JUNE, 1948

No. 211

Editorial

One of the greatest needs of civilized people today is rational enthusiasm, and the lack of this is particularly clear in two important aspects of community life—politics and religion. In every community there is a small percentage of religious fanatics and political extremists, who are very enthusiastic, but whose outlook is unreasonable. The majority of people, on the other hand, are generally apathetic, while having a vague, uninformed, and irrational prejudice against the enthusiastic extremists. Contrast the almost fanatical enthusiasm of the hot gospellers with the indifference of many of us who call ourselves Christians, yet still reject as unpracticable the revolutionary commandment "Love your enemies, . . . do good to them that hate you." Contrast, too, the keenness of political extremists of both the left and the right with the apathetic attitude of the man in the street, who has a vague mistrust of big business and communism yet does not bother to make himself reasonably well informed about either.

Fortunately, however, there are some people in the community whose outlook on life is rational, and who act with vigour, impelled by emotion, but guided by reason. Such are Albert Einstein, Marcus Oliphant and Walter Murdoch, who, in addition to their academic achievements, all take an active interest in public affairs.

One does not need to be talented like these men in order to acquire rational enthusiasm but it is important to have a broad, cultural education, and to cultivate keenness guided by reason. As we move into the upper classes of the school the range of the subjects we study as school-work becomes smaller, but our opportunity of having a broad education remains. The Gifford essays provide an opportunity for studying public affairs; the Debating Society, besides affording training in public speaking, helps to give its members a better informed and more rational outlook on the various problems discussed; the "Chronicle" gives the opportunity of free literary expression: the S.C.M. with its talks from prominent members of the community and its discussion groups helps to cultivate a deeper and more thoughtful attitude to religion. Keenness guided by reason can be cultivated in every side of school-life, including study and sport. By avoiding apathy on the one hand, and fanaticism on the other we shall acquire rational enthusiasm and be in a position to develop and use our talents in the best way.

The Headmaster

The announcement that our Headmaster's name had appeared in the Birthday Honors list, together with the intimation that His Majesty the King had been pleased to confer upon him the honor of Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire, was received at the School with great satisfaction and pleasure both by the teaching staff and the boys.

At the morning assembly on June 10th, after prayers, Mr. Potts in a few happy words offered congratulations to Mr. Ward on behalf of the staff and the whole school on the high honor that had been conferred upon him. Mr. Potts recalled that Mr. Ward was the first headmaster of the newly established Church school at Charters Towers and also the first head of Wesley College, South Perth, which this year was celebrating its 25th anniversary. He raised a sympathetic smile by confessing to his listeners that many years ago Mr. Ward had undertaken the task of teaching him and setting his feet on the rungs of the ladder called "classics". He reminded the school that the Head had devoted his whole life to education and that for several years past had been actively associated with the State Education Committee which was reviewing and examining educational matters in this State.

Rev. C. J. Perry, school chaplain, also offered congratulations. He felt sure that he was voicing the sentiments of all, in saying that the honor was richly merited.

Finally the Captain of the School, Brian Pittman, in a few well-chosen words expressed the pleasure felt by all the boys that both Mr. Ward and the school had been so honored. Pittman then called for cheers which were given heartily.

In replying the Headmaster expressed his sincere thanks for the good wishes of the school. He realised that the honor had been conferred upon the school as well as upon himself. He pointed out that boys did not usually cheer their headmaster—on the contrary in the hurly-burly of school life they very often felt like doing the opposite. Speaking personally, he admitted that in his case it was an unusual experience to be cheered but one which he valued all the more on that account.

The School then dispersed, all feeling that they had been present at a unique and memorable assembly.

School Notes

The First Term is over. The shortest term the school has had since the three term system began nearly fifty years ago.

Everyone was very relieved and pleased to find that the Infantile Paralysis outbreak so soon came to an end.

Congratulations to Young and his team on their fine victory.

We did much better this year in the Athletics Competitions, for first place was in several events quite keen; but St. Peter's boys were too good for us. Congratulations to the better team.

The whole school regretted that the Head of the River Regatta had to be abandoned, because of the outbreak of Infantile Paralysis.

Many will long remember Dr. Newton Flew's address at Assembly towards the end of the term. Dr. Flew, Master of Wesley College at Cambridge, is a learned theologian, but he gave us much beside Theology in his address.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the School Sports on May 2nd. The weather was very good, the events ran smoothly and finished on time. Many commented on the splendid organisation. Congratulations to Zanker and Medlow on their joint victory in the Senior Cup.

Prefects' Notes

At the beginning of the term, Brian Pittman was appointed Captain of the School and Matt. Tiddy, Head of the Boarding House. After these appointments, eleven of us took our seats in the rather dilapidated but nevertheless homely Prefects' Room. We consider we are the best lot of prefects that have ever held office, although others may differ. The behaviour of the boys this term has been exceptionally good, and we feel that the great majority of boys are standing behind us.

As is usual with the occupants of this room, tidiness has been our greatest achievement. Twice! Yes; actually twice has the Prefects' Room been cleaned out this term. We want all future prefects to take note of this remarkable record. (One word of warning—when a broom was brought into the room the second time the walls swayed with shock and nearly collapsed. The inmates then unanimously agreed that such a thing should never be done again).

The Prefects of course have dominated the field of sport. Six of our number are on the Sports Committee while the remainder have all taken an active part in one kind of sport or another. Congratulations to Doug. Young and Ian Wiadrowski who represented us in the Intercol. Tennis. Doug's capable captaincy and excellent play did much to our team's morale. Ian started a little nervously but later played well.

It was bad luck for Matt. Tiddy that the Head of the River was abandoned. He had trained hard for two months in preparation for what he called a victory? Matt. says that he will stroke the eight to victory next year, and we wish him the best of luck.

We have taken a very active part in Athletics. Although only five represented the school in the Intercol., all have helped, whether running standards or helping in general. Pittman was elected Vice-Captain of the Intercol. Team and he had a very good win in the Senior 120 yards Hurdles. Tassie represented the school in three events, Pittman and DeGaris two, and Tiddy one.

For the first time in at least six years, a prefect did not win the Senior Cup. We thought that it was time that the others were given a chance and so let it slip from our grasp for a year. Two of us, Pittman and DeGaris, staged perhaps the closest finish of the day when Pittman just gained the upper hand in the 120 yards Hurdles. Trowse also did well in coming third in the Senior half-mile.

With athletics training and school work taking much of our time, we have not played very much table tennis this term. However later in the term one of our company thought a net might be handy while others decided we needed at least two bats and a ball. Things went pleasantly for two days, after which there was an adjournment while we waited for each other to buy another ball. All players are non-temperamental and are very modest??

Altogether we can look back on a very successful term, but there are a few questions still awaiting answers.

- (a) Vere can we get the drowse hair-cut?
- (b) Who is known as "The Feet"?
- (c) Who likes Glucose?
- (d) Who makes us glad to be alive, and is a pal of Jakka Strawes?
- (e) Who is the man with the "Bushby" eyebrows?

N.B.—A prize will be given to the boy who best finishes the following limerick.

Model Aero Club

After a late start the Aero Club has made rapid progress. Already several models have been made and several more are on the way. So far, the club has been able to supply its own needs without outside assistance. The membership has had to be restricted because of the size of the present club room, so that at present boys are waiting to join. This position will be remedied when the club moves into its own room later on during the year. A few members have helped to increase the club's fund by accepting orders to make model aeroplanes. These few orders have come from day boys whose financial assistance we appreciate. If there are others who want a model aeroplane, cheap, but of superior quality, see Mr. Hudson or Peter Lowe of VI B who is the Club leader.

House Notes

BAYLY

Although this term has not been a very successful one for Bayly, quite a number of Baylyites have acquitted themselves well. At the first meeting Trowse, Tassie, Medlow, P. A. and D. G. Harley were elected to the house committee, Trowse being subsequently elected house-captain for 1948.

Unfortunately for us, the swimming, which we had monopolised for three years, was not held because of the paralysis outbreak, when we had a very good chance of winning for the fourth year.

In the House Tennis we were again without intercollegiate players, but some of our juniors showed considerable promise so that we finished third by defeating Waterhouse after losing to School in the first round.

Bayly was well represented in the intercollegiate athletics by Clarkson, Ellis, Forrest, Lewis, Medlow, Menz, Padman and Tassie whom we congratulate, particularly Ellis who gained five points for the school.

In the school sports, we finished third to School and Waterhouse, Ellis and Medlow gaining 23 and 15 points respectively for us. Ellis easily gained the under 15 Cup while Medlow tied with Zanker for the Senior Cup. This year we did much better in the march but the poor percentage of attendance pulled us down to third place.

We also congratulate Burchell and Malcolm who were picked to represent the school in the Head of the River which unfortunately for us was not rowed.

In conclusion we would like to thank Mr. R. T. Smith and Mr. Leak for their help and interest during this term.

COTTON

The first term has ended and it has not been as successful as was both hoped and expected. As is usual in the first term sport was very prominent and the first event was the Intercol. tennis. Cotton supplied one half of the team: Billing, Head and Richards, whom we heartily congratulate. Naturally our hopes for the House tennis ran high, especially as our fourth player, Southwood, was a reserve for the Intercol. We won the first match against Waterhouse and met School in the final. This, due to the Boarders' superior luck, resulted in a narrow win by three games for School. This was very disappointing.

Ten Cotton members were selected for the Athletic Team. It is not surprising that the best senior athlete, Olsson, should come from this House. We offer him warm congratulations for his win in the 440 yards flat and his seconds in the 100 yards and 220 yards. The school sports, however, proved disastrous for us. This was in a great measure due to those indifferent members who refused to take part in standards and who let the House down badly by not marching in the House Parade. Our House was distinguished by quality not quantity as most of our competitors did well. Incidentally, why weren't the weight putt trials held on time?

We thank Mr. Mutton and Mr. K. Smith for their valuable assistance during the term, and we remind the other Houses that quality will assert itself. We intend to win all further competitions, Beware!

WATERHOUSE

The first term of 1948 has passed, and we are proud of the fact that in all events which have taken place, Waterhouse boys have been prominent. This year we have the captain of the school in our ranks. Congratulations Perce, and also to Wiadrowski and Prest for their appointments as prefects. With three prefects, and also McFarlane and Brebner on our sports committee, we are confident that the remaining two terms, like the first, will be successful ones for us. We welcome Mr. Mansfield to his new position of House-master. He and Mr. Allen have both worked very keenly with us, and the committee offer their thanks for the time which these two men have devoted to the House.

The first Intercol. held this term was the tennis, and in this we had two representatives; Wiadrowski and McFarlane (reserve). Congratulations to you both. This augured well for the House tennis, but after first going down to a strong Cotton team, we were again defeated in the final round by Bayly.

Unfortunately, McFarlane and Brabham were unable to play against Bayly, and we are sure that if they had been present, the tables would have been turned. Nevertheless, as we are certainities for the football and cricket, we can afford this loss.

Next came the Intercol. Athletics and again our members stood out. Pittman was elected vice-captain of the team, and we congratulate him and the other ten of the House who were included in the competitors. Michell, for his excellent performances in the 440 yards Hurdles and high jump, deserves special mention. These two were two of the most outstanding Princes athletes of the day.

Besides the Intercol. Athletics, standard sports and training for the school sports have taken much of our time this term. We did well in both the standards and school sports, and came second to School at the end of the term. Congratulations School! In the sports Michell and Pittman again performed well in the senior events, but they were not good enough for Medlow (Bayly) and Zanker (School) who tied for the Cup. Other athletes in the best house who were conspicuous on the day were Bennett and Markey (seniors), Fee, Evans and Prest (Under 15), Sweeney, Goodale, Marshall and Fuller (Under 14) and Johnson and Hambley (Under 13). To these, and to all who ran, we express our thanks in helping Waterhouse to come second.

Sport, however, is not the only part of school-life in which we excel. Practically every committee and society have some boys of our House as members, and although the results of the cadet officer's examinations are not yet known, we feel sure that at least three lieutenants will be Waterhouse-ites. Treloar, Richardson, Puckridge, Hale and Johnson (VUB) are top of their respective forms, while McFarlane is dux of the school—congratulations!

So the first term ends and we look forward to next term with the thought of hard work—and football. Before concluding, could anyone answer the following—

- (1) Which member of the House Crowes too much?

SCHOOL

Among themselves boarders will always complain of the sameness of their life; while among others they take great pains to stress the infinite variety of their life, and just as this principle of "variety in unity", to give it a more complimentary title, pervades all other boarding houses throughout the world, so is ours no exception.

Once again, as always at the commencement of the first term of the year, those who remained from former years came back and enjoyed the amusement provided by the newcomers. These were an even larger and an even more varied assortment than usual.

We congratulate Tiddy and the other prefects on helping to bring about a successful term for the house. Among the Boarders we have an unusual number of School prefects, no less than four in all—Tiddy, Tucker, Young, DeGaris.

