School Notes

The third term and the year have come to an end. We started school a little bit later than usual, and succeeded in opening school without any scarlatina. Chickenpox has attacked a few in the Big School, and more in the Prep. Let us hope the Christmas holidays will clear up all these troubles.

Congratulations to Webb and his team. Six wickets for 606 is a magnificent effort. It is not a record, for in 1904, when C. E. Dolling made his big score of 311 and the innings closed for 700, the score when the sixth wicket fell was 624. That four boys should score over a hundred each in the one innings is almost certainly a record, and one that may stand for some time.

We were all very sad at the beginning of the term when we heard of poor Warren Bullock's death. He was so bright and cheerful that he had endeared himself to all in the school. We offer to his parents our sincere sympathy in this overwhelming grief.

Mr. Lane's death came as a further shock to us all. He had not been with us very long, but had found his place in the affections of many in the school; and we were all very distressed to see in the paper that he had been killed in a traffic accident in Melbourne.

All the school will join in welcome to Mrs. Henstridge, who valiantly stepped into the gap left by Mr. Lane and Mr. A. J. Davies. We are all very grateful to her for the help she has given us.

Annual School Service

The Assembly Hall was crowded for the Twelfth Annual School Service held on Sunday evening, 5th December. Hearty singing, prayers in which everyone took part, and an inspiring address combined to make the service a memorable one. D. G. Roach, Captain of the School, read the lesson (Acts 17: 1-10). The Headmaster, in his address, based his remarks on the sixth verse: "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also." He began by pointing out that the Jews of Thessalonica, who brought this complaint before the Roman magistrates, were nearer to the truth than the Romans thought possible. Paul and Silas were the bearers of a great idea, Jesus' idea, His new idea of man's relation to God; and in many ways this new idea did turn the Roman world upside down. It is Christian men, men filled with the Spirit of God, who have done all the great things through all the centuries. Luther, Wesley, Wilberforce—to mention only a few—were men with Christ's ideals in their hearts who "turned the world upside down."

Today we are living in stirring times, when life is moving towards great changes. If the new world is to be a good world we must have Christian leaders. Only a few have the power to influence the nation, but everyone can be a leader in his own little circle. The nation and the world can be right only when each little group is rightly led.

The Headmaster impressed upon the boys leaving school that their association with P.A.C., a school founded by men of deep religious convictions, should have fitted them to join the ranks of Old Boys who have helped and are helping to mould the life of this State. The world still needs turning upside down, for we have not yet learnt that the right things for living are "to love God with all thy heart and soul and strength, and thy neighbour as thyself."

The Headmaster closed his address with words that we shall not forget: "Don't lose your grip on simple things, and remember how simple was Jesus' recipe for life: Love God and love your neighbour. Keep these words as the guiding light of your life, and you will find yourself striving to make life richer, fuller and happier for all around you. You may be unpopular with some, but you will know that you are right and you will join the ranks of those great men who in every age 'have turned the world upside down'."

Speech Night

THE HEADMASTER'S REPORT

Your Excellency, Mr. President, Members of the Council and of the Committee, Ladies and Gentlemen, I have the pleasure and the honour of presenting to you the report on the working of Prince Alfred College for the year 1943.

Before speaking of the events of this year I must report the results of the 1942 Public Examinations, which were not yet published when I made my last report. We have had very good results in the Leaving Honours for the last few years, but have never done so well as we did in 1942. Out of 24 boys who could have gained the certificate, 19 gained it, and the class as a whole passed over 85% of the subjects taken. There were 32 credits won by our boys, including first places in five subjects and second places in four. The General Honours List of 26 names included 10 of our boys, with J. L. Waddy first and R. W. Parsons second. The others were D. L. Jones, R. B. Potts, I. H. Hobbs, B. M. Cheek, J. P. Keeves, M. W. Dunstone, L. T. Nicholls and R. F. Osborn; and of the 12 bursaries seven were awarded to our boys: Parsons came at the top, then Jones, Potts, Hobbs, Cheek, Keeves and Dunstone, while Waddy was unable to receive a bursary as he had won one the year before. This was a wonderful result, and it will be many years before it will be surpassed. I do most heartily congratulate the boys and the masters who made possible such excellent results. In the Leaving 50 of our boys gained or completed the certificate, and among them they gained 26 credits, while L. L. Hoare was awarded a Leaving bursary. In the Intermediate 48 boys gained or completed the certificate, and among some excellent passes P. J. Stobie, P. F. Vawser and J. B. West won Intermediate Exhibitions.

There is, in these days, much decrying of examinations and of most forms of competition in education, but it still remains a fact that such results are a great incentive to other boys in the school to do their best. There surely is some value in healthy competition. This year the work of the School has gone on very satisfactorily. There have been difficulties—difficulties are inevitable in these days of war—but both masters and boys have made splendid efforts to prevent any such troubles from interfering with the success of the year's work.

At the beginning of the year we increased the Prep. staff by adding to it Mrs. R. Martin, and in the Big School Mr. Porter joined our ranks. Both have done excellent work in their respective spheres and made themselves very valuable in the life of the School. At this point in my report I usually mention in detail any changes in the staff that have occurred or are about to occur before the new year. This year I hesitate to do so, lest you think that I am writing a modern version of the opening chapters of the Book of Job. We have had an unusual amount of sickness among the masters, unusual because schoolmasters are, as a rule, such healthy people. But in addition to almost continuous sickness we have had losses which have made this a very difficult year—perhaps the most difficult the School has ever had.

In the second term we lost Mr. Dingle. This was a serious blow to the work of the Preparatory School. Mr. Dingle was not a young man. He retired from the Headmastership of one of the largest State schools, and very soon after his retirement came to us to take the place of one of our young men who had left. He was an old boy of the School and regarded this as his war effort, and it was a very fine piece of work. He was loved by all the boys who were fortunate enough to be in his form, and when he died in July we all felt that we had lost a friend and a most cheerful, helpful and loyal colleague. To fill the gap left by Mr. Dingle we were fortunate in securing the help of Mrs. Hunwick, who had been a very successful teacher in the Education Department before her marriage. She had, fortunately for us, married an old boy of the School, and he was more than willing that for the duration of the war she should help us out of this difficulty. Mrs. Hunwick has thrown herself very heartily into the life of the School and is doing very fine work with III A.

The September holidays brought us much sadness. Mr. W. C. Lane, who joined our staff at the beginning of the year, unfortunately died in Melbourne as the result of a traffic accident. Mr. Lane had endeared himself to many people in the School, and his sudden death came as a very serious blow to us all. In the same week one of our boys, Warren Bullock, was accidentally killed by his rifle going off when he fell down a cliff near his home at Ardrossan. Warren Bullock was a great favourite in the Boarding School, a bright, cheerful lad to whose future everyone looked with pleasure. These two fatal accidents cast a very real gloom on the School when we re-assembled at the beginning of the third term.

So far as the staff was concerned our position was made worse by the sudden departure of Mr. A. J. M. Davies, whose health had broken down. To mend the gaps so caused we again had to call in the help of a lady and Mrs. Henstridge, who had taught successfully in the Departmental schools before her marriage, came to our aid. She has given us her best efforts and is loyally and valiantly doing her part in the work of the School.

I have said enough, Ladies and Gentlemen, I am sure, for you to realise that we have been carrying on since September under considerable strain. May I here express my own personal gratitude to all the Masters for the cheerful, helpful way in which they have shouldered fresh burdens and put the School's needs before their own comfort, leisure or convenience.

Prince Alfred College has always had a loyal staff, but never has that loyalty been better shown than during the troubles that befell us in this last term.

To complete this section of my report, may I add that we are losing the services of Mr. F. C. Bennett who has accepted a more important post in another school, and that two of our part-time helpers are also leaving us: Miss Irma Dorsch who has for two years done good work with our German classes, and Mr. F. G. Guster who for some four or five years has helped with the practical side of the Leaving Honours Chemistry. To both of these may I express the gratitude of the School for the good work they have done. We are also losing Mrs. Barlow, who has served the Preparatory School so loyally for about three years. She has done sound work, especially in the Library work of the Preparatory and we lose her with real regret.

