleman
And hunted midst the game.

I wish I were a sailor
And braved the stormy seas;
I wish I were a millionaire,
For then I'd take my ease.

I wish I were a soldier
In the days of long ago,
For then one had a trusty sword
To drive away the foe.

I wish I were an airman
Gliding through the blue;
I wish I had a lot of things,
If only they'd come true!

THE SEA

I love to lie upon the cliffs
That overlook the bay,
And watch the colours of the sky
Change at the end of day.

I hear the waves come dashing up,
I gaze at a crimson sky;
I see the foam upon the rocks,
And hear the seagull's cry.

It may be fine to roam the hills,
Or play among the trees;
But I prefer, whate'er you say,
To watch the tumbling seas.

Through a film of trees;
The south wind sings
In the whispering breeze.

The gaudy cock
Crows a song of praise
At the setting sun
And its brilliant rays.

I see the bus
Go quickly by,
It's yellow top
Confronts my eye.

It goes so fast
It's hard to see
The driver kind
Who waves to me.

ADELAIDE HILLS

I love the hills with their morning mist,
And the stately gums with their leaves sun-
kissed;
The wind in the trees, and the song of the birds
Make sweeter music than e'er was heard.

Midst rolling hills of fresh green grass
The fern-fringed creeklets ripple past,
And peaceful sheep and cattle roam
The slopes I love, the hills of home.

LIMERICKS

There was a young woman named Snider
Who drank sixteen pints of strong cider,
And when she arose
To powder her nose
She powdered the lady beside 'er.

There was a young lady in Spain,
And the doctors all called her insain;
She said she could alter
The shape of Gibraltar
And shingle the whole Spanish main.

The Objects of the Association are: To keep Old Boys, wherever they may be, in touch with one another and with the boys at the School; also to foster and maintain their interest in the School.

"Old Boys' Week" is observed annually towards the end of July, during which a dinner and other social functions as well as sports contests are held. Also social gatherings are held whenever any occasion arises that makes them desirable.

The Association has donated the following Scholarships to the School:

H. W. A. Miller (Old Collegians') Scholarship.

J. A. Hartley Scholarship.

Fredk. Chapple Scholarship.

W. R. Bayly Scholarship.

A. G. Collison Scholarship.

"The P.A.C. Chronicle," of which a large part is devoted to matters of special interest to Old Boys, is forwarded to each member of the Association.

The subscription is six shillings per annum. It is suggested that Country Members should remit sufficient to cover four years' subscription or become Life Members by payment of £5 5s. Any Old Boy wishing to become a member can do so by forwarding his name and address to the Head Master, or to any member of the Staff, or to one of the Secretaries.

Editorial

WHITHER SPORT?

Roget's Thesaurus, the "vade mecum" of budding authors, classifies athletic sports under the heading of amusements together with Kiss in the Ring, and Put and Take, Snip-snap-snozem, and Banker.

In the watching of sports of one kind and another as amusements, it is true that the difference between them is one of degree only. While Tip Cat to Percival Pretty may be a highly diverting and stimulating amusement, and Lacrosse to little Eric nothing short of legalised murder, it cannot be gainsaid that practically all Australians take their sports and pastimes seriously. Indeed, one popular Australian game has had such an effect upon the physique that even the faces of the players are prone to that insidious occupational disease "poker face."

Women and girls, not to be outdone by their menfolk, have forsaken ludo and blind man's buff, which constituted the Victorian conception of amusement, for field games of all descriptions, in which they frequently hold their own with their brothers. This, as the history books will tell us, is "a good thing."

It is highly desirable that everyone should have forsaken the aspidistra, anti-macassa and the smoking room for the pitch, the oval, water or the court, but where is this going to stop?

If it isn't going to stop (and indeed only the Sabbatarians appear to want it to), where is this sportomania leading us?

The playing or following up of a sport has indeed become a fetish. It is almost unpardonable to be unable to recite with appropriate facts the names of 16 Australian international figures; but, strange as it may seem, there are some who would fail at this if put to this test. It is among those few who regard sport as a means, not an end, that the question is raised, "Whither Sport?"

Fashions in sport change as surely, though not so often, as feminine fashions. Not so long ago, bicycle riding had as ardent fans as football has today, while the speed, though not the popularity of horse-racing, has given way to the sports car.

Great Britain, along with other countries of the world, has set in motion a national fitness campaign. While the British plan obviates the dominating regimentation adopted by the totalitarian countries, it cannot be denied that a certain measure of official direction has been applied, of necessity, in placing the "keep fit" movement on a national basis.

So fraught with wars and rumours of wars is the world today that individual fitness is a corollary of good citizenship. The team spirit as an attribute of sportsmanship must now take on a wider meaning. The outlook must be national, not parochial.

It is, therefore, with some hesitancy, but with this laudable objective as the motive that a plea is put forward for a completely new outlook in sport. It is probable, and if events elsewhere are a criterion, almost certain that some form of cohesion between all athletics will be brought about. Whether athletic associations will themselves recognise their obligations in bending their efforts to the national interests remains to be seen. As yet there has been little evidence of any objective outlook in sport, and on present indications some authoritarian directions appears inevitable. One may pertinently enquire, "Whither Sport?"

The W. R. Bayly Memorial

Not many men have the privilege of serving a school for 50 years. When this does happen, it is a great blow to the school to lose one whose name has been on all men's lips for so long; and it is but natural that the school should desire to have something in its building or equipment that will keep alive for many years the name of the one it loves.

W. R. Bayly entered Prince Alfred College as a boy in January, 1880, and, save for five years (1910-1914), when he was Headmaster of Geelong College, he was continuously in the School until his retirement in 1929. During these fifty years he served the School in every possible way: as a boy, as a Junior Master, as a member of the Senior Staff, as second Master, and finally as Headmaster. With the exception of Frederic Chapple, who was Headmaster from 1876 to 1914, no one man's life and work have counted for so much in the building up of Prince Alfred College as have those of W. R. Bayly. He gave whole-hearted service; the School was his life. The record of his great work is finely written in the buildings and the grounds of Prince Alfred; but more finely still in the lives and characters of thousands of boys, now men, who came under the influence of this great man.

Every Old Boy will welcome the decision of the committee of the Old Collegians' Association that there shall be a W. R. Bayly Memorial in the School. At the request of the Old Collegians' Committee, the College Council appointed a small sub-committee to confer with some representatives of the Old Boys' Association. At this joint meeting it was unanimously decided that the memorial should take the form of a new Chemistry Laboratory. The present Chemistry Laboratory was built in 1891, and has forty lockers for practical work. The fact that there are at present 170 boys in the School who have to do practical work in chemistry makes it quite evident that a second laboratory is urgently needed.

The proposal is to make use of a portion of the Gymnasium, which, as everyone knows, is built on behind the present lecture room and laboratory. A wall will be built about 20 feet from the end wall of the chemistry room, enclosing an area of the Gym., approximately 20 feet by 40 feet. This will constitute the new laboratory, and can be made to connect with the present chemistry lecture room, as well as having an independent entrance. The remainder of the Gymnasium, roughly 60 ft. by 40 ft., will give ample room for all the gymnastic work. The cost of the necessary building and equipment for the new laboratory is estimated at about £600 to £700. Plans have not yet been prepared but the College architects, Messrs. Claridge and Cowell, have given their assurance that the project is feasible, and in every way capable of satisfactory treatment.

The Committee of the Old Collegians' Association feels sure that in selecting this form for a memorial to the late Headmaster it is choosing one of which he would most heartily have approved. He would have been the first to insist that any such memorial should be something of use in the working of the School; and his great interest in the natural sciences would certainly have made this a project much to his liking.

The committee is certain that the money necessary for this memorial will easily be raised. There are surely few Old Boys who would like this fund to be closed without their names being included in the list of subscribers. Every Old Boy knew Mr. Bayly, and every Old Boy has the welfare and future of the School at heart. Already several substantial donations have been secured, and this has greatly encouraged the committee in making this general appeal. It is with confidence that the Old Boys' Committee asks every Old Boy, whether a member of the Association or not, to give to this fund as liberally as he can, and so help the Association to raise a memorial which will be worthy of the School, worthy of W. R. Bayly and his work, and a fitting expression of the love and esteem the Old Boys have for one who served and loved the School so well.