The sports committee has done its good work in the expected manner and School House has done very well in its sports.

Some Saturday night entertainments have been instituted—a committee has been formed under the presidency of Mr. Laycock—and these amusements are very popular.

The boarders' party was a great success, resulting in the gain and loss of many a reputation.

This term as usual the boarding house topped the sporting side of school life. This, of course, is a well-known fact and the "bushies" as we are often called are always able to shine when it comes to sport.

This year it is our aim to avoid the unsatisfactory position of tying again with another house. Our house sports committee consists of Tiddy, captain; Young, vice-captain; Hayman, Langdon, MacMurray and Tucker, all of whom have tried to increase the boarding house interest in sport. At the meeting it has been suggested that more boarders' intercolls. should be arranged if at all possible.

In the Athletics Intercoll. School House had twelve representatives. Do the other houses know why the three Captains of the Intercoll. teams this term. Young of Tennis, Zanker of Athletics and Tiddy of Rowing all come from the Boarding House?

The reason is our superiority in all sports. On Sports Day—the unlimited experiences of Mr. Dillon gained further points when School house again won the marching and also the Athletics Cup by a clear margin of 80 points. At this point congratulations must be given to the cup winners Zanker (Senior) and Morris (Under 16) and also other event winners Cox, Mayfield, McMahon, Tregenza and Watkins. We must all thank Mr. Keeves for his untiring encouragement and persuasion. Of course we could not help winning the broad jump because after the eliminations had been held the remaining five competitors were all of School house. Where were the intercoll. jumpers?

The boarders were well represented in the tennis intercoll. having the first pair Young (S.A. Junior Schoolboy Champion) and Cane (Linton Cup player). In the house tennis the consistent Young and sparkling Cane defeated Head and Billing, and then Southwood and Richards 9.0. The young pair Newman and Harvey although defeated 9.1 and 9.2 always fought back strongly and the games were well contested.

In the cricket School House was very strongly represented in the Seconds but only had one in the first. Hayman in his three innings has an average of 142, which is a grand effort. One cannot let this opportunity go by without mentioning Langdon who performed an outstanding feat against Saints seconds when he took 9 for 36 and made a well deserved 45. Tucker, top scored against Queens the week before with a bright 52.

SPECIAL BOARDERS' NOTES

Lighter addenda.

- (1) Whom does this represent?
There was a young fellow called d-g,
Who, they said, was a bit of a hog!
What he spilt on the floor
When he went out for more,
Made the table awake and agog.
- (2) Who bangs the piano violently and improvises magnificent (?) coda-climaxes, all very long, very loud, very much in C-minor, very much disliked?
- (3) The boarders' champion 880—athlete and barometer??
- (4) The hopes of the boarders are blighted. It has been rumoured that those two outstanding footballers Messrs. Hayman and Tucker, have been made "hors de combat" by the dreadful plague—the scourge of domestics—housemaid's knee. For after the famous occasion, indelibly recorded in the annals of the "wing", when Claude cleaned up the matted mess with his mop, a slight falling-off in the health of these two, has been noted and not even the promise of testimonials and references will alleviate their complaint.

Scout Notes

Progress this term has been very satisfactory. At the beginning of the term a Senior Section was formed by about fifteen of the Senior boys from last year, as it was felt that by working separately from the Juniors they would be able to obtain a greater knowledge of more advanced scouting. This, although it left the Junior Section with comparatively few boys who had been in the Scouts before, gave Junior boys the opportunity of becoming Patrol leaders and Seconds at a much earlier age than would otherwise have been the case, and the troop has profited by their enthusiasm and interest.

A camp was held at the shack during the Easter break for the Junior Section only, and although most of the boys had had no previous experience of camp life the standard of efficiency obtained was astonishingly high.

The Senior Section was divided into two Land Scout patrols and one Sea Scout patrol, and its members have been concentrating on work for their First Class badges, so that they will be able to start on proper Senior Scout work next term.

To our great sorrow Mr. A. H. Dennis announced early this term that he was finally relinquishing his position as Scout Master, after having been with us for so long. When he returned from war-service Mr. Dennis agreed to take up his old position as our Scout Master until the troop had regained its former strength and until another Scout Master could be found. Mr. Dennis, who has been with the Troop for many years, has never ceased to show his enthusiasm and interest in all that we have done, and I am sure there are many boys, both old and present, who remember with pleasure the nights they have spent under canvas with him.

His position has been filled by Mr. Keeves who has already shown an ever-present interest in our affairs, and a willingness to help and advise us at all times. There has been a welcome addition to our numbers in the person of Mr. Cleland who has taken up the duties of Assistant Scout Master, after having seen the error of his school days when he joined the Cadet Corps.

We were visited this term by Commissioner Burns from Headquarters who inspected us and our work and gave us a talk about the Jamboree which is to be held after Christmas. He told us just what a Jamboree really is and what is done there, and after hearing his talk I am sure there will be a lot more boys wanting to go.

The Senior Section, together with one or two of the more experienced boys from the Junior Section, is planning a hike through part of Kangaroo Island during the May holidays. It is to last about eight days and the boys will visit different interesting parts of the coast from a base camp situated at Rocky River. Most of the country covered will be in a wild animal reserve, and the boys will have an excellent opportunity of studying the wild life which abounds there.

The marks for the Abotomey Cup which is being competed for by the Junior patrols are:

1. Magpies (Patrol-leader R. P. Hale) 80 marks
2. Kookaburras (Patrol-leader F. G. Lewis) 73 marks
3. Eagles (Patrol-leader P. J. Wheatley) 72 marks
4. Wood-pigeons (Patrol-leader D. W. Puckridge) 66 marks

Hobbies Club

In the first term the Hobbies Club does not usually turn out very many finished masterpieces. But some ambitious projects have been started. The lathe has been spinning round turning out legs for coffee tables and even a thin hickory fishing rod.

Book shelves have been almost completed by two IV form boys and small tables are under construction by others.

In leatherwork, many of the IVa boys have graduated from the first small purse to attempt something more difficult in the way of a wallet or writing case.

Papier mache baskets have been started by five or six boys but these have not reached any stage of completion yet.

Next term should see better results of the hard work put in so far.

The IV and VI Libraries

A library for IV and VI forms was started this term. Almost every boy has given a book to the library and is contributing threepence a week towards a fund to buy new books. These subscriptions have mounted to £11 and the Headmaster has generously given £10 to help on this fund.

The boarders hobby club and one or two others have, under Mr. Hart's direction, made a table and fitted shelves around three walls of the library room. A library committee, consisting of two representatives from each form and supervised by Mr. Peard, has been sorting and arranging books. At present the library has 260 books and magazines and it is expected that it will open for reference and lending during the second term.

Student Christian Movement

This term we have had four meetings in which outside speakers spoke to us. All of the meetings were very well attended and it is to be hoped that a similar interest will be taken in the discussion groups which have been planned for next term. The first speaker for the year was Rev. Frank Hambly, M.A., B.D., who very fittingly talked to us on the formation and principles of the Student Christian Movement. He pointed out that the original idea behind the Movement was the desire of a small body of students to bring the Christian doctrine to everyone who was ignorant of it, and then went on to discuss what it meant to join the Movement and the principles involved.

The next speaker was the travelling secretary of the S.C.M., Miss Giles, who gave us a very interesting talk on the Oslo Conference of W.S.C.F. members from all parts of the world. She stressed the fact that in the conference men and women of nations that hated each other as a result of the war, or other racial differences, were able to learn to tolerate and respect each other through their common faith. Particularly was this toleration evident between the Dutch and Indonesian delegates who were able, through discussion, to come to a definite compromise over their differences.

Mr. R. J. Coombe, S.M. of the Juvenile Court in Adelaide, chose for his subject the most interesting and vital topic, "Child Delinquency". In this talk Mr. Coombe discussed the causes of child delinquency and later, in the third term, he will complete his subject by discussing the treatment of delinquency. Mr. Coombe divided the causes of delinquency into two groups—those of a hereditary nature and those brought about by environment. He said that frequently both causes were present in a delinquent, and although it was difficult to cure hereditary defects a tremendous help was the influence of a good stable home.

The last speaker of the term was Principal Keik of Parkin College who gave us a most interesting address entitled "One-talented People". He stressed the importance of the average person—the person with one talent—in contrast to the genius with five. He pointed out that often the average person was inclined to feel that he did not count in the world and could not make much difference, instead of concentrating or developing his one talent, whatever it may be, and using it to its best advantage in serving the world.

It is hardly necessary to say that we enjoyed the meetings very much, and thank those speakers for coming along. This term has been very successful, and we hope that next term will see good work done in the Discussion Groups.

Photography Club

The Boarders' Photography Club was formed early in the term. There are ten members including the following committee: Club leader B. W. Thomas; Secretary R. N. LePage; Treasurer K. P. Scott.

Unfortunately the club has not yet been able to obtain a suitable dark-room, so little progress has been made. However, we look forward to an early start next term. We particularly want to thank the Headmaster for his assistance which enabled us to purchase some essential equipment. We feel sure that once we begin work, our club will offer strong opposition to all other D. and P. services in Adelaide. Remember, boys, let us develop and print your films next term.

Woodwork Club

Early in the term a meeting of all the boarders interested in organising a Woodwork Club was held. As a result of this meeting the club began with a membership of eleven which included the following boys who were chosen as its committee: G. D. Mayfield, leader; J. Watkins, treasurer; D. G. Smith, secretary; R. Wilsdon, equipment.

Our first difficulty was to obtain a suitable work-room. Fortunately for us, the Cadets moved some of their equipment from a room they had occupied in the new building. The Headmaster then kindly gave it to us to use as a work-room. Thus our first difficulty had been overcome.

The next thing we had to do was to obtain some tools, for we were "starting from scratch". Thanks to the keen interest of Mr. Ward we were able to buy, with assistance from Mr.

Hudson who thought of the plan, some of the very essential equipment.

A bench was installed, some wood purchased from the woodwork room, and with new tools, work at last began. Already some members have made a number of useful articles for the school such as the book shelves for the Fourth Form Library and a number of ink stands for the Masters' tables.

The scarcity of tools, and the difficulty in obtaining wood have necessarily limited the club's activities. We hope next term to increase the club funds by the sale of articles made by the boys during the term, and so increase and improve the club's equipment.

N.B.—Will readers please note, however, that we are unable as yet to accept orders for pre-fabricated houses!

Cadet Notes

The first parade of our Cadet Corps was held soon after school resumed and the large number of new cadets gave promise of a good detachment for 1948, thus helping to maintain our position as the largest cadet detachment in South Australia.

Capt. Mansfield is welcomed back this year after his absence last year, caused by a physical disability. Thanks are extended to Capt. Johnston for his good and efficient work while acting as Commanding Officer for 1947.

This year, the corps was short of experienced cadet N.C.O.'s but with the valuable help of Lieut. Kurtz, Cadet Lieut. Zanker in charge of first and second year cadets, and Capt. Johnston in the armoury and orderly rooms, the corps has reached a high standard. Recently, an examination in theory and practical work was held for sergeants and corporals. Nice going, to those who will receive promotions!

Also hearty congratulations are extended to those who have since been recommended for commissions.

The camp in May is being looked forward to with great anticipation. We have 170 (nowhere near 100 per cent.) going to the sunny climate of Woodside. Numerous first-years are amongst these and it will be interesting to hear their opinions of cadet camps next term.

Discussion Group

This year Mr. Dillon's enthusiasm and good work resulted in the establishment of a Discussion Group amongst the boarders. The aim of such a group is to meet and discuss a pre-arranged topic with a view to reaching some definite conclusion. Each member expresses his views and much can be learnt as well as entirely new view-points considered.

The first topic was "Macbeth" chosen from the Essay prize topic. Curiosity and a desire to gather material for the essay brought a large group to the Memorial Library on Saturday March 29th at 6.30 p.m. The opinions expressed tended to be rather stereotyped as is to be expected in any Shakespearian discussion, but we all left satisfied that the Group would be a success. On the Sunday April 4th, following Easter a somewhat larger group discussed vigorously the topic, "Is compulsory military training really necessary in Australia?"

Mr. Dillon succeeded in guiding the conversation to a conclusion which met with the approval of all. The following Sunday, April 18th, the Group discussed the sixpenny comic as a menace to good reading and mental development. Mr. Dillon displayed several confiscated specimens and we found that their only feature was a plot which was all action with no consideration of background or character. However, the most obvious lesson of the evening was the interest displayed by two members who could not help reading the exhibits. It was interesting to read, a few days later, that all "penny dreadfuls" had been banned in France and that more suitable literature was necessarily to be substituted. The next topic, "Films we Remember and why", roused interest, and thus it seems that this interesting and instructive innovation has gained a solid footing in the House.

Entertainment Committee

This year it was decided that a committee should be elected to organise Saturday evening entertainment for the boarders.