To fill up our ranks for the coming year has been a task of some difficulty; but it has been done. We have been singularly fortunate in securing the services of some excellent Masters, gentlemen who I am sure will uphold the high standard of teaching ability which has always been the tradition at Prince Alfred.

Before I leave the important matter of our staff there is a man of whom I would like to speak, and I know that many of you will be glad to hear. Mr. Iliffe has been with us again this year. You have all read that delightful book, "Good-bye Mr. Chips"; well, J. D. Iliffe is the Prince Alfred Mr. Chips. Whenever we are in difficulties about Masters, I know that as soon as I meet Mr. Iliffe he will say, "I hear you are in trouble; can I help you?" Mr. Iliffe retired about six years ago; but he has been back two or three times to take a class or classes to help us out. It has been a delightful experience for me, who am one of the many hundreds whom Mr. Iliffe taught, to feel that we have such warm friendly co-operation from one whom I, like so many of you, respect and love so deeply.

Again this year we have been unable to present any singing from the Senior School. Mr. Brewster Jones has been away in other States examining for the Music Board and returned only two weeks ago, in time to put the finishing touches on the Prep. singing but too late to do anything with the Big School.

We have, throughout the year, maintained our weekly contributions to patriotic funds and war savings groups in the Prep. and in the Big School. From the ordinary weekly collections the total sum of £255/17/6 has been sent to various patriotic funds. In the Big School £223/11/- and in the Prep. £215/9/- has been contributed through the war savings groups. In August we had a very successful School Concert, which resulted in a profit of £51/8/-. This was paid to the Red Cross and P.O.W. Fund. The proceeds of the Intercollegiate Football Match were also given to the funds. Our half of that profit was £45/9/8. Thus altogether £353/15/2 has gone to various funds from the School and £439 has been invested in War Saving Certificates.

All the organisations of the School have had a good year. The Cadets, the Scouts, the Air Training Corps, the Ambulance Classes, the Debating Society, all these and others have been carried on successfully, and much credit is due to the Masters and to the senior boys for the success of their work.

The health of the School this year has not been as good as usual. There have been epidemics of one sort or another in fashion during most of the year, and we seem to have had our share of them. In the second term we had some cases of scarlatina—a disease which is no respecter of persons, for even Mr. K. W. A. Smith has been away with it for a month during November and December. I am glad to say he is better and here with us tonight. May I again thank Dr. Davey and the Matron for their excellent care of the health of the Boarding School.

We have had two gifts this year that have been very pleasing. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Dunn wished to do something to commemorate the fact that their three boys had all passed through the Prep. School. They decided to erect an Honour Board in the Hall at the Prep. to record the winners of Prep. Scholarships. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn have been very good friends of the School for many years, and we are very grateful for this further proof of their interest. Mr. A. L. Garrett is a name that will not be known to many of you. He is the father of two boys who were sent out to South Australia early in the War to avoid the trouble in England. The boys were with us at school for about three years, and Mr. Garrett, feeling that he would like to do something for the School in return for what it had done for his boys, sent to me last July £100, asking me to use it as I thought best for the School. I decided, with the Council's permission, to use the money for erecting Honour Boards to complete the record of all the Scholarships in the Big School and the Prep. Six such boards have been erected in the big school classrooms, and another big one in the Entrance Hall at the Prep. I hope that by the time we go back to school next year the names will have been inscribed on all of them. I had a letter recently from Mr. Garrett in which he expressed his pleasure that we had used his gift for something permanent in the School.

On 20th August His Excellency Sir Malcolm Barclay-Harvey and Lady Muriel honoured us with a visit. They spent about two or three hours in inspecting the School. They saw us just as we were at our usual jobs, and I think that was what they wished to see. The Cadet Corps provided a guard of honour, and His Excellency congratulated the Cadets on their smart turn-out. We enjoyed this Vice-regal visit very much, and our visitors seemed to be pleased with all that they saw. We are very grateful to Sir Malcolm and Lady Muriel for so honouring us, and finding time in the midst of so many important occupations to come and give us the inspiration of their presence and kindly words.

I expect that many of you will have been looking in vain this evening for the customary prize table loaded with books. The war has brought many problems, and the problem of finding suitable books for prizes has become more acute each year. The Council considered the matter early in the year and decided that it was undesirable to go on binding and giving books, as has been our custom for so long. This decision was mainly due to two factors: the difficulty of obtaining the necessary books; and the Council's feeling that it was wrong in war-time to employ labour on non-essential work. Hence this evening His Excellency will present to each winner of a prize a certificate, which has printed on it the Council's promise to give to the holder a prize of the usual character when the war is over and conditions in trade are more normal. I am sure the Council would like you to know that it has established a special Prize Fund in a separate Banking Account, into which an amount has been paid equal to that which we usually spend on the Speech Day Prizes and Sports Prizes. This means that the money is there waiting for conditions to be such that the books can be bought and bound.

Old Boys' successes used to form a large part of the Headmaster's report, but in these days the record of our boys in the Services seems to take all our attention. In University exams, our Old Boys have done very well. One who stands out is J. L. Waddy, who did so well at School last year and has maintained his standard by gaining first place in the First Year of the Medical Course. I have mentioned Waddy partly because I want to say something else about him. Just a few weeks ago, when Mr. Ken. Smith was away with scarlatina, our VI u Mathematics Class was left with no help for a week or two just before the Public Exams. John Waddy very kindly came out each day and helped them with their work. This was a delightful act of friendliness and readiness to help his old School, which was deeply appreciated by us all and will long be remembered.

The Old Collegians Association has restricted its activities very considerably during the war; but it is still a tower of strength in its vigorous support of the School and its Headmaster. One of its tasks at present is the compiling of the list of old boys who join the Forces. Up to the present about 950 of our boys are known to have entered the Navy, the Army, or the Air Force. It is hard to keep track of every name, and the Secretaries will be grateful for any help in completing the list of old P.A.C. boys on service.

We have had many sad times in School Assemblies when the news of the loss of one of our "boys" has been reported. So far as we know, about 60 of our boys have lost their lives.

Many of them are among the best of the boys and in some cases, like Graham Mitchell, are boys who went straight from School to the Forces. We again offer our sincere sympathy to the parents and friends of those who have gone, and may God help them in these days of sorrow.

We are proud of all our boys who are serving their country, but are especially thrilled when some of them win decorations for valour. In actions where everyone is a hero to gain a decoration is indeed a distinction. Among those who have been honoured in this way are Flt.-Lts. Max Brinsley and John Day and P.O. Brian Riggs who have all won the D.F.C., and Lieut. J. W. Simpson who was awarded the Military Cross in North Africa. In New Guinea Lieut. R. D. Johns, who as a Sergeant at Tobruk won the M.M., has been recently mentioned and recommended for a decoration for bravery in action against the Japanese.

May I again here remind you of the Old Collegians' Education Fund. With this money the Old Collegians Association intends to educate the children of Old Boys who are killed in the War. So far, the cases where they know that this service can be rendered will need the spending of about £1,000. Of this sum they have in hand over £800. They may need much more before the War is over—we do not know how much, but I am certain that whatever sum is needed they will get it without any difficulty. This is too fine a thing to be allowed to fail. I appeal to all of you to help the Old Boys' Committee to accomplish this noble task.

It has become the custom to expect a Headmaster on these occasions to say something about the aims and ideals of education. At present education is being so widely discussed that almost anything I can say has probably been said by someone else or very soon will be. The encouraging thing at present is that not only are many things being said about education, but what is much more important, some things are being done. The present Government has shown its interest in educational ideals by abolishing the Qualifying Certificate and bringing forward a Bill for the registration of teachers and schools. These changes all tend to raise the professional status of the teacher as one who sets his own standards and decides how they shall be met. Then the Government has decided to grant free books and transport and an allowance for board to all secondary school pupils up to the Intermediate standard. These are measures which obviously aim at making education more equally accessible to all without consideration of their financial position.

Now these changes are good. I know they will be criticised and some will object. But, Ladies and Gentlemen, some changes in education have been under discussion for years, and it is very easy for those on the various committees to lose themselves in a sea of talk and do nothing. I may be growing revolutionary, but it does seem to me to be better to do something. Even if it should be found to be partly wrong, it can be adjusted; and better so, than to wait till discussions have produced that perfection which perhaps will never be found.