Under the above heading your committee hope to publish items of interest relating to Old Boys' doings in the country, and contributions from members for inclusion are invited.

CHAMPIONSHIP WHEAT CROP

The championship wheat crop of the State was grown this season by Mr. E. V. H. Wilsdon, of Andrews, with 50 acres of Dundee. Mr. Wilsdon's farm is situated about 15 miles north of Clare, and three miles west of Andrews railway station.

The significant features of the treatment are—early fallowing, regular tillage given when of most value, the use of graded seed and an adequate dressing of superphosphate. The results obtained indicate the soundness of such methods, and Mr. Wilsdon is to be congratulated on the dense clean crop with which he was successful in gaining the 1937-38 Championship.

The championship crop is judged on the same scale of points as the district competitions, namely, 35 points for apparent yield, 25 for freedom from weeds, 20 for freedom from disease, 15 for true-ness to type, and 5 for evenness of crop.

The exhibitor of the champion crop is entitled to the Silver Challenge Shield, valued at 50 guineas, presented by the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society, for one year. It will be exhibited during that period in the town hall or institute nearest to the farm on which the winning crop was grown. A small replica of the shield, valued at five guineas, becomes the property of the winner.

Mr. Wilsdon also won the championship in 1937. We offer him our heartiest congratulations.

Representation on School Council

At the General Meeting of Prince Alfred College, held on 22nd March last, the following members of the Old Collegians Committee were elected to the School Council: Messrs. L. S. Clarkson, P. R. Claridge, F. L. Collison, H. H. Cowell, T. C. Craven, J. Crompton and F. E. Piper.

Mr. W. S. Maddocks

Rescuing people from drowning seems to be a habit with Mr. W. S. Maddocks, of Kensington Gardens, a prominent member of the Royal South Australian Aero Club, who dived overboard from the "Kanimbla" while a heavy sea was running in the Australian Bight to rescue Miss Shirley F. Hall, 22, of Mount Street, Perth, who had fallen from the boat deck, at least 50 feet above the water. Miss Hall was in the water for 35 minutes before she was taken aboard the "Kanimbla."

Miss Hall was travelling from Perth to Brisbane with her mother, Mrs. T. S. J. Hall. On Sunday, 13th March, shortly after noon, she was sitting on the deck rail after having participated in deck sports. It was stated that she had been warned previously against this practice, and when the "Kanimbla" lurched in the swell she over-balanced. The ship was travelling at 18 knots, and was about 250 miles from Adelaide.

Mr. Maddocks heard cries that someone had fallen overboard, and, having removed his coat and shoes, dived about 40 ft. to the water. He kept clear of the ship, but had difficulty in finding Miss Hall because of the heavy swell. Almost as soon as he reached her she collapsed. The "Kanimbla" was turned immediately, but it was some time before it was safe to lower a boat. The chief officer (Mr. F. McLean), the ship's doctor (Dr. E. Churches), and ten seamen were in the boat which picked them up. Although those in the boat had anxious moments as it see-sawed on the way down, it is said the boat was lowered perfectly, and as soon as practicable, for without care it would have crashed against the side of the vessel. Miss Hall was brought on board after 35 minutes in the water. She was unconscious for an hour afterwards.

Mr. Maddocks has other rescues from drowning to his credit—at Goolwa and Mannum. To mark their appreciation, passengers presented Mr. Maddocks with £58.

Mr. W. B. Sanders, of Georgetown, who was also a passenger on the "Kanimbla," witnessed the rescue and affirms the brave deed. Active steps are being taken to bring this matter before the Royal Life Saving Society for suitable recognition. As Old Reds we are all proud of Mr. Maddocks, who so convincingly has proved that he has remembered his old School motto, "Fac fortia et patere."

College Endowment Fund

This Fund is slowly but surely increasing as it is brought under the notice of the many Old Boys scattered not only throughout Australia but throughout the world. The idea was started as a sustained rather than a spasmodic effort.

Purely Personal

Mr. L. R. Dickson, who recently returned from New Guinea, has left for London.

Dr. D. G. McKay, former amateur footballer and Sheffield Shield cricketer, is the new president of the Amateur Football League.

Mr. Graham Andrews has been awarded the Lodge St. Albans Scholarship. He is now studying Medicine at the Adelaide University.

Mr. G. E. Sunter represented the South Australian division of the Federal Institute of Accountants at the annual meeting held in Sydney recently.

Mr. Roy F. Middleton has been appointed acting-manager of the Executor, Trustee & Agency Co. during the absence of the manager whilst in England.

Mr. A. R. Shepley, Adelaide manager for Noyes Bros. Prop. Ltd., has just left on a business trip to England. He expects to be absent for about five months.

Messrs. Albert Edwin Hamilton and the Honourable Hermann Homburg, M.L.C., have been reappointed members of the Board of Governors of the Botanic Garden.

Dr. R. F. Matters, as a Surgeon Lieutenant-Commander of the Royal Australian Navy, has been to the Flinders Naval Depot, Victoria, for two weeks, but has now returned to Adelaide.

Mr. C. A. M. Sprigg, who has been secretary of the Adelaide Electric Supply Company for 25 years, retired on March 31 on account of ill health. We sincerely hope that with rest his health will improve.

Mr. F. Perry, vice-president of the South Australian Chamber of Manufactures, has gone to Melbourne to represent the South Australian Chamber at the meeting of the Executive Council of the Associated Chambers of Manufactures of Australia.

A council of six to control the new Institute of Medical and Veterinary Science was appointed by the Executive Council today. Its members will include Mr. A. E. Hamilton (chairman), and the Director-General of Medical Services (Dr. L. W. Jeffries).

Mr. L. A. Whittington has been appointed vice-president of the Council of the Law Society, in place of Mr. H. B. Piper, who has resigned. The vacancy on the Council caused by Mr. Piper's resignation, has been filled by his brother, Mr. Frank Piper.

At a meeting of the Standing Committee of the Synod of the Church of England in the Diocese of Adelaide, at which the Bishop (Right Rev. Dr. A. Nutter Thomas) presided, Mr. Franklin Gill was appointed Synod secretary in succession to the late Mr. Frank Smith.

Mr. A. E. Hamilton, who has resigned from the Council of the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society after 32 years' service, is to be recommended for an honorary life membership of the Society. Mr. Hamilton has attended 684 consecutive meetings to which he had been called.

Buring Engineers (Messrs. Buring and Chapman), of Ninth Street, Bowden, the first South Australian firm and the first firm outside Victoria to receive a contract from the Commonwealth Government for munition making, is preparing to fulfil a contract for 2,000 four-inch practice shells.

The Rev. A. B. Lloyd has left for Western Australia to take office as minister of Wesley Church and superintendent of the Central Methodist Mission at Perth. He was tendered a farewell luncheon at the "Grosvenor" by Methodist laymen of the Kent Town, North Adelaide and Malvern Circuits.

Mr. Walter Angel, retiring manager of the Savings Bank of South Australia, was tendered a complimentary staff social. A grandfather clock was presented on behalf of the staff to Mr. Angel, who suitably acknowledged the toast and the presentation. Mr. Angel will begin one year's long service leave before retirement from the bank after 48 years of service.

Younger son of the late Mr. T. Gill, C.M.G., I.S.O., a former Under-Treasurer, Mr. Franklin Gill was born at Glen Osmond in 1891. Educated at Canterbury School, Kent Town, of which the late Canon Slaney Poole was headmaster, and at Prince Alfred College, he spent some years in accountancy work in commercial offices in Adelaide before being appointed Synod accountant in April, 1931.

Adelaide Constructions Ltd. has been given the contract for the erection of the new Port bridge, involving about three-fifths of the total cost. Mr. A. V. King is one of its directors.

Mr. King is a member of the firm of James King & Sons, which constructed the Henley Beach sea outlet and other portions of the metropolitan flood-waters scheme.

Dr. Kennett Fry has been appointed Officer of Health to the City of Adelaide.

