EDITORIAL

Today it is generally agreed that some form of physical training is a basic requirement of a good education. Regular physical exercise for every young Australian is lauded and encouragement is or should be given to ensure that school children and other students participate regularly in their chosen sport. There are, however, differing views about the degree of competition that should take place throughout school life, not only in the class room but also on the playing field, and arguments are advanced both for and against energetic competition between individuals or teams. Many remain of the opinion that competitive sporting activity, as it relates to the society in which we live, serves a useful and necessary role in education. In team games it shows one the value of group co-ordination and encourages an interdependence pertinent to community life. A measure of success gives the individual self-confidence. Certainly learning to win—and what is more important—to lose graciously can be one of sport's greatest benefits.

Others, however, are questioning the value of competition. Hence in some schools the emphasis is being placed upon participation rather than competition in sporting activity.

Truly there is ample reason to deplore the physical violence that takes place in some competitive games at the highest level. The fact is that the "will to win" has been over-emphasized and a "win at all costs" attitude has been adopted by a large number of competitors and coaches. The true Olympic spirit has been adulterated. "Professionalism" may be made the scapegoat but, whatever force is operative, it is apparent that all connected with competitive sport must be wary of being affected by this trend. The ranks of the advocates of "non-competition" are swelling, as more people become disenchanted with the behaviour of the participants and the unruly nature of the crowds.

The origins of violence in sport both on and off the field are not hard to find. Urban life, with its increasing pressures, is creating a build-up of tension within each individual and for many the most readily available outlet for this tension is their weekly sporting outing.

But competitive sport surely cannot be blamed for a social problem. Are we to become a nation of joggers? Clearly each person must be free to decide whether to compete or to involve himself in an activity which may be self-rewarding yet non-competitive. In a diverse society we must display flexibility and tolerance and accept that what is good for one may not be beneficial for another. Not everyone can hope to excel in a demanding field, but there are thousands of naturally talented athletes who desire to compete and who are able to harness their latent aggression and direct it into more productive and less menacing forms of self-expression.

We must be careful lest we discourage participation in competitive sport for everyone merely because of the behaviour of a few. For competition breeds incentive which in turn nurtures the pursuit of excellence. Few things are as truly exciting and inspiring to both onlookers and competitors as the Olympic Games.

If we eliminate this competitive spirit we shall foster a society which already shows a disturbing trend towards accepting and rewarding mediocrity.

SCHOOL NOTES

Our congratulations are extended to the Rev. K. D. Seaman on his election as President of the Methodist Conference, and therefore as President of the College for the year 1975/76.

This year we welcomed the Rev. K. D. Seaman, Rev. T. J. Oates, and Mr. A. E. Norman as new members of the College Council. These replaced the Revs. W. J. Stafford, S. K. Wiseman and Mr. T. W. Cotton, to whom we express our appreciation for their great service to the school. In particular our thanks are extended to Mr. Tom Cotton, who served the Council for many years and gave unstintingly of his energy and enthusiasm, particularly in the onerous position of Treasurer of the College, which he held for some years.

We record with great regret that during the past year Mr. H. C. Williams felt it necessary to retire from the position of Treasurer of the College, and he has been succeeded by Mr. A. R. Read. We should like to record the tremendous debt which the College owes to Mr. Williams for his untiring and dedicated efforts over the last eight years. His industry and his wisdom have been largely responsible for the College weathering some difficult years with a sound financial basis.

It is with deep regret that we record the death on 10th December, 1974, of Mr. J. S. Steele. Mr. Steele joined the teaching staff of the school in 1922 and retired after 46 years of most valuable service.

The end of 1974 saw the retirement of the Deputy Headmaster, Mr. R. T. Smith, who was at Princes for thirty-eight years. Many will be interested to know that Mr. Smith has been teaching Physics part-time at St. Peter's College for a few months this year whilst his brother has been enjoying long service leave.

Mr. B. W. Bryant retired at the conclusion of first term, 1975, and is planning to live in Grafton, N.S.W. Messrs. M. W. Cutts, M. Stevens, and M. W. Waters moved on to other positions at the end of 1974.

We have welcomed to the teaching staff this year Messrs. W. D. Riceman, J. Dollman, C. Dean and G. J. Neil, Mr. G. Simcock came in second term. At the end of second term Mrs. S. E. Francis left us and Mrs. Ling Kwan took her place as Laboratory Assistant. In the Preparatory School we have been joined by Mr. P. Moore and Mr. A. H. Smith. Mrs. J. Lawton gave valuable assistance with Economics teaching in Second Term.

Mr. B. H. Leak and Mr. F. C. Bennett have recently returned from well deserved long service leave, spent largely in Europe during the second term.

We congratulate Mr. E. S. Whitworth and Mr. R. J. Jones on their election as Members of the Australian College of Education, Mr. N. T. A. Jackson as Councillor for Maylands in the Corporation of St. Peter's, and Mr. M. B. Basedow on being elected life member of the Market Research Society of Australia.

The school appreciates the continued support and encouragement it has received from the Old Scholars' Association, and particularly from its President, Mr. Brian Potter, during the past year. We express our thanks to the President, Mr. Errol Dolan, and members of the P.A.C. Parents & Friends Association for their practical support and encouragement during the year, and in particular for the gift of a magnificent scoreboard for the front oval.

We acknowledge with gratitude bequests from the estates of the late Miss M. M. Puddy, Dr. H. L. Rayner, Mr. A. W. Kelly and Mrs. C. J. Perry.

We are also most appreciative of the endowment of a new prize by Mr. David Prest in memory of his late brother. It is to be known as the Rob. Prest Memorial Prize to be awarded annually to the Head Boy of Pirie House.

The numbers on the school roll in 1975 are 692 in the Senior School and 232 in the Preparatory School, of whom 126 are boarders.

1974 saw the final year of the P.E.B. Leaving Examination, and in the Matriculation Examinations there were some outstanding results. We congratulate J. T. Sykes, A. W. Eyers, M. W. Coleman and S. M. Graham on gaining places in the General Honours List, and P. J. Arthur on being placed first in the State in Latin.

It is with great regret that we record the decision of the Australian Government to withdraw all support from school Cadet Forces, and in consequence the P.A.C. Cadet Force has had to be disbanded. The thanks of the school, many present students, and the Old Scholars are extended to Major Woollard and all the Cadet Officers who have helped him over the years, for their great service to the school and the community through their work in the Cadet Corps.

We congratulate R. van Dissel and D. C. Hone on being placed first and second in the 4 Cadet Brigade Under Officers Course in December last year at Warradale Camp.

1975 has seen some changes in the day school programme following upon the departure of the P.E.B. Leaving Examination. A single year course at Fourth Year level has been instituted for those whose intention it is to leave school at the end of Fourth Year, or who need further time to prepare themselves for the normal two-year course to Matriculation. The alternative course has a greater practical content to it, and is more closely related to everyday life needs and experiences.

The third and fourth year programmes have been widened to offer some elective courses.

It was a great pleasure to us that P.A.C. was able to act as the Conference centre during January for the National Christian Youth Convention, and we are also pleased that the South Australian English Teachers' Association chose to base their Conference upon our Assembly Hall.

On June 27th and 28th the combined dramatic groups of M.L.C. and P.A.C. presented a play by Max Frisch, "The Fire Raisers," in the Assembly Hall.

A most enjoyable recital of choral and orchestral music by boys from the senior and preparatory schools took place in the Assembly Hall on the evening of Saturday, 9th August. This occasion provided encouraging evidence of the speedy growth of instrumental music within the school.

The newly constructed Library Resource Centre and Science Lecture Theatre are almost ready for occupation. Considerable renovation of the main school building is taking place, and it is hoped that the old Assembly Hall will be restored to something of its former glory, whilst School house boarders will be using the upper floor of the north-west wing for night study. Plans for the development of the Blanche Town site are well in advance.

The new P.A.C. Amateur Radio Station, donated and installed by Dr. Colin Luke, came into operation during the year and featured in a "sched" with the radio club of the Cathedral School in Bunbury, Western Australia. Seven boys gained Youth Radio Club elementary stage 2 certificates during the year.

P.A.C. competitors were most successful this year in South Australian Mathematical Association competitions. In the senior section Stephen Thomas and David Robertson shared second equal place, whilst Robertson also gained first place for the top fourth year student. Andrew James and Randall Brown came second and fifth respectively in the junior section.

The P.A.C. first ever entries in the South Australian Federation Photographic Competition and Exhibition were highly successful. P.A.C. narrowly won the black and white print section, having had all its entries accepted for exhibition, winning two of the three sections entered, and gaining three merit awards. Murray Barr and Simon Holding were the two section winners.

P.A.C. teams have been taking part this year in unofficial matches in both table tennis and squash for the first time.

Since the publication of the last Chronicle, St. Peters College gained a good but narrow victory in the Intercollegiate cricket match, and the Intercollegiate tennis match was decided in St. Peters' favour for the first time for many years, after a countback of games.

The quickly-growing and enthusiastic Rowing Club unfortunately had little success at the Head of the River, but an outstanding sporting achievement was the magnificent team victory by our Athletics team in the Combined Athletic Sports.

In second term Princes had notable Intercollegiate victories in basketball, football and rugby.

The Chess Club had a most successful year, winning the Inter-schools "A" Grade Championship, and also being declared the champion Chess school in the State, for performance at all levels. The term ended with an exciting five-all draw in the match against St. Peters.

THE SCHOOL SERVICES

Valedictory Service, 1974

The service was conducted by the School Chaplain, Rev. R. K. Waters, E.D., B.A. in the Kent Town Methodist Church on the evening of November 1. Mr. Mark Symons, B.Sc., B.E., was the organist, and the school choir, directed by Mr. K. W. Cullen, L.Mus., sang "Fill thou my life, O Lord my God," and "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" (Parry). The Captain of the School, Mark Newman, read the lesson, Romans 12 : 1-21.

In his valedictory sermon, the Headmaster spoke of the unprecedented uncertainties and fears for the future which are evident in our society. Basing his address on the words "Let your hope keep you joyful, be patient in your troubles, and pray at all times," he spoke of Christian hope which is a sure hope founded upon faith in God's power and goodness.

The Headmaster pointed out to those leaving school how God can use the hardships and difficulties of life to bring good and strength to those who meet such challenges.

We should reject the materialistic values that we see about us, and each of us play our part in building a better world with the sure hope that comes from faith in Christ.

Mid-year School Service, 1975

The Seventh Sunday after Trinity, July 13, was the occasion for the Mid-year School Service in Kent Town Church, led by the School Chaplain, Rev. R. K. Waters, E.D., B.A. Mr. Mark Symons played the organ, and the School Choir, under Mr. Cullen's direction, sang an introit, "Ave Verum" (Mozart) and the anthem, "How lovely are thy dwellings" (S. Liddle). The lesson was read by the Captain of the School, David Blanch, I. Corinthians 1 : 18-31. A meditation on I. Corinthians 13 (from "Going it—with God"—Ian Shevill) was read by Mr. A. H. Dennis.

The Headmaster preached a sermon on wisdom, taking as his theme I. Cor. 1, v. 25, "For what seems to be God's foolishness is wiser than man's wisdom, and what seems to be God's weakness is stronger than man's strength."

Western man at last seems to be doubting his own wisdom; he is perplexed by the problems he faces and the disasters in both war and peace that have followed from actions based on his partial understanding.

At all times, even in the midst of doubt, despair, fear or tragedy, we can rely on the God who promised, "I am with you always". We need the strength to follow the wisdom of Jesus when he said, "Whoever wants to be first must place himself last of all, and be servant of all."

SPEECH NIGHT

Speech Night for 1974 was held on Friday, 15th November, in the Assembly Hall. Proceedings opened with prayer, which was offered by the School Chaplain, Rev. R. K. Waters, E.D., B.A. After this the Chairman of the College Council, Rev. G. T. Inglis, B.A., B.D., addressed the gathering and called on the Captain of the School, M. W. Newman, to present the report on the school activities. The Headmaster, Mr. G. B. Bean, M.A., M.A.C.E., then spoke; he gave the assembly his report for the year on the work of the School, and then invited the guest of honour, the Hon. Hugh Hudson, B.Ec.(Hons.), M.P., Minister of Education, to speak.

In his speech to the gathering, Mr. Hudson addressed himself to the question of the relationship between Independent Schools and the Education Department.

The connection between Princes and the Department began, he reminded us, very early, with the appointment in 1875 of our second Headmaster, Mr. J. A. Hartley, as President of the Council of Education, and later as first Inspector-General of Schools.

The relationships he saw developing between the two he described as "Co-operative Diversity," a process which could mould development in both and encourage a broad range of activities.

Prince Alfred College has advantages in its continuity, the long tenure of its Headmasters and its tradition, but there are also dangers. Co-operative Diversity will make it possible for us to learn from each other without obligation to work in any one way, yet facilitating comparisons and providing a "shopping basket of ideas". It is now possible to work in harmony; for example, the South Australian Institute of Teachers is one of few teachers' unions in Australia to support State Aid and also admit members from Independent Schools. Basic conditions for Co-operative Diversity have now been achieved at State and probably Federal levels. There are various means of co-operation, including in-service conferences open to all, and sharing of facilities, especially those very costly ones supplied by the government, such as craft-shops, which provide basic motivation for those less academically inclined.

In general, it is good that both systems should seek the best education for all. Serious confrontation should be avoided, if possible, since the long-term interests of all are best served if those who are in danger of being smashed by the system are treated fairly and each type is able to develop as it sees to be right.

The Headmaster in his address extended a cordial welcome to Mr. Hudson on behalf of the school, and spoke with warmth about the remarkable personal qualities of Mr. R. T. Smith, and of his rich and diverse contributions to the life of the school over the preceding thirty-eight years.

In a brief acknowledgment, Mr. Smith, after thanking the Headmaster, spoke of the pleasure and satisfaction he had derived from his long association with Princes, and concluded by extending to the school his good wishes for the future.

The Headmaster went on to emphasise the value to young people of belonging to an institution with roots and a sense of history, and pointed out that it is difficult to create and easy to destroy, that we must be on our guard lest changes that were taking place in our social structures endangered some of the richest and most wholesome aspects of our heritage.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT, 1974

The attractively produced 1974 edition of the Prince Alfred College Chronicle which has just been published provides a detailed account of the achievements in the life of the school over the past twelve months.

In this report it is my pleasure to express gratitude to so many people whose efforts have contributed so much to the development of the boys of the school, and to highlight some significant aspects of the year.

The College Council is bearing a special responsibility in these days of economic pressure, and I thank the members of the council for all their efforts on our behalf, and in particular our gratitude goes to Mr. T. W. Cotton, who has just retired from the Council. Mr. Cotton has served the Council for some twenty years, much of the time as College Treasurer. His great-grandfather was the Hon. G. W. Cotton, a founder and first secretary of the College, and this year marks a break after over 100 years of continuous service on the College Council by members of the Cotton family.

This year has seen the creation of the Prince Alfred College Foundation. The Foundation will, I believe, grow in strength and support the College for generations to come. Very many people will, I know, support the Foundation when the opportunity arises in the near future, but all at the school are particularly grateful to those who, led by Mr. W. G. Gerard, have initiated this venture.

The school is greatly strengthened by the active support of the Old Collegians Association, whose President, Dr. Brian Hobbs, has given particularly freely of his time and energies, not only for the Association but also in direct help to the school.

The Parents and Friends Association offers most valuable support, and through the President (Mr. Alex Gray), has taken active part in fostering a close working relationship with other similar associations, and with the parental bodies associated with Catholic schools. Other parental groups continue to give vital active support, and the development of a highly successful Rowing Club Parents' Committee has been a most notable development.

A distinctive characteristic of most independent schools, and of P.A.C. in particular, is the time and effort put in by members of the staff not only to their teaching, but also to an ever-increasing range of extra-curricular activities. It is difficult to express with originality our thanks to all teachers and non-academic members of the staff for their great contribution to the welfare of the boys of the school, but our appreciation is none the less real.

I am particularly grateful to the Captain of the School, Mark Newman, his Prefects and the many boys who have this year given a great deal of positive leadership to the student body.

This term marks the conclusion of one of the outstanding careers in the history of P.A.C., that of Mr. Raymond T. Smith, Deputy Headmaster, who retires in a few weeks' time. His contribution to this school and to its boys who have been his central concern over a period of thirty-eight years has been incalculable. As an inspiring Science teacher, instigator of the Science Journal, coach of cricket and football teams, and as Headmaster, he has earned a place among the greats, and the gratitude of all who have come under his influence.

Mr. B. W. Bryant also retires shortly after having joined us from Wales some eight years ago. A brilliant and patient teacher of Chemistry, Mr. Bryant has contributed so much by his personal concern for boys, expressed as a Form Master, Scout Master, as a leader of bicycle tours around the State, and as a popular figure in the swimming pool.

We were all deeply sorry that Mr. E. L. Glancey, who joined us in 1952, was forced by ill-health to retire during the year. Mr. Glancey's keen intellect and fine appreciation of English literature were a guide to many boys.

To those members of staff and their wives we wish much happiness in their retirement.

Our good wishes for the future, and our thanks for the distinctive contribution each has made, go with Mr. Michael Cutts, Mr. Michael Stephens, and Mr. Mel Waters, who move on to other jobs after shorter periods on the staff.

The ever more complex demands of education have made a restructuring of the senior staff of the school desirable. From the commencement of 1975 the College Council has appointed Mr. M. C. Haseloff to be Deputy Headmaster, and I have appointed Mr. A. H. Dennis and Mr. C. D. Mattingley to the two new positions of Second Master and Director of Studies respectively. Mr. D. F. Provis will resume his position as Master of the Senior School, and Mr. N. T. A. Jackson will be Master of the Middle School.

The 1973 Public Examination results showed a continuing good level of academic attainment. Particularly praiseworthy was the fact that twenty-six Leaving candidates gained three Grades I or better, and Christopher Johns is to be congratulated on coming second in the State in Maths. I, Maths. II and Physics in the Leaving Examination.

The demise of the Public Examination Board Leaving Examination after this year has created some opportunity for restructuring our courses for 1975. It is our intention that for most boys the fourth year should be seen as the commencement of a two-year course to matriculation, for only if this is the case will the highest academic standards be maintained. The opportunity is also being taken to introduce a stimulating one-year course, and also some elective courses for all boys in fourth year.

The Captain of the School is mentioning the many aspects of the extra-curricular life of the school, and I should like to emphasise but a few items. This year marks the retirement of Mr. Chester Bennett as coach of the First Football XVIII but not, of course, his retirement from position as Sportsmaster and from coaching games in general. His twenty-first year of coaching the First XVIII football team was a triumphant finale to a remarkable record of achievement. His time as coach concluded with an invicti run from the middle of 1973 season until the end of this last season—a series of matches which included two victories each over St. Peter's College and Wesley College, Melbourne, and one over Melbourne Grammar School. We offer our congratulations to Mr. Bennett, and thank him for all that he has done.

The first performance of the P.A.C. Orchestra was held in second term at a musical evening, and was a landmark for musical development in this school, and bore great promise of things to come.

Last Speech Night I announced that Dr. Colin Luke had offered to present to the School much sophisticated equipment to set up a first class amateur radio station at P.A.C. in memory of his father, the late T. G. Luke. We are most grateful to Dr. Luke for this, and I am pleased to be able to report that the radio station, although not yet completely installed, was in operation for the recent Scout Jamboree of the Air, and communication was established with places as far apart as Japan and New Zealand.

The two Grade 6 classes in the Preparatory School are now in occupation of the first part of the new teaching area development. We are grateful to the Commonwealth for their assistance with this building. The evening on which students in these classes entertained parents in their new "home" to a preview of their Coorong expedition demonstrated how well the new facilities are already being used.

Very recently, after considerable delays and modifications because of building cost escalation, a contract was signed for the construction of our new secondary school Library/Research Centre, and work should begin on the site in the next few days. Completion of this project in the middle of 1975 will be of great significance in our developing academic programmes.

The newly formed Australian Schools Commission is taking a number of valuable initiatives in the development of primary and secondary education. However, its activities have brought to a head the need for some organisation of the non-Catholic Independent Schools so that they can work effectively alongside the State Education Department and the Catholic Education Office. To this end there has recently been formed in South Australia the Independent Schools Board of Headmasters and Headmistresses. The Board is about the appointment of an Executive Officer who will represent all the members in many areas of educational planning and administration.

It is hoped that this move will enable our schools to join more effectively in the many co-operative programmes which are being planned at the moment, and that at the same time it will enable the Heads of the schools to spend more time dealing with their primary duties in their schools.

THE PRINCE ALFRED COLLEGE LIBRARY RESOURCE CENTRE AND SCIENCE LECTURE THEATRE DEVELOPMENT

These magnificent new academic facilities are now effectively completed and will be in full use by the commencement of the 1976 school year. We are indebted to the Australian Government for financial assistance which has helped very greatly to make these additions possible.

It is planned to have the official opening of the library early in the new year. We express our thanks to the architects, Hassell & Partners, and the builders, R. P. Brimblecombe & Sons, for the admirable design and speedy construction of the building.

The library-resource centre is situated on the first floor level on its site at the end of the Centenary classroom block. It comprises an extensive main reading room with annexe, two seminar rooms, a librarian's office, workshop, audio-visual store and teachers' preparation room. The library will seat a total of 157 students at one time, 112 at study tables, 18 in audio-visual carrels, 9 at other carrels, and 18 in an informal reading area.

Underneath the library there is a tiered science lecture theatre to seat 108 students, a science preparation room, and an adjoining projection room. Also located in the area are one double special teaching area and an extensive undercroft. The new complex provides exciting opportunities for staff and students in the immediate future, and space for meeting further needs in the years to come.

The Foundation

From the initial conception of the Foundation, a dedicated Executive Committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. W. G. Gerard, has devoted itself to furthering the formation of a concerned body whose principal objective is to assist the College Council in the development of the School.

With the appointment of a Board of Trustees at a Special General Meeting of the members on 29th July, 1975, the Executive Committee disbanded with the knowledge that it had created an organisation which would be of incalculable benefit to future generations of Princes boys, and that those boys would, in their turn, promote the interests of the Foundation, and their Old School.

The Board of Trustees comprises Mr. W. G. Gerard, Mr. J. A. Michell, Mr. P. O. Buttery, Mr. T. Xenophou, Mr. J. T. Lang as Trustees of the Foundation; Dr. B. W. Phillips, Mr. H. C. Williams, Mr. D. L. Davies, Mr. R. R. Crossing, as representatives of the Fellows; Rev. R. K. Waters, Mr. R. E. Craddock, Mr. P. Willoughby, Mr. A. R. Read, as representatives of the Members, the Chairman of the College Council and the Headmaster, ex officio; with Mr. C. D. Robins as Honorary Secretary and Mr. M. B. McLachlan as Honorary Treasurer.

When the Executive Committee retired, it was pleased to have secured gift intentions of over $325,000. The Foundation's success ensures the continued development of Princes.

When the Foundation prospectus was issued, a number of development projects were listed. Already the Library/Resource Centre and the first stage of the Preparatory School building are realities, without the need for help from the Foundation. Other projects will be realised sooner than once seemed likely because of the Foundation's support.

With your help the Foundation envisages a new era for the school, and is currently sharing in the planning of the development, as a field study centre, of our magnificent river front site north of Blanche Town, and has in mind for the future assisting the school with the provision of a modern physical education centre on the school campus to cater for present students and Old Boys.

Your continued support of the Foundation will be critical in the development of the school. There are many ways in which you can help. New members of the Foundation will be welcomed at any time, and all donations to the wholly tax-deductible building fund will be greatly appreciated.

There are a number of ways in which people have chosen to assist the Foundation by offering goods in kind and services, by various forms of deferred giving, and by making testamentary provisions in favour of the Foundation. The By-laws of the Foundation have provision for any person over the age of 55 years gaining automatic membership of the Foundation in the appropriate category by making notification of such provision in a will.

Any member of the Board of the Foundation or the secretary, who can always be contacted at the school, would be happy to supply further details of any of these matters.

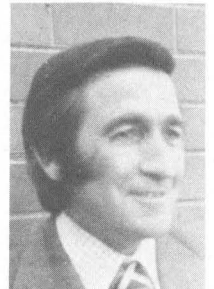

Many members of the school community already know that the School Chaplain, the Rev. R. Kyle Waters, is retiring from the staff of the school at the end of this year in order to take up other work in the Church.

We congratulate him most heartily on his election to the highly important post of Connexional Secretary to the Methodist Church of South Australia.

We all deeply regret that Mr. Waters will be leaving us after some twenty-one years' ministering to the boys, staff, and families associated with P.A.C. Full tributes to the outstanding contribution of Mr. Waters to the life and development of the school will appear in the next edition of the Chronicle.

We are now pleased to be able to announce that at the recently held conference of the Methodist Church in South Australia, the Rev. Kenneth A. Allen, B.A., B.Ed., Dip.R.E., was appointed Chaplain of P.A.C., from the beginning of 1976.

THE CHAPLAINCY AT P.A.C.

Mr. Allen will be moving to Adelaide from his present home in Melbourne at the end of this year, with his wife, Helen, and their three sons, Peter, David and Tony.

Mr. Allen was ordained at the Victorian Methodist Conference in October, 1965, and, after spending three years in a country circuit, he was appointed Assistant Chaplain at Haileybury College at the commencement of 1969. Mr. Allen taught Religious Studies and also Social Studies, and was widely involved in sports, the Scout movement, and a wide range of practical interests.

We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Allen and their family a warm welcome to South Australia, and particularly to P.A.C.

Mr. R. T. Smith

B.Sc. (Adel.), A.U.A., A.A.I.P., F.A.C.E.

The end of the school year 1974 brought with it a very special parting of the ways with the retirement of Mr. R. T. Smith, our Deputy Headmaster, after twenty-eight years of distinguished and most valued service to the School.

Mr. Smith, an old scholar of Kings College and graduate of the University of Adelaide, joined the staff as Senior Science Master in 1937 when he succeeded Mr. J. D. Iliffe. In this capacity he won an enviable reputation as an outstanding and adventurous teacher, a reputation which spread well beyond the School itself. One of the founders of the South Australian Science Teachers Association, in 1953 he became President and in 1954 had the distinction of being elected President of the Australian Science Teachers' Association, delivering the opening address at its Annual Conference at Hobart in 1955. In 1960 he won the A.I.D.A. Award for services to Science education in South Australia, and his reputation has spread wider still through the medium of the four books on Physics and Chemistry for school use of which he was co-author. In 1970 he was elected to a Fellowship in the Australian College of Education.

Since 1964 Mr. Smith has been a member of the Australian Government Advisory Committee for Science Facilities in Independent Secondary Schools, and his knowledge and experience in this field have been of immense advantage to the School in the detailed planning of our own impressive Laboratory Building.

But Mr. Smith's activities and talents were by no means restricted to Science education; he was an A Grade cricketer, played for both University and Kensington District teams, and coached both cricket and football at School for many years, coaching the First XVIII for some time. He was, moreover, in the days of the School Concert, famed as the producer of spirited one-act plays.

One of his most notable achievements was the launching in 1945 of the School Science Journal as a yearly publication. This came to be widely known and highly regarded and served to kindle interests which were the early inspiration of many who later won distinction in a variety of careers in scientific scholarship and research.

In 1958 Mr. Smith became Second Master of the School in succession to Mr. G. M. Potts, and in 1972 the School Council appointed him Deputy Headmaster. In these capacities he showed his abilities both in administration and in public appearances, especially during those times when through absence of his Headmaster, he was Acting Headmaster of the School.