As master in charge, Mr. Laycock brought together boys from all parts of the boarding house to form the committee, who have so far done a good job.

The tournaments in billiards, table tennis, chess and bridge were successfully run the first Saturday evening with committee members in charge. Then came the boarding house quiz. This was held in the assembly hall, and with Doudy as quiz-master and the questions easy, many small prizes were given to an over-enthusiastic audience. Another game that gave enthusiasm to the competitors was that of "Knock-'em-Over".

On a following Saturday evening a boxing contest was held in the gymnasium and to this the boarders came in full force. The preliminary bouts, fought mostly between the juniors, showed that the boarding house has some promising boxers, although "Bashem Blue" Hart and "Sockem" Sumsion had the windmill action down to a fine art. The senior bouts were more scientific. The bout between Bascomb and Wilkinson was anxiously awaited by the boys, and when it did come the audience were rewarded for their patience. The punches of wild and woolly Wilkinson either met thin air or were easily countered by the elusive Bascomb, who easily won the bout.

The boarders' party, as usual, was a success, with the visiting partners coming from M.L.C. and Girton. To Mr. Laycock we give our heartiest thanks for once again being our M.C. Last but not least we convey our grateful thanks to Mrs. Ward and Matron for the work they put into the successful evening.

With this good start, we hope that the Entertainment Committee will continue to function as readily as it has done this term.

Debating Society

The best is assuredly yet to be, for in the second term there will be held six meetings of our debating society. We urge all boys to come to these meetings, for in so doing they will support the society as well as gain some real personal benefit.

We can be sure of a huge attendance at the debates held against P.G.C. and M.L.C., but let us be equally sure of such attendances at our Inter-House debates, and especially the Intercollegiate Debate which will be held near the end of the second term. Since this is the first Intercoll. debate for some years, we are very anxious that it should be a great success.

Though every boy may not be so fortunate as to take part in a debate, there will be a series of prepared speeches to be given at the meetings. This will greatly lessen the number of boys who would otherwise not get a chance to deliver a speech in public.

Music Notes

For yet another term we have been able to enjoy the hearing of good music through the kindness of Mr. May who has continued his Friday lunch-hour concerts of recorded music.

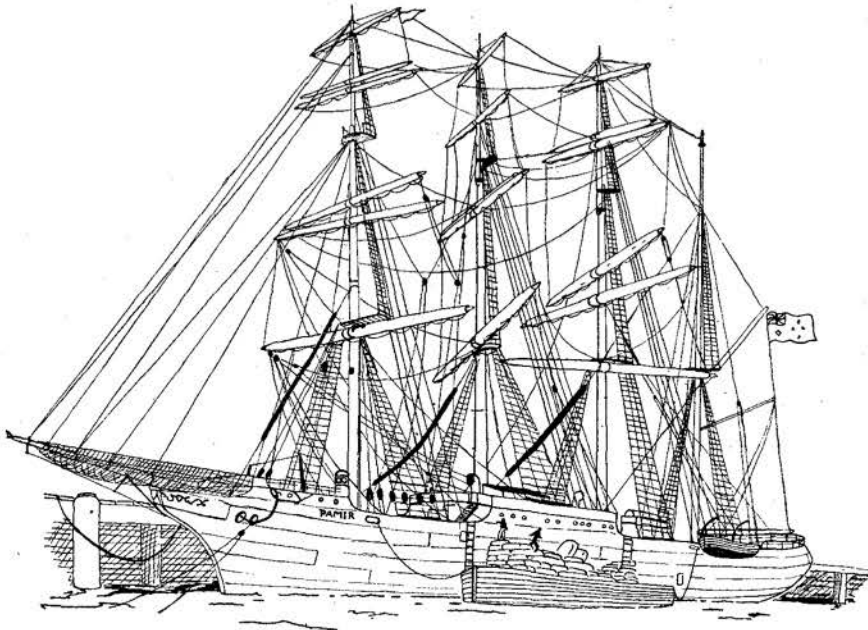

A glance at a list of the compositions played would reveal much—such loved and revered names as Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Purcell, Handel and Dvorak (with the astonishing omission of that greatest name of all, Beethoven) are placed side by side with those of such moderns as William Walton.

It is indeed fitting that at the beginning of a new year a spirit of enterprise should thus animate our programmes.

There is, however, just one fault to be found with our concerts, namely that the school pick-up does not always do justice to Mr. May's beautiful recordings. Perhaps something could be done about this?

During the term numbers of boys attended such concerts as that in aid of "Food for Britain", which, consisting as it did of quite unusual and interesting items, was enjoyed by all who were lucky enough to go.

Another pleasing thing is the large number of boys learning music this year. There has been a very great increase in the school's complement of aspiring pianists if one may make a reliable estimate from the boarders' practice lists. This augurs well for the musical year, for it is not the number of virtuosi and concert artists that makes a community musical (with all due respect to those tremendously exalted personages), but the very bad and very enthusiastic amateurs who want to "thump and scrape" for themselves.

Inter-Collegiate Sports

The Athletics contest against S.P.S.C. took place on 22nd April at the Adelaide Oval.

It was pleasing to see that the boys went in force to give the team moral support. Though we lost, the cheering in the last race was as loud as, if not louder than in the first, which shows that we are well able to take a beating.

Every race for the day was closely contested. The first event was the senior 120 yards Hurdles, which was won by the captain of the school, Brian Pittman. The second race was a very close contest as indeed they all were. Unfortunately we lost, but Morris gained third place for us. Apparently the track was very heavy, for times recorded in most events were slower than usual. There was also a slight up-grade from North to South. In the Senior 100 yards, we gained second and third positions, with Olsson and Zanker, who were pressing the winner Black very hard on the tape. The programme total was then: S.P.S.C. 15; P.A.C. 10. It is interesting to note that the time for the Junior 100 yards was a tenth of a second faster than that recorded for the senior event. Muecke, (S.P.S.C.) was the winner, with Ellis (P.A.C.) second.

At this stage Saints had a lead of 8 points, and we were very hopeful that this would soon be diminished.

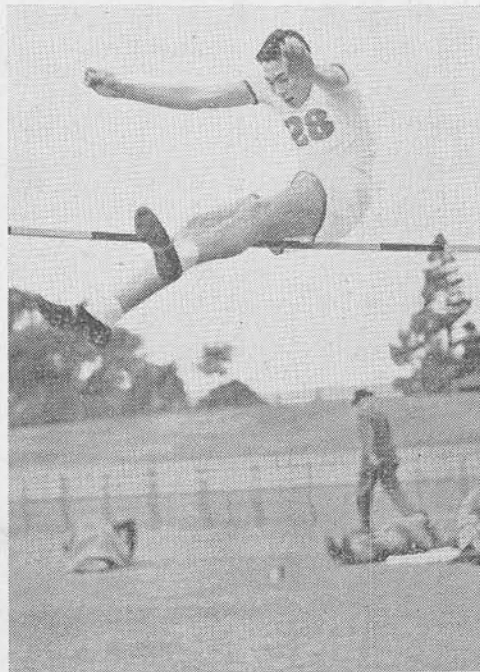

The Senior high jump was one of the highlights of the day. Frost was eliminated at 5 ft. 5 in. and Michell went on to an excellent win from Brown and Daw, both of Saints, clearing 5 ft. 6½ in.

While the high-jump was in progress, the senior 220 yards was run. McDonald of Saints gained first place, with Olsson (P.A.C.) finishing strongly to come second.

Ellis gained third place in the hurdles, bringing the total (S.P.S.C.) 32; (P.A.C.) 16. Muecke ran well to clip a tenth of a second off the record. When Fricker made a dash to gain second place in the under 16 hurdles, the scores at interval then read (S.P.S.C.) 41; (P.A.C.) 23. The results of the senior weight-putt were then announced—Hayward (S.P.S.C.), McMahon (P.A.C.), Crewes (P.A.C.).

The first event after interval was the senior broad jump, in which we failed to gain a place, giving Saints nine more points, which made the Saints 55 and Princes 27. Olsson (P.A.C.) ran well to win the senior 440 yards flat, with an excellent finish to a well-timed race. Zanker ran third making our score 33. Greatwich of Saints won the under 16 broad jump and Ferris jumped 19 ft. 8½ in. to gain second place. Michell put up an excellent performance in the 440 yards hurdles, to come second to last year's winner Brown (S.P.S.C.), in a final burst right on the tape. D. M. Smith obtained second place for us in the 880, just failing by a yard to withstand Gregory's well-sustained finish.

The mile was probably the most exciting of all the day's events. In the last lap the pace was noticeably increased. Medlow was unfortunate in that Saints teamwork was so good, and he could not pass the two Saints leaders. Nevertheless he ran on the outside at a great disadvantage to come second after covering much more ground than the older and more experienced winner from last year. Finally the junior high jump was decided. Unfortunately neither Muecke of Saints nor Ellis (P.A.C.) was able to clear 5 ft. 4 in., to set a new record. When the count-back was taken, it was found that Muecke was the winner. The final totals were (S.P.S.C.) 85; (P.A.C.) 45.

J. R. MICHELL
winning the Senior High Jump

The Headmaster of Saints, Mr. Gordon, introduced Mrs. Ward who kindly presented the certificates. At the close Mrs. Ward received three very hearty cheers, to end a very exciting and enjoyable afternoon.

We would like to congratulate Saints on their success and hope that next year we shall be the victors.

Again we must offer our hearty thanks to those in charge of the sports, especially our Sportsmaster Mr. Steele, the coach Mr. Foreman and Mr. Keeves who spent much valuable time in supervising.

CRITIQUE OF ATHLETICS TEAM

Zanker, D. H.

Captain of 1948 Intercollegiate Athletics. Represented the team in the Senior 100 yards, 220 yards and 440 yards.

His style has improved although is inclined when near the finish to go back to his own stiff action. Ran excellently in school sports to tie for the Senior Cup with Medlow.

Pittman, B. H.

This year's vice-captain, Pittman gave an excellent exhibition of hurdling in the intercollegiate match. He represented the team in the 120 yards Hurdles and 440 yards Hurdles. His style is good and has excellent finish in both races. Ran well in school sports.

Olsson, J. R.

Represented P.A.C. in the 100 yards, 220 yards and 440 yards in Intercollegiate athletics. In all races he ran excellently obtaining 11 points for the team. His 440 yards exhibition was most outstanding showing the result of steady, regular and neat training. Style is good and has an excellent finish to his race.

His school sports showing was not as strong as that of his Intercoll. effort because of illness.

Fricker, G. A.

As leading runner for the Under 16 hurdles, he gave an excellent exhibition at the Intercoll. His style is good, but he needs to concentrate more on his leading leg. He did well in the school sports.

Morris, C. L.

In the Intercoll. represented P.A.C. in the Under 16 100 yards and broad jump. He ran well and showed excellent style, especially his start. In the school sports he did well to win the Under 16 Cup.

Smith, D. M.

Was leading in the Intercoll. 880 yards. He ran an excellent race showing a good easy style, but was unfortunate at the last few yards. He obtained 2 points for second position. Is a promising distance runner and trained regularly. Repeated good performance at school sports.

Michell, J. R.

He was in the 120 yards Hurdles, 440 yards Hurdles and high jump Senior, and did well in each. His efforts in the latter two were outstanding. With a jump of 5 ft. 6½ in. he won the high jump, and showed his tenacity in the 440 yards Hurdles by running a brilliant second. Did well in school sports winning 440 yards Hurdles and high jump.

Medlow, R. G.

As leading runner in mile for the intercoll., Medlow ran a hard-fought race to gain second place. Did excellently at school sports, winning 440 yards, 880 yards and mile and tied with Zanker for Senior Cup. Style is effective, although body does not move as easily as it might.

Ellis, D. F.

In junior 100 yards, 100 yards hurdles and high jump, gave an excellent exhibition on the day. Obtained a position in each event getting five points altogether. Did exceedingly well in school sports, winning the Junior Cup with 23 points.

MacMahon, J. F.

Obtained a second in the shot putt in the Intercoll. Has neat, orthodox style but needs to drive higher into the air. Showed good form at school sports to win this event.

Tassie, G. W.

Represented P.A.C. in the 100 yards, 220 yards, and 440 yards. Has good style but is inclined to throw back his head towards the end of a race.

Inter-Collegiate Tennis

The Annual Intercollegiate Tennis match was played at the Memorial Drive Courts on Saturday March 20th. It was a beautiful day with scarcely a cloud in the sky and a slight southerly breeze blowing. The courts were in fine condition. This year owing to the infantile paralysis epidemic it was decided to play sets of 9 games instead of two (or three) sets of 6 games each. As we had four of our last year's winning team back, our hopes were high.

The match started at 10.30 a.m. with our first double, Young—Cane playing Saints third double Bowman—Rieger. Young—Cane maintained a severe net attack and swept through the Saints pair to win 9—0 in quick time.