Dr. Fry, who is 51, acted as pathologist to the Adelaide Hospital after graduating in 1908, and before going to England to take up a Rhodes Scholarship. He spent the next two years in research work in the pathological laboratory of the University of Oxford, under the late Professor Dreyer, and gained the Bachelor of Science degree for a thesis embodying the results of this work. After 12 months of special study and practical experience he obtained the Diploma of Public Health at Oxford.

In 1913 Dr. Fry was appointed Medical officer of health in the Northern Territory. From 1914 to 1919 he served successively as captain in the 3rd Australian Field Ambulance, deputy assistant director of medical services in the 2nd Australian Division, lieutenant-colonel commanding the 13th Australian Field Ambulance, and assistant director of medical services in the 5th Australian Division.

Dr. Fry's military duties during the war included the preparation of health statistics and the arrangement and supervision of sanitation and health measures for the troops under field conditions and when billeted in towns. He also gained wide experience of methods of administration and organisation. During the war he was awarded the D.S.O., and he was mentioned in dispatches four times.

Since 1919 Dr. Fry has practised in the city and suburbs.

At present he holds the following appointments and offices: Honorary physician to the Adelaide Hospital; lecturer in materia medica and therapeutics at the University of Adelaide; vice-president of the Royal Society of South Australia; and president of the South Australian Council for Mental Hygiene.

He attended College 1896 to 1902 (School Reg. No. 2,822), and won the Robb Scholarship in 1901, also the Colton Scholarship and University Scholarship in 1902.

Fifty Years Ago

Mr. Robert Henderson has sent in the following report of the Intercollegiate Cricket Match, 1880. In that match Mr. Henderson obtained the "hat trick," and this is believed to be the first "hat trick" in Intercollegiate cricket.

ST. PETER'S COLLEGE
V.

PRINCE ALFRED COLLEGE

The annual match between the two Colleges took place on Wednesday afternoon, and like all its predecessors resulted in a victory for the former. The P.A.C.'s had first innings, and although they all batted in neat style they could not master the bowling of Chapman, a left-hander with a very nice delivery. He captured 5 wickets for only 7 runs, and the total closed at 35. L. Evan and Vaux having shown best form. There were two of St. Peter's College boys out for 5 runs, but then Sabine and Murray, by hard play, took the total to 32. They were then both bowled by Henderson. Wigley and Young made a long stand and raised the score to 89, but the end was sensational enough, for at that total, and in one over, Henderson bowled Young and two others, and Wigley was run out. The last man made nothing, and the innings closed for 89. Wigley made his 35 in rare good style, and his innings was, with the exception perhaps of Henderson's in the second innings, the best of the day. Henderson bowled very well all through the innings, and had he had a little luck his average would have been a much better one. The Prince Alfred College boys in their second innings showed far better form and scored 77. Henderson's 26 was a very pretty innings, and included some very nice cuts. Each side had a promising bowler in Chapman and Henderson.

Memorial Window to the late Mr. W. R. Bayly

Many Old Scholars of the College attended the Kent Town Methodist Church when a memorial window was unveiled by Mrs. Bayly to commemorate the services of the late Mr. W. R. Bayly, who was a trustee of the Church and a former Sunday-school superintendent and teacher.

The window has a colourful design, symbolising the youth of today. The theme is based on some verses of Tennyson. Embodied in the base of the window is the badge of Prince Alfred College.

LOST TOKENS

Tokens remain the property of this Association, and are held by members on trust only. In the event of the loss of a token, the member should immediately report this to the Secretaries of the Association.

Branch Reunions

SOUTH-EASTERN DINNER

A re-union dinner of Prince Alfred Old Collegians was held at the Commercial Hotel, when 31 Old Reds from various parts of the South East sat down to an enjoyable repast served in true Pinkerton style.

The Association was represented by the President (Dr. A. G. Trott), and the School by Mr. G. M. Potts, M.A. Mr. L. R. DeGaris was in the chair.

When the good things of the menu had been disposed of, the chairman proposed the toast of "The King," which was duly honoured.

Mr. DeGaris said it gave him great pleasure to have the honour of presiding at this gathering of Old Reds. He expressed the wish that it be made an annual gathering, not necessarily in Naracoorte, but if the members desired, it could be held at the different towns in turn.

The toast of the "Old School" was in the hands of Mr. R. E. DeGaris, of Millicent. He said the school left its mark on all who went through it, sometimes in more ways than one. He started in a class taught by John Blacket, and at first was rather repelled by his manner, but later, when the man became known better, the boys thought very highly of him. John Blacket was an officer of his regiment at the front, and the same applied to him there. He met his death in France just after he had given his steel helmet to a man who was without one.

Mr. Potts, in responding, apologized for the absence of Mr. Ward, the Headmaster. His health lately had not been very good, and the intercollegiate tennis match was also being held. He remarked that a lot of the old masters have passed on, to be replaced by younger men. This was regrettable in some ways, but we must remember that we all get old in time, and must make way for others. Mr. Potts then remarked on various phases of school work, and said that the desire of masters nowadays was to make friends with the boys. They joined them on the playing fields and then controlled them in school.

The toast of "The Association" was proposed by Dr. H. R. Oaten of Penola. He remarked what a splendid thing the Association was, in keeping Old Reds in touch with one another, and suggested that a South-Eastern branch of the Association be formed.

The President, Dr. Trott, responded, and said it gave him great pleasure to be present at re-unions of Old Reds. This evening he had tried to meet and shake hands with all present, not with any sense of duty, but because he sincerely wished to meet them. He said the Executive realised that all country Old Boys could not come to town to attend Old Boys' Week, so they sent their representatives to all country gatherings. He made a suggestion that a sports' match be arranged with Old St. Peter's Boys.

Mr. Roberts moved a vote of thanks to the Adelaide visitors for coming along to attend the dinner. Their health was then drunk, to the accompaniment of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows." Mr. Potts and Dr. Trott responded.

Mr. Williams suggested that the gathering should drink the health of the Chairman, and Mr. DeGaris responded. Mr. W. D. Thomson then proposed Mr. Chapple and Mr. Secomb, who organised the gathering. These gentlemen responded, and after the singing of the National Anthem, the dinner was closed.

A special Old Scholars' service was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning, the address being given by Mr. Potts.

PORT LINCOLN REUNION

The third annual combined dinner of West Coast Old Collegians, was held at the Grand Hotel, Port Lincoln, on 2nd March, when 28 Old Reds attended, and also a number of Old Saints.

This Association was represented by Dr. A. G. Trott, President, Mr. L. S.

Walsh, committee, and Mr. J. D. Iliffe represented the School owing to the unavoidable absence of the Headmaster. Mr. W. D. Henderson represented St. Peters' Old Collegians.

The dinner was a most successful function, and, as expressed by all, one of the best that has yet been held at Port Lincoln.

Mr. C. R. Douady (P.A.C.) occupied the chair, and proposed the toast of "The King." The toast of "The Colleges" was proposed by Dr. B. W. Wibberly (P.A.C.) and Mr. G. B. Ritchie (S.P.S.C.). Mr. J. D. Iliffe replied in his usual dry and humorous manner.

"Our Associations" was proposed by Mr. G. C. Harrington (S.P.S.C.). Mr. W. D. Henderson replied on behalf of St. Peters' Old Collegians, and Dr. Trott, also in reply, pointed out the objects of the Association, and the efforts of the Association in helping the School and its Old Boys, also that the policy of the Association was to support country branches in their re-union dinners, by sending representatives whenever possible. Dr. Trott suggested that in future perhaps it would be possible for the Old Collegians of both Associations to have an annual cricket or tennis match or some similar sporting event in order to keep in touch with one another.

A special toast was added during the evening; that of "J. D. Iliffe." Dr. Cyril T. Piper spoke feelingly of the great work Mr. Iliffe had done during his 50 years at the School, and of the great influence he had exerted upon all those who had worked under him.

The committee are to be congratulated upon the success of the dinner, and especially Messrs. Keith Jacobs (P.A.C.) and George Harrington (S.P.S.C.) for their work as joint secretaries.