We must realise that in education, as in all sides of life, there is nothing fixed and unchanging. The school organisation and curriculum of this year will not be suitable for ten years hence. It has been hard for some Schoolmasters and other people to realise that the system which was adequate for the conditions of 40-50 years ago is not necessarily the right one for today.

Education has become a very wide term, embracing many sides of life, and much of our trouble arises because, when they speak about educating a boy, so many people mean merely equipping him to earn a living, and they regard secondary education as the means of helping him to earn his living in a more gentlemanly way. The business world with its keen competition, and the almost as fierce rivalry in the professions, have all tended to strengthen these convictions. Over thirty years ago I had for my sins to read and mark some essays written by V Form boys on "The Benefits of a Good Education." May I appease the wrath of the modern teacher of English by saying that I did not set the essay but had to mark them? I have always remembered that one 14-year-old said among other things that the chief advantage of a good education was that it enabled you to earn your living without working. Now, I don't think many of us would agree with that; but in an indefinite way far too many of us accept as the ideal school one in which a boy learns as many facts and skills as he can in as short a time as he can, so that he may find as good a position as he can where he may earn as many pounds a week as he can. That is crudely put, I know, but it contains an element of truth.

I am glad that more and more we are all coming to realise that education consists not merely in equipping a boy to earn a living but also fitting him for living a life; and that if we fit our boys to live a life, we shall have a world where the method of earning a living will not be the sole end and aim of all our striving as it so often is now. It is hard for me to see how a school can fulfil this twofold purpose without having in some form religion at the heart of its work, and permeating all that it does; and I am happy to see that more and more serious-minded men are coming to hold this view.

But we have all allowed ourselves to be forced into a race for certificates. When a boy comes to school, very often parents do NOT say, "I want him to be educated so that he will know how to put his best into life and get the best out of it; and be a man of sound Christian character." I know that practically all of them want that; but what too many of them say is, "Will he be able to pass the Intermediate in two years from the Qualifying standard?" Ladies and Gentlemen, this is an unholy scramble for that great prize of modern education, the certificate—that piece of paper which says that the holder has satisfied the examiner in a series of subjects which may have no bearing whatever on anything that really matters in life. But unless a boy at the end of his school course can proudly wave at least one of these papers, he is considered a failure. He may have the soundest ideas of life and conduct; he may be a fine Christian gentleman, but it is the certificate that counts.

Now we must have certificates to guarantee a standard of education, but they should be the guarantee that a boy has completed a certain course of study rather than the trophies snatched in fierce competition. If education is to give boys something worth while, it cannot be done in a hurry. If we want the best we have always to wait for it to mature. Thus, possessing a school certificate should mean among other things that a boy has attained a certain maturity of outlook and not just that he has managed to swallow a certain number of facts or rather has swallowed a certain proportion of those which the examiner has asked him to disgorge.

It is for this reason that we have decided next year to follow the wise decision of the Education Department and most of the schools, and shall from now on insist that every boy who sits for the Intermediate shall have three years of instruction after the end of the Primary School course. I am convinced that this will have far-reaching good effects upon the education of our boys. I am intending that they shall spend some time each week in talks about Art, Music, Architecture, in debates and other activities which will give our boys a wider outlook on life and help to make them in a wider sense educated men. I have drafted and shall send to all parents a circular setting out the facts about this change in our school course. I have had in the past so much support from you, my friends; I ask for your co-operation in this matter.

In conclusion, may I again express my gratitude to all those people who have done so much to help the School this year. It has in many ways been a difficult year, and but for the devoted service of all the Masters and the generous help and co-operation of the Council and its officers the difficulties would have been far greater. This support and co-operation have meant much to me personally, and have enabled the School to complete a successful year.

BURSARY WINNERS

We congratulate most heartily the four boys who have been awarded Government Bursaries on the results of the 1943 Leaving Honours Examination. L. L. Hoare, although he was eighth on the General Honours List, was not eligible as he had already won a Leaving Bursary in 1942.

As we go to press word has come that a Bursary, resigned by a scholar from another school, has been awarded to R. J. Deland. We congratulate him also on his achievement, and regret that it is too late to include his photo in this issue."

PREFECTS' NOTES

Once again this term the prefects have been well to the fore in all School activities. In the Intercol. cricket we were represented by Webb (captain), Rook (vice-captain), Selth, Harvey and Dunn. This is the third full Intercol. match Harvey has taken part in, and he is now entitled to his merit badge. On the more serious side of school life, Rook is dux of the School for the third term in succession.

We have given past and future prefects an object lesson in the way a prefects' room should be kept—everything is neat and tidy, and we expect our successors to keep it in the same condition.

The prefects have made an enthusiastic "Red and White" committee, and their persuasive powers have succeeded in extracting full fare from nearly everyone. The prefects, especially, were disappointed that we could not have the dance at School, but everyone had a good time at Burnside. We all noticed that Rook and supper went well together.

Despite all this activity in the prefects' room, we can still boast that the School's best two gymnasts—Roach and Dunn—come from our ranks.

ROWING NOTES

The Annual Forms' Regatta was held on Saturday, 16th October, in which 11 crews competed. The officials were: Mr. D. J. Guppy (starter), and Mr. J. S. Steele (judge). The winning crews were:—

Fourth Forms:

IVC Winners—Ward, K. G. (bow); McCoy, K. N. (2); Hillier, R. R. (3); Pelham, J. T. (stroke); Wilsdon, D. E. (cox).

Fifth Forms:

VC Winners—Lord, K. H. (bow); Richards, B. A. (2); McLachlan, R. B. (3); Fowler, B. M. (stroke); Hoad, B. C. (cox).

Sixth Forms:

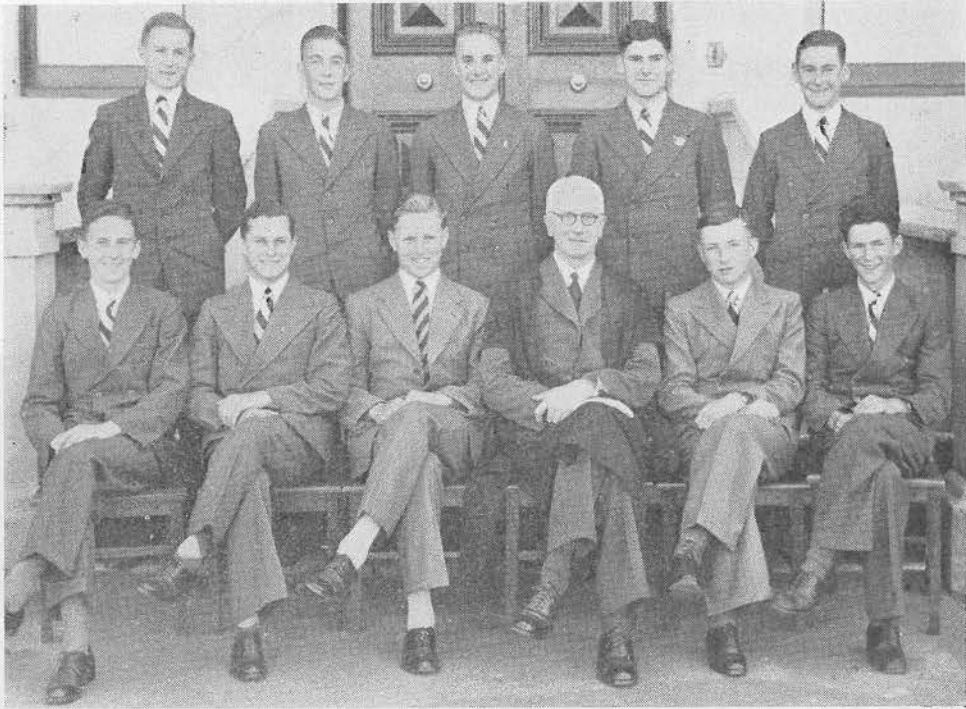

VIU Winners—Heitmann, J. S. (bow); Williams, T. W. J. (2); Brooks, D. G. (3); Ward, J. B. (stroke); Hoare, L. L. (cox).