Our second pair, Head—Billing also combined well against Saints second pair, Hayward—Munday. They drove and volleyed accurately to win 9—2.

Wiadrowski—Richards played Mallen—Klemich, Saints first pair. They gained a 3—1 lead but Saints then took the initiative, picked up to 3 all and went on to win 9—5.

After a short break the singles began.

Our fourth player, Head met Munday. Head quickly settled down and drove forcefully and accurately to the corners. Munday was no match for our player who won 9—0.

Wiadrowski played Rieger and this was a long game. Wiadrowski played better earlier but Rieger improved and many long baseline rallies followed. Wiadrowski being more consistent at last gained the upper hand and defeated Rieger 9—6.

Richards began badly against Bowman who drove pacily into the forehand corner. Richards recovered to 6—4 after being 6—1 down only to see Bowman go to an 8—4 lead. Richards then won another two games, but Bowman held his last serve and won 9—6.

P.A.C. led four sets to two at the conclusion of the morning's play. The afternoon's play began at 2 p.m. with another round of doubles.

Cane—Young played Klemich—Mallen in an even set. Our pair led 4—3 but in the next few games Cane overhit frequently and Saints took the lead at 6-5. Our pair settled down again and won the set 9-7.

Head-Billing played Bowman-Rieger and the Saints pair played much better than in the morning series. They were no match for Head-Billing who won 9-4.

Hayward-Munday combined well to defeat Wiadrowski-Richards 9-4.

Young drove easily and accurately against Mallen and helped by Mallen's weak service led 4-1. Mallen improved a little to trail 6-3, but Young ran out an easy winner 9-4.

Cane with fierce drives and services ran to a 7-1 lead against Klemich. His form slumped for a few games but he finally won 9-4.

Billing in a somewhat more even game had the better of Hayward to lead 5-4. He then broke away and finally won 9-5.

We were now leading 9 sets to 3.

The final round of doubles followed. Young-Cane with accurate and fast driving and serving defeated Hayward and Munday 9-3.

Billing-Head outclassed Klemich-Mallen and led 8-1. Saints won 3 games but Head-Billing took the set 9-4.

Richards-Wiadrowski obviously tired, started badly against Bowman-Rieger to trail 4-1. They drove more accurately for the next few games to lead 5-4 but finally lost 9-7.

The final scores were P.A.C. 11 sets 121 games, S.P.S.C. 4 sets 75 games.

The scores are a reflection of the untiring work of Mr. Luke who once again coached the team to victory.

CRITIQUE

Young, D. C. (Capt.)

Genial and conscientious captain with a great ball sense. He has increased the pace of service, drives and volley. Should be a worthy member of next Linton Cup Team. Congratulations on an excellent Intercol. game.

Cane, P. C.

Forceful player with a powerful service and some excellent shots. Volleys and smashes well when moving forward. Inclined to be reckless.

Billing, R. H.

A left-hander with a difficult swinging service. An inconsistent smash, but with a steady and greatly improved drive and volley. Played very well at the Intercol. match.

Head, J. G.

A stylish and heady player whose drives are well placed both by backhand and forehand. Service marred by foot-faulting. Gave a great exhibition of singles play in the Intercol.

Wiadrowski, I. B.

A good trier who practised hard. He pulls his volleys and is erratic overhead. Drives are steady and well placed. Won his single in Intercol.

Richards, T. L.

A great trier with an unusual style of service. Volleys and half volleys well, but service is uncertain. With experience and correction of service errors should develop into a good player.

Tennis Notes

As soon as school opened this year (a fortnight later because of the paralysis), we settled down to steady practice in preparation for the Intercol. We easily won every Saturday morning match at the Drive and finished at the top of the students' "A" grade premiership. These Saturday morning matches and the Intercol. were cut down to nine game sets instead of the usual rubbers, much to our disappointment.

We lost two matches at the beginning of the season by very small margins: one to A.H.S. by one game and the other to Concordia by four games.

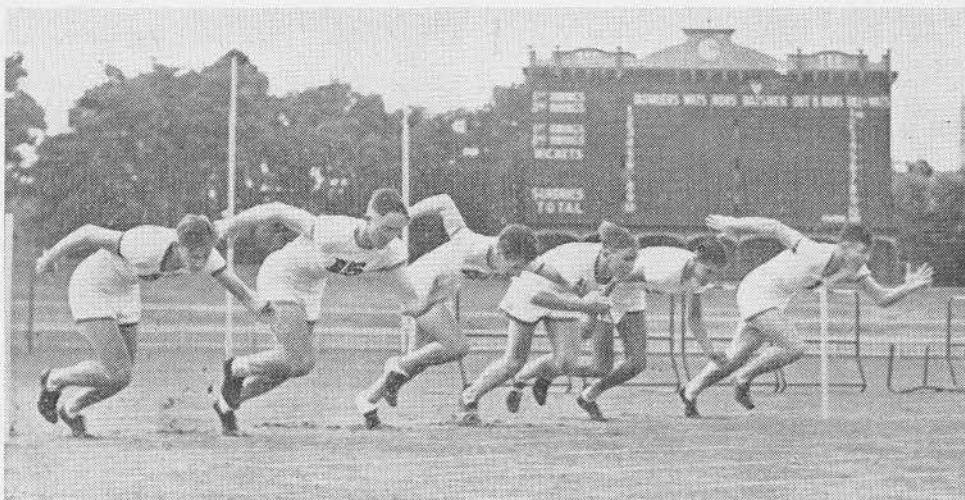

The "B's" and "C's" also had a fairly successful season as they won most of their matches.

Once again we must especially thank Mr. Luke for the untiring way in which he has coached us. We must also thank Mr. Cliff Harvey for his keenness in helping and practising with us and Alan Morris, David Rowe, Jim Barraclough, Mr. Dennis, Mr. Rowe and Mr. Richards for coming out and giving us valuable practice.

As usual we had great success in the school boys' championships last year.

Billing won the Under 16 singles, Head and Billing the Under 16 doubles, while the finals of the State Junior School-boys' Championships were fought out between our boys.

Effick and Young were successful in the doubles defeating Cane and Wiadrowski, and Young narrowly defeated Cane in the singles.

School Sports

Favourable conditions again greeted both competitors and spectators at the annual sports, held on the College grounds on the last Saturday of the term. The sports once again were held after the Intercollegiate Athletics, though competition was in no way less keen as a result.

The fields were strongly contested in both senior and junior divisions. Medlow and Zanker tied as winners of the Senior Cup, Medlow running particularly well throughout the afternoon to win the 440, 880 and senior mile, and Zanker to win the 100 and 220 yard sprints. These, with his placings in the senior Broad Jump and the 440 yards senior championship, earned for him, with Medlow, highest points in the senior division.

Morris was winner of the under 16 cup with 8 points; Ellis winner of the under 15 cup with 23 points, and in the under 14 championships, Perrott was winner with 18 points.

The House Parade of athletes was an impressive spectacle, and all are to be congratulated on their fine performance. The march was won by School house.

We are grateful to Mrs. Ward for presenting the trophies, and also to the masters and judges who were largely responsible for the success of the day. Our thanks are due especially to Mr. Johnston, on whom much of the responsibilities fell.

At the Sports Day in April 1923 (25 years ago), H. M. Wilson won the School Cup. One may recall that on that occasion he won the 100, 220, 440 and the Broad Jump. To mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of this feat, Mr. Wilson very thoughtfully donated a handsome cup for this year's Sports Day. As we already had a School Cup provided, his cup went to the winner of the Senior 100, Zanker. The Games Committee desires to express its grateful thanks to Mr. Wilson.

Inset—D. W. Bailey

Owing to an outbreak of infantile paralysis the Head-of-the-River Regatta was cancelled. It was not certain whether D. W. Bailey or D. H. Zanker would have been chosen for No. 3 seat. For the purpose of this photo a toss of a coin gave the seat to D. H. Zanker. D. W. Bailey's photo is inset.

Rowing Notes

The Rowing Committee for 1948 was elected at the beginning of the year and comprised the following: M. P. Tiddy (Captain of Boats), G. R. Burchell (Vice-Captain), F. J. Beauchamp, R. S. Crewes and J. F. McMahon.

During the Christmas holidays a Camp was held at Murray Bridge for the Eight and a Four. The Camp began on January 26th and lasted for a fortnight. Much valuable training was given us here, and the Committee would like to thank Messrs. Solomon, Nicholls, LePage and Higgs for their assistance.

At the conclusion of the Camp we received the news that the paralysis epidemic had made possible an extra two weeks' holiday. This was very unfortunate for our rowing and so the Eight determined to keep training on the Torrens.

Thus, when school re-opened, our Eight had had a month's training and was shaping very well. Then came the decision to abandon the Head-of-the-River Regatta because of the infantile paralysis.

This news was a big blow to us, because our prospects appeared to be very bright.

Nine boys were competing for the eight seats. No. 3 seat was the only one in doubt.

Bow, D. R. Malcolm; 2, G. E. Williams; 3, D. H. Zanker, or D. W. Bailey; 4, F. J. Beauchamp; 5, R. S. Crewes; 6, M. P. Tiddy; 7, J. F. McMahon; Stroke, G. R. Burchell; Cox, M. J. Cooper.

Although there has been no Intercoll, this term, rowing has been going on, and many new boys have been taught to row. At this stage we would like to thank Mr. Frolich who once again coached the Eight, and the Murray Bridge Rowing Club for the use of their property.

In the third term it is hoped to get the prospective Intercoll crews for 1949 on the river, so that we can once again acquit ourselves well in the Head-of-the-River.

Cricket Notes

Winning two of the three matches played and losing the other on the first innings, the cricket team has had quite a successful term.

The first match of the season was against Sturt, who gained a win on the first innings. We batted first on a good wicket and made the quite respectable score of 254, the most successful batsmen being Pittman 92, Fuller 49 and Southwood 31. Pittman was very unlucky to miss his century, being 91 n.o. on the first day. Sturt batted on the second day and although the first three wickets fell quickly, their score was rapidly carried past our own by particularly hard hitting, and thus we lost by 72 on the first innings.

For the second match we were unfortunate in that Pittman was not able to play because of a poisoned toe, but Hayman, who was included in his place, batted very well in each innings to help us gain a win on the first innings by the narrow margin of one run.

This match was against General Motors Holden and we elected to bat on a wicket which began to play tricks soon after play began, but improved later on. After losing our openers early, Trowse and Hayman figured in a very valuable partnership. Trowse finished with 64 and Hayman 43, both batting very well. The innings closed for 181 after a hard-hitting 22 by Tiddy. Holdens opened their innings towards the end of the first day, losing one wicket before stumps. Resuming on the second day, some excellent bowling by Southwood saw them struggling for runs, but a last wicket partnership seemed disastrous for us until their last man was caught on the boundary with their innings closing at 180. We batted again to play out time and Hayman again batted well for 39 n.o. while some of the later batsmen improved their averages considerably.

With Pittman returning to the side we had high hopes of a good win against Kings Old Collegians and our hopes were justified, the team winning by 143 on the first innings.

Kings batted first and were all out for 173 on a good wicket, Dowse who opened the bowling in the absence of Southwood finished with the very good figures of 4/28. Two of our wickets were lost for 44 on the first day, Trowse being 22 and Pittman 9 at stumps.

On the second day, Pittman and Trowse batted brilliantly not being separated until the score stood at 2/253, Trowse unluckily missing his century by 12 just after tea, while Pittman, hitting very hard, reached 123 before throwing his wicket away. Hayman again batted very well for 60 n.o., the last 35 being made in fast time, and the innings closed at 8/316.

Original Contributions

"WHAT OTHERS HAVE SAID"

Glancing over articles written in the last few years, I despaired of being original and decided to quote from greater writers and poets. As I read Keats I found the following lines, probably of interest to boarders:

"While he from forth the closet brought a heap
Of candied apple, quince, and plum and gourd,
And jellies soother than the creamy curd".

The ancient writer of Proverbs wrote, wisely, thus— "— give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me".

In this respect I found William Pitt's last words of interest: "I think I could eat one of Bellamy's veal pies". Coming to an old favourite, Wordsworth, I was touched (as a boarder) by the perception shown in his lines:

"And homeless near a thousand homes I stood,
And near a thousand tables pined and wanted food".

William Russell, a 19th century writer, told a half-truth when he wrote: "Physical science is thus approaching the stage when it will be complete and therefore uninteresting".

Although the next few lines I noticed from Keats will interest only a minority, I am sure they will find some support:

"Woman when I behold thee, flippant, vain,
Inconstant, childish, proud and full of fancies".

Of interest to even fewer is: "Where are you going, you Devon maid?" Delving further I was surprised to find, in Robert Herrick's verses, a doctrine directly opposed to that of several of our masters:

"A careless shoestring, in whose tie
I see a wild civility,
Do more bewitch me, than when art
Is too precise in every part".