We would also like to express gratitude to Dr. C. T. Piper, Messrs. C. R. Douady, Brice and Cooper for entertaining the Adelaide delegates during their stay in Port Lincoln.

It was decided that the combined re-union be held at Cummins next year.

COMBINED OLD COLLEGIANS' DINNER, CLARE

The sixth combined dinner of St. Peters and Prince Alfred Old Collegians of the Mid-North was held at Clare on Saturday, 14th May, 1938

Approximately eighty Old Scholars attended from Adelaide, Pt. Pirie, Peterborough, Crystal Brook, Red Hill, Gulnare, Spalding, Koolunga, Burra, Brinkworth, Blyth, Kybunga, Hallett, Narridy, Melrose, Watervale and Mintaro.

Mr. A. J. Melrose, M.P. (S.P.S.C.), was in the chair, and the Associations were represented by the presidents, Mr. J. H. Gosse (S.P.S.C.) and Dr. A. G. Trott (P.A.C.), together with Mr. L. B. Shuttleworth (P.A.C.), Mr. L. P. A. Lawrence (P.A.C.) and Mr. A. W. Knapman (S.P.S.C.). The Schools were represented by Mr. J. F. Ward (P.A.C.) and Mr. J. H. Hill (S.P.S.C.).

After the toast "The King" had been honoured, Mr. Melrose addressed the gathering and mentioned the value of these functions in renewing acquaintances formed at school.

The toast of "The Old Schools" was proposed by Mr. D. Yates (S.P.S.C.) who reminded the guests of the debts which they owed to their schools, and suggested that such debts could be repaid only by living up to the traditions and standards set by the schools since their foundation. The honouring of this toast was followed by the singing of school songs.

In response, both Mr. J. F. Ward and Mr. J. H. Hill spoke of the changes that had occurred to the school buildings during recent years, and deplored the fact that many Old Boys would prefer to return and find the old buildings they had known, rather than the magnificent new ones that had been erected. The speakers invited Old Scholars to visit the schools, where they would be welcomed always.

Mr. L. A. Davies (P.A.C.) proposed the toast of "The Associations." Dr. A. G. Trott in response, told of the activities of the Association. Mr. J. H. Gosse referred to the value of friendships made on the playing fields, and hoped the Associations would continue their efforts to indulge in as many sporting activities as possible. He felt sure that all members would wish to extend their sympathy to Mr. Clem Hill in the bereavement occasioned by the death of his wife.

Those present enjoyed the excellent dinner provided, and appreciated the flute solo by Mr. A. C. Birks (P.A.C.) and the entertainment by Mr. R. S. Dawe (P.A.C.).

Prior to the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," which was the formal closing of the dinner, a resolution was proposed by Mr. D. Yates (Pt. Pirie), and seconded by Mr. M. W. Bednall (Kooringa) that the dinner for next year be held at Pt. Pirie. This was carried unanimously.

At Home and Abroad

Mr. W. J. Purvis, 109 Port Road, Southwark, S.A., writes:—

"It was my intention to put in an appearance at the naming of the boats on the Lake last Saturday, but by reason of infirmity I was unable. I was pleased to see that the names of some of the old warriors, who have given such yeoman service to the old School, were to be perpetuated in naming the crafts.

"It may be of interest to learn that the first four-oared outrigger rowing boat built in the Colony was named "Prince Alfred." The boat was built by John Mitchelmore, a very clever craftsman. The boat was of cedar, and the crew were very successful in her, but, unfortunately, when on a practice row she collided with a submerged object and was badly smashed.

"Incidentally, the writer, with the late Charlie Ring, the sharebroker, used to build our own skipp and row in the youths' pair race in the great regattas at the Port in the early Seventies. Tholepins were used then instead of rowlocks."

Monthly Luncheons

The January luncheon was held during the "big tennis week," and many Internationals were invited, but owing to the "ties" none were able to attend. However, Mr. R. B. Hone gave an excellent address on "Tennis," and two Old Reds, Bill Mates and Max Newcombe, of Linton Cup fame, were present.

Mr. M. S. Joyner very capably handled the subject of "Aviation" at the February meeting, making most members who had not previously been in the air desirous of modernising their ideas.

Zoo matters were discussed by Mr. R. Minchin at the March luncheon, and it is pleasing to report that he did great justice to a very interesting subject.

The April luncheon drew a big crowd, with Mr. E. R. Lawrie as guest of honour, his subject being the "Goolwa Barrage Construction," and the speaker not only proved that he knew his subject backwards, but also that he is an excellent speaker with the ability to impart his knowledge to others. Mr. William Kither, of New South Wales, was also present, and spoke to the members in jocular fashion.

At the May luncheon Mr. G. R. Cowell told of his experiences with "Big Game Fishing," explaining how it is possible to catch a large shark on a comparatively light line and rod.

Attendances have been better, but still further support is required to these excellent "once a month reunions."

Help your committee by keeping the last Thursday in every month free so as you can be present at Birk's "Piccadilly Restaurant" at 1 p.m. sharp.

Obituary

DUNN—On 18th March, 1938, at 14 Sherbourne Road, Medindie Gardens, George Harold Dunn; aged 35 years. He attended College 1917 to 1918 (School Reg. No. 5092).

FARR—On the 7th February, 1938, at Adelaide, Alfred John Farr (timber salesman), beloved husband of the late Sarah Lucy Farr; aged 71 years. He attended the School 1880 to 1884 (School Reg. No. 892).

FORSTER—On the 16th February, 1938, at a private hospital, Glenelg, William James, of 23 Seawall, Glenelg, beloved husband of Rose Forster; aged 73 years. Mr. William James Forster was born at Adelaide on July 28, 1864. He was educated at Prince Alfred College, 1874 to 1880 (School Reg. No. 339), and in 1888 entered the employ of D. & J. Fowler Limited. In 1897 he was transferred to the Western Australian house of this firm at Fremantle, where he eventually became head accountant and sub-manager. Owing to ill-health, he was compelled to resign from this company in 1913, and on medical advice he returned to South Australia. In 1915, after his restoration to health, he became a member of the staff of the South Australian Treasury, where he remained until reaching the retiring age in 1930. He was a member of the Commercial Travellers' Associations of South Australian and Western Australia. He was admitted as an associate of the Institute of Accountants and Auditors of Western Australia in 1901, and of the Commonwealth Institute of Accountants in 1923. In 1887 he married Miss Rose Newman, of Victoria, and has left a widow and one daughter, both of Seawall, Glenelg. He was a member of this Association.

FRISBY SMITH—On 20th February, 1938, at "Lamorna," Malvern, Roy Frisby Smith. After a short illness, Mr. Roy Frisby Smith, solicitor, of the firm of Frisby Smith and Isaachsen, died at his home, Lamorna, Cambridge Terrace, Malvern, in his 38th year. Mr. Frisby Smith, who was one of the most brilliant of Adelaide's younger solicitors, was secretary of the South Australian Law Society for several years, and was largely responsible for the drafting of the new Companies Act. Mr. Frisby Smith, who was a son of the Rev. C. Frisby Smith, of Fulham, was born at Clare, and was educated at the Norwood Primary School, the Norwood High School, and Prince Alfred College in 1918 (School Reg. No. 5,328). The degree of LL.B. was conferred upon him in 1922, and he was subsequently admitted to the Bar. Mr. Frisby Smith was first associated with the firm of Shierlaw & Jessop, and later became a partner in the firm of Shierlaw, Jessop & Frisby Smith, and afterwards of Shierlaw, Frisby Smith & Romilly Harry. Mr.

Frisby Smith was an active member of Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Masonic Lodge and of this Association, and was prominently associated with the Malvern Methodist Church, of which he was senior circuit steward. He was one of the five foundation members of the Malvern Methodist Men's Fellowship. He was also treasurer of the Epworth Book Depot. Mr. Frisby Smith was connected with several charitable organisations, including the Prisoners' Aid Society. He visited Great Britain on a health trip last year. He has left a widow, Dr. Marjorie Frisby Smith, and one son. There are two brothers and two sisters, Messrs. Harold and Gordon Frisby Smith, of Adelaide, Mrs. A. J. Walter, of Adelaide, and Miss Gwen Frisby Smith, of Melbourne.