The Regatta closed with an Eight-oar Race between a School Eight and an Eight in which were several Old Boys. The School Eight, stroked by J. B. Ward, won an interesting race. We were particularly pleased to have an old friend, Joe Whitehouse, rowing again. The A.I.F. has not made him lose any of his skill with the oar.

Early in January a number of our oarsmen will go to Murray Bridge for a fortnight to learn more of the art of rowing. Our coach, Mr. Myer Solomon, has once again generously offered us his services, and we thank him most sincerely for his practical interest in our Rowing Club.

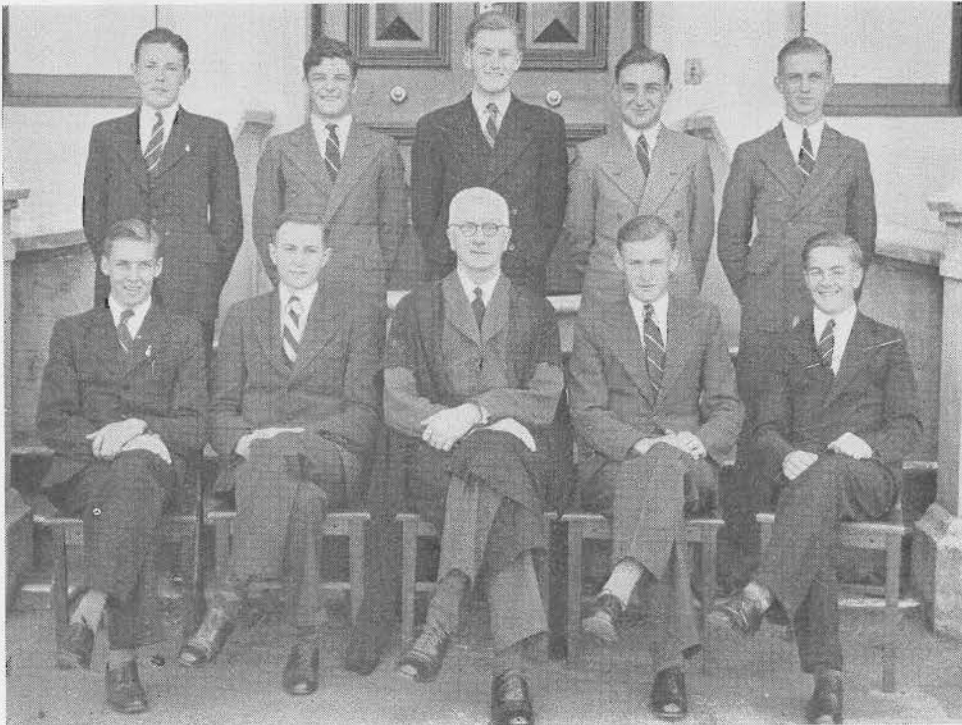

We have heard twice from Stan. Nicholls, who left us at the end of the first term to join the Navy. It is good to know that he is happy in his new field of work.

INTERCOLLEGIATE CRICKET

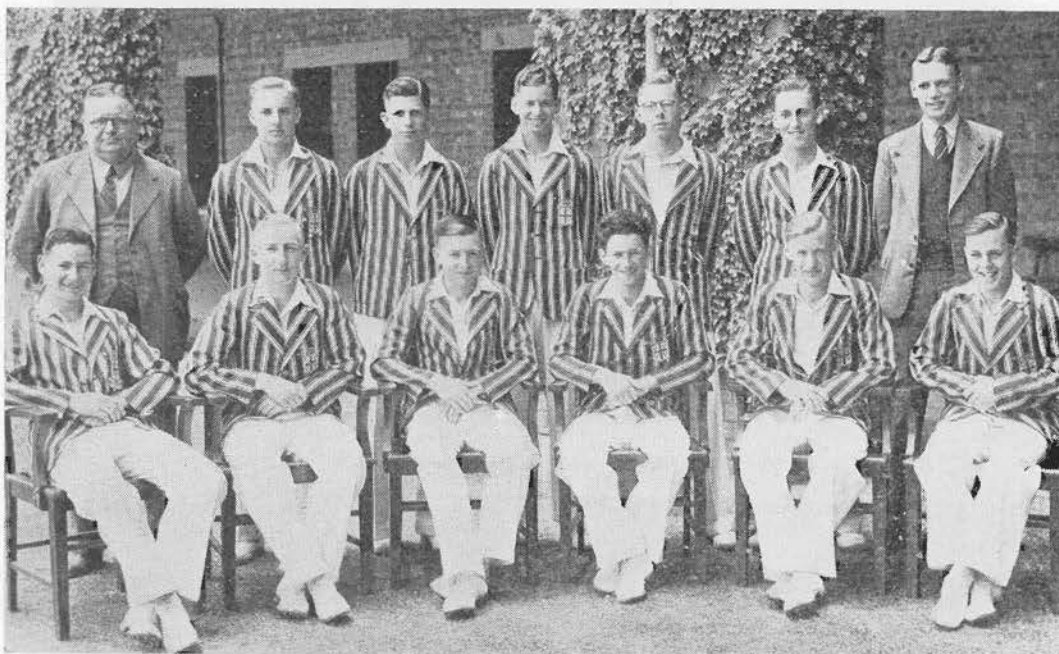

Once again the cricket was limited to four days, from Tuesday to Friday; however, the return to the Adelaide Oval was approved by everyone. The match, which ended in a draw very much in our favour, will be remembered for the record opening partnership of 182 runs put up by Webb and Grant, and for the centuries scored by four of our boys in one innings.

Match Drawn

CRITIQUE OF FIRST ELEVEN

(By the Captain)

Bartram, C. G.—A hard-hitting batsman with an unusual style who attacks from the outset. Has an exceptionally strong hook. Brilliant slip-field.

Grant, C. S.—An excellent left-hand batsman with a wide range of strokes and exceptionally good footwork. A leg-break bowler who uses his head. Solid but slow field.

Evens, A. G.—A very good batsman possessing an easy style and a particularly strong drive. A brilliant and speedy outfield.

Selth, D. V.—A consistently good and efficient wicket keeper. His batting is solid and he has proved himself a valuable rungetter this year.

Cawte, J. E.—A sound batsman who did not show his best form until recently. An off-spin bowler who varies his pace disconcertingly. Very good field.

Dewar, C. C.—A good batsman who especially uses the drive and hook to punish any loose balls. Sound field.

Harvey, J. W.—A fast-medium bowler with an easy action, who has been a great asset to the team. A useful bat, but his fielding is inconsistent.

Hockney, C. F.—A very neat batsman with strong powers of concentration, who should develop into a very good player. An accurate off-spin bowler and an excellent field.

Williamson, D. A.—A much-improved cricketer. A promising bat, and a fast-medium bowler who swings the ball both ways. A brilliant field in any position.

Rook, K. M. (Vice-Captain)—An excellent and accurate medium-pace bowler, who combines swing with variations in pace. A very good batsman. Play sometimes marred by lack of concentration and impatience. Sound field.

Webb, C. R.—As Captain of the team has been an inspiration and largely responsible for its high position in the competition. Brilliant cover fieldsman. Excellent opening batsman with shots all round the vicket. Very good off-spin bowler, with occasional wrong-un.

CRICKET

The First Eleven has performed very well this year, and by being undefeated is now in the top position of the Adelaide Turf Association.

The Seconds and the undefeated Thirds, as well as the junior teams, have won the majority of their matches, and their success gives promise of an even brighter future.

ATHLETICS

This term we have taken part in a limited number of competitions. We entered a team for the Championships held in connection with Boy Week, and were successful in winning a Mile Medley Relay in the very fast time of 4 mins. 3 secs. Our team was Selth, Roach, Opie and Hockney. Selth also won the Half-mile Championship in the fast time of 2 mins. 8½ secs.

In the A.T.C. Athletic Championships, held on the Unley Oval on 6th November, three P.A.C. boys—Roach, Selth and Harvey—gained three firsts and a second in four events. Roach won the 100 Yards in 11½ secs., and the 440 Yards in 53½ secs. Selth won the Half-mile in 2 mins. 6½ secs, and Harvey was narrowly beaten in a very fast 220 Yards.