Then I turned again to Wordsworth and discovered one reason for his immense popularity in this school:

"Up! Up my friend and quit your books,
Or surely you'll grow double".

Later in my haphazard reading I came to a play, of one Henry Carey, who died in 1743. He was a most interesting character who wrote, "Sally in our Alley", and, as some believe, "God Save the King". The following are two lines from his play, "Chrononhotonthologos" scene one:

"Aldeborontiphoscophornio!
Where left you Chrononhotonthologos?"

My studies of literature ended here.

DAFFODILS

As I went along one day,
I observed the daffodils bright and gay.
Holding up their yellow heads,
They bowed before me as I sped.

If you should chance to pass that way,
When Spring has turned to Summer gay,
You'll find those daffodils are dead
And daisies will be there instead.

ACID DROP

(With apologies to Longfellow)

By the light of reading lantern
Sitting on a chair of cedar,
Sat a student hard a-swotting,
Swotting from a little booklet,
Booklet with a bright red cover.
Closed his eyes were, lips a-mumbling
As he learnt strange words from in it,
Words with meanings, strange and curious,
Letters with strange marks upon them
Slanting down or curling upwards,
Adding to the sounds he gave them.
When at last he closed the cover,
Breathed a sigh of hope and yearning.
Then upon the morrow rising
Forth he went straightway to classroom,
Where he made strange marks on paper,
Like the marks in little booklet.
He had studied in the evening,
But his efforts often wandered,
Wandered from the words of Red Book.
For his errors he did penance,
Penance bending or on paper,
But the little red book always
Carried he in pocket with him,
Scanned its pages, made his errors,
Ever for the love of learning,
Love of learning from the booklet,
Little booklet with "Red Cover".

CYCLING THROUGH TOWN

Last Saturday morning I announced my intention of riding my bicycle into town. The family begged me to change my mind but I was firm, and while I tuned up the bike the neighbours came in to hear my last wishes. After heart-rending scenes and many farewells, I vaulted into the driving seat and was off. I remounted. My progress became outstanding. I rounded the first two corners on two wheels and without slackening speed; badly damaged a tram which failed to give me right of way at a third, and was finally heading towards the city. I covered those two miles at a phenomenal speed. In an hour I was at South Terrace. Pedestrians raised their hats, I raised mine in return and fell off. To the cheers of spectators I remounted and undaunted set off again. The traffic in front stopped abruptly, but having no brakes I could not oblige. A little red light winked at me; I winked back and rode on. These pretty little red lights were at every corner, and all the policemen (nice people, policemen) waved at me, so I waved back. I turned into Rundle Street. A taxi climbed on to the footpath to let me pass, but the pedestrians were oblivious of their danger. They darted in front of me, cannoned off my front wheel, cannoned off my back wheel and jostled me into a side street. A man cried out to me that it was a one way street (as if it wasn't obvious that I was only going one way).

A policeman came up at the double and asked for my autograph (even wanted to know my address too), and gave me a free ticket for some show they are holding at the police courts next week. I don't think I'll go though.

Eventually I left the city behind me and headed for home. Pedestrians stared at me in amazement, and a man dashed up to ask if I would like to buy a bigger size in hats.

I am going to do that again one day. One gets a closer view of traffic from a bicycle seat.

Its just the same.

THE STORM

First from the South West it rose
Slowly into the sky, as if the earth to enshroud,
Until within the hour, the earth was enclosed
By a dismal layer of darkened cloud.

The houses in the gloomy light seemed dull,
Their outlines smeared by the vagueness of
the night;
And the trees did sway, like the swaying of a gliding gull,
Caught by sea breezes veering left and right.

Suddenly a flash of purple light and white Streaked across the sky illuminating the
denseness of the gloom,
And as I sat and watched within my room
My soul was stirred at such a wondrous sight.

SPRING COMES, AND YET

Horace I IV

Harshest winter melts away,
Spring is now returning.
Favonius brings it on his way,
Ships in the bay are stirring.

Beasts and men begin their toil,
Ploughing by day the earth's rich soil.
No longer white with the hoary frost
But green and alive with its busy host.

Cytherean Venus leads the dance
By moonlight pale to the nimble beat.
Of nymphs and Graces who ever prance,
Tapping the earth with alternate feet.

Vulcan kindles Cyclop's fires,
Ears are attuned to the silvern lyres
In praise of Faunus, to whom be praise
And sacrifices for godly ways.

But Death, in pleasant seasons or ill,
Comes to palace or hovel to marshal
Those who for aye will be still,
And in it is ever impartial.

O happy Sextus, life is short
Pluto's shades shall hold those who fought,
Who toiled, and everyone—all
However young will feel death's pall.

Alas! We must all go the same dark road,
Our burden laid down, freed of our load.

AN AUTUMN ODE

Horace I XXXVIII

I care not, my slave, for the Persians' show;
 Their linden crowns displease me.
 O seek not the place where lost roses grow,
 The plain myrtle has its beauty
 Both for you, humble servant of mine,
 And your master at ease 'neath this vine.

SONNET ON POETRY

Thou, the eternal spirit of greatest thought—
 The king of beauty, and glorious nature profound,

Which is by thy pen in very beautiful sound
 Into life, the picture of reality, so skilfully wrought,

Thy realms alone are in the home where
 naught,

E'en death, can fetter thee with stagnant chains
 around:

For thy lasting splendour is divinely crowned
 Within the mind, and to immortality brought.
 Pleased is man to drink thy words of wisdom,
 And once refreshed by that eternal draught
 He sees with brighter light than e'er before,
 That his own life one purpose has become:
 Though mixed with sorrow, joy, desire and craft

To live, admire, to love and not to war.

IN CAMP

The rhythmic roll of the thundering waves
 Was booming through the calm of night.
 The whispering gums sighed in the breeze.
 The rising moon with silver beams,
 Replaced the flick'ring, dying flame.
 That's when the camp lay down to sleep.

A joyous peal of laughter bright,
 With rippling choral voices joined,
 Re-echoed from the reddened gums.
 The glorious sun, with golden streams,
 Soon warmed the crisp and chilly air.
 That's when the camp began to stir.

"LINES"

Lines composed a few yards inside Prince Alfred College on visiting the grounds of the school during a spare May 4th, 1948.

(With apologies to Wordsworth)

"Five years have passed, five summers, with
 the length

Of five long winters and again I hear
 These prep. lads, rushing from their class rooms

With a loud familiar yell—Once again
 Do I behold these steep and lofty walls,
 That on a large hard working school impress
 Thoughts of more deep seclusion; and connect
 The oval with the quiet of the sky.

The day is come when I again repose
 Here, under this tall Moreton Bay, and view
 These plots of close-cut lawn, these practice
 nets,

Which at this season, with their unrolled
 pitches,

Are clad in one green hue, and lose themselves

'Mid running tracks. Once again I see
 These hurdles, hardly hurdles, little lengths
 Of some steel tube run wild; these front form
 rooms,

Green to the very door: and goal posts now
 Let up in silence from amongst the grass!
 With some uncertain notice as might seem
 Of forlorn scholars in their cheerless rooms,
 "Or of some Hermit's cave, where by his fire,
 The Hermit sits alone".

HENRY AND I

The first remark of anyone reading this title
 would be "Who in the dickens is Henry?"
 Henry, for that reader's enlightenment, is not a character in a comic strip, but an eminent sculptor and, well, at a stretch, an artist. His full name is Henry Moore—which may be vaguely familiar or not—probably not. At present, as my study-mate will agree, I have got the man on the brain. It all started when he and another would-be contemporary art critic, and I, decided that it was necessary for us to educate ourselves in the arts, and that Henry would be a good man to start on. Thus decided we all sallied forth on a Sunday afternoon from the school, and eventually reached the art gallery through which we all walked with correct gravity until we reached Henry's exhibits.

The first exhibit which we inspected, was labelled with the eminently helpful title "Composition". When we had assured ourselves that it was not just a geological specimen we began to study it with open minds. We all placed ourselves in critical attitudes and stepped gravely around it—half shutting our eyes and waiting for inspiration as to what it was meant to be—or stepping back to view it from a distance, or peering apprehensively at it from below. It was absolutely of no use—and in the end we just raised our eyebrows and passed on.
 Some of the drawings were almost eerie—most of them containing weird black shapes in gloomy surroundings, with occasional splashes of blood-red to cheer the observer up. Interspersed with these drawings were unearthly
 looking sculptures—usually rounded and bulbous—which we inspected with a learned air,
 but unfortunately had not the foggiest idea
 what they were about. To remove the depression which had fallen on us, we went into the next room containing drawings of life in the underground during the blitz. But this was worse. There were literally rows upon rows of pictures all containing dark figures rolled in blankets in every conceivable position in gloomy shelters. There were close-ups of men's faces as they slept with their mouths open—Henry evidently having done the drawing while looking down their throats. There were pictures containing lone figures sitting pathetically on benches, or pictures of rows of sleepers stretching out into infinity and blackness—hundreds of them literally covering the walls—every one done in black with occasional splashes of red and an awful sickly green. Everywhere one looked one was confronted with these terrifying and almost ghastly sights. Believe me, I was very thankful to get outside again.

But I could not dismiss the man from my mind by just leaving the place.

His wretched statues haunted me. I could not get either him or them out of my mind. I read about the man and his life and all about his work. I probably nearly drove my fellow critic and study-mate mad by babbling incessantly about the man. I soon began to realise that there was more behind Henry's apparent madness than I had first thought. I raved about his power in creating an impression—for certainly he had impressed me. But very soon my audience grew cold and from cold he grew positively frigid. Now alas Henry and I are alone in an unsympathetic world. No one is interested in his weird bulging statues or his weirder gloomy drawings (at least not in my sphere) and least of all in my brilliant commentaries on them.

All around me I see normal human beings living happy natural lives, little knowing what I am undergoing, and the terrifying unearthly memories which keep forcing themselves on me. However, if any budding psychologists think they have a potential patient in me I may tell them now I will not be home if they call—Henry or no Henry.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF AN APRICOT PICKER

I arrived at the orchard at 7.30 a.m. and there I met my new boss and Mr. Coad. The latter was a farmer in the sixties who looked young enough to be in the forties; nevertheless he had retired. All his life, he said, he had risen with the sun and gone to bed with it, and, looking at his tanned skin, I was ready to believe him.

Presently the other pickers arrived. There were two of them—both lads like myself. Dennis was a student of Wesley College on holidays in South Australia. Dean was a local boy who, in previous years, had spent his holidays picking apricots. He was what you might call a veteran at apricot picking.

He was not nearly as much a veteran as the boss's father, however. The latter was an old man who had spent a lifetime at the game. We soon found out that he was going to be in charge of us. The young boss was going to supervise in another orchard. This news was not received with any enthusiasm by Dean, however. Quite the reverse. The old man was a terror, he said. Not only did he work like a maniac, but he made you work like one, too. Furthermore he had a frightful temper, and—dreadful combination—he was deaf into the bargain, so that you just could not argue with him.

Dennis and I started picking. We went for those apricots with gusto. At the end of half an hour Dennis proudly asserted that he had picked four whole buckets. "That's nothing. So have I!" I retorted. We could not help feeling proud of our efforts, however. After all, weren't we only novices at the game? So we told Mr. Coad, who seemed a very quiet man, how many buckets we had picked, and then asked him how many he had picked. He took his pipe out of his mouth and spat, "Eight," he replied, fixing us with a scornful glance. Mr. Coad was a hard-working man.

After this setback we picked steadily. We were coming to the conclusion that we had nearly done enough for one day when Dennis asked the "old bloke" when dinner was. But the "old bloke" did not hear him. "Smoko!" he beamed generously. This news affected some of the pickers in various ways. Dean was delighted, Dennis and I were staggered; Mr. Coad remained unaffected. We were to become used to his working right through the period set aside for "smoko."

The "old bloke" had not yet spoken. Now he let us know who was the boss. I must here explain that the art of apricot picking consists in picking the ripe apricots and leaving the green ones. Unfortunately different pickers differ in their ideas as to which apricots are ripe and which are not. Apparently such a difference of opinion existed between the boss and me. Anyway one could be excused for inferring such a difference, judging by the way he told me I was leaving ripe ones. A few minutes later he looked in my bucket, saw the green ones there that he had put in, and told me not to pick them green. That was a habit of his that we had to get used to.

Dean, however, did not get used to it. When the "old bloke" tried this trick on him, he lost his temper and gave him a piece of his mind. "You go to —!" he yelled and then stalked out of the orchard, never to return.

At last it was dinner time. Reluctantly Mr. Coad followed us to the shed where we sat on bags and ate our lunch. He then returned to the orchard, leaving us on the bags with the blissful knowledge that we had half-an-hour before returning to work.