In him the School bids farewell to a splendid teacher whose honour it has been to encourage and inspire exact scholarship, research and originality. All friends of the School will join to wish him and Mrs. Smith all happiness in his well earned retirement.

Mr. Bryant retired from the teaching staff at the end of first term, 1975, having joined in 1967 after wide experience in the United Kingdom.

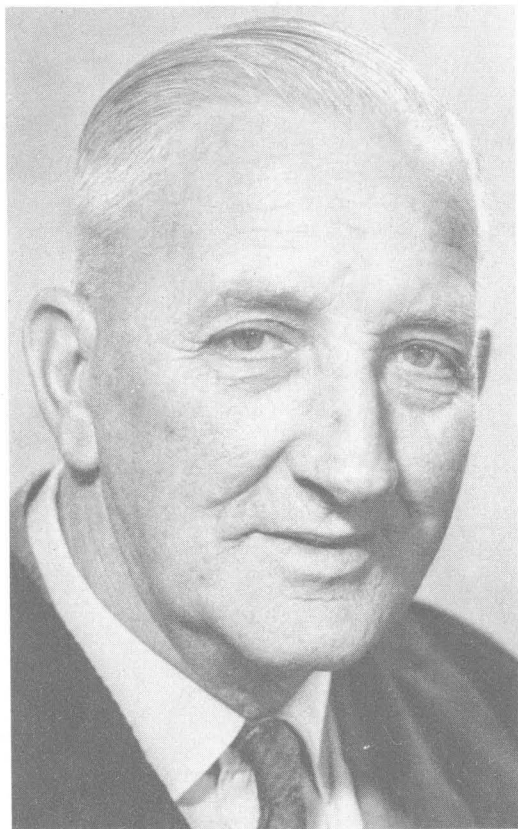

As a Chemistry teacher, he possessed penetrating insight and a very sure knowledge of his subject. He was keenly interested in instruction through laboratory work, and stimulated the interest of many students by his enthusiasm and practical assistance.

He was a complete schoolmaster in that he led students and seldom drove them. He spent many hours talking with boys outside the classroom, and showed a genuine concern for the welfare of his charges, particularly those for whom academic work was proving difficult. He gave valuable service to the school Scout Troop, and assisted in swimming and lifesaving training. He organised and conducted bicycle tours during school holidays, and many boys learned something of self-reliance and self-discipline from his example. They also absorbed some of his love of nature and his appreciation of simple pleasures.

Mr. Bryant is an active member of the Methodist Church who, in his kindly way, guided both his colleagues and his students towards his own ideals. We wish him and Mrs. Bryant an enjoyable and satisfying retirement in their new home at Grafton, Northern New South Wales.

IN MEMORIAM

around the world today who honour his memory. Some of these are prominent in the professions, and these and all his old boys pay tribute to all he did for them. He believed in good schooling, regarded it as an inestimable privilege, and was not prepared to allow anybody the luxury of spurning it.

So he was a firm disciplinarian with highly individual and extremely effective methods of enforcing it. He taught respect for learning, he helped boys to concentrate, he motivated them to ever higher visions of their possibilities; and he taught them manners.

For all these things Old Boys, and especially the ones who were in SUC during the twenty-five years he was Form Master of it, remember him with respect and gratitude; and most, when they refer boldly now to "Tinny," do it with evident affection.

The affection was mutual. Jim was really interested in his boys. He knew their names, backgrounds, and interests, knowledge that he gained both before and after school as he helped those who were experiencing difficulties with their studies, especially in Intermediate Mathematics. He also took an interest in their sport, and was for some years Sportsmaster and Master-in-Charge of Athletics, while his methodical, business-like attributes made him a logical choice for business manager for school plays and concerts, if he was willing. He was willing.

This ready willingness to serve was evident during the many years he gave to the City of Unley as a Councillor and Alderman, when he spared neither time nor effort to further the interests of the people whom he represented.

Nor did he fail to do everything he could to encourage boys leaving school to join the Old Scholars' Association. Undoubtedly this was due to a desire to foster what he himself appreciated so deeply — fellowship with other men. This is a feature of Freemasonry, and he never failed to contribute to it by regular attendance at the Lodge, of which he was a loyal and respected member.

It was fitting that after the death of his wife he was able to spend his last years at the Masonic Memorial Village. He was happy there, and now, his life all of a piece and his work well done, we commit his soul to Him in whom there is no darkness, neither shadow of turning, and who is able to keep that which is committed unto Him against that Day.

To all the members of his family the school expresses its deepest sympathy.

JAMES STRATHEARN STEELE, who died on 10th December, 1974, was many things to many men, but no one who knew him at all could fail to remember him as a schoolmaster, and a great one.

To the end of his career he was vigorous and enthusiastic about teaching and about the school to which he gave so much of himself, and from which he derived immense pleasure and satisfaction.

He was generously willing to share the wisdom derived from experience with those of his colleagues who were younger, not only in years, but in the profession. He loved to reminisce; and when the reminiscence reached back to childhood in Ireland, it was to reveal circumstances and a way of life so stern and stark that it was, I suspect, beyond the comprehension of most of us.

This was the soil which nurtured the sensitive, loyal, and conscientious man that we knew. He loved his native country—and should we on St. Patrick's Day ever fail to sing in Assembly the Irish hymn "Be Thou my Vision," he would not fail to let the Chaplain know about it—(to the accompanying flourish of a green tie!).

When he retired at the end of 1967 Jim had given 46 years of faithful service to Prince Alfred College, and there are hundreds of men in Adelaide, throughout the State, and scattered

FOOTBALL NOTES

Football at the school in 1975 has been noteworthy for its overall strength at all levels.

Each of the six open teams had successful seasons with the seconds, thirds and fourths losing only one game each. The First XVIII won the majority of their matches, many by large margins.

The U15 A team was undefeated and proved a credit to their coach, Mr. G. Neal, in his first year's coaching. At U14 level only one game was lost by the three teams, as both the U14 A and U14 White were undefeated and the U14 Red lost only one game. This success is a fitting tribute to the efforts of Mr. Hamilton, Mr. J. Wellington and Mr. M. De Garis.

Although troubled by a lack of size and reach, the U13, under the guidance of Mr. Brown, improved as the season progressed.

The effort of the Seconds in losing only one match, and that to Blackfriars 1st XVIII, is particularly praiseworthy.

Such overall success could not have been accomplished had it not been for the time and effort that the coaches gave so generously. Special thanks must go to Mr. MacFarlane, who once again managed all administrative details so competently.

INTER-COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Team: Mossop, Schofield, Bailey
H. C. House, N. House, Daniel
Chapman, Humble, Kelly
Batchelor, Wellington, Eldridge
Benson, Davidson, Noblett

Ruck: Winter, Dunn, Ricketts

Res.: Potter, Dawson

Umpire: M. Ducker

The annual inter-collegiate football match was played at St. Peter's College this year with the record of wins since 1901 standing at P.A.C. 36, S.P.S.C. 37, one match drawn. Both teams had so far enjoyed a season of mixed fortune and their past performances gave indication that it would be a hard fought game. The weather was perfect, with a slight breeze favouring the southern end and the oval, although rain-soaked a week earlier, had responded to excellent preparation, and was in good condition.

For the third successive year P.A.C. won the toss and Chris House chose to kick with the wind. Princes put on four goals quickly by moving the ball forward with determination, attacking the ball with less than the usual amount of early fumbling, and by taking the direct avenue to goal. At this early stage both the House brothers were prominent and Schofield at full forward was capitalising on every opportunity under conditions which suited him. Princes were getting drive from the centre bounces and were moving the ball quickly through intelligent use of handball. Saints attack on the other hand was less direct and it wasn't until the final stages of the quarter that they scored with two goals.

The second quarter proved to be Saints' best. They attacked repeatedly down the grandstand wing, getting good drive from Simmons on the half-forward flank. Their attacks were fast and deliberate and they capped off their forward movements by kicking accurately for goal. Princes, however, were playing indirect football when attacking. There were too many short passes that proved ineffectual and Saints defence was providing strong rebound. However, the Princes backmen, although under pressure throughout the term, combined well to repel a number of promising attacks. The P.A.C. team had a good percentage of play during the quarter; however, they were attacking down the wrong side and were easily forced into error when shooting for goal. A lapse in accuracy had denied Princes the chance to establish a decisive margin over a rallying Saints team, and half-time came with the game in the balance.

At the commencement of the third term the crowd came to life in expectation of a close contest. However, the Princes side responded well to the challenge before them and played perhaps their best football of the season. The significant factor was Prince's domination of the ruck duels. Mossop's taps at the centre bounces were the instigator of many Princes attacks. In contrast to the second quarter the ball was being delivered accurately and decisively to the forwards. Princes centre line was dominant. Humble had found form in the centre, and he provided plenty of opportunities for team mates with some fine handball. Kelly's courageous play on the wing inspired both the team and the crowd, and the half-back line held tight. A measure of Princes dominance is that Saints rarely had the ball past half-forward. This was the match-winning quarter.

During the last term P.A.C. looked content to hold their lead and were able to answer Saints goals with their own. Saints goaled several times and their forwards were playing with assuredness even though starved of opportunities for two quarters of the game. The final siren brought jubilation both to the Princes supporters and to a wearied team and coach. Congratulations must go to Mr. Thomas in his first year as coach, and special thanks and gratitude must be extended to Mr.

Johnson for his interest and enthusiasm throughout the year.

P.A.C. 14 goals 13 behinds defeated S.P.S.C. 10 goals 5 behinds.

Scorers: Schofield 7, N. House 3, Ricketts 2, Winter 1, Bailey 1.

WESLEY VISIT, 1975

At the end of the second term we were visited by a party of approximately forty boys and masters comprising the football and basketball teams from Wesley College, Melbourne. After arrival on Friday morning, August 8th, the boys were despatched to the care of their various hosts, apart from a few chosen to stay in the boarding house.

Saturday was largely devoted to informal sight-seeing accompanied by respective hosts. On Sunday the party was entertained at a barbecue held on the Riggs property at Gawler. The day was clear and cool, the creek bed setting perfect, and the hospitality unlimited. With the emphasis on informality, it was indeed a memorable occasion.

In the evening, members of both Wesley and Princes teams attended the Church service in the School Chapel. The School Chaplain, Rev. Waters, delivered the sermon, appropriately on the subject of "Discipline in training".

The visiting party was officially welcomed by the Headmaster at School Assembly on Monday morning and the sporting encounters took place in the afternoon. The basketball resulted in a win to Wesley. The game was hard fought and provided a good spectacle to all, with Wesley showing their experience in the vital stages. The football honours also went to Wesley, who showed why they were one of the top teams in student grade in Melbourne. The Princes team played with courage and determination to be one goal in front at three-quarter time. However, in the final quarter the physical strength of the Wesley side proved too much for the lighter Princes team, and the final score showed a clear ascendancy to the visitors.

Farewells were said at Adelaide Airport prior to the party's departure in the evening. Our thanks are due to all parents who acted as hosts to the visitors, and especially to Mr. and Mrs. Riggs for providing the venue for the barbecue.

SECOND XVIII

Coach: Mr. Haseloff
Captain: A. Benson

The Seconds always contains a number of prospective First XVIII players and there is a risk that in trying to display their own talents, these players prevent the establishment of any team work. This criticism could not be levelled at this year's side, whose team work was an outstanding feature of their play. However, in addition, there was also a good deal of all round ability which made for a very good season with the loss of only one game to Blackfriars First XVIII, who subsequently proved a good match for our Firsts. At the end of the season the team had a percentage of 76%, indicative of the ease with which many of the games were won.

In the Intercollegiate game, P.A.C. defeated S.P.S.C. by 15 goals 19 behinds to 2 goals 8 behinds in a hard fought match. The highest goal scorer for the season was J. Schofield with 46 goals—an excellent performance considering that he played several games in the Firsts. The Best and Fairest player for the season was W.

Shannon. Other good players were P. Sobels, M. Arnoul, G. Boyd, P. Clements and J. Schofield.

The team would like to thank Mr. Haseloff for the time and effort which he gave unsparingly, which contributed greatly to making the season so successful.

THIRD XVIII

Coach: Dave Thiem
Cpts.: G. P. Lowe and N. F. Gray

A mighty performance from a courageous team of champions saw this side lose only one game in a season of 12. The team's captain for the major part of the season, Graeme Lowe, put in a magical toss-winning performance by winning 7 out of 10.

An extremely strong backline led by Rick Hamood at centre half-back and ably supported by Phil Humzy, Jock Graham and Henry Forbes, together with a power-driving centre line of Nick Gray, Tim Manners and Rob Parkinson, and an always open forward line (featuring players of the calibre of Lowe, Chris Arnoul and John McBride) put the team together with a solidness that not many Thirds sides have seen. Our rucking department (Timperon, Jury and M. Cornish) did not know the meaning of the word 'defeat', with McKenna and Wallace always fighting hard, and Basheer shining as a rover.

Our most exciting match for the season was against Westminster Seconds. Playing with 16 men for the first half, the team came from behind to win by nine points. The one loss for the season was against a top Seconds side (S.H.C.), where the team fought hard to lose by only five goals.

Best players for season: Hamood, Basheer (equal best and fairest), Manners, Lowe, Gray, Humzy, Graham, McBride, Forbes, Jury.

The team would like to thank Dave Thiem for his effort and encouragement throughout the season.

FOURTHS

Coach: Mr. J. Bowden
Captain: T. Grummett

The Fourths had a very successful season, as we lost only one match, our last. Our hardest match proved to be against a determined Blackfriars Second XVIII. However, a tremendous six-goal burst in the last quarter clearly showed our superiority. We managed to hold on to a good lead against Sacred Heart, and the following week we enjoyed a confidence boosting win over Pultney Grammar in muddy conditions. The Intercollegiate match should have been won by more, but inaccuracy robbed us of a large winning margin. A win earlier in the year against S.P.S.C. proved we were by far the better side.

All members of the team would like to thank Mr. Bowden for the time he spent with the team during the year, for without his influence and interest the team wouldn't have had such an enjoyable season.

Best players: Nicholls, Chandler, Reid, Wakefield, Cavenagh-Lang, Betheras, Hall, Slade, Grummett and Durman.

FIFTHS

Capt.: A. J. Mills
Coaches: Messrs. Coldwell, MacFarlane, Riceman

The Fifths football team experienced a good season this year, winning five out of nine games. The team had a confident build-up in the enthusiastic pre-season training, and as a result, won the two first games straight. The second game was the team's greatest victory for the season, by 18 goals in a brilliant display of precision and skill. T. Russell spearheaded the attack with nine goals. The team suffered their first defeat for the season in the third game, when it battled courageously to get within five goals of the S.M.C. Thirds, which contained seven Seconds players. A later confrontation against S.M.C. Thirds produced a convincing nine-point victory.

With a dazzling display of precision football in the Intercollegiate clash, the team annihilated the Saints side, to run our victors by 55 points.

At the close of the season, the Fifths team, comprising 16 boarders, accepted a challenge from Mr. Bowden's Fourth team. The match began with a large portion of the matriculation contingent stranded at Flinders University. The outnumbered Fifths side battled courageously to be only one goal down when the key players finally arrived. Van Dissel goaled to level the scores at half-time, and early in the last half Sandow and Baker goaled to seal the game, thus enabling the Fifths to run out winners by one point.

Best players for the season: Mason, Van Dissel, Mills, Baker, Sprott. Top goal scorers: Russell, Risby, Morris.

Scores:

P.A.C. 5-13 d. P.G.S. Thirds 1-9.

P.A.C. 20-15 d. Rotrevor 2-3.

P.A.C. 7-2 lot to SMC 11-9

P.A.C. 10-11 d. Saints 2-4.

We would like to express our thanks to all the coaches concerned for their time and interest throughout the season.

UNDER 15A

Captain: C. Murdoch Coach: Mr. G. J. Neil

Urged on by captain and coach, this year's team has been very successful in being undefeated for the season. Although some very close and exhausting matches took place, P.A.C.'s determination has been the match winner. Our largest winning margin was against Westminster College by over 20 goals. All boys played good football throughout the season, with Oates being the leading goal kicker.

The team would like to thank Mr. Neil and parents for their great co-operation and support throughout the season.

UNDER 15A FOOTBALL TEAM — Undefeated 1975

Back Row: P. A. Riggs, J. K. DeGaris, R. J. Brealey, C. A. Limmer, I. P. Willmore, R. F. Kitto, C. A. Saunders.
Third Row: P. T. Kitto, D. A. Paull, R. A. Baker, P. J. Oates, C. W. J. Raeside, G. L. Raymond, T. J. Hall.
Second Row: J. H. Owen, R. S. Darroch, S. L. Trestrail, B. M. Noblett, M. A. Parham, M. E. Dolan.
Front Row: B. E. Clifford, S. R. Paltridge, C. A. Murdoch (Capt.), Mr. G. J. Neil, A. L. Favell (Vice-Capt.), G. W. Bagshaw, B. P. Graham.

U15 REDS

Captain: L. Alvey Coach: Mr. J. Dolman

The team this season had a very successful year, mainly due to a balanced backline and skilful rucks and rovers. We won nine out of the ten matches played (being beaten by Sacred Heart) and then beat them two weeks later quite comfortably. We beat every team we played, even though the season was marred by our bad goal shooting.

Our success was due to our rucks, Chris Limmer and David Ambler, who also played well around the ground, and were supported consistently by M. Parham and A. Moffatt, while our rovers, P. Barrett and C. Little, used their pace to advantage, and usually kicked a bag of goals between them. A. Stevens started the season well at centre, but lost form due to injury, while G. Bean played strongly at centre half-back. S. Clarke and T. Coate improved greatly on the wings and gave us plenty of drive.

We finished off the season with a great win over Pulteney by 20 goals, L. Alvey kicking 11 and C. Limmer kicking 7. Players to win awards were G. Bean (most improved), C. Limmer (best team man), P. Barret (best and fairest).

The team owes a lot to Mr. Dolman for his coaching over the past two seasons, and I would also like to thank the fathers who supported us each week.

U14 A's

Captain: J. S. Prest Coach: Mr. Hamilton

The side has had another very successful year, winning all 11 games. The team has combined extraordinarily well with the help of our enthusiastic coach, Mr. Hamilton. Best players throughout the year were Eaton (who also topped the goal scoring list), Lawrie, Prest, Heinrich, Clements, Limmer, Krieger and Standley. Our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Hamilton for his coaching.

U13A

Coach: Mr. P. V. Brown Captain: T. May

This year the team won five out of eleven matches, one being drawn. Unfortunately we lacked both height and weight and this proved a great handicap on a number of occasions. Realising our weaknesses, we endeavoured to base our game on fast and skilful ballplay. The match against C.B.C. was by far the most exciting, for it resulted in a draw.

Congratulations must go to the winner of the best and fairest award, Russell Boyd, who played with determination throughout the season. R. Barnes, S. Breen, S. Kennett and T. May all played consistently well, and in conclusion the team would like to thank Mr. Brown very much for all the time he spent coaching us.

U14 WHITE

The team had a rewarding season, winning all matches played. All players tried extremely hard and played sound football on each occasion. We would like to thank our coach, Mr. J. Wellington, for his time, effort and support throughout the season.

INTERCOLLEGIATE CRICKET

TEAMS: P.A.C.: Dalwood (Capt.), Clements, Perkins, Eldridge, Batchelor, Farrell, Risby, Manuel, Winter, Olsson, Ward. 12th: Harrison.

S.P.S.C.: Bowen (Capt.), Duncan, Martin, Kempe, Rischbeth, Simmons, Jay, Cudmore, Mills, Bateman, Verco. 12th: Grist.

Dalwood won the toss and decided to bat on a typical Princes pitch that was hard, well grassed and a credit to our groundsman, Mr. Fuchs.

Perkins and Eldridge opened the batting with Jay and Mills taking the new ball. The first half-hour was slow cricket with both batsmen playing cautiously. A bowling change saw Bowen come into the attack, and with it immediate success. Eldridge played forward and over an away swinger, and his stumps were shattered. The first wicket had fallen with only 16 runs on the board. Batchelor came to the crease, and was given a torrid time by Bowen. After breaking his bat with a fine cover drive off Mills he too was bowled by Bowen for 7. While this was going on Perkins was showing good concentration and at this stage was on 10. The fall of Batchelor brought Farrell to the wicket, and together with Perkins put on 47 before Perkins fell to Bowen for 21 after a 143 minute stay. Dalwood joined Farrell but unfortunately Farrell didn't last long; after adding a further 3 to his score he was caught off leg spinner Verco for 39. At this stage we were 4/81 and in a precarious position. The situation became worse when Tony Risby was bowled by Bowen without scoring. Without further addition to the score keeper Manuel was out, again to Bowen, for 0. We had slumped to 6/85. While Bowen was dominating the action he was given able support by Jay, Mills, Verco and Bateman, while the fielding was also top rate. Clements joined Dalwood and together they remained until stumps. At stumps the score was 6/123.

Saturday morning saw the temperature in the 30's and we were confident of taking the total past 200. Clements and Dalwood remained together for a further 20 minutes before Dalwood was caught for 36 off Mills. Winter came and went for 0. Olsson joined Clements and remained not out on 5. Clements, who had shown remarkable restraint, lost concentration, and after playing a useful innings was bowled by Jay for 26. Last man Ward came to the crease and was out without scoring.

The last four wickets had gone for seven runs, and with only 146 runs on the board Saints were in a strong position. Bowen was the dominant bowler, taking 5/22 off 20 overs.

Duncan and Martin came to the crease and had three-quarters of an hour to bat before lunch. Ward and Clements shared the new ball. Duncan was in fine touch and went after the bowling; unfortunately he was given an armchair ride by the bowlers, who bowled full and wide of the off stump. At lunch the score was 45 with Duncan on 37.

It was a disappointed team who went in at lunch without a wicket. However, the next session provided the best cricket of the match for the Princes team. After lunch Duncan and Martin took the score along to 73 before Martin was stumped for 11 off leg spinner Olsson. This was the first of nine wickets to fall between lunch and tea. During this session everything Princes did turned to gold. Duncan was mesmerised by an Olsson slow leg break and was bowled for a fine 57. Kempe came to the crease and lasted only a few minutes before being caught by Eldridge off Winter for 5. Rischbeth looked confident and hit a tremendous drive over the bowler's head, only to see Perkins take a miraculous one-handed catch running at top pace. After a brilliant start Saints had crumbled to 4/97, and more was to follow.

Simmons made 1 before being trapped l.b.w. by Eldridge. Bowen, after groping around for 50 minutes, was bowled by Eldridge in the same over for 12. Saints had lost 6 wickets for 26 runs. Princes were now on top and Saints were on the run. Princes couldn't do anything wrong; the bowlers bowled accurately and the fielding was outstanding, without one chance going to ground. Jay and Cudmore were now at the crease but both were soon out. Mills followed, and at tea Saints were 9/112, with the babies of the team, Bateman and Verco, at the crease. After tea Ward wrapped up the innings by bowling Bateman for no score. In a brilliant display of pressure cricket Princes bundled Saints out for 116.

Bowling Figures: Olsson was the most successful of the bowlers taking 5/22. Eldridge was the best of the others with 2/8.

After only 184 minutes in the field Princes were back at the crease. Again Perkins and Eldridge opened, with Bowen opening the bowling with Jay. Bowen was bowling well, but Eldridge was equal to the task and moved to 6 without trouble. However, the unexpected happened, and he fell l.b.w. to Jay the first of six l.b.w. decisions to be given during the Princes second innings. Batchelor came to the crease and with Perkins began looking for runs.

Batchelor was playing confidently and looked set for a big score. However, this was not to be, as he also fell l.b.w., this time to Bowen. The score was 39, our lead now being 69. Farrell joined Perkins, and at stumps we were 2/42, our overall lead being 72.

On Monday morning the temperature was again high as Farrell and Perkins prepared to do battle with the Saints bowlers. The pair were batting steadily, with Farrell being the more aggressive of the two. Perkins was content to keep his end up. Unfortunately, after nearly two hours at the crease Perkins was bowled by Bowen for 18, the score being 3/59. Dalwood joined Farrell, and the pair pushed the score on to 80 before Farrell, who was batting well, was l.b.w. to Bowen for 23. Risby came to the crease and was on a pair. Fortunately for him he steered one through the slips to get off the mark; however, only a few balls later he was caught behind off Bowen for 2. We were now 5/82, our lead being 102. Manuel joined Dalwood, who was playing confidently, but he too fell to the brilliant Bowen l.b.w. for 20. Lapses of concentration were proving costly to the Princes team as all players were playing well before they were dismissed. Bowen's figures at this stage were 5/32 off 21 overs.

While he was bowling well, the bowlers at the other end were giving him good support, and the fielding was good. Clements and Winter both came and went without adding to the score, and it was up to Olsson to hold up an end while Manuel got the runs. Manuel was batting well and going for his shots, but unfortunately he ran out of partners. Olsson finally fell for 5 and Ward for 1. Manuel remained not out 24. The total was 120 which gave us an overall lead of 150. The best of the Saints bowlers were Bowen 6/56, Jay 2/38 and Mills 2/29. For Saints to win they would have to make the highest score of the match.

Again Duncan and Martin opened the batting and again they took the bowling apart. Had Duncan been caught when in the 30's when two chances went begging, the end result may have been different. However, this was not to be. The bowlers played into their hands and the score moved to 81 before Clements with a stroke of luck had Martin c. and b. for 23. At this stage the writing was virtually on the wall, as Saints only needed 69 runs with nine wickets in hand and bundles of time. However, in typical Princes tradition we didn't give in and fought out the match till the end. As Kempe came to the crease we felt a collapse might be on the cards, and it was with great delight when he was out when he was given l.b.w. to Olsson without scoring. Bowen came in and in a mix-up with Duncan was run out for 3. Saints had collapsed to 3/91. The bowling and fielding, which had been a bit lax, had sharpened and the match was wide open. Unfortunately for us, Rischbeth steadied for Saints and together with Duncan pushed the score on to 118 before Olsson struck again, having Rischbeth bowled for 18. Simmons joined Duncan, but was bowled by Clements without scoring. Saints were now 5/119. Duncan was again dropped, and while he remained at the crease Saints were in a winning position. Cudmore, who looked uncertain, fell l.b.w. to Risby for 3. The atmosphere was now tense, as Saints needed only 23 runs with four wickets in hand to win. The pressure was beginning to tell on the Princes team as a bad piece of fielding saw Jay collect a 5. Jay was finally out to Eldridge, but only two runs were required for a Saints win. The winning runs were brought up by Mills through slips.

Although a low scoring match, it produced some excellent cricket and individual performances. The teams were evenly matched except for two players—Bowen and Duncan. Duncan finished with 57 and 89 not out, and Bowen collected 11 wickets for the match. For Princes there were no outstanding performances except for Olsson's 5/22 on the Saturday afternoon.

Thanks go to Mr. Bennett, who with so much time, effort and thought nearly pulled off his fifth consecutive Intercoll.

FIRST TERM

First XI

This year the team is a very talented one, with newcomers to the team Kennett, Favell and Sobels showing a lot of promise. However, during the first term, the team as a whole did not realise its full potential.

David Batchelor was elected Captain, with Ben Perkins Vice-Captain and Chris Eldridge the other selector.