The following is a list of the boys who received their colours for Athletics in 1943:

Hoad, L. W., scored 17 points in 1942 and 16 points in 1943, representing the School in four events each year. He holds the High Jump record (5 ft. 9 in.), and also won the 120 Yards and 440 Yards Hurdles.

Evens, A. G., was captain of the team in 1943. He represented the School in three events, winning the Broad Jump. He is the holder of the State Junior Hop-Step-and-Jump title, and won the trophy for the most outstanding junior performer.

Hockney, B. E., the vice-captain of the team, who represented the School in 100, 220 and 440 Yards events, securing first, third and second, respectively. Also competed in three events in 1942. He deserves praise for his 100 Yards effort, for his excellent finish after a very poor start.

Barraclough, J. E., won the Mile with a sensational finishing burst. He also represented the School in two events in 1942.

Roach, D. G., represented the School in four events, being successful in the Putting-the-Weight. He also competed in three events in 1942.

Miller, R. C., competed in three events, securing two seconds in the 100 Yards and Broad Jump. In 1942 he won the Junior 100 Yards and secured a second in the Hurdles.

Pederick, B. M., equalled H. Frost's Junior Hurdles record of 14½ seconds in excellent style. He also ran second in the 100 Yards, after a slow start.

Nicolson, L. N., represented the School in three events, securing a second and third in the Hurdles and 100 Yards, respectively.

Hill, R. J., competed in the 120 and 440 Yards Hurdles and High Jump events. He also represented the School in 1942.

Osborn, P. W., also represented the School in three events both in 1942 and 1943.

AIR TRAINING CORPS NOTES

Early this term we received a visit from Squ./Ldr. Snow, who presented our N.C.O.'s with their chevrons and selected a team to represent 70 Squadron in the Wing Athletics Championship, to be held on 6th November. Three P.A.C. boys, Sgt. Roach and Cpls. Harvey and Selth, were selected from over 150 other cadets, and in the sports gained 28 points—more than all the other squadron combined totals for the Championship events. [A fuller account of these sports is found elsewhere in this issue.—Ed.]

At the end of the term about 20 cadets sat for their Proficiency Certificate, but the results of this exam. are not yet to hand. We expect all 20 to pass. Next year several of the N.C.O.'s and cadets are joining the R.A.A.F., and we are looking forward to other boys to swell the ranks.

BOXING COMPETITIONS

These were conducted in the College Gymn. on 6th December. It was thought at first there would be few competitors, but thanks to the enthusiasm and persuasive powers of L. A. Williams there was quite a good muster. Some of the boys, new this year, did not feel too confident, but Williams said the right thing and they decided to compete. Strangely enough, two of the boys who were hesitating won. We are most grateful to Williams for his assistance, and we would like to congratulate him heartily on being undefeated since he has been at the College, and he has competed in all divisions. We hope he will be equally successful against the enemy in his career in the R.A.A.F. Another little difficulty to be overcome was the finding of a referee. Our first referee, Mr. M. Schlank, went on strike years ago and became a judge. Frank Nicholls, now Major Nicholls, decided it was safer in the A.I.F. Joe Roberts, our last referee, is now doing the Sailors' Hornpipe, and we hope he is making as good a job of it as he did at refereeing. Stan. Waterson, another old scholar, who distinguished himself in New Guinea, was to have officiated, but was unable to get leave. A. D. Harvey, alias "Orace," who on medical advice was not allowed to box, kindly stepped into the breach, did a good job, and so all was well.

Owing to the paper shortage, detailed accounts of the bouts cannot be given, but it may be said that, on the whole, the boxing was good and vigorous. The first division was won by L. A. Williams from Barraclough, who has declared for a life on the ocean wave. We wish him the best of luck. He has been a good athlete for the School, and a good fellow. The second division was won by Gann. He is no relation to Abdul; but some rude people call him by that name. The third division was won by Skeer.

We wish to thank the Headmaster, Dr. Erichsen and Mr. M. Schlank for providing cups for the winners, and also Messrs. Schlank, Mutton and Steele for acting as judges, and Harvey for doing the job of a referee. The Headmaster again kindly allowed all boys to see the competitions, and from what we saw and heard we feel sure Mr. Ward's gesture was appreciated.

THE GYM. COMPETITION

The Gym. Championship of the College was decided in the College Gym. on 6th December. There were ten competitors. Don Roach was the winner, and his work was very good. Don especially excels in free circles. These worry most boys, generally through lack of confidence. He thoroughly deserved all the congratulations he received. David Dunn was the runner-up, and he showed much improvement in his work this year. Dave, at his first attempt, was runner-up in the recent Leaving Honours Examination, so we congratulate him heartily on two such good performances. Of the "also rans," Haines was the most successful. He has been keen, has worked hard, and as a result shown much improvement. The form of the other lads was not up to the usual standard, and they showed they had not done enough work. Boys cannot become good, strong gymnasts by correspondence. They must work hard and be possessed of the qualities of persistence and determination. We hope next year they will show these traits, and, if they do, they will improve so much that they will be both astonished and delighted. We hope many of the boys looking on will be stimulated to greater effort, so that they will emulate the deeds of the competitors. If they do, they will be delighted with the improvement in their physique and their health, and as a result they will study better and find themselves ever so much better in their games.

The boys are grateful to the Headmaster for allowing them to see the competition.

CADET NOTES

At the end of last term the annual shooting practice was held at Port Adelaide. Some very good scores were recorded, and the performance of the .310 was very satisfactory. Some of the rifles, however, had their sights out of line, while at times the ammunition failed. The officers and some of the senior N.C.O.'s tried their hand with the Bren Gun. They found it easy to handle, and very accurate.

In the holidays a number of our cadets attended a Physical Training School at Victoria Park. They studied boxing and unarmed combat. On 17th January a camp will begin for 20 of our cadets who are returning to school in 1944. We hope some very efficient N.C.O.'s will be trained at this camp. In the May holidays next year a camp is to be held for the P.A.C., S.P.S.C., and S.C. detachments. It is hoped that this combined camp will be made an annual one.

This term W.O. II H. E. Smith became our staff instructor. He has made our work very interesting by starting an L.M.G. (Spandau) class. He also arranged for the detachment to attend pictures on field craft, which showed us how our lessons are put into practice in actual warfare.

At the end of the year Captain F. C. Bennett is leaving P.A.C. to take a position at King's College. The Corps is very sorry to lose Capt. Bennett, who has been commanding officer since Major W. L. Davies left us in 1941. We wish Capt. Bennett every success, and hope that he will not forget our Corps.

BOARDERS' NOTES

Everyone was greatly grieved at the beginning of this term to learn of the double tragedy which had befallen the School during the September holidays.

Mr. W. C. Lane, who was well liked by all of us, met his death in a car accident in Melbourne. We were all extremely sorry to hear of his passing, and his kindly influence was greatly missed.

The death of Warren Bullock in a shooting accident was also a great shock to us, for he was one of the most popular and spirited of our number, and one of those great boys who help to make the boardinghouse what it is—the backbone of the School. We felt the loss of his ready wit and genial personality very keenly, and we would like to take this opportunity of offering our deepest sympathy to his parents. They are fortunate, at least, in having the fond memories of a very fine son.

This third term, as always, has been marked by work rather than play, and although this goes to press too early to tell of our scholastic achievements in the public exams., we feel sure that the boarders will distinguish themselves in this field as in all other sides of school life.

Congratulations to Cawte on his success in winning the Melrose Prize; and also to the other boarders who have come at, or near, the head of their forms this term.

The health of the boarding-house has been very fair this term, for with the exception of Blight, Phillips, Evens and Coombe, who went down to chicken-pox, there has been no very serious sickness.

We offer our hearty congratulations to Cawte and Evens for gaining their places in the first eleven.

The boarders were given permission by Mr. Ward to go to the pictures on the night of the "Red and White," and as there were so many boarders who were non-dancers, a good crowd had a most enjoyable time. We would like to thank Mr. Ward very sincerely for giving us this opportunity of a "night out."