Routine work, which requires no thinking whatsoever, is always boring and wearisome, until the worker gets used to it. Mr. Coad had been doing it all his life, while Dennis and I were working our first day at apricot picking. "If you don't get used to it in the first three months you never will," the boss had said. We got used to it, but the boss made it hard for us as he always seemed to be able to find some apricots that we had missed.

The highlight of the day came when the "old bloke" was regaling us with a story of his picking prowess in his youth. Suddenly his face assumed an expression of horror and he pointed at something. Then he fell off the ladder, rolled over a couple of times, gasped, and lay still. All except Mr. Coad rushed up to be in at the kill. "At last the old dog has had it!" Dennis cried, triumphantly. But there was life in the old dog yet. "Don't worry about me," he screamed, you've left an apricot at the top of that tree!" We went back to our picking. The "old bloke" knocked off for a "smoko" and left Mr. Coad in charge.

MURDER

He looked at his innocent victim and hesitated a while. So smooth and cold it appeared. It seemed so blissfully unconscious of its approaching doom.

He had been fooled before and knew that this was no time for half measures. He looked at his ghastly weapon and its sharp edge gave him confidence. He raised the weapon and brought it down with a sickening thud.

Crimson spurted over him and then fell drip, drip, drip to the floor forming a sickly pool.

He had done the deed.

He looked around, then fled, leaving behind him, battered beyond recognition the innocent victim of his attack—his last tin of "tomato juice."

VACATION

The term at last has reached its end.

The boys are off to play,
They're happy boys and full of cheer,
Going on a holiday.

The boarders leave with gladsome hearts,
The day-boys' hopes they grow,
They leave the school without a care,
And to their homes they go.

Next term they will be back to work
To do their tasks each day,
But now they're off to romp and roam,
Vacation's here, Hooray!

I TALK TOO MUCH

I talk too much at school they say,
I talk too much at home,
But if I did not talk at all
I'd be an awful drone.

I seem to have it firmly fixed
Upon my addled mind,
The more you talk the more you learn,
But this is wrong I find!

So, Master, please enlighten me
Prevent me being a fool.
Should I continue merrily
Or is "Silence the Golden Rule?"

GOLF

I do not know what prompted me to write the following selection of literary nonsense about a subject of which I have had but little experience. However, from that small amount of experience, I have gleaned the fundamental facts about the royal ancient game of golf—ancient, because, after all, it is merely a more convenient version of the enthralling pastime of "marbles", and who would dispute that this is ancient?

For the first lesson, the prospective golfer will need a set of clubs, about six balls (unless you consider that you will be able to lose more in the time allotted), an almost limitless supply of tees, and of course, an instructor. The first step is to place the tee in the ground and the ball on the tee. The driver (the first club) is then gripped firmly in both hands, and raised above the shoulder; swing the club downwards so that the head of the club strikes the ball. This procedure is repeated (usually about 12 times) until the club comes in contact with the ball.

For practice, I have found that golf balls are too dangerous. The most suitable alternative is to use a small rubber ball, or preferably, a table-tennis ball, for two reasons: firstly, fewer windows are broken, and in addition, less discomfort is caused to a passer-by if he happens to be at the receiving end of a misplaced stroke. After a certain amount of practice the budding junior considers that he is ready for his first game; so, after donning a suit of armour as protection against stray balls, he proceeds to the nearest course, complete with clubs, balls, tees and a book of rules. If desired a caddy is obtained. The best caddy I have ever known was called Ern. The main characteristic of a good caddy is his quick eye-sight, and ability to find lost balls. If he is adept at this latter task, his first instruction is to find one for you to use.

The main obstacles to be surmounted during the tour of the course are the hazards, scattered haphazardly along the route. However, once the difficulties are overcome, the going is found to be fairly smooth, that is, unless you find yourself "in the rough."

It is a fair way along the fairway until the hole is reached, and, even then the most intricate and involved process still awaits you—that of putting the ball into the hole.

From there you pass to the second tee, and thence to the second hole, and so on until you reach the ninth hole. After taking your handicap into consideration—but please, dear reader, do not state this, like one golfer of my acquaintance, as "a wife and six kids!"—you then compute your final score.

But don't be disappointed if this is about ten (or more) times as much as it should be—after all, there's nearly a year before the next world championship!

Preparatory School Notes

As this has been a very short term, broken by the Easter and Anzac Day holidays, we do not seem to have covered as much ground in our school work as we usually do. It will be necessary for all of us to come prepared in the second term to seize every opportunity of learning presented us, if we are to complete the course of work prescribed for us.

Many of us will have to change our attitude to our work. Up till the present we have been satisfied with the barest minimum of knowledge and that only if it is dinned into us by frequent repetition. Most of us consider that we come to school to be taught whereas we should feel that we come to school to learn. We should take advantage of all the help our teachers give us, but in addition, we can if we wish, learn a lot for ourselves. We have our textbooks and our Reference Library and it is not necessary to wait for our teachers to introduce new topics, we can be prepared for them through our own reading.

We have been very pleased that the Headmaster and Mr. Perry have been able to attend so many of our morning assemblies. From their addresses the probationers and all the other senior boys have had a splendid opportunity of learning what qualities they must possess if they are to be the best boys and the best men they can be. We are glad too that Mr. Perry is taking more of our Scripture classes.

We have recently received three letters from England thanking us for food parcels that we sent last year. One was from Mrs. John Gooden, one from Miss Enid Blyton and the third from Derek Parker, to whom II A sent a special parcel. We have sent quite a number of parcels to Miss Blyton and have received from her several letters and one or two of her delightful story books.

Our collections for Charities this term have totalled £28/3/10. This sum has been distributed among the "Food for Britain" and "Starving Children of Europe Funds" and the Legacy Club Appeal.

All the Senior classes made visits to the Children's Library where they renewed the acquaintance of Miss Morley and were reintroduced to the splendid collection of books which the Library houses. III B in addition spent an afternoon imbibing knowledge at G. Hall and Son's Soft Drink Factory.

The days are no longer bright and clear.
The birds have stopped their singing,
The trees have shed their leaves.
The little birds have flown

THE SHEPHERDS

The shepherds make a lonely sight
Upon the distant hill,
They guard their little flocks at night
From things that do them ill.

They keep a watch for wolf and fox,
That murder night and day.
They soothe to sleep their timid flocks
With flutes they sweetly play.

A PAINTING ON A BOX

Four birds in the sky,
Two boats sailing by;
A mount capped with snow,

Tall trees at the water's edge;
Two houses and a hedge,
A boat with a woven sail
Completes the picture's tale.

I went for a walk one frosty night,
The stars were shining and the moon was

I HAD A LITTLE LAMB

I had a little lamb whose name was Whisky,
He skipped all day and was very frisky.
His paddock was large and very wide,
And to muster him we had to ride.

One day when he was growing old,
He was sent to market to be sold.
And now he's hanging in the shops
Expensive too, as mutton chops.

Down on the beach

I made a hole
In which I could stand.

Where it has been.

TOYS

There are lots of lovely toys,
Just the things for girls and boys;
Little train sets in a row,
In a little store I know.

From this shop I very soon
Hope to buy a big balloon;
Like the ones I just have seen,
Blue and pink and red and green.

I will buy it on the day
When I have enough to pay;
That is why I'm always glad
To do some work for Mum and Dad.

The Objects of the Association are: To keep Old Boys, wherever they may be, in touch with one another and with the boys at the School; also to foster and maintain their interest in the School.

"Old Boys' Week" is observed annually towards the end of July, during which a dinner and other social functions as well as sports contests are held. Also social gatherings are held whenever any occasion arises that makes them desirable.

"The P.A.C. Chronicle", of which a large part is devoted to matters of special interest to Old Boys, is forwarded to each member of the Association.

The subscription is six shillings per annum. It is suggested that Country Members should remit sufficient to cover four years' subscription or become Life Members by payment of £5/5/0. Any Old Boy wishing to become a member can do so by forwarding his name and address to the Head Master, or to any member of the Staff, or to the Secretaries.

The Association has donated the following Scholarships to the School:

H. W. A. Miller (Old Collegians') Scholarship.

J. A. Hartley Scholarship.

Fredk. Chapple Scholarship.

W. R. Bayly Scholarship.

A. G. Collison Scholarship.

Editorial

It must be very gratifying to those who have been responsible for directing the Appeal of the Prince Alfred College War Memorial Fund, that it has made such good progress since its inception 18 months ago.

All interested in the School know full well that the Memorial Fund is to worthily commemorate the splendid service and supreme sacrifice of over 120 of its "Old Boys".

To adequately fulfil this objective, the united Committee are this year asking for a special effort from all the friends of the School; Old Boys, Parents and Friends and Present Boys, in making the Memorial Fund Fete to be held on the School Grounds on Friday and Saturday October 8th and 9th an outstanding success.

The School Grounds have been the scene of several successful Fetes in the past, and many can recall the grand effort of the "Old Boys" assisted by the School in 1936 when £2,364 was handed to the Treasurer.

Once again it is "Come to the Fair" at P.A.C., Kent Town on Oct. 8th and 9th.

Enthusiastic meetings have been held, and promises of assistance, willingly made, have given great encouragement to those who are voluntarily shouldering the hard task of co-ordinating all the activities into a splendid Fair. There is of course an immense amount of work involved in arranging a big Fair, there are for example, Stalls of many kinds, but we can be sure that the lady friends of the School who are carefully organising this side of the Fair, will do something worthy of the occasion.

Side Shows of very varied types will be the special care of "Old Boys" and many carefree people, young and old, will be able to try their skill.

Present boys are ready to do their part in this great effort. Arrangements have been made for an Exhibition, competitions and suitable souvenirs which should find ready purchasers. The objective is £3,000. This may seem a very big amount to raise at a two-day Fete, but not beyond the powers of the very many friends of the grand old School.

Fete for War Memorial Fund

OBJECTIVE £3,000

All old boys and friends of the School are asked NOW to reserve October 8th and 9th when a two day Fete is to be held in aid of the Memorial Fund.

Our School Fetes have been grand shows in the past and the strong Committee appointed to arrange the coming Fete is out to make it a record event.

Apart from the great addition to the Memorial Fund which it is expected to provide, the success of the Fete will be a compliment to the Head in his last term at School. Mrs. Ward has convened a Committee of ladies who are already working hard for their stalls. Norman Todd and Reg Hall are the Honorary Organisers and the office of the Fete Committee is at Mr. Todd's office, Cavendish Chambers, Grenfell Street.

Stalls and Side-Shows will be there in abundance

The Fete is receiving the hearty co-operation of the School Council, Masters and Boys, the Old Scholars Association and the Parents and Friends Association.

Ring Mr. Norman Todd (C. 5800) Today

If you have a workable idea for raising money or are prepared to do your bit to make this an all time record fete.

THE LATE WILLIAM C. ANNELLS

Mr. William Charles Annelles who recently died at Launceston, was educated at Prince Alfred College and then attended the Adelaide University where he gained his Master of Arts degree before proceeding to Hobart in 1900. From 1907 to 1913 he taught at Barker College, Hornsby N.S.W. and at Melbourne Grammar. Returning to Tasmania, he joined the Staff of the Friends School, Hobart, and was appointed Headmaster in 1916 until the end of 1923. He took an active interest in the work and activities of the School and became recognised as an authority on literature and the classics. He was a member of the Buckingham Bowling Club and the South Australian Association. Amongst those present at the cremation were Messrs. H. P. Tuck and R. H. Berri-man representing this Association.

THE LATE DR. FREDERIC J. CHAPPLE

Dr. Frederic J. Chapple who was the eldest son of the late Mr. Frederic Chapple, B.A., B.Sc., a former Headmaster of Prince Alfred College died on 22nd January 1948 after a long illness. He attended the School 1878 to 1889 and the Adelaide University and then graduated in Melbourne. He was a keen supporter of the School and this Association and until recently was a prominent figure in the Annual Old Scholars Bowls Match.

THE LATE MR. A. H. HENNING

Mr. Andrew Herriott Henning, formerly a prominent West Australian member of Parliament, who assisted in framing the Federal Constitution, died in the Mount Hospital, St. George's-terrace, in December 1947. He was a member for the North-East Province in the Legislative Council from June 29th, 1897 to May 13th 1898, and in 1897 to 1898 was one of the State's representatives at the Federal Convention. For the last 20 years he has been in retirement at Kalamunda.

The late Mr. Henning was born at North Adelaide, South Australia, in 1863. He was educated at Prince Alfred College, and obtained the degree of Bachelor of Law at the University of Adelaide, having previously served his articles. He practised as a barrister and solicitor at Broken Hill, and in 1894 came to Western Australia and carried on his profession at Coolgardie. He was one of the originators of the Coolgardie Chamber of Mines. In 1896 he left Coolgardie and opened a practice as a solicitor in Perth.