We began the season with a good win against Pulteney, and then defeated A.B.H.S. outright. In the match against Saints we batted on a rain-soaked pitch, and we were unable to reach the Saints' score and consequently lost. The last match of the season saw a dismal performance put up against Rostrevor College.

Bad weather again led to our demise as we batted first on a waterlogged pitch which made batting almost impossible.

The ingredients are there for a good team, even though a bit of serious thinking needs to be done by some of the players before the end of the year.

Best with the bat this term were Perkins, Favell and Eldridge. The main wicket takers were Winter, Sobels and Kennett. If the team has a weakness it is in the bowling department, where we lack a genuinely fast opening bowler.

SCORES:

P.A.C. 199 (Eldridge 50, Perkins 40) defeated Pulteney 132 (Winter 7/50, Sobels 2/0).

P.A.C. 7/183 (Favell 55, Perkins 46, Sobels 27) defeated A.B.H.S. outright 86 (Sobels 5/14, Perkins 3/18, Blanch 2/13) and 78 (Winter 4/28, Blanch 3/4, Kennett 3/17).

P.A.C. 132 (Perkins 32) lost to S.P.S.C. 171 (Kennett 6/56).

P.A.C. 104 lost to Rostrevor 6/105 (Sobels 47 n.o.).

CRICKET CRITIQUE

G. W. Dalwood: A strong front-of-the-wicket batsman who made consistent if not big scores. His captaincy was always purposeful and aggressive.
 J. M. Clements: A tall medium-paced bowler with a pronounced in-swing, he performed consistently well throughout the year.

B. S. F. Perkins An opening bat of considerable natural talent, he has batted consistently without realising his full potential.

C. D. Eldridge: An opener of marked natural ability who could, with a more purposeful approach, develop into a very good all-rounder.

D. M. Olsson: A slow leg-spinner with excellent control and a lot of tenacity, he has had an outstanding season.

R. C. Manuel: A young wicketkeeper-batsman, who performed consistently well throughout the year.

G. Winter: A medium-paced bowler with the ability to extract life from the wicket, he has been a consistent performer.

D. J. Batchelor: A right-handed batsman with a range of forcing strokes, his performances have lacked consistency.

S. J. Farrell: A forcing right-handed batsman and a fine fieldsman.

G. D. Ward: A left-arm pace bowler who attacks the stumps consistently and can bowl for long spells.

A. C. Risby: A powerful inside player, a useful offspinner and a fine field.

Seconds

Captain: K. Osborn

The P.A.C. Seconds had mixed fortunes, losing its two matches against First sides, winning two others and having the remaining match washed out after being in a strong position.

The batting of the upper order batsmen was rather disappointing and it was often left to the batsmen of lower repute to score the runs. Osborn's batting improved during the term and he became the team's leading run-getter.

The bowling at times lacked variation and penetration and some bowlers suffered disastrously from lapses in the field. Ian Davidson batted with fire and aggression and was the major attacking

The U/16 A's had a very successful season winning all of its matches very comfortably.

Most consistent batsmen were Clements, Mossop and Boyd, whilst Clements and Russell took wickets consistently.

The team would like to thank Mr. Haseloff for some valuable assistance at practice and attendance on Saturdays.

P.A.C. 242 (Clements 146 n.o.) v. Pulteney 2nd 170.

Thirds Captain: G. Davies

The Thirds tried hard and played well in parts to win one out of their four matches played. The most consistently good batsmen were Oates, Alvey and Farley. The best bowlers were Draper and Davies. Our thanks go to coach Mr. Chris Dean for his inspiration on and off the field.

Fourths Captain: P. Wakefield

This term the Fourths had mixed fortunes. We showed our true ability in the one-day games with resounding wins over Sacred Heart 3rds, Pembroke 3rds and Sacred Heart 4ths. However, our inability to concentrate for long periods of time showed up in our losses in both two-day fixtures.

Best batsmen for the season were Arnoul, DeGaris, Graham, Wakefield and Du Rieu, while the best bowlers were Mills, DeGaris, Schofield and Arnoul.

The team would like to thank Mrs. Landgren for her support throughout the term.

Under 15 Whites Captain: T. Hall

The Whites had a very successful first term in only losing one game out of five matches played.

The best batting performances were from Grant Raymond (53 n.o., 34) and Tim Hall (38, 30). The best bowling performance came from Raymond (5/10), while other consistent performers were Mackison, Dolan and Noblett. We would like to thank Mr. Roberts for his guidance.

Under 15 Reds Captain: B. Graham

The U/15 Reds had a fairly successful season, winning three of four matches played. The bowlers, Hill, Davey, Flavel and Mutton, performed very well, the biggest score conceded being only 92.

The batting was a little less successful. Nevertheless, two excellent solo efforts by Bagshaw (69, 30) combined with useful scores from Parkinson, Graham and Paltridge were usually enough to pass opposition totals.

Thanks are due to Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Dollman for their time and interest.

Under 14 As Captain: K. Pittman

We had a most successful term's cricket, winning all of our matches, our closest game being against Sacred Heart, where our batting let us down. Outstanding batting performances came from May, Barrows, Clements and Pittman, whilst the bowling honours were shared by May, Clements, Pittman and Davidson. Thanks must go to Mr. MacFarlane for his guidance and umpiring on Saturdays.

Under 14 Reds Captain: S. D. Hobbs

The U/14 Reds had an excellent season, losing only two games, both to Blackfriars. The batting was fair without ever reaching great heights, but the bowling was very good. Best players with the bat were Kreiger, Oertel, Chapman, Hundertmark and Hobbs, and with the ball, Chapman, Oertel, Croxton, Kreiger and Kneebone. Hundertmark has kept wickets well under some difficult circumstances. Thanks to Mr. Jones for his help and umpiring.

Under 14 Whites Captain: R. J. Becker

In winning two matches this term, the Whites had only an average season. Humble and Kreiger were the two most consistent scorers, while Croxton bowled more than usefully. The fielding has been reasonably good throughout the term.

The team would like to thank Mr. Brown for his time in coaching the side.

Under 13 As Captain: S. D. Kennett

The A's went fairly well this term, winning three games and drawing one out of five played. In the first match David Blight celebrated his selection with a brilliant 7/19. Unfortunately, weather conditions weren't all that good to us this term, and performances were affected accordingly. The team would like to thank Mr. Jackson for coaching us this term.

Under 13 Whites Captain: G. Burfield

The team had a reasonable season, even though we won only one of the five games played, this being against the Reds on the front oval. The most successful batsmen were Basedow and Warwick, and the best bowlers were Basedow, Warwick and Symonds. The team would like to thank Rev. Waters for his Saturday morning guidance and umpiring.

Under 13 Reds Captain: T. Kelly

The Reds had an average season and were unlucky to win only one match, losing a few by only small margins. During the season we had good batting and bowling performances, while our fielding was outstanding. We were improving with every game and are looking forward to a few more wins next season.

TENNIS

The annual Intercollegiate tennis match was played on the well prepared Memorial Drive centre courts on the 22nd of March. Although the courts were damp for the beginning of play at 10.15 a.m. due to overnight rain, they dried out quickly in the fine conditions.

Princes began the day as the under-dogs against a strong, well balanced Saints side. The Saints team was confident that it could win its first Inter-coll in ten years.

The first round of doubles began at 10.15, which saw some tense battles and keen competition between the two teams. The Gray brothers took the initiative in the first double, defeating the second Saints pair 6-2, 6-4. Tingey and Chapman encountered tough opposition from the Saints number one pair, Lucas and Robertson, finally going down 6-4, 6-2. Coventry and N. Gray, our third doubles, played the tightest match of the round before they narrowly lost 3-6, 6-4, 5-6. Saunders and Branson had trouble with the third Saints pair and lost 5-6, 2-6. Princes appeared to be in a little trouble at this stage as they were trailing 3 rubbers to 1. The next round consisted of the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh singles. Coventry quickly won a valuable rubber for Princes, disposing of Nield 6-5, 6-3. N. Gray, finding difficulty in suppressing Bartholomaeus's wide variety of shots, went down 6-4, 6-1 in a spirited battle. Ian Gray, playing the longest match of the day, found the overall strength and experience of Gregory too much. He battled valiantly to the last stroke, finally losing 6-5, 3-6, 5-6. The final match of the round saw Saunders play some fine tennis to win 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 after a lapse in concentration in the second set.

At lunch Princes trailed 5 rubbers to 3 after a slow start and some indifferent tennis.

The third round began at 1.45 with the first and second doubles and the eighth single. The Gray brothers began well, winning the first set 6-2, but the steadier Saints pair gained control, winning the next sets 6-4, 6-4. Tingey and Chapman found Harrap and Gregory combining well and after three long sets lost 2-6, 6-4, 4-6. Branson, playing eighth single, played brilliantly at times to win 6-2, 6-5.

Princes now trailed 7 rubbers to 4 and the team realised that a great team effort was required to bridge the widening gap. Inspired by Mr. Crabb and Mr. Thomas, our first three singles took to the courts. The pressure was on the "Reds" and Kim Gray found Lucas playing well and lost the first set 6-3. Gray then took control and won the next two sets easily 6-1, 6-2.

Tingey was playing well and won the first set against Robertson 6-5. Then the cramp set in. Tingey lost the second set 6-2 but regained his composure and staggered on to win the final set 6-3 in a fine effort. Chapman found the experienced Harrap very difficult to play after the first set, eventually losing 6-5, 6-0. Princes now trailed 8 rubbers to 6 with two rubbers remaining.

The final round saw our players more relaxed in tight situations and playing more confidently. Coventry and Gray defeated Nield and Bartholomaeus 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, whilst Saunders and Branson disposed of Newland and Butterworth 6-5, 6-5.

The big question was who had won! Everyone knew it was 8 rubbers all, 20 sets all, but no one knew who had won on games.

Finally, an hour after the completion of play, and the games of each side had been totalled, Saints found that they had managed to win their first Inter-coll in ten years after a fine comeback from the Princes team. The Princes team put up a good fight considering what they were up against, and they would like to thank Mr. Gabb and Mr. Thomas for their invaluable assistance out at practice and on the "big" day.

DRIVE TENNIS, 1974/5

The team this year has enjoyed a successful season's tennis, winning ten of the eleven matches played in preparation for the Inter-coll against Saints. Our only loss was against a strong side from Brighton High, where we lost five sets to four. Many young players gained valuable experience in the team, whilst some of the older players played some fine tennis.

UNDER 15 "A"

Captain: C. Limmer

This evenly balanced side played some good tennis this year and managed to win four matches of the six played. For the most part the team consisted of Limmer, Woolford, Kitto, Baker, Brown and McLachlan.

UNDER 15 "B"

Captain: D. Charles

This year the Under 15 Bs had a successful season, losing only two matches. Each member of the team played some good tennis at times and would like to thank Miss Madsen and Mr. Morris for their assistance throughout the year.

UNDER 14 "A"

Captain: D. Limmer

In general the team had a very successful season, only losing one match during the term. Linn and Limmer, playing at number one and two respectively, played some inspired tennis, whilst Coats and Cockington at number three and four added good support. Fairweather and Measday at five and six completed a strong side which will do well in the 3rd term tennis competition.

UNDER 14 "B"

Captain: C. Day

The Under 14 B side this year, under the guidance of Mr. Basedow, interchanged players on a week to week basis, enabling as many boys to participate as possible. The result was a build-up of good team spirit and an undefeated team at the end of the season.

UNDER 13 "A"

Captain: M. Brett

After losing the first match of the year, this side demolished the rest of the schools they met with some fine tennis by all members of the side whilst gaining valuable experience.

The keenness and enthusiasm shown by the team was a feature of their tennis, and they promise to be a strong side in the future years.

RUGBY

P.A.C. FIRST XV

We started our season well with most of the team out for training late in the term. Our first game, against Elizabeth, we won 10-4. Our next game was the game against Port Adelaide. We just lost 18-9, in a game we should have been able to win!

This disappointing game was followed by two victories. We beat Waratah 13-10, and for the first time since Rugby was reintroduced here, North Adelaide went down to us 6-4. We managed a draw against Salisbury 9-all with a team weakened by injury. The expected lead up match to the Intercoll did not eventuate because Onkapinga forfeited.

The annual battle for the Intercoll Rugby Cup, the J. A. Dunning Memorial Cup, was tense, exciting, and unresolved until the last minutes of play. When all the incidents have been lost in the mists of time, it is the result we will remember—PRINCES WON!

Saints won the toss and elected to play with the strong gusty wind behind them. In the early minutes of play our captain (Ben Perkins) had a kick at goal, but the points weren't to come that easily. Ben made a good run soon after this, following a Saints penalty. But very soon the Saints team, taking advantage of the wind, came close to kicking a field goal, and after a period of play in which our defences were not all they should have been, scored a try by the corner post. This was not converted and we were 4 points down. Play followed mainly in the Princes half and Saints tried again unsuccessfully to kick a field goal. A good forward rush followed by a long touch kick relieved the pressure and the next penalty kick at goal showed Ben closing on the target. For a while now the two teams were locked in an unyielding battle, and the succession of penalty kicks alternated as the referee (Mr. Ken Grayling) insisted on a close observance of the rules of fair play. The final kick awarded to Saints in the centre of the field, about 25 metres out, was a chance that Saints took hungrily, scored the three points, and led 7-0 at half-time.

The balance of advantage, with the wind behind us, was quick to show in the second half. Saints' kick-off into the wind didn't carry ten yards, and surprisingly they chose a scrum back on the centre line. Princes were now attacking constantly with several good breaks, another attempt at a field goal and, after an unlikely break by Saints, a hugely confident high kick by the fullback Tim Nicholls maintained Princes attack.

The moves came quickly now and he was over—our first try scored by Mike Morey. No conversion, but victory was now in the air; our supporters sensed it although the traditional cries exalting the Reds must have confused the un-initiated. Our new all-white shirt was only lightly decorated with red, but had been introduced to make us look and feel the better team, and we now hoped to prove it.

Very good kicking by the fullback helped our occasional lapses into defence and we were now attacking hard. A penalty kick to Princes was taken by Ben Perkins, who made no mistake with this one, and we were now 7-all. Another snap attempt at a field goal was taken but failed, and yet another long kick was unfortunate to finish over the dead ball line after bouncing off the post.

A very good forward rush left Tim Roberts temporarily injured but able to play on (his hand was strapped up for the match because there was no way of stopping him from playing this game!). Writers' licence must allow mention of Oscar Jones' unexpected drop at goal which unhappily failed to clinch the game!

A result had to come as we knew we would win, but how . . . Two minutes remained, a penalty kick to Princes and Ben Perkins ran forward, picked up the ball, and upon leaving his foot it floated between the posts to the accompaniment of cheers, for the satisfying three points which we knew even then meant victory.

Our excitement was shared by the explosion of relief from the touchlines amongst our supporters and Mr. Jackson's antics will go unreported, save only to say that his leaps of triumph were an example to any lineout forward. The battle was won.

In the final game against a club side, Glenelg, our luck ran out; we were beaten 7-0 in a game where we didn't take our advantages. However, we culminated the season by a satisfying 3-0 win over Pulteney, to finish the season equal second in the table and equalling the record of only two losses in a season. Oscar Jones

UNDER-AGE RUGBY

Under 16

The Under 16s had a disappointing season because most of the U16s were playing for the 1st XV due to a general lack of support for the lower teams. However, we managed to play a few games, and the experience gained should prove invaluable for the team members next year.

Under 14

Some difficulty was experienced at the beginning of the season in fielding fifteen players. This prompted a change to "nine a side" rugby, and a number of entertaining games were played in an inter-school competition. This seemed to stimulate interest within the school, and as a result four new players joined the first year squad. With the co-operation of other schools three "fifteen a side" games were also played.

There are good prospects of a full side next year, and on that happy note we look forward to the 1976 junior rugby season.

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL REPORT

This year the Open A team has its best season for several years. Rick Myhill was voted captain of basketball and John White vice-captain. Mr. Woollard was again coach.

The team won 10 of 12 matches played. Three players returned from 1974—Rick Myhill, Simon Willcox and John White. The rest of the team comprised 4th Year students, Drew Hobbs, Ian Kneebone, Rob Andrew and Grant Noblet; and two 3rd Year students, Alan Spangler and John Woolford. The team, although young, enjoyed considerable success and should be very powerful next year.

The first game was played against Pembroke. The game was not of a high standard, but we showed signs of developing into a good combination. Ian Kneebone indicated his ability with accurate shooting from the top of the key and some clever driving to the basket. P.A.C. d. Pembroke 54-32. Best players Kneebone (16), Myhill and Spangler.

The game against Scotch was virtually a "no contest". Alan Spangler was rebounding well and John White's ball handling skill proved too great a hurdle for the Scotch team. Despite our easy win, our play was patchy and needed improvement.

P.A.C. d. Scotch 46-9. Best players White, Spangler and Myhill.

From all reports Sacred Heart were a tall team and therefore we were unfortunate to be without Ian Kneebone, due to illness. Despite his absence we battled hard, and thanks to several long jump shots from Rick Myhill we were only 12 points down at half-time. In the second half, however, their height told and they coasted to an easy win. S.H.C. 60 d. P.A.C. 26.

Best players Myhill (10), White and Willcox

It was in the first half of the game against Westminster, a reputedly strong side, that we began to mature into an efficient combination. We gained initial advantage with good ball handling, passing and shooting.

Our concentration lapsed in the second half, and with highly accurate long shots Westminster nearly bridged a 15-point gap. Rick Myhill put in a long jump shot late in the game that enabled us to maintain a slight advantage, winning 52-49.

Best players: Myhill (12), Kneebone (20) and Spangler.

Our game against Blackfriars was our most commanding performance. We led comfortably five minutes into the second half 32-18. In the next 15 minutes we scored 45 points with four points reply—an average of three points a minute. The team combined magnificently, and our passing was excellent. P.A.C. d. Blackfriars 72-22.

Best players: Myhill (13), Hobbs and Willcox.

The game against Adelaide Boys High was more closely contested and it gave us a good workout before the Intercol. Rob Andrew made his first appearance for the season. It was a solid debut, highlighted by some accurate shooting.

P.A.C. d. A.B.H.S. 30-26. Best players: Andrew, Myhill, Kneebone.

We approached the Intercol fit, quietly confident and determined to avenge our losses in the two previous years.

The starting five was Kneebone (centre), Myhill and Spangler (guards), and Willcox and White (forwards).

We started excellently with Rick Myhill netting two points from a jump shot in the opening seconds and again seconds later from the baseline. This gave us a 4-0 lead and we were able to hold the lead until the final bell. John White as usual was his tireless self, continually driving through the Saints defence to the basket. He scored nine points in the first half. Alan Spangler, who was the strongest and youngest member of the team, received a heavy knock while driving through to the key. To his credit he bounced back into the game and succeeded in being our best player. With his strong body work, accurate passing and good ball control, he outclassed all opponents. At this stage our game was operating well. Passes into Kneebone in key for a roll off or jump shot proved to be common avenues of scoring. Kneebone, making full use of his height, was contesting against three Saints players and almost nullified them completely, enabling our smaller players to capitalise. Just before half-time two shots awarded to Saints on the bell made the scores P.A.C. 24, Saints 14. The second half continued in much the same vein. We were still outscoring Saints, despite a determined comeback effort by them early in the half. Simon Willcox was fouled off early, but we were able to retain control of the game and coasted in the last 10 minutes to a convincing victory. P.A.C. d. S.P.S.C. 45-28

Best players: Spangler, White and Myhill

We faced Immanuel after a week of exams, and understandably our performance wasn't good. Nevertheless, we had sufficient of the play to win fairly comfortably.

P.A.C. d. I.C. 37-21. Best players: Myhill, Kneebone and Hobbs.

Our game against Rostrevor also was not of a high standard. Despite the margin in our favour at the finish, the game was hard fought. Once again John White's skill was evident either in driving through the keyway or in shooting from the 45.

P.A.C. d. RC. 48-18. Best players: White, Kneebone (19), Spangler.

Our Intercol team was unchanged for a return match against Saints played on the Wesley weekend at Apollo Stadium as a curtain raiser to West Adelaide v. Cincinnati "Bear Cats".

P.A.C. had already beaten Saints twice in the season (once in a pre-match run and the Intercol), and the whole team was looking forward to making it three in a row.

Poor shooting early marred the first half and at the break P.A.C. led by two points. The last half was full of action as the lead changed hands several times.

Saints made a determined bid for victory, and at one stage were four points ahead, but accurate foul shooting by Spangler and Willcox kept P.A.C. in touch. A fine jump shot by Myhill from the corner of the baseline and another from Willcox within minutes later from the 45 clinched a narrow victory by two points in the final seconds. 36-34.

Best players: Myhill, Willcox (11), Spangler.

The first match of the Wesley tour was against Ballarat Grammar, and we showed early dominance, being 18-0 up at one stage, largely due to Kneebone, who was rolling through the top of the key. At half-time we were well ahead, 28-9. In the second half P.A.C. relaxed and let their opponents in for easy scoring opportunities, but still ran out easy winners 64-31. Best: Kneebone (21).

The annual match against Wesley was played at Forestville Stadium this year. The small contingent of supporters was very vocal for both sides. In the first half the scores were very close, point for point, with Wilcox and Kneebone scoring frequently. Wesley's height advantage and rebounding power were proving troublesome, and they led by four points at half-time. Early in the second half they pulled away to a 10 point lead. Myhill drove through the key many times and led a revival which put us four points in front. At this crucial stage we lost Kneebone and Willcox (fouled off) and once again the Wesley boys' height and reach were too much for us and they drew away to win by eight points—60-68. Best players: Myhill (14), White, Willcox.

OPEN "B" BASKETBALL

The "B" team followed the example of the "A" team and won all except two of their main games. These two losses were suffered against S.H.C. and S.P.S.C. by 5 and 3 points respectively. We enjoyed easy victories over Pembroke, Scotch College, Westminster, Blackfriars and Immanuel, and narrowly won close matches against A.B.H.S. and R.C. The best players for the season were Rowe and Kassai. Rowe also top-scored with 105 points. Although Peter Farley captained the team for the major part of the season, other members of the team were given this opportunity. It is hoped that Mr. Woollard will be rewarded next season for his perseverance, as the team was very young.

OPEN C BASKETBALL

Captain: D. Thomas

This year the C's enjoyed a fairly successful season, losing only three very close matches. The losses were to S.P.S.C. by 5 points and to S.H.C. by 4 points on two occasions.

Top scorers for the season were Thomas with 73 points, Condon 40 points, and Hobbs 33 points.

Best for the season were Stevens, Michell (who were both promoted to the B's), Thomas, Condon, Peter, Hobbs and Jones. Thanks to Mr. Freney for his coaching and umpiring efforts.

OPEN D BASKETBALL

Captain: J. Bennett.

Regrettably we didn't have a successful season. We managed to win only two of the eight matches, primarily because we were against "A" teams. What we hoped would be the highlight of the season, the Saints match, was unfortunately cancelled. We did, however, make use of the services of up to twenty players throughout the season, and of these J. Schocroft and P. Condon top-scored.

All would like to express their thanks to our coach, Mr. I. Freney.

U15 B

Captain: Mark McQuade

The Under 15 Bs have greatly improved over the last basketball season, owing to some rearrangements in the team. We tasted victory only on two occasions; however, most of the matches proved both exciting and pleasurable.

All of the team played consistently well throughout the season.

UNDER 14A BASKETBALL — Undefeated 1975

Back Row: D. J. Andrew, M. R. Coats, A. Lidums.

Second Row: P. C. Stevens, M. R. Rundell, D. J. Fairweather, P. C. Manthorpe.

Captain: R. Wilkinson

Although the season appeared to be unsuccessful, the loss of two top players to the Open As left gaps which were hard to cover. The largest loss for the season was by 12 points, and many games were lost by less than five points. Jamie Myhill led the scoring for the season with an improved performance, but the dynamic Viktor Muizulis at pivot was outstanding. Rex Wilkinson and Tony Calder were continually hustling in defence, but too many players were undisciplined in their approach.

UNDER 14 A

Captain: J. Linn

This season resulted in another undefeated effort and another great team display.

Guards Jack Linn (126 points) and Graham Phelps (81 points) invariably began moves with their determination, and the skill of David Andrew (69 points) and Arnis Lidums (67 points) on the baseline bewildered opposition.

The most improved player for the season was pivot Mike Coats (80 points), but Neil Opie capably filled any position. David Fairweather and Peter Manthorpe continued to progress as the season went on.

UNDER 14 B

Captain: M. Willcocks

Although two matches were lost, a successful season was completed. The side was very even and the starting five was never obvious. Willcocks, Davey, Rowe, Stevens, Heyburn, Linveldt and Rundell all performed well at times.

UNDER 14 C

Captain: T. Maxted

Playing in the U14 B competition, a great season was completed when only two matches were lost. A team of triers, led by Terry Maxted, included Denton, Dingle, Moffatt, Moore, Lymn, Gurner and Murray, who all shared in good performances.

UNDER 13 A

Captain: P. Curtin. Vice-Captain: M. Butler

The highlight of an undefeated season was the 104-0 defeat of St. Michaels and two convincing wins over Saints. Peter Curtin capably led the team and was well supported by Michael Butler. Peter Curtin (139 points) initiated plays and set up many scoring opportunities for others, but the ability of Butler (113 points), Michael Hobbs (66 points) and Peter Muizulis (46 points) to score from wide on the baseline was a telling factor. Bronte Paull (50 points) and Andrew Nairne shared the rebounding well, but a newcomer to the game, Mark DeGaris, showed remarkable improvement and ability to hold down the pivot position by the end of the season.

UNDER 13 B

(Red and White)

Captains: A. Adams, M. Hinter, R. Michael, M. Engel

Both sides were clearly the best in the competition, losing only one game each to other schools. Although each team fielded large sides, players were under pressure to play well due to the high standard. The most consistent players were Lang, Michael, Adams, Jaggerman, Sallis and Quan, with Mark Engel playing well enough to force his way into the A's on several occasions.

UNDER 13A BASKETBALL — Undefeated 1975

Back Row: M. R. Engel, P. I. Muizulis, A. D. Nairne, M. J. Crawford, M. A. Hobbs, A. N. Lang.

Front Row: M. J. DeGaris, M. C. Butler (Vice-Capt.), Mr. R. W. Nicholson, P. L. Curtin (Capt.), B. N. Paull.

2nd TERM 1975

The P.A.C. hockey players enjoyed another successful season. Hockey seems to be attracting many of the younger students at the school. The good results obtained by the teams were due mainly to their keen attitude out at practice and on the field.

The Open "A" team played quite a few high quality games and lost only to Pulteney and Rostrevor. The season finished off on a good note for the team when they played Pulteney and went down 3-2. It was a tight game characterized by strong Princes defence.

The team was again captained by Don Tingey, and along with Max Van Dissel, Rick Coventry, Richard Denyer and Jeff Ellison, formed the core of the defence. Peter Flavel and David Murton scored most of our goals, while Andrew Short and Tony Young played good consistent hockey throughout the season.

Half of the team consisted of young players who gained valuable experience. The team would like to thank the Headmaster, Garth Birdsey and Messrs. Murton and Cutts for their help during the season.

The U16 team, although being comprised largely of U15 members, had a very successful season, losing only one match. Consistent all-round team performances combined with some particularly skilful play from Ian Peebles, Richard Hosking, Peter Grummet and Peter Hill, contributed to a happy and successful season.