GLYDE—Mr. Edwin Morris Glyde died in a private hospital at Albany, West Australia, on 25th February, 1938. The late Mr. Glyde, who was in his 60th year, has been a prominent citizen of Albany for many years and, until about two years ago, was manager of the local branch of the Bank of New South Wales. A breakdown in health then caused his retirement. A widow, son and daughter survive him. He attended School 1885 to 1891 (School Reg. No. 1,634).

GOODALE—On the 29th December, 1937, at Norwood, Kenneth E. Goodale (late of Eastern Extension Telegraph Coy.), aged 32 years. He attended the School 1920 to 1921 (School Reg. No. 5,521), and was a member of this Association.

GURR—On 29th April, at 30 Carlton Street, Rosefield, Alfred John Gurr; aged 65 years. He attended the School 1885 to 1891 (School Reg. No. 1,630).

LEVER—On the 28th November, 1937, at Ashfield, N.S.W., Percy G., loved brother of Dick, Kit, Claude, Lill; late "Glenroy," Grange Road, York. He attended the School 1895 to 1899 (School Reg. No. 2,809).

LLOYD—On 25th May, at Gladstone, Frederick Samuel Lloyd, of Jamestown, aged 70 years. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lloyd, of Mannanarie, and had resided in this district since his infancy. His father took up land at Mannanarie, and Mr. Lloyd received his early education at Clare under the tuition of his grandfather. He afterwards attended Prince Alfred College from 1884 to 1885 (School Reg. No. 1,453). On completing his college course, he returned to Mannanarie and assisted his father on the farm until 1897, when he took up land purchased by his father at Belalie North, where he farmed successfully and also made dairying a profitable undertaking, his success enabling him to purchase other farms at Caltowie North, Belalie and Gladstone, which his sons eventually took over. In 1900 he was married to Miss Maria Magdalena Bradtke, elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradtke, at the old Methodist Church, Belalie, the Rev. Vivian Roberts officiating. Three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd went to Jamestown to reside. A widow and four sons survive. The sons are: R. S. (Jamestown), L. G. (Gladstone), C. F. (Belalie North), and A. J. (Belalie East).

MITCHELL—On 16th March, 1938, at Adelaide, William Henry Mitchell, late of Broken Hill and Golden Grove; aged 79 years. He attended College 1869 to 1874 (School Reg. No. 48).

MITCHELL—On the 24th May, 1938, at his residence, 14 Charles Street, Beverley, Hugh Rowland, beloved husband of Hannah Mitchell, aged 72 years. He was the fifth son of the late Mr. T. J. Mitchell, of "The Olives," Woodville. He was born at Port Adelaide and educated at Prince Alfred College 1882 to 1883 (School Reg. No. 1,111). In 1890 he married Miss Hannah Willmore, daughter of the late Mr. J. Willmore, of Beverley. He was a prominent Methodist, and was a local preacher for more than 50 years. He was a trustee of the Woodville and Elgin Methodist Churches, and treasurer of the latter for 30 years. He was employed at the works of Cresco Fertilisers as engineer and later as storeman.

PRIOR—On the 3rd March, 1938, at his residence, Gladstone, Thomas Eldret, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Prior; aged 77 years. He attended College 1877 to 1878 (School Reg. No. 563).

RICHARDSON—On the 26th March, 1938, at "Langwell," Broomehill, W.A., Tom E. Richardson; aged 58 years. He attended the School 1895 to 1896 (School Reg. No. 2,777). On leaving Prince Alfred College in 1896, Tom went to "Lowlands," the property of his uncle, the Hon. A. R. Richardson, to gain some knowledge of stock, then a couple of years with Dalgety & Co. for commercial experience fitted him to join his father, the late Hon. J. E. Richardson, in pastoral pursuits in the Roebourne and Port Hedland district. After 10 years in the Nor'-West he transferred his activities to the Great Southern, where he specialised in the breeding of stud merino sheep. His profound knowledge of sheep enabled him to win many prizes in the Shows and made his services much sought after as a judge at Agricultural Shows. A very keen sportsman, in his younger days he played much football and cricket. He was ranked among the leading players as a golfer, and was amongst the first to start polo in W.A. In his prime Tom was generally conceded to be one of the best polo players in the State. The Broomehill polo colours were taken from the old P.A.C. colours when Tom started the game at Broomehill, and they were on the field when he died.

ROGERS—On — April, 1938, at Naracoorte Hospital, William Edward Rogers, aged 77 years. He was the eldest son of the late Jonathan Rogers, a member of a South-Eastern pioneering family. Born at Payneham, he went to Mount Gambier with his parents as a youth, and resided at Mil Lel. After being educated at Prince Alfred College, 1876 to 1877 (School Reg. No. 491), the deceased took up farming and grazing at Millicent. About 36 years ago he married Miss Rosa Day, at Millicent. For a time they lived in Adelaide, and were later allotted a block, in conjunction with Mr. Oliver Rogers, a brother, when the Hynam Estate was subdivided. They lived there until the time of Mr. Rogers's death, the property being known as "Langkyne."

RISCHBIETH—On 22nd February, 1937, at Llewellyn Terrace, Hawthorn, Charles Frederick Rischbieth; aged 72 years. He attended College 1881-1882 (School Reg. No. 998), and was a Life Member, No. 4, of this Association.

SOLOMON—On January 17, 1938, at Mt. Lawley, West Australia, Ernest Philip, dearly beloved husband of Esther Solomon, of 26 Vincent Street, Mt. Lawley, loving father of Annie (Mrs. E. Best), Madge (Mrs. H. Cohen) and Howard, loved brother of A. E. Solomon and Mrs. R. A. Lawrence; aged 65 years. He attended the School 1888 to 1889 (School Reg. No. 1,893).

Life Members' Certificates

Life Members who have not yet received their membership certificates are requested to communicate with the Secretaries.

The newly-designed Life Membership Certificates are now available. These will be issued under the seal of the Association, and are obtainable by all Life Members upon payment of 2/6 to cover necessary costs of printing.

Life Members who have been already issued with old style Certificates are eligible to obtain a new Certificate if they so desire.

Old Boys' Bowls

The Annual Bowls Match was played this year at South Park on Wednesday, 23rd February, and a very enjoyable evening was experienced, P.A.C. again showing their superiority over Old Blues by winning all but two rinks.

Great rivalry existed and some of the games were very close. The final official scores were: P.A.C., 168, to S.P.S.C., 102, while the Executive Rink finished with a margin of three.

Saint Mark's Extra No. 1 and Extra No. 2 Rinks apparently played well, as the noise could be heard a great distance away.

Supper was served in the Club House, and we take this opportunity of thanking our lady helpers for their great assistance.

Old Boys' Tennis

This match was played at St. Peter's College grounds on 6th April, and resulted in an easy win for the Old Reds by seven rubbers to one.

Neither of the Associations were able to field their full strength.

R. K. Thomas and D. Cowell played excellent tennis to beat K. Berriman and M. Newcombe in straights sets, 11-9, 6-3.

A match between T. S. Bowen and C. S. Stokes v. A. N. Dawkins and R. Jew was closely contested, the latter eventually winning 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Another interesting match was W. S. Mallen and K. Biven (St. Peter's) v. A. N. Dawkins and R. Jew, the latter pair again winning 10-8, 4-6, 6-4.

T. S. Bowen and C. S. Stokes also did very well in a three-set match against Drs. Gar. and Ray. Hone, the latter eventually winning 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.

SCORES

A. Edwards and R. Jessop defeated R. K. Thomas and D. Cowell, 6-2, 7-5.
A. N. Dawkins and R. Jew defeated T. S. Bowen and C. S. Stokes, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.
M. Newcombe and K. Berriman defeated R. Magarey and G. Bridgeland, 6-2, 6-1.
Drs. Gar. and Ray. Hone defeated W. S. Mallen and K. Biven, 6-4, 6-1.
A. Edwards and R. Jessop defeated R. Magarey and G. Bridgeland, 6-2, 6-2.
M. Newcombe and K. Berriman lost to R. K. Thomas and D. Cowell, 9-11, 3-6.
Drs. Gar. and Ray. Hone defeated T. S. Bowen and C. S. Stokes, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.
A. N. Dawkins and R. Jew defeated W. S. Mallen and K. Biven, 10-8, 4-6, 6-4.