This term, on the whole, has been quite successful, and we feel that we must offer our best wishes to those who are leaving school this year, and we hope that the splendid character-building influences exerted on them in the boarding-house will stand them in good stead in the hard battles they will have to face, whether in peace or war.

DEBATING SOCIETY

Since the last issue of the "Chronicle" went to press we have had two debates—one against M.L.C., and one against Walford House.

The first, against M.L.C., consisted of two debates, a Senior and Junior, and some impromptus.

In the Junior Debate the M.L.C. team (Misses Penniford, Graham and Dyer) had a fairly easy victory over our team (Messrs. Phillips, Parkinson and West) on the subject "That Commercial Broadcasting Stations be Abolished."

In the Senior Debate the visitors again had an easy victory, Misses Weston, Kirkman and Robinson showing their superiority over Messrs. Opie, Hoare and Roach on the subject "That a Commercial Career Offers More Scope than a University career." The M.L.C. team took the con side.

Later we took part in a debate against Walford House, also held in the Assembly Hall.

Miss Cashmore and Mr. McLachlan debated very well on the subject "That Truth and Politeness are Incomparable." Mr. Stribley could not arrive at any decision except that Mr. McLachlan's figure was "great."

In the Senior Debate, which was of a high standard and very well contested, Misses Heinemann, Cleland and Cox gained 34 points out of a possible 35, while Messrs. Selth, Cant and Cawte gained 32. The subject was "That the Present Education System has Failed." Our opponents took the pro side.

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking Rev. G. B. Stribley for adjudicating both debates, and of thanking Miss Harris of M.L.C. and Miss Baker of Walford House for letting their girls attend.

SCOUT NOTES

This term has been, on the whole, satisfactory for us all. Owing to the Public Exams. many meetings were missed and the attendance was not as good as it had been in previous terms.

The competition for the Abotomey Cup was very close. After the final meetings, when the marks were added, it was found that the Kangaroos were leading by nine marks from the Owls. The marks were then:

Kangaroos	-	-	-	641
Owls	-	-	-	632
Woodpigeons	-	-	-	527
Eagles	-	-	-	453
Magpies	-	-	-	449

It seemed hardly fair to award the cup with the patrol marks so close, and a special test was planned for the Kangaroos and the Owls. This test involved mapping, ambulance, signalling, tracking, cooking and reporting on the journey to Gandy's Gully. The standard of both patrols was high, and the test resulted in a win for the Kangaroos, who scored 170 points to the Owls 143 marks.

The whole afternoon was very successful. The Kangaroos proved themselves excellent cooks. Their stew, indeed, was so appetising that the cooks sampled it out of existence before any verdict could be passed by the examiners.

As a result of this test the Kangaroos, under John West, win the Abotomey Cup for 1943, with Mac Cooper's Owls coming a very good second.

During the term an interesting treasure hunt took place. Various clues were hidden around the school heading to the "treasure." Skinner, showing an excellent knowledge of the school grounds, led the seekers to the much-coveted prize.

With many of the senior scouts returning next year, we are looking forward to a good year's scouting.

UPPER SIXTH SILLY SYMPHONY

Once upon a time there was a crafty spider who lived in his Webb overhanging a Brook. One Summer morning, when the Dewar shining on the grass, it happened that a cockRoach, who lived a Carter of a mile away, was taking a pleasant stroll along Deland; when all of a sudden he found himSelth Cawte in the spider's Webb.

"What the Ellis wrong?" he cried; "I Cant move!"

But the spider only laughed, and said with relish:

"Aha, here's my fine fat friend cockRoach, Cawte by the Taylor something. I Opie doesn't get away this time. Hoare, Hoare, Hoare!"

At this the cockRoach, White with rage, growled to the spider:

"You Wardn't to be so cocky, friend spider; I'm not Dunn yet."

But the spider only laughed, and said with more relish:

"Howard you like to see my insides this morning, friend cockRoach?"

At this moment a large Rook, chancing to fly in that direction, flew straight through the Webb, knocking the spider into the Brook below and releasing the captive. But the cock-Roach only laughed, and lived happily ever after.

THE RIME OF THE MATHS. STUDENT

It is a kindly Maths. master,

And he stoppeth one of three.

"By thy black looks and piercing eye,

Now wherefore stopp'st thou me?

"The classroom door is opened wide

And I'll not stay herein;

The boys are out, and run about;

May'st hear the merry din."

He holds me with his skinny hand.

"There was a test," hissed he.

"Hold off! unhand me, Sir, I say!

Have mercy, is my plea."

He holds him with his piercing eye,

The sad schoolboy stood still

And listens like a four-year-old—

The master has his will.

The schoolboy sat upon his desk,

He cannot choose but stay;

And thus droned on that grey-haired man

While other boys did play.

The Sun now set upon the right;

Down through the door shone he.

Still at his desk, the schoolboy worked,

Though longing for his tea.

Hour after hour, hour after hour,

He wrote, nor sigh nor notion,

How t' do this problem he did have

No idea or notion.

Problems, problems everywhere,

And from them he did shrink;

Problems, problems everywhere,

He had no time to think.

One after one, by the golden sun,

When he had ceased to try,

He looked at each with a ghastly pang,

And cursed them with his eye.

"Pass on, pass on, 'tis six o'clock,

To stay's ridiculous.

He doeth best who loveth best,

Both trig. and calculus!"

The Maths. master, whose eye is blue,

Whose hair with age is grey,

Is gone; and now the schoolboy tired

Went out upon his way.

He went like one that hath been stunned,

And is of sense forlorn:

A sadder and a wiser boy

He rose the morrow morn.

"FAUST"

A Drama in Six or Seven Acts

Prologue

The secret has been well kept, but murder will out, and under the great pressure of my conscience, I have been compelled to take up my pen to relate to you the astounding facts revealed to me in an old middle-Latin document found under the floor of one of the more ancient quarters of this fine old college.

It tells how Mephistopheles had, in bygone ages, approached Faustus with the old bargain that he should sell his soul for worldly success.

Now, this particular Faustus is the last person in the world whom one would normally expect to see rushing madly about selling his soul to the Prince of Evil for any motives of personal gain; and, indeed, it appears that the only reason for his acquiescing in the contract was that he had not the heart to disappoint Mephistopheles by refusing.

Anyway, here is the dramatised version of the old Latin found by the author.

ACT I

SCENE I

The Rooms of the Fabian Society, London.
[Enter—Lucifer and Mephistopheles in close conversation.]

Lucifer: The blithering mule!

Meph.: Truly a dimwit, Lucy!

SCENE III

[Enter—Faustus with two Schollers on Geographic Excursion.]

Faust: Guess we're lost, youse guys!

(Flourish)

[Enter—Mephistopheles.]

Meph.: How now?

Faust: How the dickens do we get outa dis dump?

Meph.: I know! But I'm not saying!

First Scholl.: Is it permitted to me to intercede in this distressing course of events on behalf of my most learned pedagogic acquaintance for the mutual betterment of our—

Meph.: No!

Faust: Can't not give us succour?

Meph.: Don't you call me sucker!

Second Scholl.: Oh—er—you know—this is a most frightfully disconcerting thing, y' know, boy—er—all this—er—rushing madly about—er—boy—er—I—I—

Faust: O.K. Buddy. You win. Give him my soul, pal!

First Scholler does so with alacrity.

[Enter—Shade of Dr. Johnson.]

Dr. Johnson: Sir! Is this cricket?

(Flourish) Exit Dr. Johnson

Meph.: Now I've got your soul, I'll fulfil my part in the contract.

(Raises fingers to lips and gives a piercing whistle.)

[Enter—Cherubim—from above.]

Meph.: Right—take 'em away, boys.

Leader of Cherubim: Mit a one an' a two an' a tiddlyensemble!

Second Cherub (as Faustus, etc., are borne aloft): Rardo, all—all—up—havashower!

(Resounding crashes on all sides)

Exit

ACT V

SCENE I

Twenty years have rushed madly by, and Mephistopheles, together with Lucifer, is seen looting among the papers in Faustus' desk at the University of Zanzibar.