The team is very grateful to the astute combined coaching of Philip Stacy, Ian Mutton and Peter Birdsey.

Randell Brown, Captain.

UNDER 13

The Under 13 team had a very good season, losing only two matches, both against Rostrevor College. The best player for the season was the vice-captain of the team, Paul Stacey, who played centre half-back. He scored the most goals for the season and helped us to victory many times. Other good players were Duncan Haskard, Bannean and R. Thormorajah.

We would all like to thank Mr. Jones for coaching this season.

SWIMMING

INTER-SCHOOL COMPETITION

After a well competed season, the finish to the Inter-school Swimming at our pool was an exciting and worthwhile one. There were some outstanding times recorded at this meet with Norwood High and Rostrevor winning most of the events. The results were as follows: N.H.S. 368, R.C. 343, P.G.S. 292, S.H.C. 259, P.A.C. 249, S.P.S.C. 211, W.S. 117, S.C. 82, St. Ig. 38, U.A.H.S. 8.

At the beginning of the season, Princes competed against Rostrevor and St. Ignatius at Rostrevor. Rostrevor beat us 110 to 98, with St. Ignatius third on 17. We then swam against Westminster and Norwood High at our pool in which we had our only win for the season, beating Norwood High 101 to 97, with Westminster third on 84. Another close competition resulted when Sacred Heart, Westminster and Princes swam at our pool. S.H.C. just managed to win in the last relay of the day, beating P.A.C. 110 to 106. Westminster was third with 82. The best competition was against a stronger N.H.S. team and P.G.S. at P.A.C. Norwood High won easily over Pulteney and P.A.C. Scores were N.H. 121, PGS 96, P.A.C. 78.

ADVERTISER TEAMS CARNIVAL

Due to an unfortunate arrangement, the Advertiser relays were held on the same night as the Lifesaving Championships. As a result, Princes were not able to attend the lifesaving but competed in the Advertiser relays.

The Senior team, comprising Peter Barton (Captain), Kim Hosking, Ian Davidson, Jason Schofield and John Kirkpatrick, competed well but were only able to manage two eighths in the finals.

The Junior team did slightly better than the Open team by managing a six and seventh in the finals. The team that saved the night for us was the prep. team, who were able to win two thirds in the freestyle and medley relays.

WATER POLO

Princes had a successful first term in water polo, with everyone enjoying the competition and showing much enthusiasm at training and in their matches. Thanks must go to Mr. Dean for giving up his time to look after the team after school and on weekends, and also to David Hughes for his coaching.

The first match was against a Blackfriars team at our pool, where we soundly defeated them 15 to 1. Grummett 5 and best player, Roberts 3. We then played Rostrevor at P.A.C. in a close, hard match in which Princes won 4 to 3. Grummett 2, Barton best player. Our last match was against Saints at Saints. Here we drew 4 to 4. Jones 2, Barton best player.

Our Under 15 team also had a good first in which they defeated Blackfriars 16 to 1, then lost to Rostrevor 7 to nil and also lost to Saints 3-5, MacDonald being best player and top scorer in each.

The third term should prove just as exciting with some more matches to be played.

THE SWIMMING SPORTS

The Swimming Sports this year drew a very large attendance, which helped to make the afternoon very competitive and also enjoyable.

The House Competition was again an interesting contest and Waterhouse defeated last year's winners, Bayly. There proved to be a close tussle for third, in which School won by one point over Cotton in the last medley relay of the day.

Waterhouse won four of the relays; this included a record in the Under 14 4 x 25 Medley Relay. Another record fell when the Bayly Over 14 Relay team swam 1 min. 15.2.

Final scores were Waterhouse 129 points, Bayly 85 pts., School 45 pts. Cotton 44 pts.

There was close individual competition with outstanding performances by Hosking (U14) with six firsts and two records; Barton (Open), also with six firsts and two records; and Nairn (U13) with three firsts and two thirds. Thanks go to Mr. Woollard for the organisation and to the masters for their help in the running of the sports.

Congratulations to Tony Evers, who represented South Australia in the Summer Open Nationals held in Perth earlier this year. He gained a second in the 200 metres breaststroke and a third in the 100 metres breaststroke.

ROWING

The Rowing Club is in its second year of rebuilding and it is pleasing to note the enthusiasm being shown by its members. Especially pleasing is the growth of numbers in the first year ranks, for it is from these boys that future winning Head of the River crews will come. The atmosphere in the boat club is clearly that of excitement, and we all look forward to a happy and successful future.

The growth rate of the club has been incredible and membership is at record level. Thanks go particularly to the Headmaster and School Council for their support, and to the staff for their tolerant encouragement.

The members of the Rowing Club would like to thank the rowing parents' committee for their support, which has enabled us to purchase twenty new oars and three new boats in a short time. (The boat house has also been completely upgraded).

A new racing eight will arrive early in 1976. Two new light boat trailers are under construction and a coaching boat is on the list of priorities.

Captain's Report

The first eight this year were young and inexperienced and raced unsuccessfully in regattas held at Murray Bridge and Port Adelaide in first term. P.A.C. entered a large number of crews in these regattas and all gained from the experience. The under 15 and under 14 crews showed a great deal of promise.

All crews showed great improvement by the time of the Metropolitan Regatta and our numerical strength was borne out by our ability to field a third eight.

The Head of the River Regatta was a disappointment, as no crews reached the finals. However, we must be patient as it won't be long before this situation is remedied.

The Under 15 had a bad start but rowed magnificently towards the finish to close the gap to two feet in their heat.

All members and supporters concluded the day at the boat shed where dinner had been prepared.

During Easter a contingent of 15 lads travelled to Mildura and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Barnsfield at Tapio Station. We raced in eights and fours at both Mildura and Wentworth regattas and were successful in winning novice fours. This was a wonderful trip that did wonders for our rowing technique.

A rowathon was held in October, 1974, and over $400 was raised for the new boat fund.

The Fathers and Sons Dinner was held at the Public Schools' Club in May, and this was voted an outstanding success. Awards were made and the strokes of the various crews made appropriate remarks for the occasion. The Rev. Brother Mark McCabe, master-in-charge of rowing at C.B.C., gave a stirring address which was received most enthusiastically by all present.

HEAD OF RIVER COMMENTS:—

1st VIII: Bow N. Dolan, 2 G. Woolmore, 3 P. Keynes, 4 M. Cornish, 5 M. Morey, 6 R. Hamood, 7 M. Richards, Stroke C. Riggs, Cox B. Wernes, Coach G. D. Coldwell.

A young and inexperienced P.A.C crew were defeated in the heat by the winning crew S.P.S.C. by only two lengths and by A.B.H.S. by half a canvas.

2nd VIII: Bow M. Shaw, 2 C. Dolan, 3 C. Timperon, 4 I. Stacy, 5 P. Warnecke, 6 L. Vandapeer, 7 J. Chandler, Stroke S. Thorpe, Cox R. Hosking, Coach W. Watts.

The oarsmen making up the second eight were also defeated in the Head of the River by Scotch, who won easily. The crew would like to thank W. Watts for his enthusiastic coaching through the season.

Under 16: Bow M. McDonald, 2 M. Vogt, 3 S. Krantz, Stroke A. Beauchamp, Cox T. May, Coach Mr. G. Burchell.

An unsettled crew which tasted success in the season, but were beaten in the Head of the River due to bad luck when a slide started malfunctioning. The crew thanks Mr. G. Burchell for his coaching time during the season.

Under 15: Bow M. Thomas, 2 R. Johns, 3 P. Johns, Stroke R. Darroch, Cox C. Little, Coach Mr. F. Beauchamp.

Due to the crew's good rowing ability and the coaching of Mr. F. Beauchamp, this crew were favourites for a win in the U15 final, but bad luck fell upon them, and after a very bad start this crew sprinted the course excellently, passing P.G.S. and coming second to S.P.S.C. by only 2 feet.

Under 14: Bow B. Lindvelt, 2 S. Grayling, 3 C. Langsford, Stroke A. Saunders, Cox S. Tiddy.

After winning the Metropolitan Regatta the crew beat Scotch and came second to S.P.S.C. by a short margin in their heat during the Head of the River.

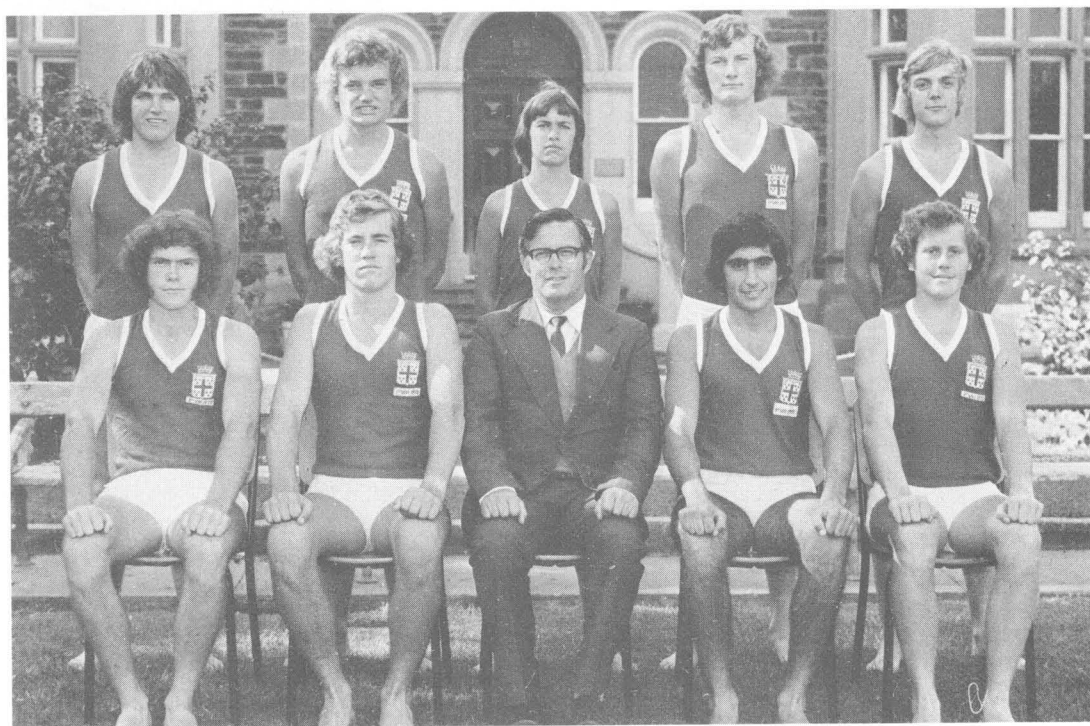

First IV: Bow I. Walker, 2 T. Hurst, 3 R. Keeves, stroke P. Humzy, Cox J. Gwynne, Coaches Messrs. W. Watts and D. Provis.

This crew were serious and hard training. The crew were defeated easily in their heat. The number 2 man received the trophy for the most improved oarsman as he only started rowing this season.

Second IV: Bow B. Tidswell, 2 B. Stevens, 3 P. Ferris, Stroke M. Cartledge, Cox P. Wakefield, Coach G. Clode.

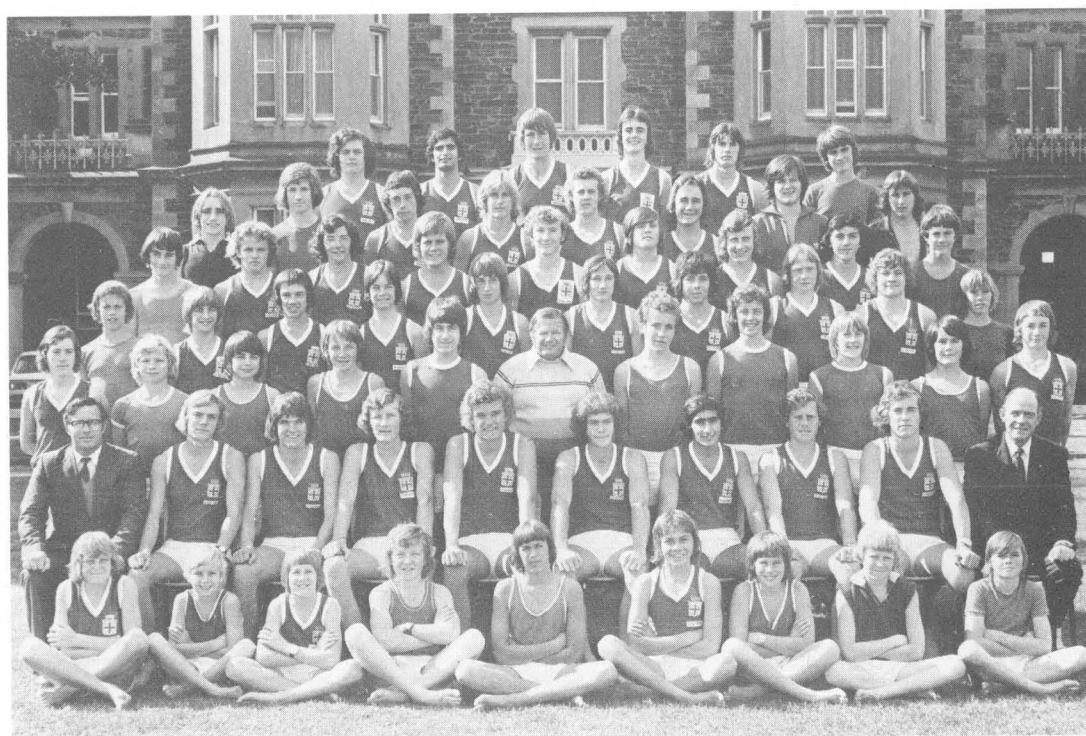

This crew were defeated by Adelaide Boys High School in their heat although they tried hard, but they did not have the stamina of a winning crew.

ATHLETICS

COMBINED

The Combined Athletics was held on Wednesday, 16th April, on a day of very fine weather. The track was fast and it appeared likely that many records would be broken. Our team, which had only a few outstanding athletes, was prepared to strive for as many points as possible, and in the end it proved to be the depth of the team that made the final result possible.

All afternoon the competition was very close, with P.A.C. ahead by a small margin. Prince's best performances in general were by the hurdlers who succeeded in winning 5 of the 10 hurdle events. The most brilliant individual performance was by Jamie Kelly, who won both the U16 100 and 200 metres in record breaking times.

Towards the end of the afternoon, the Princes stand, which had been relatively silent for most of the day, became exceedingly vocal, when the 1500 metres and relay events were being held. The excitement rose to a peak during the Open 1500 metre events when Mark Benson and Kim Gray, B and A divisions respectively, ran brilliant races to win both. Kim had earlier won the 800 metres B division, finishing the day with 2 wins. After the relays there was a great deal of tension, since it wasn't known which school had won the Aggregate Cup because of a disqualification in one of the relays.

Princes won the Intermediate Cup due to some outstanding athletes in that age group, and also the Aggregate Cup for the first time since 1967. The day was a great success for the athletics team and the whole team would like to thank Mr. Harvey and Mr. Nicholson for their dedication in coaching and encouraging the members

SCHOOL SPORTS

This year Sports Day was held on April 5th, preceding the Combined Athletics on the 16th. This change in timing from recent years proved most beneficial to members of the Athletics team as it gave them a chance to gain valuable experience.

Rain which had fallen during the morning held off during the afternoon until the sports had finished. Although the track was reasonably heavy, several records were broken. Jamie Kelly's performance was outstanding in breaking both the 100m. and Long Jump records, as well as winning the Under 16 Cup with 4 firsts and a second. Other records were broken by R. Gray, M. Lynn, M. Eaton and G. Woolmore.

Another memorable feature of the day was the triple dead-heat for the Senior Cup, which was shared between K. Gray, B. Perkins and D. Batchelor. All these athletes received individual trophies because of their equitable performances.

In the S.A. Schools Athletics Championships held on the Labor Day weekend a squad of 20 boys competed, gathering 20 places—four firsts, ten seconds and six thirds.

Jamie Kelly was one of the outstanding athletes of the Championships with a triple victory in the Under 17 division 100m. (11.0 sec.), 200m. (23.2 sec.) and long jump (6.15m.). Robert Gray topped the high jumpers when recording a personal best of 1.87m. to win the U17.

A Promising performance in the U13 hurdles was recorded by Mike Burfield to gain third place. Mike will compete in this age group for the next two years. Pierre Mathieu, Peter Kitto and Graham Vasileff each scored places in two events.

Parents' and Friends' Association

Dr. R. E. Annells, Messrs. B. L. May, W. J. Blanch and Mrs. B. G. Burfield joined the committee this year, Mr. D. W. Moffat and Mrs. P. J. Stobie retiring. Mr. Errol Dolan is President.

A most important event this year has been the formation of the Federation of Non-Catholic Schools Parents & Friends Associations of South Australia. P.A.C. Parents & Friends' Association is a member of the Federation and Mr. Alex Gray, who has done so much of the background work in the formation of the Federation, is President. Mr. Errol Dolan is P.A.C. representative at Federation meetings.

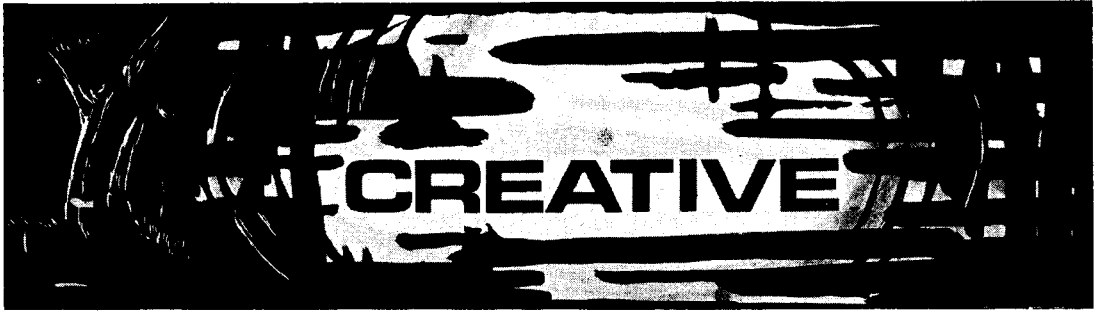

The S.A. Federation of Non-Catholic Schools Parents & Friends' Associations has recently been admitted to membership of the Australian Parents' Council. The Federal President of the A.P.C., Mr. E. (Gregg) Dunne, addressed P.A.C. parents at a well attended meeting at the school on 6th October, his subject being "Is the Future of Independent Schools at Risk?"

The format of this year's programme was changed, the mid-year General Meeting being omitted. Its place has been taken by a series of evenings set aside (one for each senior school year from first year to matriculation) to enable parents to meet their sons' teachers individually, and more specifically, to discuss their sons' progress in a professional atmosphere. These evenings have been very successful and it is anticipated that they will become a permanent feature of the school programme. The complete co-operation of the staff is much appreciated.

This opportunity is taken to point out that teachers welcome communication from parents at any time during the year and, should any points arise which parents feel should be discussed with their sons' teachers, they should not hesitate to request an interview.

The Committee this year has had much pleasure in presenting a sports scoreboard to the school. Thanks are due to Mr. Murray Olsson for his efforts in supervising the project from commencement to completion, and mention should be made here of an anonymous donation of $50 to the Association funds, made specifically to enable the scoreboard to be paid for.

ROOM 8 ENVIRONMENT — A COLLECTIVE PROEM BY 3 DOLLMAN

A well worn but silent echo-laden corridor,
A chalk-crustrd window,
The motionless presence of the roof looming over—

Red and blue flashes against the grey sky—
A vague vision of a mass of bodies,
The grey iron cutting wind
And a cold, almost eerie atmosphere forms in the motionless corridors,
As leaves are blown up the stairs.

Nothing moves inside, outside the wind jiggles with the leaves;
The trees are big against a grey moody sky.
The naked, frail structure of the uppermost tips of a tree sways gentle in the breeze.

In the room life moves on in its uncompromising way,
Seated in front of pen-scrawled desks.
The visible world outside veiled in silence appears so different from the pulsing world inside.

Purity is more frequent outside.
Corridors unique to schools and old mansions
Which give the false impression of warmth:
The long silence strains at the ears.

Harsh red brick with galvanised roofs lie still,
The silent movie rolls on, green eucalyptus leaves swimming in a sea of silent air.

The heavy hand of silence.
Outside seemed far away compared with the air of stillness of our work,
As the light grey clouds formed a thick canopy over the field.
I relax in oblivion before my silent juggernaut,
the classroom:
I saw first a wall corner, brownish yellow and stones,
Then I saw an ugly grin above a strained neck.

Ahead were wooden boxes,
Books piled up inside with black shadows in their deepest recesses, Well-worn, dog-eared books stuffed untidily into shelves,
Etched battered desks; all still, inanimate objects.
The red brick of the building outside glowed in the afternoon light, casting long shadows.

THE BUS TRIP

This monotonous diurnal occurrence begins at the bus stop from where from five to ten people embark on the journey to their place of work at eight o'clock in the morning and to where they return at five o'clock in the afternoon. The congregation in the morning usually consists of solemn middle-aged men, restless young men, blank-faced secretaries, tittering schoolgirls and slovenly schoolboys.

The bus driver takes your fare, and as you lurch down the central aisle of the bus and drop into your seat, you hope in vain that today's bus trip will be a new or pleasant experience. It turns out to be neither because you are gradually repulsed by the proximity of other humans, and they make it subtly obvious that they are repulsed by you.

There is approximately one conversationalist on each journey. His conversation is only interrupted by apathetic "yes" and "no" from the person to whom he is speaking. He soon realises that he is virtually talking to himself, and the only sounds that are heard thereafter are the drone of the bus motor, the thumping of the doors as they open and close, and perhaps the whistling of the bus driver which is always painful to the ear. (This whistling is only heard on sunny spring mornings when the driver is dreaming of what he could be doing instead of driving a bus on such a nice day.
It creates gloom among the passengers, who have already dreamed the same dream and awakened to their own morose realities).

You have finally arrived at your disembarkation point. You relinquish your seat, excuse yourself through a row of standing travellers, and bound out of the bus, revived by the fresh morning air. That is, until you are stifled by the bus's exhaust fumes if you are unlucky enough to walk behind it as it takes off from the kerb.

Thinking to yourself as you walk to your place of work, you consider the wasted social opportunities of your last bus trip. You feel as if you almost know your fellow commuters. No, you only know their faces, you contemplate as you take off your coat, sit down at your desk and pick up your pen, and as your brain is dulled by the thought of your personal reality.

REPENT, YE SINNERS!

When I was barely six years old,
Much younger than today,
The Golden Rule I oft was told,
And this is what I'd say:
"The Oldies have devised a plan,
But I can see through it.
I know that trick; I'll make my stand.
I'll beat it with my wit."
But when I'd grown to high school age,
I'd used up all my wit.
To break this rule at any stage
You'd have to be a twit.
Come, fill anew these wasted days
And of others start to think.
Put aside your haughty ways,
Your crumpet and your drink.
Now cast away this wasteful stuff,
Don't enjoy life like a fool.
Become along with Mr. Duff
A prophet of this rule.
Is this a trick? It cannot be;
This is no foolish plan.
You know it now: it's plain to see That MANNERS MAKETH MAN!

SUICIDE

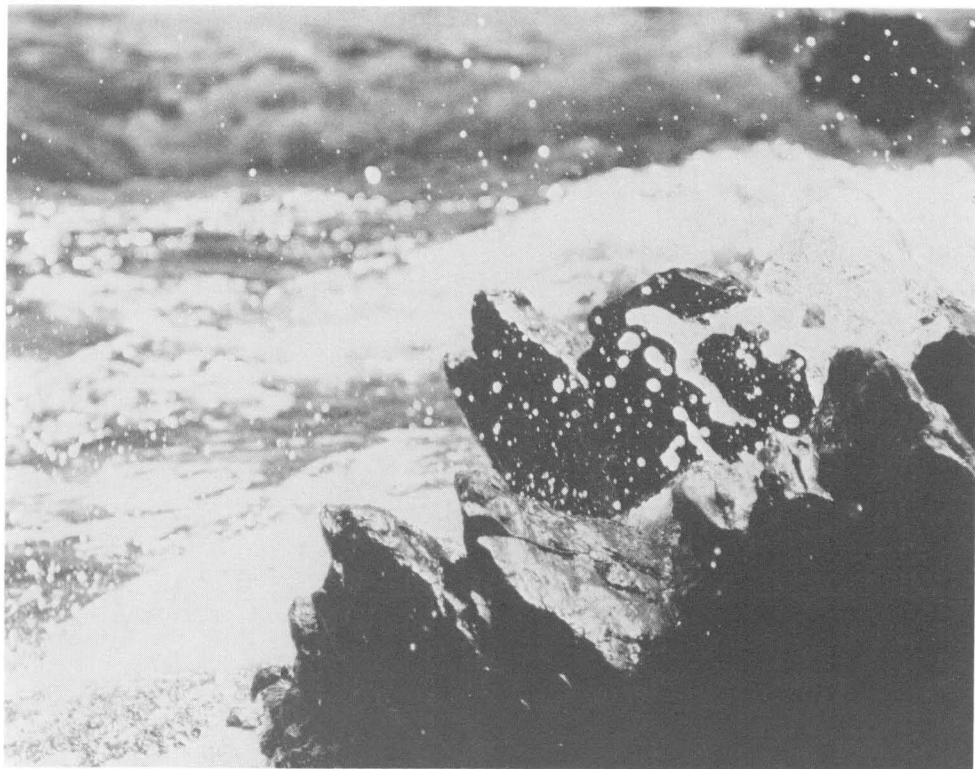

Like the statues of Buddha the Indian Protester lit his petrol-engulfed body, Like true worshippers he also did not stir from his entranced state.

There were no screams of pain, no cries for help.
What is this man?
Is he truly a martyr, or is he oppressed by the thought of life?

There he melts,
There is where the wind will blow away the ashes of his decrepit body.
Oh, how deprived and demented!

If he were a martyr would he not kill himself in private?
What did he prove?
He fooled no one but himself.

A BIRTHDAY MESSAGE

Alone I sit and all at once I hear
Sweet music drifting through the air to me,
That charms and touches sweetly on the ear;
Yet when I look there's no one I can see.

But yet I know whose song this has to be,
For none can ever be compared to you.
Your presence is a song itself to me
That lingers softly — ever thus to do.

Yes, your infectious smile invades us all,
And calms us when our lives no longer rhyme.
Your laughter doth unhappy times forestall,
With love that helps us through our troubled times.

A soul more full of life I've never seen,
Nor e'er can hope to see now you're fifteen.

A TREE CONDEMNED

Here, here, this is the tree,
Here I must pray for my brother.
I hold no guilt for you tree;
You have been condemned.

Over one thousand ropes have been slung
Around your mighty branches.
Who was the first? My brother was the last.
How dare they use nature for their barbarous behaviour.

I see you weep, your branches sagging, your leaves are lost.
Such a sad sight for a mighty tree.
God forgive you for your part in their deeds;
He does not hold you responsible for their wicked arts.

So flourish, and rise; touch the sky.
Let your arms reach, out to the top of the mountains.
Let the deaths worry you not:
Cry no more you glorious old tree.

THE TRANSPARENT WALL

The beckoning spirit has done its due,
The years of repression have had no effect
But to worsen the final blow of realisation.
For, upon reflection, there is nothing to be found,
As this man ponders over a seemingly valueless existence.