In 1905, Mr. Henning purchased a pastoral and fruit growing property at Yalup Brook, in the Waroona district, and established a Shropshire stud. At one time he was one of the largest exhibitors of this class of sheep in the State. Wool from his flock won a medallion at the Roubaix Exhibition, France, in 1911. He retired from the practice of law in 1907. For five years he was chairman of the Drakesbrook Road Board.

In appreciation of his work at Federal Convention, Mr. Henning was a guest of the Federal Government at the opening of Parliament House, Canberra, in 1927, in which year he retired and went to live at Kalamunda.

Monthly Luncheons

Monthly luncheons held at the Apollo Rooms (Myers) Rundle Street, at 1 o'clock on the second Thursday of each month continue to be well attended, and it is pleasing to note the presence of a number of new "Old Boys" recently; it is hoped they will continue to attend and bring other contemporaries.

Mr. Dean S. Yelland, who had recently returned from a visit to Sweden, where he attended a conference of the International Labor Organisation, addressed us at our February Meeting. His explanation of the functions of that body was very interesting whilst anecdotes associated with his journey were most entertaining.

At the March lunch our knowledge of Tasmania was greatly increased. Our guest speaker on this occasion was Mr. L. A. Brain, Adelaide Manager of the Tasmanian Government Tourist Bureau. Mr. Brain explained the importance of the tourist trade to Tasmania, and the great advantages enjoyed there commercially by reason of hydro-electric power.

Dr. C. M. Deland spoke to us in April. His subject "New Guinea as it is today" was listened to with much interest. He outlined the trend of events there, which have followed on the changed conditions in the post war period.

Professor J. A. Prescott of the Waite Agricultural Institute, who recently returned from India and Siam, spoke to us in May about those two countries. His reference to the food situation in India was most enlightening, and we obtained an insight into the vast problem that country faces in feeding its teeming millions.

Old Collegians Abroad

The following interesting letter has been received from Dr. Barton Fenner, B.C.O.F., Japan dated 18th April 1948. "In the course of my work here in Japan with B.C.O.F. I was surprised and pleased to see something which made me remember my pleasant days at the College. I thought that you would like to hear of it.

I was accompanying a stretcher patient in one of the motor ambulances which we use here and glancing round the interior, I noticed a brass plate. It said, "Presented by the Boys and Parents of Prince Alfred College" I felt as if I had just met an old friend and could not refrain from telling my patient all about it.

I am sure that all those concerned in providing this Ambulance would be pleased to know that it is still doing its job, and that it has been a friend to at least one "Old Boy".

Messrs. C. J. Glover, N. S. Angel and L. B. Shuttleworth have been appointed Trustees to administer this fund, under direction of the Association Committee.

There was a fair attendance of supporters of both Associations. A cold wind somewhat marred the evenings entertainment and there was a good demand for hot coffee at supper.

The surplus proceeds have been forwarded to the South Park Bowling Club as a donation to the Club's Charity Fund.

Old Collegians Cricket Club

The record of the Old Collegians Cricket Club in the season just completed is one in which success and failure are evenly blended. Although we finished amongst those in the lower half of the premiership table, we nevertheless managed to beat teams that were much nearer the top.

When we were at full strength we were able to field a very good side indeed, but unfortunately there were times when the team was weakened by the absence of star players, and on those occasions we were usually defeated rather badly. In all, four matches were won and six lost during the season.

The most useful player was undoubtedly Murray Wellington, who did well with both bat and ball. He was also the most regular in attendance at practice.

When he was able to play, Arthur Dawkins was a most valuable member of the side. It is to be hoped that he will be able to play more regularly next season. He would certainly strengthen the team considerably.

Others who have done well include Colin Woolcock, whose batting has been consistently sound, Ern Drennen whose big hitting on occasion was a joy to watch, Don Brebner, Max Thompson and Murray Olsson.

The club is always looking for new talent. If therefore there are any old scholars who are reasonably proficient at the grand old game, and who are not eligible for the Old Age pension, the secretary (George Mansfield) would be pleased to hear from them at the School.

Old Collegians Football Club

In an endeavour to provide a good standard for the "B" team, the Club made an application for entry into Grade A3 in the Amateur League which was duly accepted. Some doubt was felt as to the advisability of this course owing to the lack of support in the past, but as soon as practice commenced it became evident that the decision was a wise one. Practices were well and enthusiastically attended, there being as many as 48 players out (A and B) in one night.

The "B" team has won two matches and as the Juniors gain experience should win more. The team is capably led by Elliott Johnston.

The "A" team lost several good players this year but new recruits have been found and the team has won two matches and been defeated twice by small margins. As the season progresses it is expected to improve and should gain a higher position on the premiership list than last year when it came next to bottom. Players showing good form are Brian Miller, Downing, Dixon and Osborne in the back lines Jack Parham at centre and Paul Dalwood and Owen Price in the forward division.

Mr. Ross Johnston who has been one of the administrative mainstays of the Club for many years is the President and is still working as hard as ever in the Club's interest. John Stephens is coach, Arthur Dawkins captain, and Jack Parham vice-captain, Gus Wilcox was appointed Secretary but owing to pressure of business has had to relinquish the position, and all Old Boys who are football players should contact the new secretary Rex Miller (C 1722) and make arrangements to come out and play for the Club.

COLLEGE COMMITTEE

At the last Annual General Meeting of the College Committee, Dr. M. W. Evans and Mr. Geoffrey T. Clarke were elected to the General Committee and Messrs. J. Crompton, F. E. Piper, J. F. W. Dunn and G. K. Ryder were re-elected to the School Council.

COLLEGE ENDOWMENT FUND

Your committee has decided that no special effort to augment this fund should be made. The fund is still open and receiving contributions from time to time.

Old Collegians Rugby Club

In direct contrast to the last three years, this club has at last found its feet and has several victories to report.

We have had fortunately a large influx of experienced players, mainly University graduates and coupled with a few of the older hands, has formed the backbone of a very potential team.

As usual we have had a few injuries, but for the first time there have been reserves to call upon, with the result that the standard of the A team has not been seriously impaired.

Geoff Woollard and Warren Carter both hope to be running again in a few weeks.

Bruce Burrows who only left school last year has already struck amazingly good form as a wing three-quarter and is well up to A Grade standard.

Of the original prewar team we have only one player left, Colin Runge, who staged his comeback a few weeks ago.

Our first match and victory was against Burnside whom we defeated by 8 points to 6.

Then after a particularly hard fought match the final whistle saw the scores of 6 all against West Torrens, a draw.

The following week the miracle happened when we defeated 'Varsity by 16 points to 10. Memories of the time 'Varsity trounced us by 67 points to 0 can now be forgotten.

Then against a strong Railways team we won by quite a comfortable margin and at last we were top of the list with only one team left to play, Woodville, who had been defeated by 'Varsity a few weeks previously. Hence with our unbeaten record we were certainly favourites, but evidently the unprecedented run of victories proved too much and Woodville fairly romped home by 25 to 6. This finished the first round and our position was third.

The B team has done remarkably well and although it cannot boast of any successes, none of the scores against them were exceptionally large.

Any prospective players are welcome and are asked to turn up with togs to practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays on the back oval or else contact the secretary.

R. Paltridge, c/o Gas Co., Laboratories, Brompton.

Old Collegians Athletic Club

In response to many requests a preliminary meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A. Buildings on Monday 31st May at 7.45 p.m. to consider the formation of an Old Scholars Athletic Club.

Both the Association and the School are keenly interested in such a club and the Headmaster has offered training facilities and use of the College grounds.

Mr. L. P. A. Lawrence occupied the chair and it was unanimously resolved to form a Prince Alfred Old Collegians Athletic Club, and to seek affiliation with the S.A. Amateur Athletic Association.

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. Cyril T. Piper; Vice-Presidents,

Messrs. R. Mattison, J. S. Steele and L. P. A. Lawrence; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. J. Dixon; Hon. Secretary, Mr. L. W. Harford; Assistant Secretary, Mr. F. W. Biggs; Auditor, Mr. F. James; Committee, Messrs. P. G. Warnecke, G. K. May, J. Friebe, J. Charnock, B. Burrows, D. Rosser, G. A. Hudson and T. H. James.

The Secretary (Mr. L. Harford, c/o Commercial Union Assurance Coy, King William Street) will be pleased to hear from intending members so that arrangements for training may be made.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

Subscriptions for the year ending 30th September 1948 are now due, and members are requested to remit promptly to facilitate the work of the association.

As the amount of Annual Subscription, 6/-, is so small, it is suggested that members forward two, three or four years' subscriptions, thereby saving postage and exchange. The prepayments of subscriptions will also save the association expense of postage, etc.

The work of the association has increased considerably, and your co-operation by prompt payment of subscriptions is requested.

ASSOCIATION BLAZERS

The Red-and-White striped cloth is not procurable at present, and your Committee has therefore approved of the following:

- (1) Navy blazer with Old Collegians' pocket badge.
- (2) Maroon blazer with white braid and Old Collegians' pocket badge.

Both designs are now obtainable by members of this Association but a certificate of membership must be obtained from the Association.

New Members

The enrolment of new members still continues very satisfactorily, but your Committee wants every eligible Old Boy to join now and give the Association added strength.

If you know of an Old Boy who is not a member, send his name and address to the Secretaries; or, better still, bring him along personally to join up.

President, Mr. Roy Jackett; Committee, Messrs. C. W. Crompton, C. Alexander, A. E. Dawkins and Fred Jackett. Hon. Sec. and Treasurer, A. N. Dawkins.

FORTHCOMING EVENTS

July 29th—Annual Branch Dinner at Hotel Australia.

September — Dinner Meeting.

September or October—Golf Meeting.

VISIT BY HEADMASTER

On the 28th May the branch was honoured by a visit from the Headmaster. To mark the occasion a dinner was held at the Hotel Federal and there was a pleasing attendance of 36 members. Proceedings commenced just after 6 p.m. and continued until 10 o'clock. Musical items were dispensed during the evening by Messrs. Marshall Fenwick and Stan Seddon.

Our now President, Mr. Roy Jackett took over the chair from the retiring President, Mr. C. W. Crompton during the evening. In welcoming Mr. Ward, he referred to his long association with the School, first as a pupil, and then as a master and finally as the head, and spoke in eulogistic terms of the splendid progress the School has made under Mr. Ward's direction. In view of his retirement at the end of the year, he wished him good health and happiness, and these sentiments were carried by acclamation by the assembled company.

Mr. Ward, in responding, told the boys many things of interest about the School, its growth, and its aims and objects. In a modest way, so characteristic of him, Mr. Ward had little to say of his own work for the School, but rather did he emphasise the work of his predecessors, especially Mr. Chapple. An important note was struck when he dealt with "tradition", and compared the aims and objects of Prince Alfred College with those of other schools where religion was not a factor of School life.

DINNER TO MESSRS. G. T. CLARKE AND R. W. M. JOHNSON

In April our Vice-President, Geoff Clarke represented the Association at a Melbourne Branch Dinner. Ron Johnson a member of the Committee who was in Melbourne at the time was also present. Charlie Crompton was in the Chair and the energetic Secretary, Norman Dawkins made all the necessary arrangements.

There was a good attendance and after a talk by Geoff Clarke about association affairs and a few "do you remember", everyone got together and exchanged stories of the past.

The Dinner was a great success and forged another link in the priceless chain of memories of the "Old and Best School of all".

Those present were—C. W. Crompton, W. A. Shepley, R. A. Parker, Howard Jackett, Roy Jackett, Eric Armstrong, J. H. Mellor, Harold Brennen, Fred Brennen, Dr. E. Roseavere, Colin Alexander, A. E. Dawkins, Colin Jackett, Fred Jackett, Howard Manuel, Brian Manuel, Alf Waldeck, Keith Richardson, Hugh Palamountain, Ken James, David James, A. N. Dawkins.

OLD BOYS INTERESTED IN VICTORIAN LEAGUE FOOTBALL

On Saturday 28th May, Dr. Jacob Jona entertained a number of old boys at the Hawthorn—Richmond league football match. Dr. Jona takes a keen interest in football over here. He is President of the Hawthorn Club, and a delegate to the Victorian Football League. Another "old red" in the person of Fred Jackett is on the Hawthorn club committee.

Those present at Hawthorn at this function were Fred, Roy and Howard Jackett, Charles Crompton, Alan Shepley, Bruce Berry, Howard Manuel, Arthur Bradshaw and Geoff Cox.

Dr. Jona will be visiting Adelaide with the Victorian Interstate League Team during Old Boys Week, and is looking forward to meeting many of his old friends.

GOLF OUTING

Another very pleasant golf outing for members of the Victorian branch was held on the 9th May at the Forest Hills course at Dandenong, some 20 odd miles from Melbourne. Twelve members (some with their wives) braved the elements early in the morning to try their prowess with the little whiet ball. The day broke cold and wet, and threatened to mar the game altogether, but by about 11 o'clock the clouds broke and the sun came out, much to everyone's satisfaction.