Meph.: (Gnashing gums, for remember 20 years have passed): Lucy, ole sock. We're done for! The sod's gone and lost the contract!

[Enter—Dalai Lama of Tibet.]

Dalai Lama: Haha—foiled!

(Flourish) Exit Dalai Lama

Luc.: Dat guy'snuts.

[Enter—Mahomet.]

Mahomet: "You said it, Bo!

(Flourish)

ACT V

SCENE II

Faustus is delivering a lecture on Economics to an enthusiastic assembly of Bechuanaland Kaffirs. All are enthralled—a rapt silence is heard.

Faust: Now, boys, I could write a better book than Malke and Wadgwick!

[Enter—Mephistopheles and Lucifer disguised as Malke and Wadgwick, respectively.]

Meph. and Luc.: Just say that again, wise guy!

[Enter—Shade of Homer.]

Homer: μεγα Βιβλιον μεγα γαρον!

First Scholler (heckling from audience): Don't be cynical!

(Flourish) Exit Homer

(Suddenly there is a great crash as the earth gapes wide.)

[Enter—Shade of Shakespeare.]

Shakespeare: Boy oh boy! What sound effects!

(Flourish) Exit Shakespeare

((The gulf opens wider until all fall therein except Faustus.)

Faust: Well, if this ain't the limit!

(Falls in and perishes.)

BLOKES LIKE ME

It's a boring occupation, one that turns out quite a fag.

In a dingy classroom writing contributions for the Mag.

They're supposed to be original, but darned if I can see

How they're more than aboriginal from a little bloke like me.

There's an angry master looking on to criticise
my work,
With a deadly sandshoe in his hand, and on his lips a smirk.
There's supposed to be no talking, coz the cream of all are we;
But he said that some were sour cream—the poor, sore blokes like me.

ODE ON A BOARDER'S AGONIES

With twang of tongue and switch of stick
The teacher keeps us up to it.
With scratch of head and vacant look
We pretend we know what's in the book.

But when the term exams. come near
We swot our books up, in the fear
The Head may snip us, when he sees
Our thoughts were wandering o'er the breeze.

And when the term ends, then are we
All thinking of the ecstasy
Of lying in bed till half-past ten
And forgetting all about a pen,

Dreaming of cream, green peas and ham,
Scorning such trifles as bread and jam;
But in our minds we really know
It isn't such a bad old show.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL NOTES

This term the boys have worked steadily, and we congratulate B. K. Hobbs, J. W. Smith and M. K. Gould on their successes. We welcome B. B. Tregilgas, E. J. Ey, M. G. Fuller and P. L. Le Get to the School.

Miss Jackson has left us to take a position on the staff of M.L.C. We shall miss her in the

UNDER 13 "B" CRICKET TEAM

We have all enjoyed our outings to the Gallery, the Museum, the Zoo, and the III B boys had the pleasure of a trip to Long Gully.

Our Library is now fully catalogued on a modified Dewey System, and this term has seen further additions to our shelves. We take this opportunity of expressing our thanks to Lady Muriel Barclay-Harvey for her generous donation of magazines. Also, we thank Mr. M. W. Evans, and his son David, for their donation of always popular Biggles books.

Form room, and in the library where she did such excellent work. We wish her every success at her new school.

The weather was perfect for our sports, and a large gathering of parents witnessed some exciting contests. We congratulate L. W. Harford on his outstanding performance of winning all the open championship events.

Mrs. N. T. Hobbs kindly presented the certificates to the successful contestants. The boys tender grateful thanks to the following ladies and gentlemen who made donations to the Prize Fund: Mr. F. W. Hercus, Mr. W. E. Michell, Mr. R. J. Michell, Mrs. K. Fitzgerald Moore, Mr. N. T. Hobbs, Mr. F. E. Leaver and Mr. F. Maeder. We also thank the boys in the Big School who did so much to make the sports a success.

Contributions to patriotic funds have been made regularly throughout the year. We have forwarded £127/2/ to war charities, and our War Savings Group has added £215/9/- to the national war effort.

Thanks to the skilful coaching of Mr. C. C. Brebner, the cricket team has had a very successful term, in which the general standard of play has increased greatly and in which only one match against another school was lost. The fielding was good, with White, who took two catches of which any first class cricketer might have been proud, and Trowse predominating. Sumner and Brebner were our best bowlers, though Nosworthy made great strides when he gave up poor fast bowling for good slow-medium spinners, and Laughton gave useful help.

In batting Brebner and Trowse remained outstanding, but made more failures than in the first term. The rest of the team rose to the extra responsibility thrown on them, and all improved greatly, especially Perry, who had one innings of over 50. The spirit of the team was splendid.

This year Chapple House was successful in winning the A. W. Welch Cup:

WHAT I WANT TO BE WHEN I GROW UP

When I was young I had my first ride in a tram: I was going to be a tram conductor because he took the money and rang the bell. For a while I was quite happy as a conductor, but soon I had my first train ride. That was the end of the conductor; I became a train driver. For my next birthday I was given a train. I played with it all day, and every day, until the spring broke.

I was going to a school where there was a master I did not like, so I decided to be a schoolmaster. I was a good master, but it could not last.

Christmas came and my brother was given a cricket bat. I was soon a professional cricket player.

My brother broke his arm and the doctor came and set it. Soon he was better and I decided to become a doctor. The trouble with this was that no one broke an arm, and as I could not find any work I gave it up.

My next was to be a professor of Mathematics. I did not know what that was, so I gave up that idea.

Then it was the postman who attracted my attention, and I went about blowing a whistle. It was broken, so that was the end of the postman idea.

The war started, and I became, in turn, soldier, airman and sailor.

At the moment I would like to be an engineer, but the results of these exams. make me think I will have to be a dustman, because if I were a tram conductor I might lose the money; a train driver would need to know all about the levers, etc.; schoolmasters, professors, doctors and engineers learn subjects like Latin, Algebra and Science. The war will be finished before I am old enough to join up. The only thing left for me to be is a dustman; he does not need to read, write or know anything, and, as I know nothing, I think it is the best job for me.

ODE TO TOJO

(To the tune of "Bless 'em All")

Bash 'em all! Smash 'em all!
Those Japs. are the worst of 'em all.
Sink all their navy, and shoot down their planes,
We're giving to Tojo some well-deserved pains,
Which are helping to win us the war
As back to their homeland they pour.
We'll soon drive the Jap. from this side of the map,
So down 'em, my lads! Bash 'em all!

G. I. B., III A

Our Nazi foes are falling back,
Thick, and ever faster;
Their ack-acks fire on all our planes,
But we fly on to blast her.

They cannot hold when we attack.
Der Fuhrer's getting frightened—
His cronies all are leaving him,
Our grip on him has tightened.

"FOOL ABOUT"

Fool about, and fool about, and disappoint your mother.
Fool about, and fool about, and scold your little brother.
Fool about, and fool about, till Dad gets in a rage.
Fool about, and fool about, and idly turn the page.

EDITORIAL

After the War

It was only to be expected that, having vainly sought a title for this article for three months, on finding it one should also discover that Mr. A. P. Herbert was earlier in the field. No breach of security would be committed if it were said that every service man and woman proclaims about once every week what he or she will do after the war.

These anticipations, which are at least as reliable as pre-war weather forecasts, take various forms. Emphatically they say, "We'll be sure this time there'll never be another war," or, "Once I get home I'll never leave again," or perhaps even more frequently, "They can keep their bloomin' Army," or some such words.

Now, all this is very well, these excellent sentiments no doubt express the very natural feelings of a nation compelled to forsake its normal way of life, break up its homes, and subject itself to a severe form of regimentation in order that regimentation itself shall be defeated. Then says Mr. Herbert:

"Won't it be wonderful after the war,
After the war, after the war.
There won't be no war and there won't be no pore,
After the war, after the war.
We won't have to work if we find it a bore;
We'll all get a pension about twenty-four,
And there's only one problem I'd like to explore:

Why didn't we have this old wa-er before." . .