Emptiness, a world of semi-experience
Passing through life in blissful indifference;
A mass of isolated objects and sheltered people,
They all have their purpose, he has his.
The world is loneliness,
It builds up, creating a transparent wall,
Which nothing mortal may penetrate.
There is a voice and he is forced to listen:
It tells of tragic waste,
Of a man throwing his life away,
Hiding behind a remote phenomenon,
An artificial world of meaningless relationships,
And sports cars, newspapers, share markets—
None of them matter at all.
But realisation brings shock, and shock leads to anguish.

His mind spins in a frantic bid to escape;
What can it possibly find?
Tomorrow it will come,
He will be free to love and be loved;
But today he must weep for the happiness which has been lost.

DISCONTENTED . . . OR NOT?

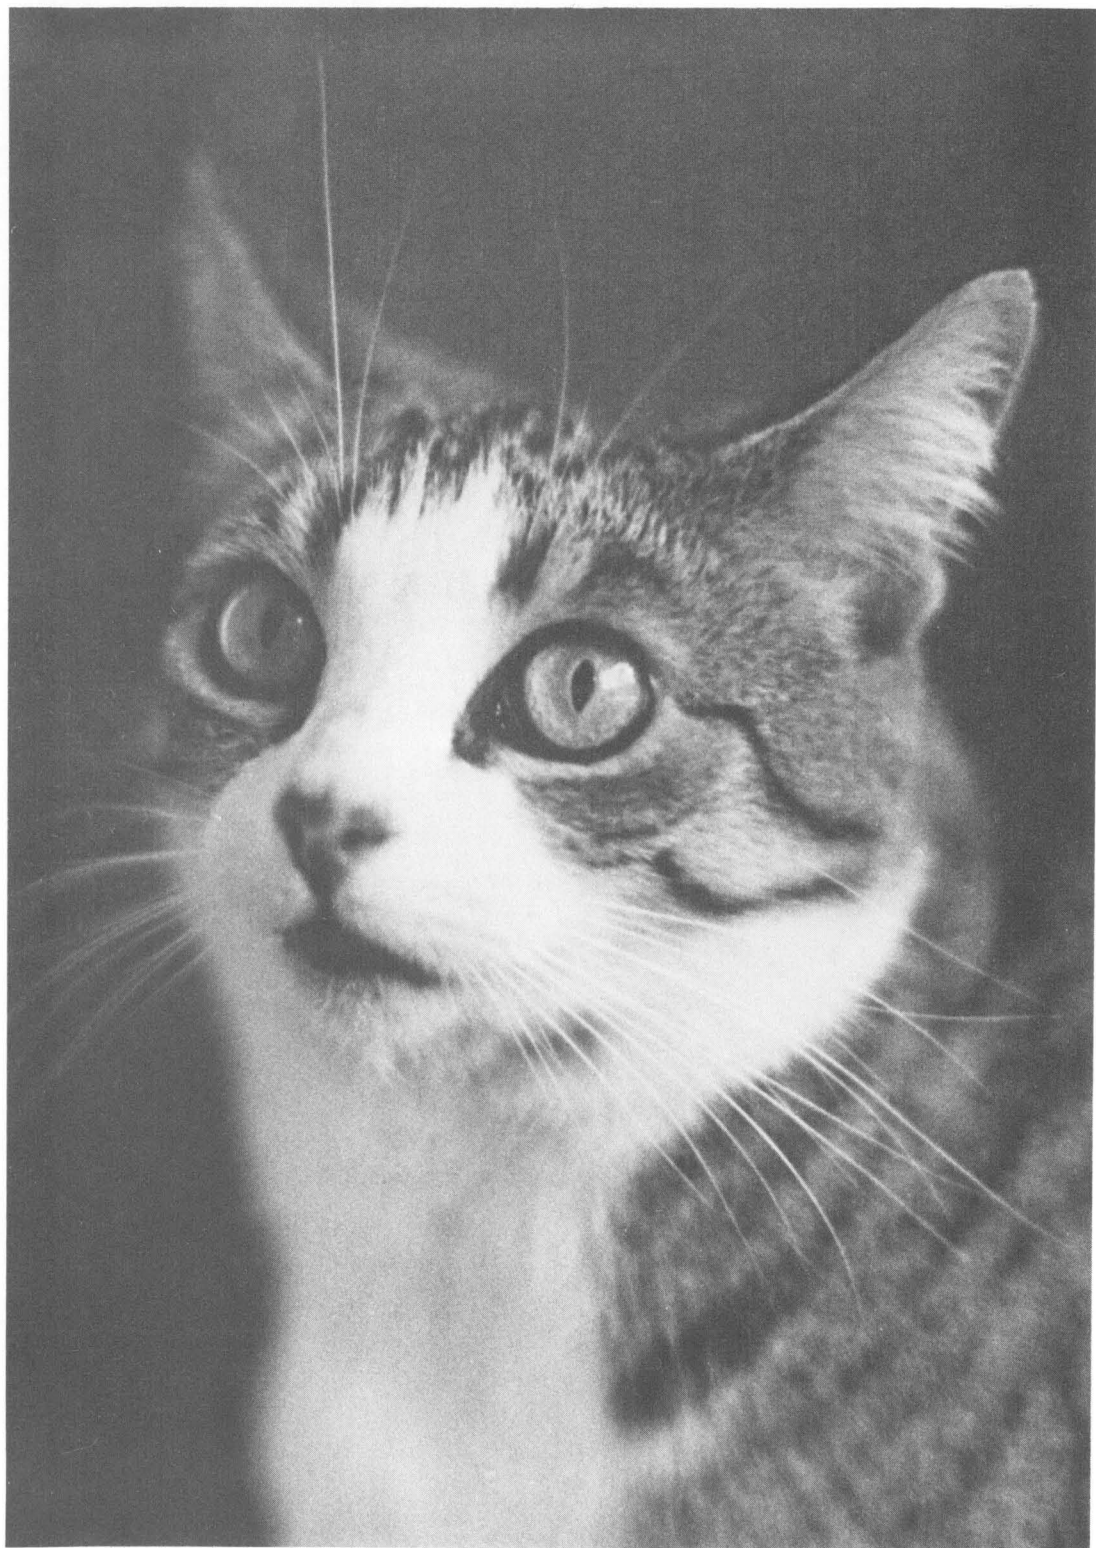

Quiet, but not silent,
Alone, but not lonely,
Peaceful, but invigorating,
Still, yet living.
I find this often—

And I lose it always—as soon as I return.
Where at school is there quiet and not silence?
Where at school does single not mean out of it?
Where at school is there eagerness sprung from peace?
And when the school is still, does it not appear dead?

SPORT IN AUSTRALIA

In the early days of Australian settlement, success was never certain. The pioneer had to battle against the elements. It was a hard slogging life. In this kind of life, games and contests in which "a bloke had a chance to win" were compensations for the dispiriting setbacks and failures. So, right from the outset of Australian history, the Australian has had a desire to compete and win.

In spite of a large bowling fraternity and a never-ending stream of "Golden Girls" of the pool, track and tennis court (Marjorie Jackson, Raylene Boyle, Dawn Fraser, Shane Gould, Evonne Goolagong and Margaret Court, to name a few), sport in Australia is predominantly a man's province. Sport combines well with the other activities of the male group. We can see this more clearly when we look at the dominating attributes of Australian sport which are: good-natured violence, mateship, the outdoor life and the spirit of the underdogs. The distinctive Australian attitude is that a man should "be in it" with his mates and at least "have a go" at trying to win. Thus we can see that, by the very nature of almost every Australian, sport must become an integral part of his way of life.

Not long ago, a leading American sports writer said, "Australia is a land completely surrounded by water and inundated with athletes." How right he was! It would be impossible to give a list of the major sporting achievements by Australians which occurred within a week of each other.

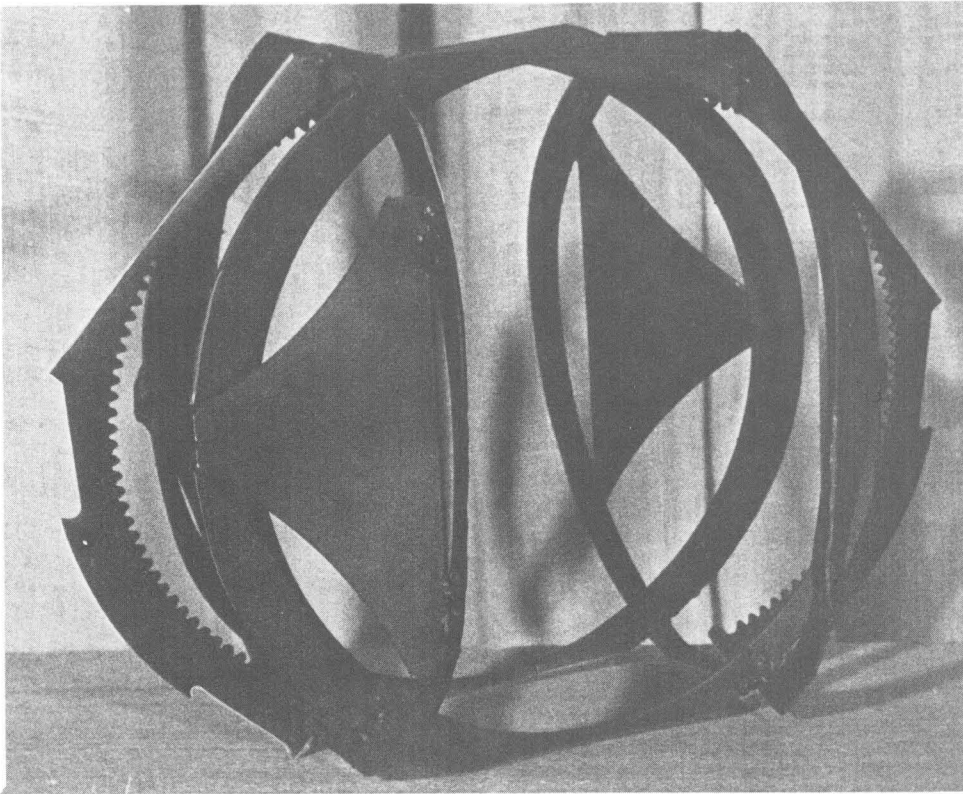

Three Australian golfers were receiving prize money from American professional tournaments to the tune of $150,000; an Australian long distance runner, Ron Clarke, was setting up twelve new world records out of sixteen races; an Australian Rugby Union team was defeating South Africa's Springboks in Sydney; an Australian Rugby League team was defeating New Zealand in Auckland; at Wimbledon, Australian tennis stars were hacking their way to the women's singles titles and to the seventh all-Australian centre court men's final in the past ten years; another Australian golfer, Peter Thompson, was getting ready to win his fifth British Open and eighteenth national title. All this occurred in one week. Imagine what has taken place in a hundred years.

It is not surprising then that a number of foreign countries consider Australia's greatest and perhaps only accomplishment to be success in sport. Also, official statistics prove that in proportion to population, Australia is well ahead of all other nations, including the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. in victories in international competitions in sport.

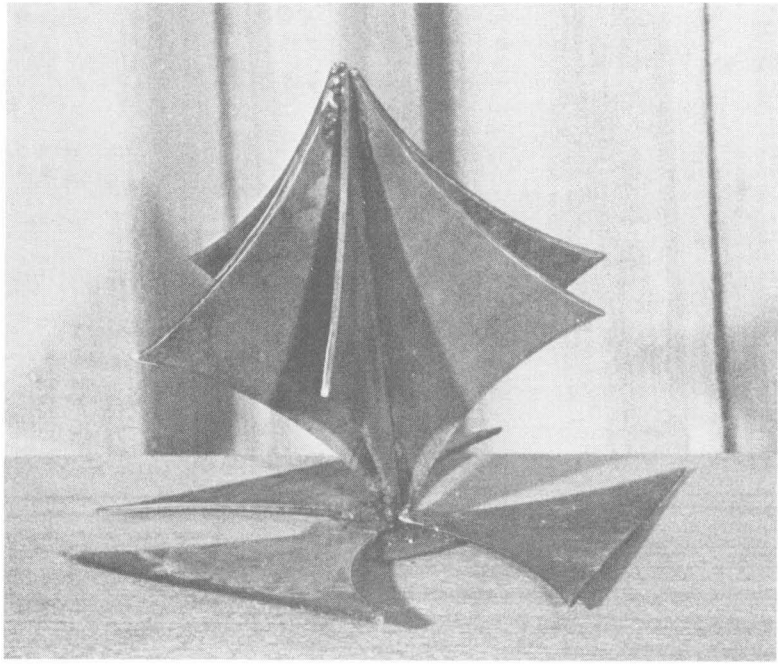

So I think it is safe to say that Australia is very much a participation nation in regard to sport. It is a heritage handed down to us, and we in turn should hand this will to win, mateship and simple desire to participate down to our descendants.

These great achievements, plus our attitude toward sport, should make us feel honoured to be Australian.

THE SPIRITS

Here I walk in this cemetery in the still of night with only a torch,
Oh Spirits why do you not stir from your eternal sleep?

Show me that when I enter my grave there will be some new life.

Do you dream? Do you think? Do you suffer?
Do you cry?

Oh answer my questions.

Let me give hope to the sick and dying.

You tell me, William Scott. You've been dead for eighty-two years.

Why do you not move? Are you not restless?

Do you not get claustrophobia? Can you not move from your box?

Have the insects infiltrated it yet and have the cockroaches eaten your brain away?

Why is there no light; is it because of the death?
Why can't it be yellow, white or orange — why black?

Is there no peace without black? Is there no variation in black?

What if I were to paint the sky white, then would you grow restless?

What if God were to die, would you then come back to life for the good of Satan?

Would you enter human flesh of mankind? Would you destroy the living;

Would you live in the world of today in your transparent existence?

Would you kill the animals and trees? Would you burn the world down,

Or would the brightness of the flames scare you out of existence?

Would you like it to be barren; is this your Utopia?

Oh Spirits follow me, leave your graves now.
Come with me.

Let me hear your screams of pleasure.

THE PAIN

The pain changing faster than the sky,
An anti-ecstasy of loving in reverse,
Like hating, only worse.
And love, that fragile friendship,
Used to name so many things,
Is cause and catalyst,
Height and depth,
Beginning and end.

A PROCESS OF THE MIND

The idea formed slowly,
Like jelly on a hot day,
As separate thoughts,
Linked,
Then,
Too radical to exist by themselves
They merged with the whole.

The conclusion, though fragile from unreality,
Was drawn indelibly on a clear piece of brain matter,
And new ideas were tunnelled in different directions,
But once left behind the old passages were hard to find again.

1900 HOURS, SEPTEMBER 17, 1975

It's a mutual feeling, or so I am told. The title of this piece of literature (and I use the term loosely) is probably the most accurate, as it is about what I saw while watching a television at about the above time. What a profound statement! Especially when cats keep coming back for Whiskas. Then I was told that an old friend of the family has changed into new metric packages, but the value is still the same.

Suddenly, to my disgust this string of deep philosophical statements was interrupted by an awful scene about a German prisoner of war camp. Fortunately this situation lasted no longer than ten minutes, and the evening of advertisements was resumed. I was told that this is a car you had to look at, and that if I don't hurry I'll miss out. Next, this storehouse of information told me that at work it's different and then that it is a better powder. This picture was stopped abruptly and the P.O.W. camp returned.

Again, after about ten minutes, I was returned to my evening, and was told that there was so much cream in between and so many to choose from. Really, you can get a full education from television. I doubt whether you knew that timber expands and contracts with temperature, causing a rigid paint surface to crack up.

This set me thinking, and I thought that I might get a better variety of education if I changed stations. Unfortunately, I was confronted with a motor-cycle riding policeman speeding down the highway.

Do you ever look around your room and find that it is not quite as pleasant as it ought to be? Then phone 46 0261 for a free home demonstration for a friend named chunks and gravy. You can also be told that it is the real thing.

Are you a W——I mum? I am. Steel belted radials give you miles of grip. Also quoted was this delightful poem:

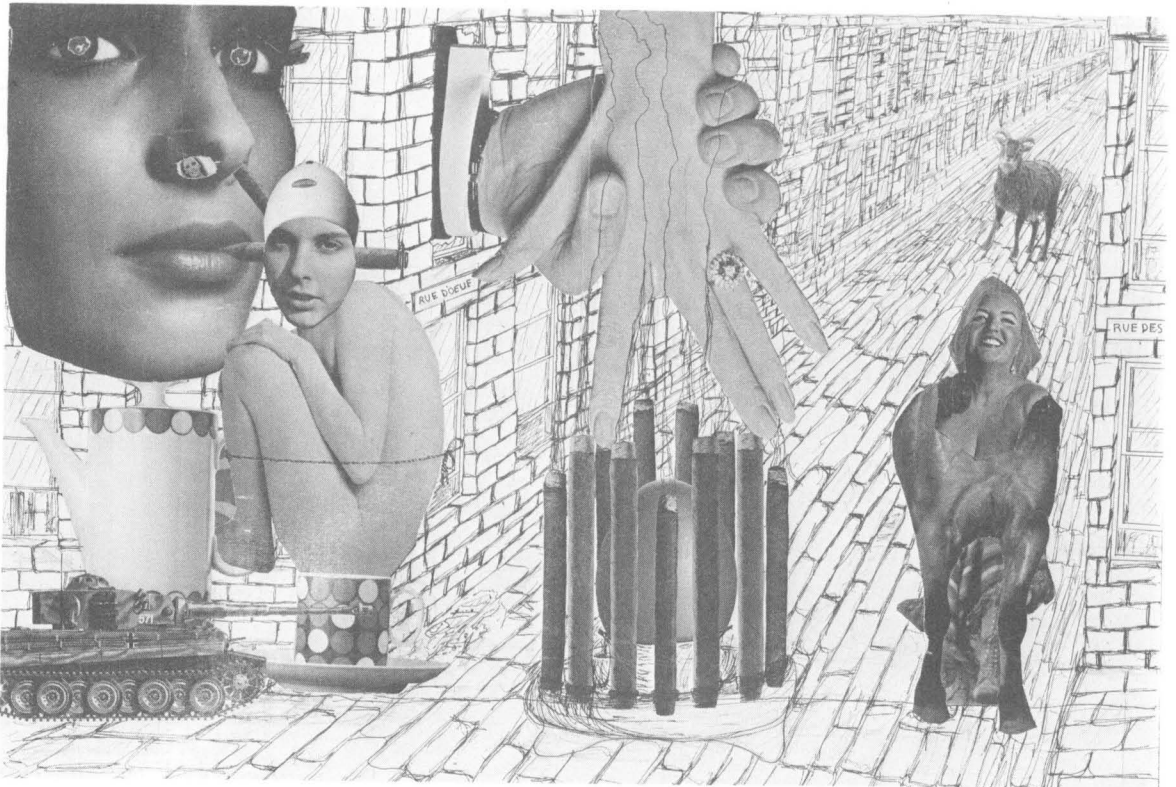

You get four bits of chicken
And chips by the bucket.
At a dollar ninety-nine
He'll really love it.

The rhyming of the second and fourth lines is particularly well done.

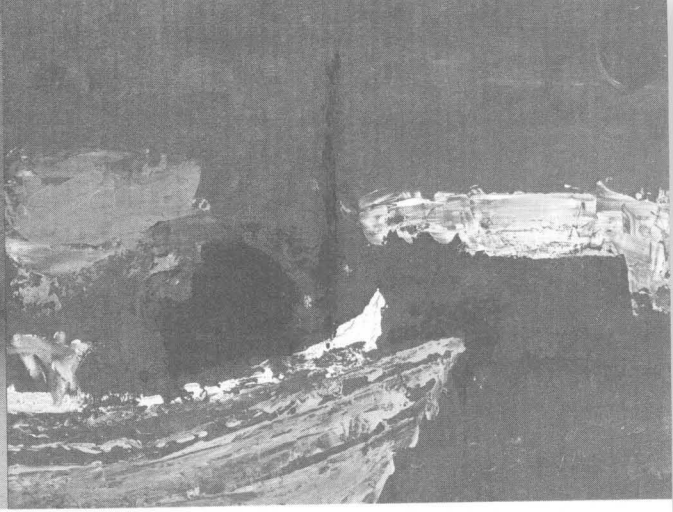

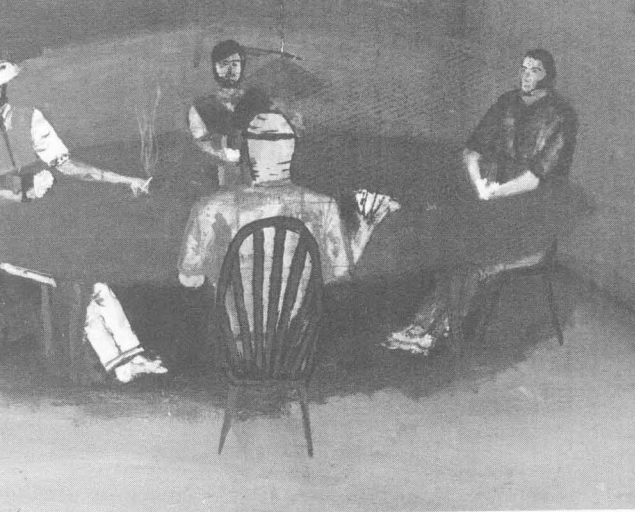

I wish I could be as lucky as Dorothy and visit the computer, where the memory—you might say accounting memory—is dumped into geographical breakouts and channelled through the binary system, which all starts here. It's all done in a flash; there's no waiting. It's all on this tape; all those lovely people out there, they're all on this little tape. Now balanced and computed by this reverse speed-back, tri-faceted input-output terminal, which is this monster over here. It's all printed out and ready to go.

Truly, television advertisements are an educational experience not to be missed.

THE DESERT

The red hills reach for the sun,
As blurry visions make trees run.
Small plants wither and bend,
As their life is near the end.
Big red mountains reach for the sky;
The wind blows, they crumble and die.

THE DESERT

Under the burning, scorching sun,
Where the arid earth cracks in the heat,
The trees, choked by sand, wither and die.
The shimmering air covers like a sheet
This forbidden land, horizon never ending,
Water-searching plants burn, dehydrated,
As the windswept mountains, bleak, stand in silence
Like the grim protectors of a savage land.
A life-choking land, but here things live,
Forever repelling the brown tide of sandy death, Walking and living between the bones of forgotten creatures,
Until they fall in the sand
And are covered, peacefully,
Perils forgotten,
For it is by the mercy of the sun and the sand—
The desert—that they may live.

THE SNOWY SLOPES OF SWITZERLAND

Skiing down the icy slope
I am told is quite a thrill.
The soft pure snow a carpet forms,
The night air crisp and still.
The Swiss Alps hold such magnitude,
Their peaks reach for the sky.
Their snowy plains are bathed in light
As the morning hour draws nigh.
High in the Alps the Chalet lies
Far from the town below.
The cable car the surest link
O'er the tracts of ice and snow.
The snow in summer melts away
And breaks the icy sea:
Imprisoned waters now released
In streamlets swift and free.

THERE WAS A CHILD WENT FORTH

There was a child went forth for the first time,
On to the streets of a South Vietnamese village,
Not a friend to be seen in that cold, cruel street; Where were his friends? Fleeing? In the next street? Dead?

The green men with dark, expressionless faces didn't know, didn't care.
Why had they come?
Why did they kill his parents and take his friends?
He didn't know.

Those hard, cruel bangers they carried:
Look down the enormous black hole and you will look no more.
Why did they shoot? The noise, the screaming,
So much noise, now so quiet, deathly quiet,
Only the occasional marching on the cobblestones of the green men
And the rats, the big, black, ugly rats, Scampering among the once friendly, now dead, bodies.

The rats had no friends, nor the green men.
Did they have a mum, those green men? He didn't.
Why didn't he like them? They destroyed; they didn't smile;
Smashed up houses, people, those green men.
"I hate them! I hate them!"

He ran up to one with a banger.
He hit him hard, harder, as hard as his little fists could hit — why?
He had never hit anyone before.
He was flung into the gutter; he cried.

A green man picked him up and carried him away.
Not a bird, nor a child, only black rats and green men.
There was a child went forth, for the first time,
for the last time.

Jim Haseloff

The television set was switched on, vomiting its crass assurances of prime quality, best buys and guarantees of beauty. Errol sat in an armchair, wading through a blur of confusion, sickness and loss. A thick viscuous fluid half-filtered the room, pinning him; the walls began to revolve, picking up speed, the fluid thickened at the edges, faster; it started climbing the walls, creeping over the ceiling, until he was trapped in a bubble. All around was a mucous clag.

The screen of the television now just penetrated the sphere, an electrical channel to the outside. The smooth man in his polished black suit shook Errol's hand with his own grey hand. Errol felt a slight tingle as he touched the black and grey man.

"Mr. Errol, it's a pleasure to have you on the show, to introduce you to your past."

Errol's mouth opened.

"You are a man of negative emotions; you have no positive feelings at all. You only experience pity, sorrow, loss and apathy. You've never had to make a decision in your life. You came sedately into living, and just as they dragged you out of your mother, they'll keep dragging you until they find you're dead, and only then will they let you go. Everybody has used you as a tool, and you just don't care." The grey man stopped.

"Your parents found you a useful child. You never cried, except from pain. When you were older, you could clean the house and tend the garden. They needed the money; so you were given a job. The plump girl who lived over the street needed a husband; you were married."

The walls of the bubble around them drew closer, until the screen of the television was covered. Now Errol was alone with the grey man.

The grey man moved the coffee table between them; on it stood half a bottle of milk and an electric light. Between these he placed the black and white stuffed cat. Errol, who had never cared much for religion, was stirred by an electric sense of ritual as the grey man moved. From behind the armchair came the sound of breathing; then two grey outlines appeared, becoming defined and positive, until two more grey people stood in the bubble. One of the people was a large woman with a grey and white dress, the other was a larger man in grey coveralls. Errol took no notice of the newcomers.

This time the grey man did not speak, but Errol remembered. The bus had been almost empty and they were churning through a tunnel of darkness, leaving a wake of gleaming asphalt. Smoothly, automatically, he had left his seat, left his bus, and was walking on the wet pavement towards his home and his wife, automatically. The fresh, moist air pressed smartly against his skin. The street lights were out and darkness had crept along the street, like the shadow of a stalking enemy. Except for the crisp click of his heels on the concrete, all was silent.

A tearing scream of pain was unleashed from the street, in front of him. He had walked on; the cry was repeated. Again the insanity ripped through the night, when he was quite close to his home. Once again it screamed; he saw what it was. A small kitten lay in the middle of the road, its body crushed. Even as he crossed to it, it raised itself in a paroxysm of agony, and from its bleeding depths came the maniacal wail, fainter. This time Errol almost stayed to help it, but he remembered the wife he had married. He walked on to the home, leaving the creature.

The house was dark as he stepped through the door. He reached for the switch. The flow of electricity had stopped; there was a blackout. He called for his wife, to whom he was married, but she was out, gone; she had left. He fumbled in the dark for a saucer and half-filled it with milk. With the milk, he left the house, looking for the kitten that had screamed for him. He found the kitten still lying on the road, but it had gone too. Its still eyes gazed deadly upwards. He threw away the saucer of milk; it flew.

He had lost his wife, kitten, milk and electricity all at once.

Errol came back to the bubble and the three grey people. The woman, who was now standing to one side of the coffee table was, he could finally see, his wife. On the other side was the butcher she had run away with. His hands were legs of lamb and his thick, coarse face creased in a grimace of contempt as he looked at Errol.