The morning was devoted to a competition round for trophies and the afternoon to social golf in which the ladies joined. After the nineteenth hole members lunched together in the club-house.

Howard Manuel proved to be the best player with a nett 72, but son Brian, playing behind his father, frequently outdrove him, and feared the consequences when he got home, for some of his long shots went perilously close. Norman Dawkins had the best bogey card, and Colin Alexander played well above his handicap to finish one stroke more than Howard with a nett 73.

Roy Jackett was the best of the long markers with a nett 75. Charlie Crompton played with bad luck (some say he was distracted by several colourful sweaters) to return a nett 81. Doctor Ted Rosanove had a bad reversal of form, as well as a cold (he won a trophy at Flinders last year) to finish with an 82, while Arthur Bradshaw distinguished himself by being the only player to get a 2 on any pole. Ken James won the trophy for having the most "putto" and Ern Dawkins for running up a Bradman-like century.

Colin Jackett showed the greatest improvement over the second 9 holes. Perhaps the most heroic effort of the day was that of David James who completed the course in spite of a very sore leg sustained in a football match the day before.

Trophies will be presented to the players at the annual dinner on the 29th July.

BROKEN HILL

During a recent visit to Broken Hill, the Association President, Mr. J. F. W. Dunn took the opportunity of meeting several Old Boys with the object of reviving a Local Branch of the Association at Broken Hill in the near future. Promises of assistance to reorganise have been made and it is expected that an inaugural meeting may soon be arranged. Further particulars may be obtained from Mr. J. I. Brown, c/o "The Barrier Miner," Broken Hill or P.O. Box 19c, Broken Hill or from Mr. R. Broadbent, B.H. Water Board, Broken Hill.

According to reports there is a large number of Old Boys in and near Broken Hill and an active Association should result. It is hoped that inter-association contests with St. Peters Association will be a feature of its activities.

ANNUAL BRANCH DINNER

Arrangements are being made for the Annual Branch Dinner to be held on Thursday, 29th July, to coincide with the Annual Dinners in Adelaide and Melbourne.

OBITUARY

Harold R. Fuller of 19 Bayswater Road, Lindfield, New South Wales, passed away on 25th February last.

He was a keen supporter of our Alma Mater and attended all the functions held in association with the College in Sydney. He had a long and honourable career with Commercial organisations in Sydney, and was for some years Accountant with one of the leading Commercial Broadcasting Stations. Those who knew Harold closely held him in warm regard, and at the Service conducted by Rev. Mr. King at St. Andrews Church of England, Roseville, there was a large attendance to pay a last tribute of respect. He leaves a widow (formerly Miss Ruby Norman of Adelaide) and two sons Messrs. David and Harward Fuller.

The College was represented at the Church Service by Messrs. T. A. Neill and Allan Lyon.

PERSONAL

Mr. E. Will Sullivan of Maylands, a classmate of Allan Lyon in 1897, called upon the latter towards the closing of last year. They had not met since 1901, and a very happy reunion was the result. Mr. Phil Sullivan, a son, is resident in New South Wales and attends the Old Scholars functions in Sydney. Another classmate in 1897, Hardy Hanton, recently in Adelaide on vacation from West Australia, and with others, was part of the reminiscence which came under review. It recalled the days of Mr. Iliffe, late Rev. John Benbow, and other Masters of beloved memory.

Mr. W. Percy Davies, Managing Director of The Hub Limited, Sydney, left for England per P. & O. Stratheden during February on a business trip with his wife and niece. Percy is one of our stalwarts and visited the College whilst passing through Adelaide. A note from the steamer when at Fremantle to Allan Lyon and the old scholars in Sydney dated 27th February expressed his delight to see the College and the lads playing on the Oval. For the first time he saw the Preparatory School and new buildings which gave him great joy.

Norman A. Harris, O.B.E., and Mrs. Harris, with son Peter, were entertained prior to their departure for Adelaide where Norman has been transferred to the Commonwealth Bank, at the home in Mosman of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Kesting. The gathering was attended by pals of other days, and Brian Monfries with Mrs. Monfries, and their son, John Elliott, Mr. and Kesting and Clayton and Judith and Allan Mrs. J. L. Cowan and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Lyon. (Mrs. Lyon could not be present in consequence of illness). Mrs. Kesting proved a wonderful hostess and the afternoon passed all too quickly. Genuine expressions of regret were tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Harris that fortune should take them from our midst, and Norman replied on behalf of his wife and himself.

WELCOME DINNER TO MR. J. F. WARD

New South Wales Branch held a Welcome to Sydney Dinner to the Headmaster, Mr. J. F. Ward, M.A., on Thursday, 13th May, and quite a full attendance of Old Scholars enjoyed the repast at the Commercial Travellers' Association Dining Room, Martin Place, Sydney. Illness prevented Messrs. T. A. Neill and Bernard S. Berry from being with us, and others who are regular supporters were absent on visits overseas. We had, however, amongst our number James B. Grant, K. S. Brown, Arnold Weidenhofer, R. C. Williamson, Lieut. C. Wilbur Wright, H. W. Botten, George Davey, Brian E. Monfries, Brian W. Hone, Ernest A. Kesting, Norman A. Harris, O.B.E., Dr. R. M. Dunstone, Robert C. Jones and two brothers Moore, Herman Menz and Herman Basedow, J. L. Cowan, L. Dane, H. N. Walter, Dr. Henry L. Brose. At the last moment Phil Sullivan, L. V. Harris, Fred (IXL) Harris, Fred (Lewis A. Harris) and Mervyn Hunn were unable to cancel other engagements. Ian Nottle who has so regularly attended, came bright and smiling as usual. Allan Lyon presided, and the words expressed by J. L. Cowan and Brian E. Monfries in sincere appreciation of Norman A. Harris, O.B.E., who left for return to Commonwealth Bank, Adelaide, the following day, were couched with warm regard and had dignity and manliness behind the expressions they used. With a fine War service, and having established for himself a host of friends Norman Harris in reply spoke to us with gratitude for all the obvious wishes for the future of himself, his wife and little son, Peter. He felt the occasion sincerely in saying "Au Revoir" but knew the regard for his association amongst us, and acquitted himself like the good soldier he proved to be. At this moment we were handed a telegram from Mr. G. H. Jeffrey intimating he had left for Brisbane by air for the Wool Sales and could not be present, and also a telephone message from the Holland Brothers who through change of address received our letter intimating the function, too late to join us much to our regret. Herbert W. Botten kindly officiated at the piano as usual, playing for our enjoyment and accompaniment of the College songs. It was left to Allan Lyon to intimate the regret felt at the announcement of retirement of Mr. Ward from the position of Headmaster at the end of the current year. He stressed the attributes possessed by Mr. and Mrs. Ward, their great work for the College, their untiring devotion to the well-being of the boys at the School, and Temple of worthwhile citizenship they have built in their own careers, which has been reflected in all they have done to advance our Alma Mater, and develop character and manliness amongst those in their care. He described them "First amongst their Equals" with a warmth of regard for their future, and assured them both of the remembrance and affection which would be theirs as long as those who knew them may live to treasure it. In reply Mr. Ward reviewed his years at the College as scholar, teacher and Headmaster. He told us of his colleagues in other days, of Masters whom he had when a scholar, of his present teaching staff, and of his desire to augment the funds for the War Memorial Building which was detailed in manner and item creating a new outlook for reason of support. This is the last occasion when Mr. Ward indicated he would speak to us as Headmaster, prior to retirement, and he spoke feelingly of our other meetings in Sydney and knew he would be remembered and his association with us and the College would stand in affection for all time. In support of the President, Mr. Brian W. Hone, a former scholar at the College, on the teaching staff, and later at Winchester School as a Master in England, and for some years Headmaster of Cranbrook School, Rose Bay, Sydney, and at present the successful Headmaster, spoke warmly of his association with Mr. Ward, and with great depth of feeling expressed his regret of the announced retirement of Mr. Ward. With a delightful style and manner which greatly pleased his hearers Mr. Hone gave us a brief epitome of many aspects of College life and caused quite a full interest in talking of Old Scholars and their views and outlook. Mr. Hone has a gift of being one of the party, and can talk, and does, with a happy vein which puts everyone at ease, and his sense of humour and breadth of outlook, created a very great appreciation and whilst it was obvious he enjoyed his chat to us, we were equally happy to give him our wholehearted attention. In view of the short notice which the President and Secretary (Mr. Ernest A. Kesting) had to arrange the Dinner the gathering was in every way one of our best to date, and showed what can be done with wholehearted support from the Old Scholars. Dr. Reg. M. Dunstone who generally gives us "one of Dennis' poems," on this occasion contributed a very interesting speech, in support of the expressions tendered to Mr. Ward. Dr. Dunstone not only endorsed in well chosen words the comment which had been made, but supplemented in characteristic style his own summary, and we all enjoyed being present with him.

REUNION SOCIAL

On 10th March the S.A. Schools Association had another reunion at the R.A.C.Q. Board Room, this occasion being the visit of Archdeacon Bickersteth to Brisbane. The Archdeacon is visiting Australia in connection with the Canterbury Cathedral Appeal Fund.

We were also pleased to welcome as guests Archbishop R. C. Halse and Mr. H. I. Piggott, recently appointed headmaster of Brisbane Boys' Grammar School.

Archdeacon Bickersteth recognised many of his former pupils at sight and, when he learned that two former scholars, Phil Longbottom and David Hopton, A.N.A. pilots, had juggled the roster to fly him up North, he was aghast. He wagged a reproving finger and said, "Now, boys, no tricks!"

Those present were T. S. Ware, Len King, J. E. Tregenza, G. W. Glasson, M. L. Staer, A. J. Richards, W. H. Wildy, Major Mann, E. Canaway, J. I. Bailey, R. H. Wainwright, W. P. Hutton, G. S. Drury, D. MR. AND MRS. J. F. WARD'S PROPOSED VISIT

It is with great pleasure that we learn of the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Ward to visit Perth early in July next and they can be assured of a very warm welcome by Old Boys in W.A.

MONTHLY LUNCHEONS

Monthly luncheons are held regularly at the Wattle Tea Rooms, St. Georges Terrace, Perth. At the Arpil lunch, the guest of honour was Mr. Len S. Clarkson who was attending with the Chamber of Commerce Delegation in Perth. Mr. Clarkson addressed members giving up-to-date information about the School and Association and this was greatly appreciated. Those present were Messrs. A. E. Stephens (President), Dr. J. L. Rossiter, J. A. Richards, L. E. Thurston, W. C. Fawcett, S. S. Glyde, W. R. Rogers, S. J. Dimond, W. E. Southwood, F. B. Day, A. S. Chipper, V. H. Dawe, F. A. Potts, A. E. Bennett, H. R. Hanton, E. H. Stirling, J. C. Livingston.

OLD COLLEGIANS' CRICKET MATCH

A cricket match against Saints' Old Boys was held on February 14th at Wesley College. This function was a great success thanks largely to Mr. R. J. B. Miller who did not spare himself in organising the match, making arrangements for catering and rounding up many who otherwise might have unwittingly absented themselves. Our thanks are due also to Dr. J. L. Rossiter for his co-operation in making the College Oval available to us and for allowing us the use of the Gymnasium for luncheon and afternoon tea.

Saints were captained by V. S. Murphy, headmaster of Hale School, and Princes by F. C. Waldeck. The former won the toss and elected to bat—a most decided advantage, hence the result—while we did our fair share of leather-hunting for two or three hours.

The teams were: P.A.C.—F. C. Waldeck, L. B. Wilson, V. H. Dawe, S. H. Haslam, R. C. Wills, C. R. Morgan, W. B. Chapman, F. S. Freebairn, L. E. and J. M. Thurston and Dr. A. L. Dawkins with E. H. Edgecombe and J. C. Livingston, reserves, W. C. Fawcett, scorer, J. A. Richards and W. E. Southwood, umpires.

S.P.S.C.—V. S. Murphy, Ron Halcombe, L. Langdon, O. Hines, —Newland, N. Goode, J. Smith, J. H. Reynolds, M. Rymill, —Lee Steere and Dr. McKellar Hall; Messrs J. Forrest and Marsh, umpires.

Haslam and Dawkins opened the batting for "Old Reds" to the bowling of Halcombe, and they immediately set about the task of chasing the 115 runs required for victory. We permitted the inclusion of the bowler referred to in Saints' team despite the rulings given by leading authorities some seasons ago on his method of delivery. Even the umpires were lenient as Halcombe was not "no-balled" once but rather was credited with taking the first two wickets after which he was relieved by Max Rymill whose leg breaks were too much of a temptation for four of our batsmen. Wills batted creditably but as will be seen by the scores attached he had no support and consequently became reckless in his chase for runs.

Played at Wesley College, South Perth, at the invitation of Dr. J. L. Rossiter, Patron of P.A.O.C. Association (W.A. Branch).