It has taken us another war in a little over two decades to be convinced that there "won't be no war" again. That this war occurred is evidence that we, all of us, were not really determined that there would be no more war. We turned up our noses at public affairs because some aspects of them were unsavoury; we girded ourselves about with a restrictive trade policy, and we made the view through our only partially opened door sufficiently uninviting to discourage desirable immigrants. These are only three of the many fundamental errors into which we must not allow ourselves to fall.

There is no greater disservice to post war construction than disparagement of our political institutions; one says construction advisedly. The things that we build on, the enduring things, the foundations of our national life survive all the horrors of war. Some of our four-fold freedoms may have been put aside with our motor cars but, unlike our cars, they do not need any rebuilding before rousing. On these strong, tested foundations, we can build more liberally, more permanently. Let our attitude to public affairs be constructive; let us encourage good men to enter parliament—for the "House" is the protector of our freedoms.

MILITARY AWARDS

Lieut. Robert Darwin Johns, M.M., who was recently mentioned in despatches, was awarded the Military Medal in December, 1941. He joined the Militia when 18, enlisted in May, 1940, and left with the A.I.F. for overseas in October, 1940, attached to the 2/27th Battalion. On 15th June, 1941, it was reported that Saida was unoccupied, and Sergeant Johns undertook to obtain confirmation. He was forced to abandon his motor cycle at the foot of Mey Oumiya Hill soon after artillery opened on the houses along the road just behind him.

Sergeant Johns carried on and marched into Saida with a local inhabitant held at the point

Johns, M.M., who had the job of holding the Knoll. Several times the Japanese got within 20 feet but were held up until reinforcements arrived.

The hill has since been named John's Hill.

NEW AND RETIRING COMMITTEEMEN

We regret to lose the services of Dr. A. G. Trott from the General Committee of this Association. Dr. Trott has been a very keen worker for the Association and the School for many years, and was President of the Association in 1937-1938. Owing to increasing work he has, with regret, found it necessary to retire.

Mr. John F. Lavis, who was elected to the General Committee, attended the School 1938-1940, and has just passed his third year B.D.S. Exam. at the Adelaide University. He represents a younger generation and should be of much assistance in the Association activities.

ANNUAL SERVICE—July, 1943

ADDRESS BY CHAPLAIN REV. G. C. HUTCHINSON

Text: "I beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called."

When you began your education at this School, it was to lay the foundations of education and character. Your parents realised the value of these could not be lost in the changing conditions of our times or the circumstances in which men find themselves. Some of you, when you began, may have had a career mapped out for you, but most of you, I venture to state, had to make a decision for yourselves as to the course you would pursue in later life. Differing motives, no doubt, influenced your choice. You chose where you could, by temperament and talent, scope and sphere to best serve your age and generation. By your choice some have gone to exalted position in the land. Others have chosen to serve in the obscure and humble spheres. Wherever we find ourselves, or in what capacity, means little, provided we are giving ourselves diligently to our calling: "I beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called."

Faithful service is the first essential. "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much." Let us have pride in the service. Whatever our calling, do all things well, even the trivial things. A carpenter who takes pride in his work, even if it is only a canary's cage, will put such work in that will express the man. This text does not refer only to some spiritual sphere, separated from the reality of living. The secular and the sacred go hand in hand. The human life is not made up of so many recesses, where we can place the spiritual or the secular and shut them away from the true function of our being. And whether our vocation be preachers or teachers, or doctors or lawyers, or men in the humblest positions, we should regard them as definite callings. Our secular should reflect the spiritual. That is the supreme business of living. An illustration of this is given of a workman in England, who did not like some of the methods adopted by the firm for whom he worked. He refused on principle to apply them. He had a wife and two young daughters. He had great hopes for these girls. But because he remained firm in his resolve concerning his employment, he was dismissed. He would have cheerfully accepted that, but he found when he went from place to place, seeking other employment, all doors were closed to him. He came to Australia after he had lost nearly all his savings. His hopes concerning the prospects and education of his daughters were dashed to the ground, but he passed on to them an unsullied name which was worth more to them than riches.

It is a tremendous buttress to our faith to know that, however small our talents or how weak our effort, we are striving to do the right thing. That has been our inspiration right through the national effort in this world crisis. God has a plan. Each has a place in it. When man pits his plan against God's, disaster follows. He is a Great Architect, and every stone and brick fits into his plan. If we will be used, we contribute to a worthy masterpiece. The chaos of this age is that we are not fitting into God's plan. You cannot violate the physical life without repercussions; why expect that we can. The spiritual Church activities were allowed to fade and ordinances of God were neglected. Spiritual vitality drooped and died. The Gospel is sufficient for a changing world, but men have their own ideas, and their ideas are not God's. The rich fool in the Gospel story thought he could command the future. He said, "I will pull down my barns and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods. And I will say to my soul, 'Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years, take thine ease; eat, drink and be merry.'" God said, "Thou fool, this night shall thy soul be required of thee." He reckoned without God. God did not come into his plan. The world is strewn with frustrated plans and hopes that are never realised when men cut adrift from God. "I beseech you, walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called." In the world reconstruction, I hope spiritual leaders will be called in. Our best intellects have been to round table conferences, and the results came to nought. The world's ills are spiritual, and nothing short of spiritual reconstruction can save the world. The new order we look for—the hopes and dreams of so many—we expect to come by some miraculous power. It will only come by you and I fulfilling our part towards it. Don't look to someone else. It's your job. Walk worthy of your vocation. A very fine illustration is given of the late Commander Lee, the first V.C. hero of this war. One evening, as night began to descend and the snow was falling fast, he was in command of a small naval force which stood outside Narvik harbour. He had discovered that there was a greater force of the enemy in the fiord. He sent a message to the Admiralty advising the position, asking for orders. The Admiralty sent back the message, "We leave the decision to you." The great Commander replied, "I attack at dawn." He went in next morning, to victory and to death.

Men! In the words of the Admiralty, "I leave the decision to you." What will you do? Will you walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called?

ANNUAL MEETING

The Sixty-fifth Annual General Meeting of the Association was held at the College on Thursday, 25th November, 1943, and there was a fair attendance of members considering existing war conditions. Mr. Frank E. Piper (President) occupied the chair until the election of officers took place, when the newly-elected President, Mr. H. N. Shepley, took office. The Annual Report and Statement of Account were presented and adopted.

In accordance with the rules, all the officers and seven committeemen retired. Mr. H. N. Shepley was elected President, and Messrs. C. J. Glover, G. K. Ryder and F. E. Piper Vice-Presidents. The following were elected to the General Committee: Messrs. F. H. Chapman, M. S. Joyner (both on Active Service), L. S. Walsh, D. A. Clarkson, M. W. Evans, J. Crompton and J. F. Lavis. The Joint Secretaries, Messrs. L. B. Shuttleworth and L. P. A.

Lawrence, and the Hon. Treasurer, Mr. G. T. Clarke, were re-elected; also Messrs. J. H. Burgess and C. W. L. Muecke as Hon. Auditors.

During the absence of Mr. G. T. Clarke, whilst on Red Cross work abroad, Mr. W. D. Verco was appointed Acting Treasurer, and a vote of thanks was accorded to him.

Votes of thanks were recorded to Mr. F. E. Piper, Dr. A. G. Trott and Mr. and Mrs. Ward for their helpful assistance during the past year.

At the conclusion of the business, Mr. Edward Williamson gave a very interesting address upon "War-time Experiences in England and Abroad."

An adjournment was then made to the School Dining Room for refreshments. After the loyal toast, the President proposed a toast to "The Boys on Active Service." Sub-Lieut. Max Mattingly (R.A.N.) suitably responded.

NEW MEMBERS

The enrolment of new members still continues very satisfactorily, but your Committee wants every eligible Old Boy to join now and give the Association added strength.

If you know of an Old Boy who is not a member, send his name and address to the secretaries; or, better still, bring him along personally to join up.

"The P.A.C. Chronicle," of which a large part is devoted to matters of special interest to Old Boys, is forwarded to each member of the Association.

The subscription is six shillings per annum. It is suggested that Country Members should remit sufficient to cover four years' subscription or become Life Members by payment of £5 5s. Any Old Boy wishing to become a member can do so by forwarding his name and address to the Head Master, or to any member of the Staff, or to one of the Secretaries.