Errol looked back at his wife and asked, "Why?"

The grey woman replied, "You were always so mechanical, with no emotions. I never knew where I was with you — you never once told me you loved me, not once. It's as if you didn't care. Cowan's different."

Errol nodded. He looked at grey Cowan; he imagined him, his hands sunk in the entrails of dead animals, and could see why his wife preferred Cowan. The butcher had control over not only the lives of his animals, but his own life. Errol spoke.

"Do you want a divorce?"

"No, Errol, we won't need one."

"Won't need one?"

Errol had never really thought about death before, and death was what his wife and Cowan were suggesting. It would be the taking away of something he had never enjoyed or even understood. Perhaps it would be a sudden lapse into sleep, necessary and unavoidable. But then he remembered the cries of the kitten he had lost, and then feared the pain of death. Now, he feared Cowan, as he had never feared a man before.

The grey man in the black suit, who had been silent, spoke. "Perhaps, Mr. Errol, you would enjoy to live some more, eh?"

"No need to trouble himself; a man is not so different from an animal," spoke Cowan, flexing his biceps.

"There's no need to talk of it in front of him like that, dear," said his wife to Cowan.

The grey man stated precisely, "This Errol is no more human than a dumb beast or even this stuffed cat." He jiggled the soft, unyielding tail of the cat. "Just as we kill them to satisfy our whims and needs, this man can be killed for your greater needs."

His wife took a side glance at Errol and said, "You're right."

The electric lamp on the table switched on and the stuffed cat next to it blinked its eyes, and then jumped from the coffee table and landed on Errol's left. Errol's head was bathed in a strange compulsive heat; it was not fear or hurt; it was something completely foreign. While Errol's brain was being consumed in this raging emotional inferno, the grey butcher produced a glistening grey cleaver.

The butcher swept clean the coffee table with a single sweep of his boot and stepped over to Errol's armchair. He flung Errol and the cat so that it and Errol's head were placed on the coffee table. The grey butcher raised his cleaver in the air and brought it streaming down through flesh, into wood. The cat twitched, with its head severed from its body. Sawdust poured from it to the bottom of the bubble. The sawdust was red. Errol exploded. The blur that was his arms and the cleaver did not stop until all that was left in the bubble was a pile of splintered wood, grey sacking and red sawdust. The destruction was exhilarating.

Errol had never felt happy, and now he was delirious with joy, with only a few pangs of remorse for the cat. He threw the cleaver away. It pierced the bubble, and the fluid vaporized with the pile of debris, leaving him alone in the centre of the room.

He had destroyed his captors, dissolved his prison, and was free, for the first time in his life. He noticed the television was not in the room; it had gone with the bubble.

A soft noise reached his ears; he looked down. Poking its head out of his pocket was a tiny black and white kitten. It mewed. He looked for the bottle of milk, but the milk had soured on his mother's breast. He had smashed the bottle.

Instead, he sat on the floor with Cat, a tiny bundle of life. It was joyous!

DRAMA

PAC AND MLC DRAMA PRODUCTION

This year's combined M.L.C.-P.A.C. drama production, directed by Mr. Roger Marshman, was a double-bill feature consisting of a short curtain raiser and the main attraction, "The Fire Raisers," which is a play written originally in German by Max Frisch and translated by Michael Bullock.

The curtain raiser, "Only Ten Minutes to Buffalo," which is a philosophical farce dealing with reality and the fantastic worlds of delusion and propaganda which we create, left many questions in the minds of a somewhat perplexed audience. However, the choice of a difficult play did not stifle the talents of the three major actors, Andrew Dawson, Rosemary Mattingley and Chris Eldridge. Rosemary Mattingley, who played the part of Frigate, a representative of totalitarian propaganda, showed decided talent.

The main attraction of the evening was, as mentioned above, a German play, "The Fire Raisers." The play deals with the pressure of evil in the world and the apathy of people who simply ignore the evil as if it did not exist. Like the curtain raiser, the play was very difficult, but fortunately more easily understood.

Despite the fact that the play was very demanding, Tim Roberts, John White and Christine Harris, who played the part of the maid Anna, must be congratulated for the way in which they undertook their roles. We must also commend Mr. Malcolm Gray for designing the excellent scenery which added to the realism and authenticity of the set.

Although this year's production did not have the obvious appeal of those of previous years, it was certainly a credit to Mr. Marshman and his drama group. D.C.H.

A VIEW FROM THE INSIDE

The Drama Group this year set out to put on a play in as professional a manner as possible. To do this there had to be self-discipline, enforced discipline and hard work. Despite these doleful ingredients, everyone gained a great deal of enjoyment and fulfilment out of the year. There were many lessons learned, the most valuable perhaps being the importance of co-operation in a large group. There were many friendships made amongst the cast and crew and even a chorus of romances.

Some of the audience did not like the choice of plays. This is unfortunate but not catastrophic. It was indeed sad to hear people commenting that the plays were "not worth seeing", just because they were not easily understood. We do not hear these people bleating the same words when reading the metaphysical poets or watching a Shakesperian play, both of which are "difficult" to understand. Perhaps more education in drama and dramatic techniques is needed amongst Prince Alfred audiences.

In conclusion, the Drama Group would like to thank Mr. Marshman for moulding together what turned out to be a good performance of a difficult but rewarding play.

TIM ROBERTS

MUSIC

A steady rate of progress has been achieved again this year by the music department. The number of boys learning some form of musical instrument at the school has increased in all sections. This is a most encouraging sign, and one that could further be improved. It is a great disappointment when we find a boy with good musical ability progressing well and, because of limited time and work load he terminates his musical tuition. I am sure that, with a revised routine of study, music can be maintained.

Because of our increased enrolments, the orchestral numbers are better in both quantity and quality. I am very grateful to the senior boys who have so willingly assisted the younger, less able boys in the orchestra. The combination of Senior and Preparatory schools in the orchestra has proved beneficial, and is a great experience for the boys from the Prep., who have a limited facility at this stage.

A very worthwhile project this year has been the performance given to Senior Citizens groups. The Prep. choir, augmented by some first year boys, have joined forces with a very small orchestral group and given a splendid musical programme which has been really appreciated. Possibly the most rewarding aspect of this activity is the successful and happy relationship between the young and the aged. Solo items have been well received; Ben Wilkinson, Stephen Leow, Philip Pynor, George Mackison, David Harris and Andrew Clarkson have been regular and reliable soloists.

I am indebted to the music staff for their reliable assistance during the year. To Miss Margaret Muller and Mr. Rolland May I express my congratulations on the excellent examination results achieved by their students in both piano and violin A.M.E.B. examinations this year.

It is difficult to name any specific boy for his performance or achievement, but several, I feel sure, deserve special note. Firstly, Ben Wilkinson, leader of the orchestra, is a most helpful and reliable musician. His assistance to the string section of our orchestra has proved most rewarding. John White, who gave the school a first rate xylophone solo performance during one Friday morning assembly, is a fine musician with a bright future. Timothy Jones has made wonderful progress with his violin lessons and was highly successful in the recent examinations. He is a most valuable asset to all sections of school music.

The Prep. School students are rehearsing for a performance of the Christmas play "Terry's Christmas", and orchestra and choir are working towards the end-of-year carol service.

I trust that next year's musical productions will further enhance our musical status at P.A.C.

K. W. CULLEN

SCHOOL CONCERT

A most enjoyable concert was given in the School Assembly Hall on the evening of the 9th August, 1975, by students of Prince Alfred College. Each year these concerts have been held and show the growth of music in the school. Especially is this evident in the work done by the orchestra. To form, train and expand the orchestra has been an uphill task, and great credit is due to Mr. Cullen for his untiring efforts. Rehearsals can only be held during lunch breaks, before and after school. For many weeks Mr. Cullen and his musicians give up much spare time to prepare for the concert.

It is Mr. Cullen's policy to give every music student a chance to perform. Thus the abilities of members of the orchestra are very varied, making it necessary to score special parts for the weaker or less experienced members. The final ensemble showed how successfully that work has been done.

The choir this year was formed mainly from boys in the Preparatory School. Much work had gone into their preparation and their efforts on the night were greatly appreciated.

Individual items too showed the expansion of music in the school. Items on piano, violin, flute, clarinet, oboe, saxophone, trumpet, xylophone, guitar and piano-accordion were all given.

All who performed and helped with the training of performers are to be congratulated on their efforts. We look forward to the next musical recital.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club has just completed its most successful year, winning the Inter-school Championship trophy for the second successive year. This trophy is awarded to the school which scores the most points in all grades. We also made history by being the first school to win three premierships in one season. These premierships were won by the A, B and D Grade teams.

The A Grade team was third with two rounds to play, but finished strongly to be top. It defeated S.P.S.C. 4-1 in the final round to finish with 29½ points out of a possible 45.

The B team, except for the first round, was on top for the whole season. It finished with 33½ points out of 40 to win by 8 points, the biggest winning margin in any grade.

The C team was well down in its grade, but won the last round 5-0 to finish fifth, with 24 points out of 40.

The D team was on top until the second to last round. It lost 2-3, but came back very strongly in the final round to win the premiership after a few anxious moments. The 5-0 victory gave the team 29 points out of 40, just one point ahead of its nearest rival.

The E team was top for the first five rounds, but gained only 7½ points for the last three rounds to finish in second position.

The E2 team entered the competition at the third round, and did quite well to finish with 18 points out of 30.

INTERCOLL CHESS REPORT, 1975

This year, with keen competition and pressure being exerted by all, these ten notable players were selected to represent P.A.C. against S.P.S.C. in the annual Intercoll Chess Match, played in the Masters' Common Room at P.A.C. on Monday, August 11th.

- | | |
|-----------------------|-----------------|
| 1 M. Hoff | 6 S. Leow |
| 2 A. Short | 7 P. Cooper |
| 3 C. Eldridge (Capt.) | 8 R. Van Dissel |
| 4 D. Harrison | 9 M. De Vries |
| 5 S. Thomas | 10 P. Hill |

After our brilliant performance in the Interschool Competition this year in winning A, B, D Grade and the Champion School Trophy, the team thought it unlikely that the opposition would even bother to contest the event. Although they finally arrived, it was obvious that our overwhelming pre-match reputation had them gravely concerned.

When the games started at 7.00 p.m. to the strains of relaxing classical music (a fine piece of innovative thinking by Mr. Willcocks) all were expecting a rapid P.A.C. victory. However, over-confidence had seized our boys, and costly mistakes crept into our game. When play was adjourned at 10.30, P.A.C. were winning 5-3, with two games undecided. Unfortunately, both these games were lost, leaving the score at 5-5. As no form of tiebreaker is used, the results stand at a dismal draw, although we feel we are still a far superior team.

All members of the Chess Club would like to thank Mr. Willcocks for his superb organisation and dedication, and for making 1975 the best year known to P.A.C. chess.

"RED AND WHITE BALL"

The Red and White Ball was held on Saturday, July 19th, and proved to be one of the best for a number of years. Keystone Angels created an excellent dance atmosphere with their raunchy Rock 'n' Roll. The Assembly Hall was almost unrecognisable, thanks to the hard work of the committee. The decorations were spectacular and the lighting showed off the band and decorations to the best effect.

The final bracket, "Rock 'n' Roll" Angels, left everybody wanting more, and an encore followed. All present would like to thank the Prefects' mothers for providing a delicious supper.

Matriculation Electives

During the first two terms the Matriculation students from P.A.C. and M.L.C. combined together on Wednesday afternoons for electives. For most those electives proved intellectually inspiring and thought-provoking, many people learning to appreciate and enjoy new interests.

Workaday World

Workaday World, a look at the world around us, was a popular activity and was very ably led by Mr. Dennis and, from M.L.C., Mrs. White.

Some of the most interesting tours were visits to Penfold's Winery, Bolivar Sewerage Treatment Works and the Amscol cheese factory at Victor Harbour. The group also visited Festival Theatre where they were given a behind-the-scenes look into the world of drama-production.

They would like to thank Mrs. White for making her home at Belair available for an afternoon visit.

Ceramics and Jewellery

Held at M.L.C., this was another popular choice and most students were happy pottering around with clay or making simple metal jewellery.

The making of small clay models of teachers proved very popular, but this sideline had to be curtailed when it was discovered that certain students were indulging in a form of Voodoo ritual involving pins. Enamelled copper jewellery found a ready market and many students profited from their activities and many models were completed.

Cooking

This elective took place only during the first term but, as has been the trend in past years, produced some of the best dishes to be seen for a long while. At the S.A. Gas Co. Building, the instructors gave advice on the preparation of various Australian dishes—burnt toast, billy tea and damper, and Continental delicacies—pizzas, wiener schnitzels and snails.

All of the up-and-coming chefs agreed afterwards that cooking was a very worthwhile and rewarding elective, and one girl spoke for them all when she said, "The company and the equipment were really gas!"

Experimental Music

This was an elective in the second term, and although the numbers were small, the keenness of the participants compensated for the size of the group.

Experimental music was conducted by the music teacher from M.L.C., Mr. Gubbins, and full credit is due to him for devising an interesting programme. This included visits by the group to a recording studio, the Moog Synthesisers at the Adelaide University, Radio 5KA and the A.B.C. studios at Collinswood. The students were also treated to a breakthrough rehearsal by P.A.C.'s leading pop group, "The Rhythms".

Many friendships were made and the students developed a much wider appreciation of the world of music.

Archery

Archery, under the sharp supervision of Mr. Jones, was conducted in the parklands of the Hackney Forest. Many students found great difficulty in successfully shooting at the targets, and their task became even more difficult during the stormy second term. Coaching was given by instructors from the Archery Club, but in many cases even this was not enough to bring forth the potential of our boys.

Squash

The squash elective, although restricted to P.A.C. students, proved very popular throughout the year. Competitions in the form of tournaments and inter-school matches were organised, and these kept the interest and enthusiasm running high. The inter-school matches were held on Monday afternoons between P.A.C., Pembroke and Norwood High. P.A.C. defeated Norwood High 5-nil, but were defeated by Pembroke 2-nil. Among those who figured prominently in these games were Dowse, Barton and Schofield.

Squash, played at the Norwood Squash Centre, was found to be excellent fitness training for other school sports, and everyone wishes to thank the masters involved—Messrs. Hamilton, Thomas and Basedow.

WOODWORK

A number of interesting items were produced in this elective. They included a wide range of tables, a gun butt, and a number of attempts at lathe work. Although most of the boys have meddled in carpentry before, most of the M.L.C. participants needed instruction from Mr. Kitto, to whom everyone would like to express their appreciation.

Third and Fourth Year Wednesday Afternoon Activities

COMMUNITY WELFARE GROUPS

This group was formed as one of the alternatives for Scouts and Cadets, and with the help and organisation of Mr. Waters and Mr. Morris, the boys involved found it both satisfying and enlightening.

The boys aided the church in some of its activities by helping needy organisations in four different localities. One of the most important areas of need is the Bowden and Brompton Mission, where several boys helped the functioning of this organisation with general work. Others went to the Wingfield Mission and helped sort second-hand clothing, books, etc. Two other boys visited Aldersgate Home for the Aged, and did odd jobs around the gardens. The rest attended the Central Methodist Mission to help with the printing of pamphlets.

CAMPUS SUPPORT GROUP

The Campus Support Group got off to a good start at the beginning of the year. Mr. Bennett was in charge and organised a project to build a red-brick barbecue next to the Art Centre. However, because of the absence of the chief co-ordinator in the second term, work has been abandoned on this project, and the enthusiastic workers were assigned to various painting jobs around the school. Except for the occasional mishap, the work we have done has been quite good. Work on the barbecue will resume in third term, with Mr. Bennett's return.

SCHOOL NEWSPAPER

This year a school newspaper given the provocative name of "Ocker" was formed. The staff meet on a Wednesday afternoon during the activity period to discuss, create, and produce "Ocker."

The purpose of "Ocker" is to inform the student populace of important school events and to provide interesting articles and comments. Every issue contains articles of interest to students of differing tastes.

Regular sections of "Ocker" are "Ocker Rocker", which is compiled by John DeGaris and Gary Raeside; "Think About That", written by Lindon Alvey; and the giant crossword composed by Tim Morris. Together with these "regular" features, there are also a great number of feature articles written by P. Vass, M. Stoyich and G. Reddaway. Our cartoonist, who is worthy of a mention, is N. Howie. On the administrative side R. Kennett spends much spare time working on "Ocker" as well as writing feature articles.

With the work put in by the forementioned, we are capable of producing an "Ocker" of eighteen pages every three weeks. The majority of our work, however, is done by our editor, Stefan Jury, who spends much time organising the material submitted and preparing it for printing, and we are also indebted to Miss Madsen for the time put into the organisation of "Ocker", and the group wishes to thank her.

LABORATORIES SUPPORT GROUP

On Wednesday afternoons a group of eleven boys meet at the Science laboratories to assist Mr. Emery and Mrs. Francis with lab experiments. Several of these boys assist Mrs. Francis and her successor, Mrs Kwan, in Lab. 7, and are set jobs, such as preparing buffer and molar solutions and biological reagents.

ROWING CLUB SUPPORT GROUP

This year each Wednesday afternoon a group of about fifteen students participate in the general upkeep and upgrading of the Boat Club.

General work done thus far includes the routine toils of cleaning and sweeping out the sheds, maintaining the boats in peak condition, and doing general repairs to the sheds themselves.

New additions to the Boat Club this year include four shower recesses, two toilets and, upstairs, a new ceiling, floors and kitchen. All these additions have both improved the look of the club and made it more practical.

ORCHESTRA

Under the direction of Mr. Cullen, the music group has been busy most of the year preparing and practising for the concert held on August 9th of this year. The concert was a joy to all who participated, and greatly appreciated by the large audience.

The scope of this group included all types of music, and one particular afternoon was spent viewing the rock opera "Tommy".

AMATEUR RADIO GROUP

The P.A.C. Amateur Radio Club was originally established by Dr. Colin Luke in 1958 and was active until Dr. Luke left. In 1974 Dr. Luke donated a large amount of equipment to re-establish the club. This equipment included a new transceiver which acts as our base unit.

The club acted in conjunction with the school Scouts for the 1974 "Jamboree of the Air" in October.

With the advent of Wednesday afternoon electives, we now have regular schedules with the Bunbury Cathedral Grammar School Radio Club in Western Australia. We have also made contacts with other Australian amateurs, and with Mexican, American and New Zealand radio clubs.

Further activities planned are work on the V.H.F. and U.H.F. bands with the possibility of slow scan television transmission as well.

QUESTIONS AND EXPECTATIONS

First thing on Thursday mornings this year the Senior School has divided for the purpose of hearing and discussing views of visitors from outside the school on a variety of matters of general interest and importance.

In the Assembly Hall boys from fourth year and matriculation levels have met to consider "QUESTIONS THAT MATTER" embracing issues affecting the individual, the community, and the world at large.

The following speakers have dealt in various ways with the questions indicated:

Rev. G. T. Inglis "Why am I Here?"

Dr. John Court: "What's Wrong with Pornography?"

Rev. R. K. Waters (with Mrs. Coulter and other actors): "Does Colour Matter?"

Rev. B. D. Phillips: "What Should I Look for in my Life's Work?"

Mr. G. Chomiak: "Can Education Save the World?"

Rev. Rod Jepson: "Should I Turn On?"

Mr. C. D. Mattingley: "What Should my Country Mean to Me?"

Mr. John Thiel: "Is Genetic Control of Population Compatible with True Humanity?"

Mr. Bill Boucaut: "Now I can Drive. So What?"

Mr. J. R. J. Burrows and Mr. R. H. Marshman: "What's this about Uranium?"

Mr Doug Kuhl: "Where Does Jacob's Ladder Lead?"

Mr. David Kranz: "How Important is the Family?"

Prof. Eric Russell: "Do We Need to Husband our Resources?"

Prof. Geoff Harcourt: "Can we do Anything about inflation?"

We had, in addition, visits from American Field Service, Red Cross, Community Aid Abroad and the Australian Institution of Engineers.

Darian Partington and Nic Xenophou spoke of their experiences at the United Nations Seminar in Canberra, and early in the year Andrew Dawson and Darian Partington gave brief addresses on Sexism and evaluation of the "Questions" sessions respectively.

We thank most sincerely all those who gave so much time, thought and effort to opening these matters to us and driving us to do some thinking on these difficult but urgent concerns.

Third year has been making use of a longer Assembly period on Thursday mornings in the Chapel to listen to, argue, and debate some matters of interest. Several visiting speakers have been heard, including a social worker from Service to Youth Council, a police sergeant and the Adult Education Officer for Aboriginal Further Education. All of these speakers proved of great interest and had many valuable things to say; they were also willing to answer questions at length.

Members of staff—Mr. Burrows and Mr. Waters among them—spoke, too, of their particular interests, including the uranium issue, the history of the school, and impressions of South Australia.

Finally, mention must be made of several debates conducted by the boys themselves, who often displayed an eloquence which surprised their fellows.

SKI TRIP 1975

The ski trip was held in the second week of the August-September holidays. The party, consisting of forty boys and Messrs. Dean and Dollman, left Adelaide on the Friday night, arriving in Bright on Saturday morning, where they met Mr. Nicholson, who had spent the previous week preparing himself at Falls Creek. The party stayed in Bright, the "Heart of the Alps," at the Oriental Guest House, a somewhat dilapidated but adequate lodging.

On the first day the boys went to Dingo Dell on Mt. Buffalo, a fairly gentle slope well suited for the many beginners, who soon found that ski-ing had its ups and downs. Fortunately it had snowed for several days beforehand and there was adequate snow cover for skiing.

The next three days were spent at Cresta, also at Mt. Buffalo, a longer and steeper slope and correspondingly more hazardous—as Mr. Dean can testify. Most of the boys tried the Nursery Poma with varying degrees of success, while the more accomplished rode the chairlift. Others were able to amuse themselves by tobogganing or by creating crude works of art with snow. On the last day an instructor was persuaded to take us for an hour or so and was able to demonstrate how to fall over, which he did while performing one of the more elementary manoeuvres. Mr. Dollman was unable to accompany us on this day owing to an unexpected constraining engagement at the Oriental.

The majority of the party were novice skiers and it seems doubtful if any will find a place in the Winter Olympics. Many were frequently seen in horizontal and oblique postures on the slopes in varying degrees of entanglement with their equipment. Nevertheless, everyone derived a great deal of enjoyment from the expedition and, despite the predictions of the pessimists at school, there were no broken limbs, only a few broken skis, damaged egos and a melted ski-boot.

On Thursday the tourists left for Wangaratta, except Mr. Nicholson, who returned to his winter resort, ostensibly to perfect his wedeln.

On the way home, a visit to Beechworth included a guided tour around the township, including the prison, trout farm, cemetery and mental asylum, reputed to have the largest kitchen in Australia. After an uneventful trip, the party arrived in Adelaide at 7 a.m. on Friday.

Thanks are due to Messrs. Nicholson, Dean and Dollman for leading the party, and especially to Mr. Nicholson for organising the trip so efficiently.

Prefects' Profiles

The prefects chosen this year are again representative of a cross section of the school community. The atmosphere in the Prefects' Room quickly became established as one of energetic and boisterous activity.

During the summer months we were represented by Kim Gray (Captain), Don Tingey, Simon Willcox and Nick Gray in the Intercoll tennis team, and by David Batchelor (Captain), David Blanch, Chris Eldridge and Geoff Winter in the First XI.

We fielded a large contingent of diversely talented athletes in the successful Athletics team. Our representatives were Dave Batchelor (Capt.), Kim Gray, Mark Benson, Andrew Olsson and Chris Eldridge. Jason Schofield was our only member who swam in the "Advertiser" team.

We can boast of having two members of the 1st VIII among our ranks, Chris Riggs (Captain) and Mike Morey. Mike also played his part in our fine win in the Intercollegiate Rugby game.

The victorious First XVIII had Batchelor, Benson, Eldridge, Winter and Schofield as members, while Richard Myhill (Captain) and Simon Willcox were the senior players in a lustrous Intercoll basketball team. Tingey (Captain) and Van Dissel both played in the hockey side.

The boarding house fraternity is represented by Schofield (Captain of Pirie House), while Alan Branford and Richard Van Dissel have assumed positions of responsibility within the Cadets.

D. BATCHELOR:

Big Dave Batchelor has many a fan,
Captain of Aths., and top cricketing man.
He's good at sport, and he plays the ball,
But he monkeys around in our hallowed hall.

M. BENSON:

Benno's a studious fellow all right;
He stays up and studies nearly all night.
As a long distance runner, this lad can't be beat,
And he's undoubtedly part of our football elite.

D. BLANCH

This year's Captain of the School
Is David Blanch, and he's pretty cool.
This boy's at school functions, Intercolls—the lot,
Footy, cricket, even Tuck Duty, the clot.

A. J. BRANFORD:

Alan Branford has a brilliant brain,
From working hard he won't refrain.
He's a good cadet, and he has many mates,
When Al cries "Woof" nobody waits.

C. D. ELDRIDGE:

"Crissy K" comes from the Port,
We all acknowledge his talent at sport.
Off the field he's a really great guy,
But his jokes and gags hit you right in the eye.

K. GRAY:

Kim is captain of our tennis team,
A Woodlands girl is his only dream.
In a mile race this guy's got it cooked;
If you're a naughty boy he'll have you black-booked.

N. F. GRAY:

Nick "Normy" Gray is good with the girls;
I think they go for his sleek black curls.
At tennis this boy has a classy stamp,
He's a football trier, and a checkmate champ.

M. MOREY:

Fuzzy-haired Mike is a quiet sort of guy,
But he swears his "250's" a really good buy.
A muscley lad who rows in the eight
Is "Sonny" Morey, the Bow side great.

R. MYHILL:

Richard Myhill bounces his ball
Around and around the Old Gym Hall.
Captain of Baskets and a repeat matric,
Don't we all love him, Dead-eye Dick.

D. POTTER:

Big Dave Pace is an undoubted star,
At playing footy and strumming the guitar.
He also bowls a mean quick ball,
For free entertainment, just give him a call.

C. RIGGS:

Christopher Riggs is a ruralized lad,
Just have a look at him . . . EGAD!
He's Captain of Boats, and rowing's his love,
At school he's Mr. Coldwell's little dove.

J. SCHOFIELD:

Jason is captain of our boarding school;
He kicks many goals and he swims in our pool.
He's nicknamed "Leg," and he's a dairyman;
His mum's called Nan and his dad's called Stan.

D. TINGEY:

Donny Tingey has an ear to ear grin,
His hair is cropped, but we've okayed his chin.
He's captain of hockey, and he's good with his stick,
And winning at tennis gives him a really big kick.

R. VAN DISSEL:

Max the bikie is a wheel standing demon,
Black leather jacket, and the wheels are a-screamin'.
He's top CUO and a rower of late.
This guy must surely be everyone's mate.

S. WILLCOX:

Rhymn Simon frizzes his hair,
He tries at tennis and shows basketball flair.
Watch out for Willy next poker game,
He usually wins, but he cheats all the same.