THURSDAY, 11th AUGUST

Golf—Old Blues v. Old Reds, at Kooyonga.

Old Boys' Week

Once again "Old Boys' Week" approaches. This year, however, it is later than usual owing to delay in the re-opening of the School after the Christmas holidays.

This year an additional sports contest, viz., Rugby, has been arranged. Those taking part in the various sports contests will be delighted to know that the new Association guernseys will be available. Members are requested to assist the various sub-committees by promptly advising in which contests they wish to participate.

Golf Match—To suit the convenience of players this match has been arranged for Thursday, 11th August, at Kooyonga.

Owing to golf competitions at Kooyonga an earlier date could not be arranged.

After the match the Rymill Cup will be handed to the captain of the winning side.

Bridge Evening—Either Auction or Contract Bridge may be played, as arranged with your opponents. This match will be played on Monday evening, 25th July, at Arcadia Cafe. You will greatly facilitate arrangements if you will kindly arrange for your own partner, find two opponents, and send in the four names early to the Secretaries.

Football Matches.—Members are requested to forward their names early for these matches. As at least 45 players will be required, country members are specially requested to give their support.

Morning Assembly.—In response to the expressed wish of one of our "older" Old Boys, Mr. J. F. Ward (Headmaster) has invited to the Morning Assembly on Old Boys' Day, Thursday 28th July, at 9 a.m., all Old Reds who attended College 60 years or more ago. Last year's attendance was a record, but this year will probably be better still.

Old Boys' Day—A record attendance of Old Boys is expected on this occasion, and a larger proportion of country "boys" is anticipated.

During the afternoon the "Rowley Woodwork Room" will be open for inspection.

Annual Dinner—Your committee have arranged for the Annual Dinner to be held at the South Australian Hotel, North Terrace, and look forward to a very successful function. The price of the tickets will not include refreshments, for which each member will pay according to his requirements. This is a more equitable arrangement. The musical programme will provide for the usual community singing.

Annual Dance—An active sub-committee is attending to the arrangement. Dancing will be from 8 till 1 a.m. Guests will be received on arrival by the President (Dr. A. G. Trott), Mrs. Trott, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ward. As usual, an excellent programme of dances and music is being arranged.

Old Scholars' Service—Mr. T. R. Mellor, O.B.E., V.D., LL.B., will deliver the address. Being an Old Red, a record attendance is hoped for. The proceedings will be broadcast for the benefit of country and Interstate Old Boys.

The usual annual booklet in connection with Old Boys' Week will be sent to all members early in July.

Old Boys in Sport

CORRECTION

Under Cricket Notes in the last January issue of the Chronicle, p. 196, an error occurred. The young bowler who secured the first "hat trick" against St. Peter's College was Robert Henderson (not Richard). The error is regretted.

CRICKET

In the papers of 28th March appeared the following extract: "After playing for 24 years with the Port Adelaide Club, Gordon W. Harris has retired from district cricket." And so concludes a most solid, yet colourful career, both as a player and a captain. At such a time figures are of more than the usual interest, so the editor publishes the complete list, knowing that they in themselves will epitomise Gordon's outstanding performances in this branch of sport.

	I.	N.O.	H.S.	R.	Av.
Dis. Cricket	211	23	205 n.o.	8,268	44
Interstate				2,058	33.7

Over 10,000 runs at an average of 40, including 25 centuries. Well played Gordon!

Whilst on the subject of cricket, we are conscious nowadays that there is clamor for brighter and still brighter cricket: evidently Rob Meyer of Ashbourne is equally conscious of the fact, for in the country cricket carnival, he had the audacity to make 40 off of one over! Four 6's and four 4's. No report is to hand as to whether the bowler was conscious too. During the course of another carnival match Rob and his partner put on 130 in less than three quarters of an hour, and it is rumoured that he had not even changed into top gear—. It is seldom that the very hard-hitting batsman makes more than 50, but Rob's first three innings were 110, 89 and 120!

The "grand uncertainty of cricket!" A phrase so often used yet so unmistakably true: and it was this thought that came to mind when the editor was asked to spare a paragraph in this article for Colin Gurner—the junior. At the season's beginning he was playing for the 'Varsity C's, and his performances suggested his probable retirement from the game. Inter-Varsity time arrived—the match in Melbourne—many of the A and B regulars unable to make the trip—Colin available—plays and makes highest score in each innings, and is really terribly unlucky to miss a century! Back to his home town and it is another case of "a local boy making good." Transplanted into A grade district competition, he finished second for his club in both batting and bowling. Well played! And versatile too! We read of his success in the University Golf Club; tennis and athletics: and in the bargain he is a member of the 'Varsity football team! The father, Colin, was a double blue at the University, so shall we vulgarly say, "There is a chip off the old block?"

ATHLETICS

Usually there is little of interest to report in this branch of sport, but one or two of the collegiate champions have now become Old Boys, and have continued to add further successes to their careers; I refer notably to Jack Tregonning and Rob Craven, the former, after winning the University and State Amateur shot putting championships, rounded off an excellent series of performances in the Inter-Varsity Athletic Championships, held in Sydney, where he broke the record by 2 feet, registering 41 ft. 1 in. Craven, in his first year from college, won the 100 and 220 yards State championships—an excellent effort—which he followed up by winning the 'Varsity Cup, although on this occasion he was beaten in the 100 yards event. He ran second in the Inter-Varsity 220, which was won in the startling and record time of 22 secs. dead. H. J. Edelman and A. G. Rowe, were two other Old Reds participating in the Inter-Varsity, making a "Red" representation of 4 out of a team of 7.

TENNIS

Success upon success has attended the efforts of Old Boys in this branch of sport, and with due respect to the wonderful series of victories to Newcombe, Mates, Lock, etc., probably one of the most pleasing features of the past season was the crowning success of E. P. Copping, of Lucindale, who by winning the Country Championship for the third time, became the outright winner of the cup presented for the championship competition. For many years this hard-hitting player has been in the forefront of the outer-metropolitan game, and his successes in the South-Eastern Easter tournaments are little short of clock work.

The school has never produced a player of Davis Cup standard, but at the moment are two potentialities looming on the horizon, viz, Max Newcombe and Bill Mates—both Linton Cup players. During the past season, Max won the Junior Singles Championship of Australia, the City of Perth senior and junior singles championships, and besides the doubles victories, he has excelled in competitions of a less important nature. Perhaps one of the best portenders of his future was his win over the Davis Cup and South Australian No. 1 player, Len Schwartz, in district competition. Then in the following week, perhaps just to confound the critics, along comes Ross Lock and beats Max whilst still flushed with victory. Ross is another Old Red playing good tennis—he is 'Varsity's No. 1 string, and the win mentioned at Max's expense he saw fit to duplicate before the season closed. It is perhaps a little premature to predict what the future has in store for Bill Mates, but the fact that he went through the district club matches undefeated speaks volumes in itself.

ROWING

That an Old Boy should again be the stroke of a King's Cup crew, calls for congratulations, and this time the focus of our attention as directed towards Max Richardson. After a series of misadventures re accidents and finance, the South Australian crew eventually started in the great race. Although the crew was unplaced, we take pride in the fact that Max was the stroke and R. K. Dunn the 7. A few years ago, Jack Williams, one of the best oarsmen that the College has turned out, stroked a King's Cup crew.

JUST JOTTINGS

Mr. A. E. J. Klose won the Kensington Gardens Bowling Championship this year, and the editor is informed that this is not the first success of its kind that our congenial chemistry master has had. Another of the staff, in Mr. Mutton, is a prominent member of the same club (this should be a good game for the "drawing" master).

Doug. Verco is the new president of the University Sports Association—a high honour, but there's plenty of hard work ahead. A few years back Doug's interest was athletics, now its the Sporting Car Club—or is it? Perhaps the social columns could give us a better indication of his interests—recently engaged!