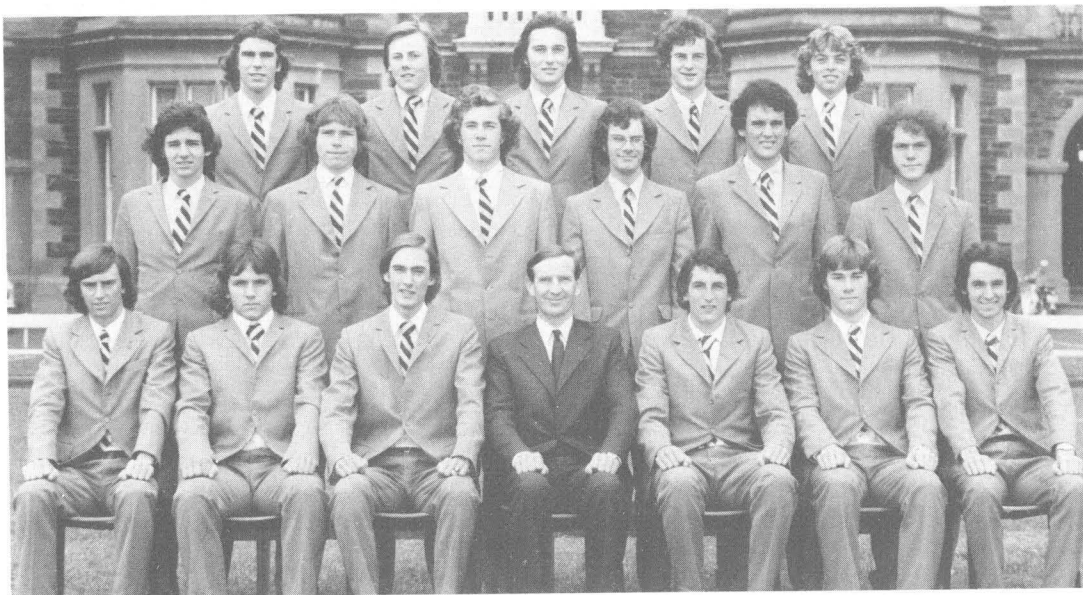

G. WINTER:

When Winter comes, then Geoff's around,
As he laps the oval his boots do pound.
He's tall and lean, but never mean,
And at opening the bowling he's always seen.

A. K. OLSSON:

This palaver's been wrote
By a Prefect of note.
I am bright, I am bold,
My strength is tenfold.
At sport I'm just great;
The girls crave for a date.
But my bubbling wit
Really does cause a fit.
For as I look up now all I can see
Is sixteen angry Prefects coming at me . . .

THE PRINCE ALFRED COLLEGE CADET UNIT

In 1900, only thirty-one years after the founding of the school, the Prince Alfred College Cadet Unit was established. The Unit began under the command of Mr. W. R. Bayly (a future headmaster of the college), with one company of fifty cadets. By the end of the year, however, this number had increased to one hundred and eighty-three.

Since that day in February, 1900, the Unit has had twelve commanding officers and has catered for over five thousand cadets. In 1963 the Unit had a strength of two hundred and ninety-five, a number which is yet to be matched. The commanding officer at that time was Major G. H. Woollard, the present O.C. of the Unit. Major Woollard has been the O.C. of the Unit for seventeen years, and the College, as well as the Cadet Unit, is indebted to him for the service that he has given us.

Over the years, the Unit has made a name for itself not only in the South Australian Corps, but also in the Australian Cadet Corps. In 1934, the school, representing South Australia, came second in the A.N.A. Shield to Scotch College, Perth. Also that year the Unit won the first Earl Roberts Shooting Trophy. On March 12, 1964, nineteen P.A.C. cadets fired a 21-gun salute to celebrate the birth of Her Majesty's new child. This was the second time cadets had fired a salute in Australia. The first, on the Queen's Birthday in 1961, was also fired by Prince Alfred College cadets. Many former P.A.C. cadets have continued their military training by making the Army their career, and some have been privileged to attend the Royal Military College, Duntroon.

The Cadet Unit has become a tradition at Prince Alfred College, and many will be sad to see it disbanded at the end of this year because of a political decision. However, this is not the first time that the Unit has struggled in the wake of government policy. In 1902, the Unit was put in suspension for three years, and again in 1924 for six years. Let us hope that the Unit (as it has in the past) will survive these trying times and be reformed once again.

WARD LIBRARY NOTES

Library Committee: Michael Sutton, Michael Burrow, Darian Partington, Oscar Jones, Michael Cartledge, Colin McColl.

The new Library-Resource Centre building is now nearing completion and both students and staff are looking forward to its opening. Moving over 9,000 books will not be an easy task, but our more spacious and pleasant accommodation will compensate for any difficulties encountered.

Mrs. Carmody and Mrs. Hogan joined the staff this year on a part-time basis and have contributed greatly to the smooth running of the library. We are most grateful for their help. The voluntary assistance of Mrs. James is also appreciated.

Our library committee members have, once again, given much of their spare time to library work, and their efforts have enabled the library to provide a service more relevant to the students' needs.

We should like to thank Dr. R. Bruce Maynard for his donation which enabled us to update our reference collection, the Parents and Friends' Association, the Sydney Branch of P.A.O.C., and others who have kindly donated books to the library.

Boarders Notes

During the past year, the Boarding House has continued to serve as the backbone of the school, providing a happy medium for its inmates, who have contributed more than their share to the academic and sporting life of the school.

Conditions in the old Boarding House have been improved and restoration work is nearing completion. Messrs. C. D. Crouch and P. G. Thomas have remained Master-in-Charge of Pirie and School Houses respectively.

Congratulations are due to J. S. Schofield on being appointed Captain of Pirie House, and to M. R. Cartledge as Captain of School House.

Of the house master staff, Messrs. Bill Rice-man, W. Monfries and U. Pezzaniti left during the year, while R. Heard and C. Ferris have returned to England. Replacements have been Messrs. M. Reid, D. Raggatt and H. Beauchamp. Others still in residence are Messrs. R. Nicholson, P. Manoharan, C. Martin and M. DeGaris.

The help of Rev. R. K. Waters, Messrs. K. W. Cullen, F. T. Kitto and Chris Martin has been much appreciated, and we hope the efforts of these gentlemen have been as rewarding to them as to the Boarding House members.

There proved to be some very fine Public Examination results in 1974 within the Boarding House. G. Hobbs with two As and three Bs in Matriculation gained entrance to Medicine at Flinders University. Excellent performances were also recorded by S. Thomas and D. Treloar in Leaving, both boys gaining four As.

In sport, boarders have again proved outstanding. The 1974 Intercol Cricket team included A. Risby, and this year we have been well represented in the First XI by M. Wellington.

In tennis, a new member in 1975, G. Chapman, has performed consistently well, playing No. 3 in the Intercollegiate match.

As always, boarders were well represented in Rowing with T. Keynes in the First VIII. Other energetic senior rowers included W. Cartledge, R. Keeves, T. Hirst, P. Wakefield and L. Vandeeper. There were also many young rowers from the Boarding House who will prove an asset in years to come.

In the Annual Swimming Sports, School House showed a marked improvement on recent years' performances, finishing in third position. J. Schofield and P. Jones represented the school in the swimming team which competed in the Advertiser Championships.

Once again the Boarders proved they can run, jump and throw by winning the School Athletics Cup for the seventh year in succession. P.A.C. this year won the Combined Athletics at Adelaide Oval with the assistance of 13 boarders, namely, R. Bailey, J. Kelly, M. Wellington, J. Mossop, B. Shannon, R. Nettlebeck, M. Daniel, C. Murdoch, J. DeGaris, P. Kitto, B. Clifford, M. De Garis and J. Horn. Outstanding performances were recorded by J. Kelly in both the School Sports and Combined Athletics.

During winter term, a large number of boys filled places in the various football teams. The First XVIII had a reasonably successful season under new coach Mr. P. Thomas, and the team had a great win in the annual Intercollegiate match. Congratulations to R. Bailey, M. Wellington, J. Kelly, J. Schofield, J. Mossop, G. Chapman, M. Daniel and C. Murdoch for their selection at various times through the season in the Firsts.

In Rugby, P. Keynes was our sole representative in the victorious Intercollegiate team. Young Peter Grummett made occasional appearances with the A Hockey team. S. Thomas and S. Leow should be commended for their wins in the annual Intercollegiate Chess Tournament. Leow and J. Rackham must also be mentioned for their contributions to music in the school. Both boys, as well as a number of young boarders, appear to possess real musical talent, and we wish them every success in the future.

Clearly the boys have maintained the tradition of the Boarding House in making a significant contribution to all phases of school life and we have every confidence that our younger members will continue to do so in 1976 and beyond.

The Advisory School Committee

The Committee has met eight times during the year under the chairmanship of Mr. A. H. Dennis, representing the Headmaster. David Blanch held office as Captain of the School and at the first meeting T. J. Roberts was elected Minute Secretary and W. A. Dawson, Secretary. At the eighth meeting Tim Nicholls succeeded Tim Roberts as Minute Secretary.

A great part of the work of the committee has been done through its sub-committees appointed to deal with charities, the Matric Club and the question of house contests in sport. The Charities sub-committee, organised by Mr. W. Riceman and with J. Hunt as convener, has seen to the collection of considerable sums in door-to-door appeals and has raised $540 from the clothing sale and $117 from Plain Clothes Day. This was distributed to various charitable causes at home and overseas. The committee elected to investigate the possible re-opening of the Matric Club had Graham Lowe as chairman and succeeded in reconstituting the Club and bringing it into effective operation. The third sub-committee was formed to investigate the possibility of recommencing house competition on a general basis; it has been working with Mr. Woollard as convener.

The A.S.C. has also done useful work in raising such matters as the provision of covered shelter for bicycles, planning for more trees and grass in the School grounds and the institution of some form of Sex Education in the School. As a result, we are to have the benefit of help from the Family Life Movement of Australia in a limited form this year and more extensively throughout the School in future.

SCOUTS

SCOUT NOTES

Whilst it is best to read accounts by the troop leaders of their own troop's activities, we cannot let this opportunity pass without offering our thanks to the many who have helped the College Scout Group during the past year. Mr. D. J. Millard has become our Assistant Group Leader, and although he is not fully active with us yet because of his academic studies, nevertheless we look forward to his help in the future. Mr. I. M. Freney returned to the leadership of the 2nd Troop (Senior Sea) and we made history when Miss Pru Madsen became the first warranted lady leader (quite appropriately during the year of women's liberation). The troop has run well under this leadership. Mr. C. D. Crouch continued his experienced leadership of the 3rd Troop (Venturers) and we welcome as his assistant Mr. W. D. Riceman, who was once a P/L in the troop whilst a student at the school.

The full list of the student leaders may be found elsewhere in this journal, but we would here put on record an appreciation of their services. They have led their respective troops and patrols with ability and distinction, particularly on the various camps, hikes and ventures.

We are very grateful for the support of the parents and friends through their association. Mr. P. James continues as Chairman and Mr. B. Lymn as Vice-Chairman and Mr. I. Stevens as Secretary. To them we tender our thanks and also to Mr. R. Perkins the Treasurer and Mr. C. Robins who audited our accounts.

The work of the Scout Group goes steadily forward, giving its members the opportunity for fellowship and adventure, for fun and the development of skills and character through the Scout way. The future is somewhat uncertain because of changes in internal organisation within the College likely to result from imminent cessation of the Cadet Unit, but whatever the future may hold, we are confident in the continuing appeal of Scouting and its methods and the important role it has to play in the total life of the school and in the individual lives of each of its members.

1975 has been a successful year, resulting from careful planning at "Ted's Court."

The highlight of the Troop's calendar was the Easter camp. Even though water activities were restricted because of bad weather, the land Scouts' hike along an interesting route was enjoyed by everyone.

The film evening was popular, but British Bulldog still seems to cause the most excitement for everyone.

Night-time meetings brought "wide games" in the parklands and test passing in Hazeldene. Afternoon meetings were organised around outdoor activities involving Scouting skills.

The midnight hike from Burnside to Woodhouse dampened spirits a little but proved we are all-weather Scouts.

We thank Ted Whitworth, Michael Millard, Mark Fuller and Peter Crouch for their enthusiastic interest.

Mark J. Shinkfield

2ND TROOP

At the beginning of the year the annual boat repair was once again begun under the guidance of Mr. Freney and Miss Madsen. Some enthusiasts even worked at lunch-times so that the boats were ready for Easter and May camps. Some sailing was done at Holdfast Bay Yacht Club when the weather was favourable. Mr. Freney was aided by Mr. Noel Wilkinson. We hope we can repeat this activity, as it was very popular.

At the May camp Mr. Whitworth was assisted by Miss Madsen, Mr. Freney and Cadet Scouter Kym Osborn. The expedition to the Barrage was sailed in strong windy conditions, which made it very exciting. There was a large assortment of boats in the fleet as many Scouts had brought their own.

The second term's activities consisted of talks and demonstrations ranging from mouth to mouth resuscitation to security devices. Cooking practice and preparation for the Flinders Venture filled the latter part of the term.

The Venture was enjoyable hard work. Who will ever forget the frogs, flour and collapsing tents and BLISTERS!

To all the Scouters, thanks for an enjoyable year.

David Michell, T/L 2nd Troop

3RD TROOP

Under the leadership and guidance of Messrs. Crouch, Whitworth and Riceman, the 3rd Troop has enjoyed a trouble-free year. For Wednesday activities the same pattern as in past years has been followed, namely, stunts one week followed by various other activities the next. These included preparation for the August Venture, which took up most of the second term; a speaker whose topic was Security Techniques and Devices; an inter-troop football match (I won't mention the result) and a swimming outing at Grange.

In addition to the August Venture, expertly led by Mr. Crouch, Mr. Riceman was responsible for two weekend hikes. The first of these was the first term hike through rugged country, and though it drizzled on and off, the rain was never really a bother. Everybody was still smiling on the Sunday afternoon. It was a successful warm-up to the Flinders Venture. The second hike was through Alligator Gorge into Mambray Creek, and all who participated had a great time.

Mr. Riceman also introduced visits to Parafield as part of the stunts. Most Wednesdays of the second term patrols went up to the airfield to have a look around the control tower and hangars and also to be flown in the Scout Association's Cessna. The flights entailed circling over P.A.C. and enabling us to have a bird's eye view of Hazeldene and the rest of the school.

Our thanks to all who have assisted the 3rd Troop during the year.

J. Reid, T/L 3rd Troop

4TH TROOP

Although smaller than it was last year, the 4th Troop has enjoyed a constructive and useful year's activities. This year's Patrol Leaders were M. Morton, S. Hobbs, S. Trestrail, G. Johnson, S. Wilkinson and W. Crompton.

The boys got away to a good start in the afternoons of the first term, settling down well in their patrols and making early preparations for the Easter camp. These included much discussion and repair, redecoration and packing of patrol boxes. We held several inter-patrol competitions testing athletic skills which included rope, wall, ladder and tree climbing, throwing the javelin and shot put, and sprinting around the oval relaying messages.

Although the weather was not the best for sailing, everyone enjoyed the Easter camp at Goolwa. Gregory Johnson's patrol achieved first place in the Sea Scout section of the point-score competition. Our thanks to Tim and Mark Vogt, Bruce Johnson, Robert Heard and Christopher Perrin for helping to staff and run this highly successful camp.

The evenings in the second term provided opportunities to have two wide games, a film evening and numerous worthwhile meetings in the gymnasium for instruction and test-passing, as well as fun and games. Although we lost the football and basketball matches against the First Troop, they provided excellent entertainment for an afternoon.

Patrol preparations for weekend camps in the third term to be held at Goolwa or Mylor are already well under way.

We thank Mr. Ted Whitworth; without his continual guidance the troop would certainly be unable to function.

C. Mattingley, T/L 4th Troop

THE AUGUST VENTURE—FLINDERS RANGES

At 7.30 a.m. on Friday, August 15th, we arrived at Hazeldene and, after loading rations and rucksacks, eagerly boarded the buses ready to leave at 8.00. We left at 8.30 because one of the buses had already broken down. After an unforgettably comfortable journey (ask Mr. Crouch) we arrived at Parachilna in the late afternoon.

On the Saturday most of the party of about seventy-five climbed Mt. Falkland under the intrepid leadership of HQ2 (consisting of Osborn, Robilliard, McKay and Fuller, who between them remembered the climb, and Reid and Michell who didn't because they hadn't been there), and some who were not even in HQ2, on whom the blame is laid concerning one particularly interesting climb. However, it could not have been too bad: even Mr. Riceman made it to the top! Whether it was actually Mt. Falkland we climbed is open to dispute.

That night things were fairly quiet after tea, with people sitting in tents or around campfires, some nursing injuries or sore feet.

I should like to take this opportunity, on behalf of HQ2, of thanking all those patrol leaders who so generously made coffee at night for members of HQ2, making it unnecessary for us to open our coffee jar or keep our fire going after cooking the meal.

On Sunday most set off bright and early on the long hike to Aroona Outstation, although some took time to enjoy their breakfast. Most patrols intended to have lunch at a certain windmill, which took a long time to appear. When they at last arrived, the lack of water in the tank drew forth a few comments. Nobody thought of looking in the creek except Mr. Crouch, but when he arrived most others were on their way to the outstation, to find that there was no water in the creek. However, Mr. Crouch and HQ1 once again saved the day by camping uphill from a spring in a tributary creek. Very good water, too.

Next day the party went climbing in the Heyesen Range, once again led by HQ2. Even Mr. Crouch and Doc Williamson came.

The hike on Tuesday to Brachina was little more than a leisurely stroll, although one patrol inadvertently explored Brachina Creek at some length. Many had a wash, and later in the afternoon the B rations arrived. Ted Whitworth dropped in too.

The hike from Brachina to Bunyeroo started in threatening weather, but there was very little rain (the weather until then had been very good). For a change we were able to camp very close to the creek, and it was good to have only a few yards to walk to get a drink. The wind was strong that night occasionally, but most tents were in sheltered positions.

Many were up at sunrise (or before) to get an early start on the last day's hike to Wilpena.

Everybody had arrived at Wilpena by mid-afternoon, and the buses left at 6 p.m. Unfortunately, this time there were more passengers than seats, but it is surprising how comfortable the aisle of a bus can be; it's just a matter of not getting trampled on whenever the bus stops. After a meal at Mr. and Mrs. Spencer's property at Mambray Creek and a stop at a roadhouse, we arrived at Hazeldene at 6 a.m. on Friday, August 22.

Many thanks to Mr. Crouch, Doc Williamson, Mr. Riceman and Chris Perrin for their leadership on the Venture, and also to Ted, without whose work in the organisation we probably should have starved.

CADETS

CADET REPORT FOR 1975 CHRONICLE

The unit this year, despite its decrease in numbers, has had a remarkably successful year, due primarily to the increased scope of activities and courses offered. Unit administration was very efficient because of the efforts of the OC, Maj. G. Woollard, and the RSM, WO1 A. Branford, and also of the QM, Capt. Bowden, and the SQM, S/Sgt. T. Nicholls in the Q store.

December Promotions Courses

As in previous years, the unit was well represented at the various courses offered last December. Special mention must go to R. van Dissel and D. Hone, who came first and second in the State respectively on the Cadet Under Officers' Course.

"A" Company

This year the second year company consisted of one platoon of just over thirty with C.U.O. M. Richards as the Platoon Commander. The OC was again Lt W. Monfries. The company during the year was given training in weapons such as the SLR and F1, which they fired on Range Day, and also advanced lessons on other aspects of cadet training.

"B" Company

The first year company consisted of four platoons of about twenty each, with Capt. Roberts as OC, Lt. Dean as 2IC, and WO2 A. Beauchamp as the CSM. During the year the company was given training in basic weapons handling, drill, and map-reading skills. The map-reading skills were put to the test with commendable results on the orienteering exercise in National Park.

Bivouac

A bivouac was held this year for the first time in a number of years at Woodside. The unit left P.A.C. just after lunch on Friday and stayed the weekend. Apart from about four on sick leave, the entire unit was present, which was a very pleasing turnout. Apart from basic training in living in the field, the weekend's activities included weapon firing, an orienteering exercise and an assault course. The weekend was capped off with an army motor cycle scramble near the bivouac site!

May Junior NCO Course

In May a corporal's course was conducted at Warradale Army Barracks. The week-long course included training in methods of instructional training, map-reading, weapons-handling and basic drill. Ten cadets from P.A.C. took part and gained invaluable experience from it.

Advanced Weapons Course

The brigade also held some Advanced Weapons Courses and about six cadets from our unit qualified.

Annual Camp

(a) El Alamein: The first year camp was held at El Alamein camp. This year's activities were organised on the brigade level and the schools "bull-ringed" them. This meant that the activities could be broader in scope because of the availability of equipment individual units would not be able to get the use of. Apart from ordinary camp activities, radio training and a night march to a bivouac site with simulated attacks by regular soldiers using blanks and mortar simulators were but two of the highlights.

(b) Cultana: The second year camp was held in the Cultana training area near Whyalla. The aims of the camp were to increase the skills of cadets in orienteering, living in the field, tactics and endurance. This was certainly put to the test on a fifteen-mile orienteering exercise, in which the company went very well. They soon recuperated on the rest day on the beach on Pt. Lowry.

Food was carried by each cadet in one-man ration packs. As the camp progressed, the cadets gained more experience in camp life and helped each other in daily routine. With thanks to Major Woollard, Captain Keenhan and Lt. Monfries for their efforts.

OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS

The unit this year was honoured by the outstanding achievements of individual cadets. The Regimental Sergeant-Major, WO1 Alan Branford, was selected as the Brigade Sergeant-Major of 4 Cadet Brigade. C.U.O. David Hone received the sword of honour. The Maj. D. A. Brooks trophy for most efficient cadet was awarded to Sgt. Peter Sobels. The Maj. S. J. Gower trophy for best first year cadet was awarded to Cadet L. Shepherd. Congratulations to these cadets.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

SCHOOL NOTES

We were very happy to welcome Mr. P. J. Moore to the teaching staff at the beginning of this year and we wish him a long and enjoyable association with the school. In March Mr. A. Smith came on to the staff while first Mr. Leak and then Mr. Davies went on long service leave, and we have greatly appreciated his professionalism and the way he has offered many avenues of extra-curricular help (including a most interesting excursion to Hallett Cove). We began the year with 228 boys, which included a third IIIU class for this year only. The number grew to 236 by the beginning of third term.

Mr. L. Davies became Acting Master-in-Charge of the school at Easter and held the position with tact and with distinction until the end of second term, at which time he himself went overseas to visit a daughter in Germany and parents in Britain. We wish him and Mrs. Davies a happy and restful trip.

In the first term the IIIU and IIIL classes had what might in all likelihood be their last camp at Walker Flat. A report of the camp appears elsewhere in the Chronicle. In spite of difficulties, the boys obviously had a most enjoyable and rewarding time and should be very grateful to Mr. R. Smith, as well as the teachers and parents who did so much to ensure its success. We are especially grateful to the ladies who undertook the onerous task of "feeding the multitude."

It was fitting that the Preparatory School should have the honour of "christening" the school camp property at Blanche Town, as Mr.

Bidgood, assisted by some willing mothers and staff, took a party of IIIL boys to the site for a brief stay under canvas. We are hoping that facilities will be available next year for further use to be made of this attractive area.

In these and many other phases of school life, the Mothers' Club continues to render wonderful service. The staffing of the Tuck-shop and catering at school functions such as Gala Day, Sports Day and Graduation Night do much to assist in the smooth running of the school. We especially appreciate the unselfish efforts of Mrs. F. T. Beauchamp, who after several years as Secretary, became President of the Mothers' Club and is always ready to offer help where most needed. On Saturday, September 20, the committee arranged a delightful dinner-dance at the home of the Secretary, Mrs. B. G. Burfield, Hanson Avenue, Heathpool. This was a very happy night, thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

We are grateful that Mrs. Spangler continues to manage the Tuck-shop efficiently with the assistance of volunteers from the mothers, and this enables the school to offer sensible lunches to the boys at reasonable prices in spite of galloping inflation.

The boys are still deriving benefit and pleasure from the sporting activities of the school and I feel sure that they appreciate the efforts of the staff and parents who see that opportunities are provided in cricket, football, tennis, sailing, chess, swimming and athletics. Unfortunately, arrangements fell through in hockey this year and our boys were disappointed to be unable to play. The younger boys benefited from some excellent coaching in football under the guidance of a group of fathers led by Mr. D. Crowe and Mr. P. Darley.

Mrs. Belford once again made a great contribution to the school in providing resource services for our classes and this area of the school activities continues to function with great efficiency. In activities such as the camps also, Mrs. Belford's help is invaluable.

LEADERS 1975

Music, under the inspiration of Mr. Cullen and Mr. Bidgood, continues to flourish, and the boys are now preparing a Christmas Play as well as choirs for the School Carol Night and Vale-dictory Service.

We are also looking forward once again to Pet Show Day, which is so well organised by Mrs. G. Drew, and to Gala Day when we invite parents to see some of the school activities.

LEADERS

John Stanley was elected Captain of the Preparatory School this year and he has already shown excellent leadership and is setting a fine example to the rest of the school. The other leaders are Andrew Belford, Tim Burfield, Alastair Francis, Jason Harry, Martin Lawrence, Grant McDonald, Guy Macgraith, Hugh Piper, Martin Southwood and Mark Tidswell. They too have done very well.

MOTHERS' CLUB, 1975

Committee elected for 1975:

President, Mrs. F. T. Beauchamp; Vice-president, Mrs. R. E. Craddock; Jnr. Vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Benson; Secretary, Mrs. B. G. Burfield; Treasurer, Mrs. M. R. Aitken; Liaison Officer, Mrs. B. H. Leak; Head Boy's Mother, Mrs. D. J. Stanley; IC, Mrs. R. W. Gniel; IB, Mrs. J. A. Michell; IA, Mrs. J. S. Day; IIB, Mrs. I. S. Jefferson; IIA, Mrs. K. LePage; III LS, Mrs. G. E. Krieger; III L.N. Mrs. C. F. Hockney; III U.S. Mrs. R. T. Southwood; III U.N. Mrs. D. L. Macgraith; III U.E. Mrs. B. J. Francis.

The Mothers' Club has again enjoyed a happy and successful year, with our general meetings being quite well attended. Receipts from trading tables totalled $121.97, outgrown clothing $28.80, and donations to the Library Fund amounted to $54.20.

At our first general meeting this year, Mrs. Leak introduced Mr. L. Davies as acting Master-in-Charge during Mr. Leak's three-month leave. Mr. A. Smith spoke on spinning and weaving mid-year, and Mr. Leak has agreed to share his recent overseas trip with us at our forthcoming meeting.

Mr. Cullen has again been most helpful in arranging musical items for our meetings.

Fund-raising over the last financial year involved the sale of lunch to parents visiting the school on Gala Day in November, 1974, and a Dinner-Dance held in September, 1975. On both occasions a happy combination of informal mingling of parents and staff and financial success resulted. Our Gala Day luncheon realised $84.25, whilst the Dinner-Dance profits amounted to approximately $680.

It was decided at the beginning of the year to invest $1,000 with Custom Credit which is eventually to be used for a colour TV system. Grants totalling $60 have been made to Grades I to IV and $45 has been given to the library.

Finally, we wish to thank our committee members for their truly magnificent efforts, and especially to Mrs. Beauchamp, our President, who has guided a very happy group to the conclusion of yet another successful year.

HOUSE COMPETITION, 1974

The final result was a victory to Chapple House by the narrowest of margins. Scores were as follows:—

"A" FOOTBALL

The season was a most successful one with seven wins from nine matches. The first two matches were lost narrowly, but from then on the team never looked back and went from strength to strength. All players improved their skills as the season progressed and used more refined tactical methods to win games at a high standard of football.