Graham Andrew has been elected the captain of the University Golf Team to represent Adelaide in the Inter-Varsity contests. That's making the grade!

Chester Bennett graduates directly from college to League football! And one of North's best too! Congratulations! Last summer Chester also made a conspicuous entry into district cricket—a nice double!

Angling, or the "one that got away," or "just fishing." Recently G. R. Cowell, an Old Boy pulled in a thousand pound white pointer—a world's record. Deep-sea fishermen take note! A strange fisherman this—still modest.

Certificates showing that big game fish caught by South Australian fishermen had been registered by them in the 150th anniversary big game fishing competition, will be presented by the Minister of Agriculture, to Mr. R. G. Cowell, whose 1,023-lb. white pointer established a world's record, and to Mr. C. B. Norton, who hooked a 356-lb. cocktail shark.

ASSOCIATION BLAZERS AND TIES

The Association blazers and ties are available for members of this Association only. Any member of the Association desiring to secure a blazer or tie is requested to write to the Secretaries of the Association for a Certificate of Membership in order to avoid delay in obtaining delivery when purchasing.

Old Collegians' Rugby Club

The formation of an Old Collegians' Rugby Club involved a great deal of work, but the success so far obtained has more than compensated for the many difficulties experienced in establishing it.

The Club is making excellent progress, and with the assistance of a good coach, the team has given a very creditable account of itself in its several matches.

North Adelaide B won the first match 16—0, but this was a far better game than the scores indicate, and North's experience won them the day. The next game was forfeited by Varsity B2, but the Adelaide A-Grade Team which was disengaged, gave the team a practice match, and this experience helped considerably.

Against Woodville B, after a very strenuous match, the game was drawn. The Navy Team was beaten 11—3 the following week, and then Varsity B1 forfeited to our team. Unfortunately, through the vacation, they were unable to field a team.

The present position is that, having scored 7 points, the Old Collegians' Rugby Team is now second to Varsity B1, with 8 points.

As there were only two experienced players upon which to build up the team, the results will no doubt give the players greater confidence for the rest of the season, and they are looking forward to meeting St. Peter's Old Collegians during Old Boys' Week.

Old Collegians' Cricket Club

The 1937/8 season has been a successful one for the cricket team. After an interesting year, finishing second on the premiership list, and beating Saints' Old Collegians for second place by one point.

Norman Walsh, who was new to the team at the beginning of the season, headed the batting averages with 47.2, and also finished with the highest aggregate. The highest individual score was 100, made by Harry Newman against West Port.

In the bowling, Neill Shepley headed the averages with 16 wickets at an average of 11.4. Captain Mervyn Evans finished second by bagging 4 for 16 in the last match. This player shows promise of developing into a fine bowler. He conceals his pace, direction and length effectively, and is likely to deceive both batsman and wicket-keeper at any time without warning.

Old Collegians' Football Club

The prospects at the beginning of this season appeared particularly bright, although the services of several of our leading players, in John Stephens, Ross Stanford, and our old friend and last of the foundation members playing, in Alf. Waldeck, have been lost. However, we were fortunate in having the services of Doug. McLean and Dick Hancock, two former league footballers, and Wally Roach, an old scholar from our friendly rivals, Wesley College, Melbourne, who has been invited to play with us.

A very enjoyable practice match was played against St. Peter's Old Scholars on 6th April, and it proved that we had the material to mould a first-class side. At the conclusion of the match Ted Stephens was again elected captain, after playing a fine game, and Norm. Anderson was elected vice-captain.

In our first match bad luck seemed to cross our path. Ted Stephens, our captain, who was playing a real captain's game, had the misfortune to over-balance after taking a brilliant mark and fall on his head. The injury has forced his retirement. This unfortunate happening necessitated another election of captain, in which the vice-captain was elected to that position, and Terry Bond was elected vice-captain. Further misfortune came our way when an X-ray examination revealed a broken bone in Harry Bennett's wrist, sustained in our practice match against St. Peter's. Doug McLean and Col. Turner have also been out with injuries. However, Alex Lill is now with us, and he will no doubt improve the team and educate the new players to Amateur League standard.

The "B" team is again playing in the Students' Association, and they are a very keen and happy team. They have won all their matches to date, and we may look forward to further good results from this team.

Unfortunately, there are still Old Scholars of Prince Alfred who seem to prefer playing with other teams than keeping up their School associations and keeping more directly in touch with the activities of the Association.

N. K. Anderson is the secretary, 147 Parade Norwood, F 1334.

RESULTS OF MATCHES TO DATE

NEW MEMBERS

The membership is still steadily increasing, and it is particularly pleasing to note that the new members include many names of Old Boys who left the School several years ago, but who now have joined up to renew their association with the School and their former school-mates. All members are requested to still further add to the membership roll by obtaining new members.

OLD COLLEGIANS' HOCKEY CLUB

The formation of an Old Collegians' Hockey Club failed this year owing to lack of time, but the Old Boys interested in this game are confident that they will be able to achieve their desire for next season. The preliminary work so far done has been most satisfactory.

ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIPS

It is perhaps unnecessary to remind members that the Association Scholarships are awarded upon the Rhodes Scholar lines. The holders of the five scholarships are proving their worth as will be seen from the following extracts from reports for first term ending, May, 1938:—

Name	Number in Class	Position Gained	Remarks
A	24	7	Has worked consistently and made good progress.
B	29	1	An excellent start. He promises to do really well.
C	29	3	He has made a promising beginning at the new course of work.
D	25	5	He is an earnest worker and has made very pleasing progress.
E	29	5	He has made a promising beginning at the new course of work.

MINIATURE TOKENS

In order to meet the wishes of many Old Boys a miniature token has been approved by this Association in addition to the ordinary large size token. These miniature tokens will be issued on the same conditions, viz., that they remain the property of the Association and may be recalled upon cessation of membership.

The price of the miniature token is the same, 20/-, when issued to members. Any member already holding a large sized token may exchange it for a miniature token upon payment of 10/-.

Any Old Boy requiring further information should write to the Joint Secretaries of the Association.

Interstate Branches

BROKEN HILL

At the present moment the Broken Hill Branch is without a Secretary, and a new Secretary is required immediately. Old Reds in Broken Hill are requested to give the matter their attention and to elect a new Secretary and Committee for the ensuing year. Every assistance will be given by the Association in Adelaide to revive this Branch.

NEW SOUTH WALES

The Branch Secretary is Mr. E. A. Kesting, Newington College, Stanmore, N.S.W.

Mr. Allan Lyon will continue as President, and may be found at 73 Pitt Street, Sydney. Any Old Scholars visiting Sydney are invited to communicate with them.

ANNUAL DINNER

Arrangements for the Annual Dinner are now being made. All Old Reds are requested to communicate with the Branch Secretary.

PERSONAL

Mr. W. G. Kither has left for an extended tour of England.

We congratulate Mr. Gordon Kayser upon obtaining his B.E. degree. He has accepted an appointment with Australian Iron & Steel Ltd. at Port Kembla as a metallurgist. Whilst passing through Sydney he was entertained by the local branch.

Mr. L. J. Kesting has returned from Europe, where he has been for 18 months on a teachers exchange, arranged through the Education Department. He returned via America, and has now gone as head teacher at the State School, Glossop, South Australia.

Dr. Alex Burnard, one of Australia's youngest Doctors of Music, is rapidly winning a name for himself as a composer. His "L'Allegro," with which he won the A.B.C. Composers' Competition, was the subject of a National broadcast given by the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra and Wireless Chorus.

Dr. Burnard, who is a South Australian, and was formerly a staff member of the Elder Conservatorium, Adelaide, is now on the staff of the Sydney Conservatorium.

Mr. R. H. G. Burns is now attending the Sydney University, where he has been studying Veterinary Science for the past three years. He hopes to complete the course next year.

Mr. C. W. Wright (R.A.E. Barracks, George's Heights, Mosman) hopes to attend future Association functions in Sydney. He has been rowing with the Mosman Club, and in the Defence Competition was a member of the winning cricket team.

Mr. R. W. Blundell, who has so generously contributed pen sketches for our Chronicle, is in charge of the Advertising Department of F. J. Palmer & Co. Ltd., a very large Mercery and Sports Emporium in Sydney.

Mr. W. G. Kither, Managing-Director of Goodyear Tyre & Rubber Coy. (Aust.) called at Adelaide on his way to England. We were pleased to meet him at our monthly luncheon on 28th April. Afterwards Mr. Kither called out at the School and inspected the additions with Mr. Ward.

Mr. Fred Harris, who holds a very responsible position with H. Jones & Co. Ltd., in Sydney, left recently by the "Mariposa" for America and England. He is a well-known yachtsman, and is Vice-Commodore of the Royal Motor Yacht Society (Sydney).

VICTORIA

Mr. D. F. Burnard is the Branch Secretary, and his address is: C/o Chief Engineers' Branch, P.M.G. Department, Treasury Gardens, Melbourne, C2. He will be pleased to hear from any Old Reds who may be in Victoria. 'Phone number Central 5551 or UM 1547. He would be glad to receive notifications of changes of address.

GENERAL

On 1st May last year's trip to Dr. Jona's "Log Cabin" was repeated, and again we had a delightful afternoon. Besides Old Reds, Old Saints and representatives from the Victorian Public Schools were invited.

On Thursday, 19th May, 14 Old Scholars had lunch together at the Victoria Palace. It was enjoyed so much that we determined to meet there again in about three months time. Those present were: C. W. Crompton, J. G. McEwin, T. A. Laurence, A. J. Willsmore, G. L. Ekins, R. M. Scott, E. T. Bailey, W. A. Leitch, A. De Q. Robin, Dr. Ian McNeil, F. Ellis, I. H. Boas, Dr. Leon Jona and D. F. Burnard.

ANNUAL DINNER

Preparations are now in hand for a reunion dinner on 30th June. We are separating from Saints, and are holding the dinner at the Victoria Palace instead of at "The Wattle," as in previous years. We are expecting a very enjoyable evening, and any Victorian Old Scholars reading this should make certain to be there.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

The Branch Secretary is Mr. E. Witherage Cotton, No. 5 Melrose Crescent, North Perth, who will be pleased to hear from all Old Reds in W.A.

PERSONAL

Fifty-four years ago Mr. J. W. Langsford came to this State from South Australia, and four years later he was married to Miss Agnes J. Read at the old Wesley Church, Fremantle, by the Rev. Paul C. Thomas. He attended College 1876 to 1878. Mr. and Mrs. Langsford have now celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and kept the telegraph boys busy delivering the numerous telegrams of good wishes which came to them from their wide circle of friends. Mrs. Langsford is the daughter of the late Mr. Mark Read, of Mount's Bay Road, one of the earliest settlers who came out from England as a boy in the sailing ship "Rockingham" in 1829.

Dr. J. L. Rossiter recently left by the "Orford" for England.

NEW MEMBERS ELECTED

A. H. Clark, L. H. Nicholls, also F. A. Potts (from S.A.), J. C. Livingstone (Life Member, S.A.).

MONTHLY LUNCHEONS

At the monthly luncheon held on 4th March last, Mr. W. B. Sanders, of Georgetown, South Australia, was entertained. There was a good attendance of Old Reds, and Mr. Sanders greatly appreciated meeting many old friends again, and expressed thanks to all for the very warm welcome. Amongst those present were Mr. H. Boas (President), Messrs. S. C. Brown, Ned Stirling, Edwards G. C. Jackson, G. M. Wilson, Buck Loader, L. Boas and E. W. Cotton (Hon. Sec.).

At the usual monthly meeting held on 13th January, 1938, the President, Mr. Boas, formally introduced J. F. Ward, Esq., Headmaster of P.A. College, whom all Old Reds had been circularised to be present and meet, those present were as list and apologies. Dr. J. L. Rossiter supported Mr. Boas, and in a short speech welcomed Mr. Ward as his predecessor at Wesley College, speaking of the excellent ground work done by Mr. Ward as first Headmaster, which was a very great help indeed to the Doctor. The Doctor also thanked, through Mr. Ward, the Head Association in Adelaide for their help in the matter of Ric. Throssell's education at Wesley, and mentioned how well the lad had done all through the past three years as to learning, and that he was latterly being much more interested in sports, a matter which would have pleased his late father. Ric., he said, also had developed, very well, dramatic talent, having composed and supervised the acting of a very neat play at the College.

Mr. Ward, on rising to respond, was very warmly received. He thanked all "Old Reds" for the thought and help they gave the Old School, pointing out how very much it was appreciated by himself and staff and the parent Association, for not only was it a help financially, but largely morally too. He also spoke of his own health and strength, which was, he said, of the best, and would be used to its full in the service of the Old School, and in conclusion wished all Old Reds in the State a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and expressed his pleasure at meeting such a large gathering of Old Collegians, which included two old masters, Messrs. Marychurch Jenkins and G. Brown, and whose attendance at the College had ranged from 1876 to quite recently. In resuming his seat our visitor was loudly acclaimed.

Present: Messrs. H. Boas (in the chair), S. J. Dimond, F. C. Waldeck, R. J. B. Miller, P. D.

Coles, B.A., J. C. Livingstone, and the Hon. Sec. of the Committee, with Dr. J. L. Rossiter, Dr. F. M. Wilkinson, Rev. H. H. Fennell, and Messrs. G. C. Brown, J. Marychurch Jenkins, A. H. Henning, S. M. Wreford, G. C. Jackson, F. B. Day, A. S. Chipper, R. R. Mattiske, W. E. Southwood, E. H. Stirling, G. M. Lowe, A. C. Unbehau, R. E. Dimond, G. M. Wilson, A. L. Tilly, H. H. Wheatley, C. L. von Bibra, S. H. Haslam, and R. L. Cotton from Adelaide.

Apologies were received from Messrs. W. C. Fawcett, L. M. Cullen, W. J. McRostie, S. S. Clyde, A. E. Stephens, W. R. Rogers, J. A. Loader, F. S. Pilgrim and L. Butler.

ANNUAL CRICKET MATCHES

The annual cricket matches were played on 19th February at Wesley College Oval, South Perth, and on 20th at the University Oval, Crawley. The weather turned out all that could be desired, but some of P.A.O.C.'s didn't, as per scores appended. Nevertheless, there was some good cricket and plenty of pleasure in meetings of old friends from both Colleges and one-time heated rivals. We missed some of our better players—some complained of old age: Geoff. Burgoyne is trying this on at 60. He was captain and kept smiling. J. A. Richards, at 65, has dropped it, and no young cricketers come along. We shall have to get good jobs over here for a few of them. By the way, the writer saw "Chilla" Smith in the city the other day. He looks as game as ever, but won't play cricket now. He does a lot of stone quarrying in his garden at Darlington in the hills, and generally belies his 70 years. He threatens to join the Branch Association, but "Chilla" was always like that—threatening!

Dr. Rossiter at lunch was thanked by both captains for placing Wesley Grounds at our disposal for the day, and a marquee lent shade and "something similar" when required.

A most exciting contest took place when P.A.'s and Saints combined v. Old Melbournians on the 20th. Only four P.A.'s took part in the game, but there were a good few interested lookers-on of both sexes representing each side.

We are very grateful to Messrs. Angus Maitland, of Saints, F. C. Waldeck, of Princes, and Lance Barnett, of the Victorians, for the excellent arrangements which contributed to the happy two days, and to Mr. G. L. Burgoyne for having got the loan of the tools of trade.

JIM THROSSELL MEMORIAL

Whilst on a recent visit to West Australia Mr. W. B. Sanders, of Georgetown (S.A.) obtained a photo of Jim's grave at Karrakatta.

The W.A. Branch has arranged for the education of Ric. Throssell, who has been attending Wesley College for the past four years. The committee consider that a further £60 will be required to complete his education. Further funds are needed now, and any of Jim's old schoolmates who desire to assist the fund are requested to communicate with the Branch Secretary, Mr. E. W. Witherage Cotton.

QUEENSLAND

The Branch Secretary is Mr. Len. King, Secretary's Office, Royal Queensland Golf Club, Eagle Farm, Brisbane, Queensland.