It was pleasing to see the boys prepared to get the hard ball and run on without leaving large gaps in the field. The ruck work of Dalwood and Burfield was excellent, creating opportunities for the rovers and ruck rovers in Delo, Kitto, Hocking and Chapman, to drive the ball into the forward lines to give good opportunities to score. This was done mainly through Gniel at full forward and Piper from the pocket positions. The rucks and rovers rested in the forward lines, and this gave positive attacking strength. Francis, Bryce and Kennett proved a winning centre line all season. The backlines, led by Shakes, Lawrence, Chen, Benson, Adams and Southwood, were very strong, and with skill, courage and strong body work turned back many attacks, often keeping the opposition scoreless for many quarters of play. Marshall and Walker also played serviceable games when given the opportunity.

Francis was the Captain for the season.

Results:—

P.A.C. v. Rostrevor, 4-2 to 4-11; P.A.C. v. Pulteney, 4-1 to 4-4; P.A.C. v. St. Morris, 7-6 to 0-2; P.A.C. v. Blackfriars, 8-12 to 9-4; P.A.C. v. St. Ignatius, 7-2 to 2-12; P.A.C. v. "B" FOOTBALL

The enthusiasm generated last year has been maintained. In addition to the usual "B" matches, we were able to arrange several matches for a "C" team, so that a larger number of boys than ever before has represented the school. We are grateful to Mr. Dean Crowe for his enthusiastic management of the "C" team. Several "friendly" matches were also played, notably one with the boys of St. Morris primary school.

Every Saturday morning the usual football school was held for the boys of Grades III, IV and V. Thank you, Peter Darley, and all the "Dads" who give so generously of their time to help these youngsters.

Of the eight "B" matches in 1975, we won six and lost two.

A very successful season.

"A" CRICKET, 1974

We played six competition matches in the third term, winning 4 and losing 2, but all matches were close and exciting and we thoroughly enjoyed our cricket. Leading averages for the year were, in batting, Kennett, Hockney and Alexander, and in bowling, Kennett, Piper and Alexander.

1975

At the beginning of the first term we elected Hugh Piper as our captain for 1975 and Lynton Willcocks was made vice-captain. We lost only one match out of five and that was a very close struggle against St. Michaels. Piper, Tidswell and Hockney had the best batting averages, and Kidd, Willcocks and Piper led the bowling, but many others performed well on occasions.

Scores:—

February 15: P.A.C. 85 Tidswell 13 ret., Dalwood 12 ret., Piper 11 ret., Fanning 11 ret., Humble 11 ret.) d. C.B.C. 25 (Kidd 3 for 2, Piper 3 for 7).

February 22: P.A.C. 68 (Piper 35) lost to S.M.C. 72 (Piper 4 for 18).

March 1: P.A.C. 108 (Tidswell 45 n.o., Piper 17, Willcocks 13) d. R.C. 31 (Kidd 4 for 0, Kitto 2 for 9).

March 8: P.A.C. 72 (Hockney 17 ret., Humble 18, Willcocks 15, Piper 13) d. S.H.C. 52 (Kidd 4 for 10).

March 15: P.A.C. 70 (Piper 22, Tidswell 17, Willcocks 12) d. S.P.S.C. 27 (Piper 3 for 5, Willcocks 2 for 5) Kidd 2 for 14).

"B" CRICKET

Large numbers of boys continue to turn out for cricket practice. They must have been thrilled by the presence of Mr. Ken Cunningham, who had volunteered his services as cricket coach. Thank you, Mr. Cunningham.

Ben Perkins, of the Senior School, also gave considerable service at the nets and the boys appreciated his help. Thank you, Ben.

Of the five games played during first term, the "B" team won three and lost two.

FATHERS' DAY

We had another enjoyable day on the last Saturday of the third term in 1974 when the boys played cricket and tennis matches with their fathers. The "B" cricket team, playing in the morning, managed a disputed draw against their dads, but the fathers were clearly winners in the afternoon game, and the captain of the "A" team was duly "dunked" in the pool in ceremonious fashion.

The barbecue lunch and availability of courts and swimming pool added considerably to the enjoyment of the day.

ATHLETIC SPORTS DAY

Our Sports Day was held as usual on the last Saturday of the first term, May 3. The day was fine and with a fast track some good performances were registered. Michael Burfield broke both the junior high jump and junior hurdles records, and Kym Mathews set a new time for the senior hurdles.

The Senior Cup was won by Mark Dalwood and the Junior Cup by Michael Burfield. Mitchell House, with 97 points, won the House Cup from Chapple (74½) and Robertson (57½).

We are grateful to the committee of the Mothers' Club, who provided a splendid afternoon tea at the conclusion of the programme.

TRIANGULAR SPORTS

These were held at Scotch College this year and we were decisively beaten into third place by Saints and Scotch. Only Mark Dalwood, Michael Burfield and Jamie Marshall were successful in "A" events.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

This was held on Thursday, September 18, on a cool, clear afternoon after rain. The event was won by Mark Hocking in the time of 8 min. 28 secs. Second was Matthew Benson and third David Chen. The first IIA boy home was Billy Piper (13th overall) and the first IIB boy Andrew Aitken (21st overall).

The House competition was won by Mitchell House with Robertson second and Chapple third.

SAILING

Sailing has continued to flourish in the Preparatory School and many boys who began years ago are now sailing their own craft in regularly conducted races at sailing clubs.

At P.A.C. we began the Flying Eleven class in South Australia. There are now about fifty such boats and during the last season we held the first State title which was won by John Stobie. During January, 1976, we are staging the National titles at Holdfast Bay. There will be many visitors from other States and we are hoping to billet most of the sailors.

Our Saturday morning sailing classes have been successful and we thank many of the parents for their help.

CHESS, 1975

This year, because of the numbers interested in playing competitive chess, seven teams were entered. These were one in D Grade, 2 in E Grade, 2 in Primary and 1 each in Primary B and C Divisions. The matches were played on Friday nights at John Martin's and in the Da Costa Dining Hall at St. Peters. It was pleasing to note that most boys fulfilled their obligation to play throughout the season, particularly as Friday night can mean heavy commitments for their families. In this regard our thanks to the parents for their support and co-operation, and the help with transport was appreciated.

The beginners in Primary C Division are to be congratulated in coming top. Well done! The D and E Grade teams did very well indeed, particularly as they were always in the top bracket and had to play the better teams. From being top prior to the last round, losing the last matches saw them drop a few places. Congratulations to the D and E teams for a fine effort throughout the season.

It is hoped that the top ten boys to represent the school in the Primary Championship will do very well.

Last season the school came 5th of 8, although they did not lose a round. The system of deciding a winner on a drawn round went against them in the first round, and thus made the team ineligible for the first four positions.

Results:—

D Grade: 25/40—7th/36	James, Willcocks
E2: 25/40—3rd/36	Tidswell, Fanning
E3: 21½/40—8th/36	Belford, Shakes
Primary 4: 18½/40—13th	Grimshaw, Stanley
Primary 5: 15½/40—15th	Vanlint, Gniel
Primary 6: 19½/40—14th	Humble, Turner and Burfield
Primary 7: 28/40—1st

BASKETBALL, 1975

The Preparatory School basketball teams have just completed one of their most successful seasons ever. The "A" team, captained by an injured John Stanley, won all but two of its matches. Congratulations to "Wally" Willcocks for throwing the magic "ton" for the season. John "Stazza" Stanley on one and a half legs was better than most two-legged players in the competition; Mark Grimshaw, Mark Tidswell, Guy Maegraith, Sean Fanning and Tim Day completed a most successful combination.

The "B" team, with mighty midgets Andrew Spick and Andrew Belford, performed creditably, and our "babies", the Under 11 team, won all but three of their matches.

We have cause to look forward to seeing Hamish Hudson, Ric Turner, Ric Quin, Andrew Cockington, John Miller and Ric Bean playing for the "A's" in future years.

Analysis:

B	9	4	5	239	222
U/11	10	7	3	198	170

PREP LIBRARY NOTES

This year we have placed more emphasis on story-telling, re-arranging the shelves in the library and providing cushions to create a more relaxed atmosphere. This has proved popular, particularly with the younger boys.

One extra Grade 7 class using the library has placed added strain on our space and resources, but we have been fortunate in having extra help to cope with this. We would like to thank Mrs. Nicholls and Mrs. Williamson for their help and support during the year, and Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Le Page who come in each week to cover and mend books.

Mrs. Belford continues to provide outstanding service to the school and enables the staff to plan courses with complete confidence.

CAMP

Our annual camp for IIIU and IIIL boys was arranged for the week from April 6 to April 11, but owing to a double booking we were not able to begin until Monday, April 7. The disastrous floods of 1974 had devastated the camp site, and although the floodwaters had subsided, much of the damage had not been made good. In addition to this, we were asked to arrange our own cooking and catering for the first time.

In spite of all these difficulties and the minor hitches which always beset such ventures, the boys had a thoroughly enjoyable and instructive week. This was in no small measure due to the herculean efforts of Mr. Smith, Mr. Woollard, Mr. Davies and all the other staff members and parents who participated. A special word of thanks must go to the ladies who provided splendid meals under difficult circumstances.

Activities included wake-up activities, sailing, basket-weaving, tiling, fishing, science, raft-building, Batik orchestra, water skiing, dyeing, choir and wireless communication.

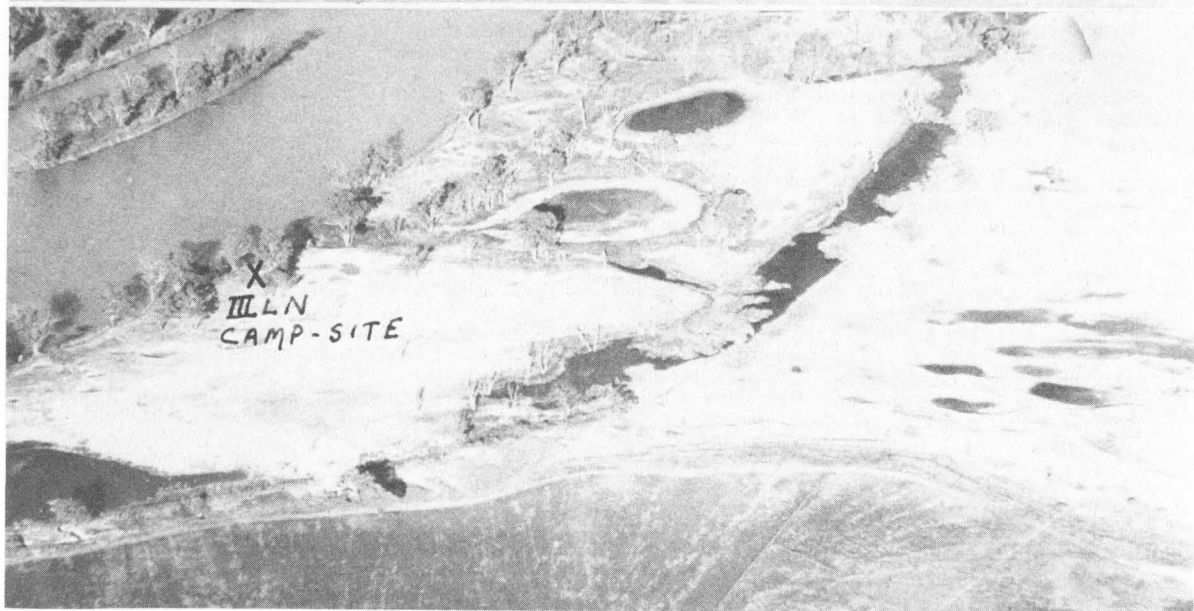

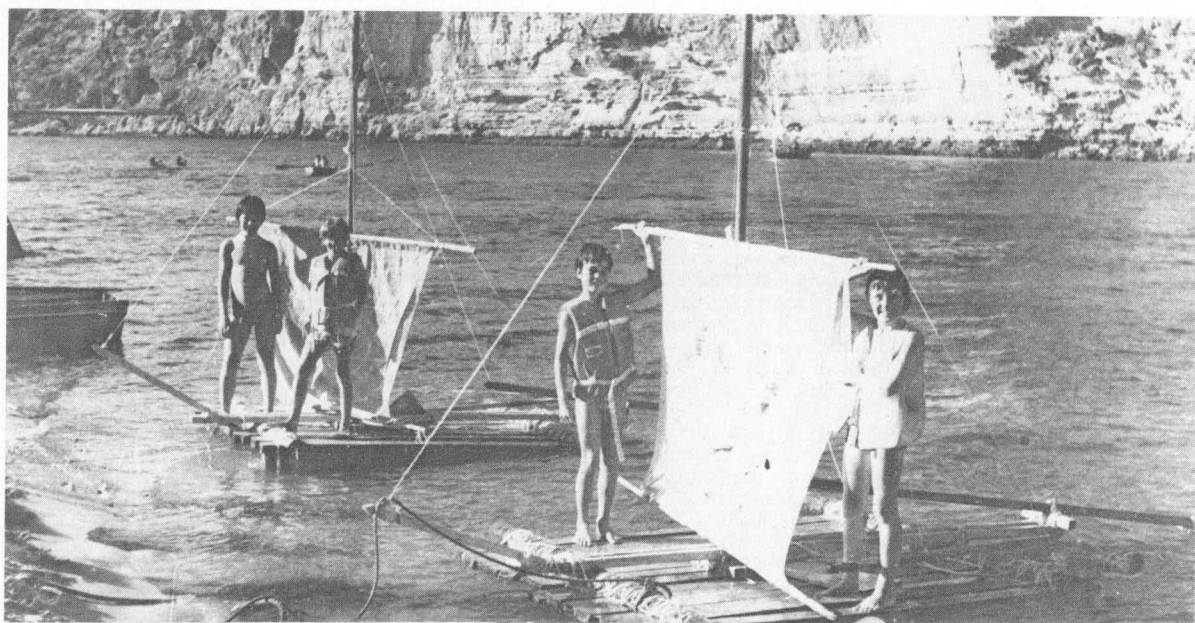

IIILN MURRAY RIVER CAMP

We left school about 20 past 8. My dad was driving Group 2. The town we passed through was Gumeracha. We were playing in the back of our van and it was great fun. Our first stop was Mt. Pleasant. We had recess there and bought some lollies and a drink. While we were there, Dad got some chops for our barbecue. We then continued. Then after a while we stopped at Truro and got our supply of bread and I bought some lollies. We then continued our journey to Blanche Town where we had lunch. After lunch Mr. Bidgood told us about the birds on the lock which were eating fish. We then went to the camp site. Mr. Woollard was already there.

We immediately set up tents and were shown the boundaries. After setting up the tents we collected wood and played. After that we started our fires to get the coals, but our fire didn't agree with us. We then cooked our tea. It was delicious because I cooked it. The chops were superb and the sausages just right.

After dinner we had chocolate pudding and it was unbelievable. Then we played and then went to bed. The next day we went on a walk along the river and after that to the burial ground. We saw an aboriginal warrior's skull there. When we got back we left for Blanche Town. We had lunch at a restaurant and it was really busy. Their business would be worth a lot of money.

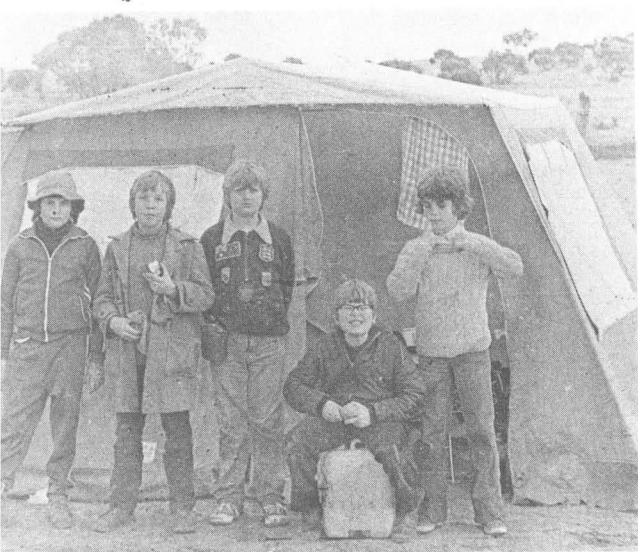

Later on we stopped at Truro again and went to the bakery. After that we went through Gawler and Elizabeth and arrived at school at 3 o'clock.

SHARK

The sea's water turned dark red,
As I suspected, a shark was just fed.
A man about twenty or so
Was killed by this fierce-looking foe.
The shark was a great white pointer.
Why did the man loiter?

THE SEASONS

When you're hot, sunburnt and thirsty,
And your mouth is dry and there's sand in your eye,
You know it's summer, the hot season.
When the leaves fall from the trees to the ground,
And the wind comes and scatters them around,
You know its autumn, the predecessor of winter.
When water turns to ice and everything is cold to hold,
And half the time you're sick with a cold,
You know it's winter, the cold season.
When trees and flowers bloom and have new leaves,
And the wind changes from a gale to a breeze,
You know it's spring with all its beauty.

BATH TUB!

Once I was sitting in the bath tub with the hot tap running. I couldn't turn off the tap because it wouldn't. It couldn't turn off because there wasn't anything to turn it off with. The water got higher and higher until it spilled over the edge and down the stairs. Soon the house was a swimming pool. We had to open the door and all the water gushed out like Cyclone Tracy.
Then we had a job of pulling out the plug of the bathtub. Later we called the plumber to block the tap. After that we had no more troubles with the bath water.

When the ram bucked her off
She started to cough—

TIM THE WONDER DOG!

I have a dog whose name is Tim,
And I am very fond of him.
His coat is brown, but mostly white;
He's always happy and never bites.
Dad gets annoyed at all the mess
Made by whom? You'll never guess!
But still he leaves my friends agog
Because he's Tim the Wonder Dog!

GREEN FOR GO

I was gunning my engine. He was revving his. My tacho showed 7,500 revs per minute. We were glancing at each other furtively, sweat running down my face, my palms slipping on the wheel. I saw him nervously watching the lights, switching his eyes to me and then back to the lights. My car was a GT two-door Falcon 500 with an overhead camshaft V8 engine. I had an exhaust extractor and many other go-fasts. I had spent a lot of money on my car and it was my prized possession. As far as I could see, he had a Lotus Europa two-door sports car. Normally a car like mine could not beat a Lotus Europa, but his car was stock and mine was a hotted-up production model. The temperature inside the cars was about 48 degrees. Outside it was about 42 degrees. It was two o'clock when the sun was at its peak. My car was capable of about 115 miles per hour, his was about the same, I guessed, but he had faster initial acceleration. Still, I thought, I was going to have a good try to beat his car.

Suddenly the light switched green. I was off. I was lucky; he had faltered for a second and I had got away quickly. I still had a chance. We accelerated ahead of the rest of the traffic. I was going about 62 miles per hour already. He was a fraction behind me, but he was creeping up. I put a little more pressure on the accelerator. I looked at my tacho and the revs were dropping so I shoved it into second gear. I looked at the speedo — I was doing about 90 miles per hour. Suddenly a railway crossing loomed up. I shot across but now there was a train coming. He was determined not to stop. The two were converging; he sped across but his tail had snicked the train. He went into a violent tail skid but he corrected it immediately. This is a good driver I am up against, I thought. We were heading out of the city now and into the country. I was up to 105 miles per hour now and needed all my concentration to keep the car on the road. If I had faltered for one second I would have been history. Suddenly I heard a wail behind me. I looked into the rear view mirror and saw a police car behind me. I was doing 107 miles per hour and the Lotus was just in front of me. Suddenly the engine spluttered; I looked at the petrol gauge. I had no petrol left. The police pulled me over but he sped on. I never did find out what happened to him.

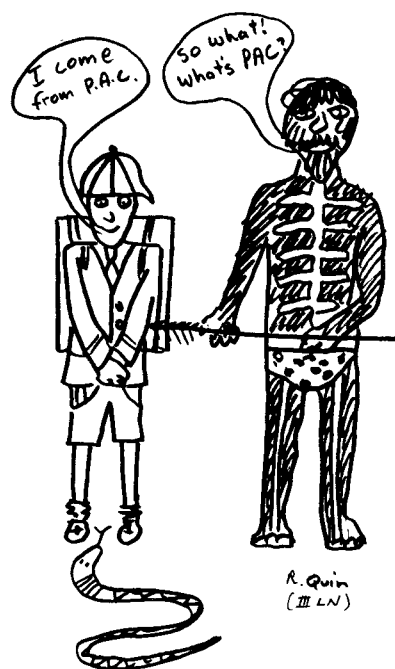

Some time after my licence was taken away and then I realised how fruitless it had all been.

MRS. PEPPERPOT COMES TO TEA

One day Mrs. Pepperpot came to my house for tea. She was going to come in when she shrank to the size of a peppercorn but then she grew to her usual size. She sat down and started to read a book. Again she shrank to the size of a peppercorn and the book fell on her. I looked everywhere but I just couldn't find her. Then I thought of looking under the book, and there she was. Then I said to myself what am I going to do with such a little woman? The steak is too big for her to eat. So I took her in my hand and I put her on the chair and she grew to her usual size and we had dinner.

SUPER EDWARD

Edward Jolly is an ordinary boy. But when there's a call for help, Edward jumps into his wardrobe and, ouch! He bumps into his water pistol.

Edward can never forget the time he fought Junior Doctor Jeffreson's stainless steel washable robots.

Edward's most famous adventure was when he fought the green ghost. One day he was flying along in search of the green ghost when he came face to face with it.

With one wave of Edward's hand the green ghost was dead. And Edward got his reward—which was one cent.

THE TIME MACHINE

One day I was walking down by the kit shop when I saw a model train. I walked in to see how much it was. "79c, son," said the man. I bought two trains and I took them home and spread them out on the floor to look at. All the pieces were mixed up, but next morning I put them all together. Then I pressed the button and there was a humming and a buzzing and a banging. I fell into a deep sleep, and when I awoke I was sitting next to Alexander the Great. I stood up to look out the window and I saw a battle, so I bobbed down quickly. Then an arrow hit Alexander in the eye. He fell back asking me to get the guards. I ran out and arrows were flying everywhere. Suddenly there was a bang. In the morning I woke up in my own bed. I was happy to be home again.

THE BOY THAT NEVER DID AS HE WAS TOLD

Once there was a boy called Bradley and he never did what he was told.

One day Bradley asked his mother if the family could go on a picnic on the week-end. His mother said yes, so they arranged to go on Saturday afternoon. They decided to have a barbecue, so they went up into the hills where there were no other people. When they got there Bradley's mother asked Bradley to put some bottles in the bin, but Bradley said why me, and his mother said because I asked you to, so Bradley went to the bin and threw the bottle at the bin. One went in the bin but the other didn't, and it smashed on a rock. Bradley noticed this but he just left it there. He went back to where the rest of his family were having the picnic and sat down.

After lunch Bradley went down to the creek and played. After a while he felt tired after that big lunch he had just had. So he lay down to have a sleep. After about two hours his mother said we had better go now so I will be home soon enough to make your father's tea.

Bradley's mother suddenly realised that Bradley wasn't there, so she asked Sarah if she would go and get Bradley. She said he wasn't worth the trouble, so they packed up and started up the hill. At that moment Bradley had just woken up and was walking up the hill when he saw his family going without him. Bradley started running and he was concentrating on how far ahead his family was so much that he did not realise that he was heading for the broken bottle that he had smashed by throwing at the bin. He ran all over the glass and cut his foot open. When he saw all the blood coming out of his foot he started screaming and his mother heard him so she went down to him and carried him to the car. They took him to a doctor and he had to have 10 stitches in his foot. After that Bradley did everything he was asked, especially putting bottles in the bin, and Mrs. Waddington was very happy.

THE DAY THE POWER STOPPED

One day the power stopped. The whole city had no power. Everybody was bumping into everything; for one thing the traffic lights weren't working and even shop lights were out. It was something to see, and to make matters worse the petrol men went on strike and only carts and bikes could go. At last the men got the power to work and everything went well. The cars got their petrol back. The lights went on. A man was cross because he had been shaking a dummy's hand, so he left. Then he remembered that he worked there so he hurried back. A lot of people were laughing at him, but everything was working outside. Cars were driving around.

I hope you don't have power trouble.

THE MAGIC BOTTLE

Bill and Betty were walking along the beach when they saw a bottle. Bill picked up the bottle and took the cork off it. A puff of smoke appeared. The smoke turned into a genie. The genie made a bike with two seats appear, then disappeared. Bill and Betty were very happy. They rode home on their bike. Their mother was very happy too.

WIMPY THE SPIDER

Once upon a time, in a far off place called Melbourne, there lived a spider called Wimpy. He lived in a pub called the Hotel Royal and he certainly lived in royalty. Every day he would go to the bar and accidentally fall into a beer bottle on purpose. After he had done this he would go upstairs and look out of a window and watch people walk around. He loved rainy days because then he could see people getting wet.

Wimpy really liked to go for a stroll, and once when he was sitting on the fire-station ceiling, the alarm rang. In all of the excitement, Wimpy fell down—intentionally, of course. Wimpy was experimenting to see if he could fall down faster than a fireman could slide down his pole, and, of course, he could.

Wimpy was walking along when he spotted a funnel-web spider. The funnel-web asked him if he wanted to play a game, but Wimpy said he'd rather not because he was busy. Actually, he was on the way to his girl-friend Dottie's house. He liked her very much.

One night she and Wimpy went to a drive-in. They went to a movie called "Sunshine," and Dottie didn't even cry. Wimpy did. Dottie took the distressed Wimpy home to have a beer.

The day after, Wimpy held a spider barbecue. He invited all of his friends over, even the funnel-web spider, who wasn't really a friend. Dottie said that Wimpy was silly to invite him over, but Wimpy didn't really care.

Once Wimpy was really hungry, so he travelled along until he reached a delicatessen. He got into a jar of sweets and began munching away hungrily. He enjoyed eating sweets and was a regular customer from then onwards.

Many months later Wimpy and Dottie got engaged. They were going to be married in about ten minutes' time when Wimpy suddenly remembered that the football was on, so he jumped on to a car that had football stickers all over it and travelled to VFL Park just in time to see Richmond thrash Geelong, but Wimpy didn't care because he supported Carlton.

PUZZLES

Out of nine matches how does one get 10?

Answer: Write the word "ten" with nine matches.

A policeman questioned a man suspected of armed robbery. The policeman asked him where he was between 12 a.m. and 3 p.m., and he said that he was the editor of a 13-page sports paper and he hadn't been out of his office all day. The policeman knew he was guilty. How did he know?

Answer: A page always has a back and front so a paper consists of an even number of pages.

ELEPHANT'S CHILD

Once upon a time an elephant child was walking through the jungle when he approached the Limpopo River with green Fever trees. He first saw a green rock python snake who smacked him so he walked down the beach till he tripped over a log. It was the crocodile and the elephant's child asked him what he had for breakfast, and he said, "Come a little closer." He bit the elephant's child's nose and he pulled and tugged him into the river till his nose stretched and he went home and smacked his two brothers.

AUDITORS' REPORT

We report that we have examined the books and records of Prince Alfred Old Collegians' Association Incorporated for the year ended 30th September, 1975, that in our opinion the above Balance Sheet, Revenue Account and Benevolent Fund Statement are properly drawn up and exhibit a true and fair view of the state of the Association's affairs and of its results for the year ended on that date according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the books and records submitted.

M. R. AITKEN,
D. LEECH,
Honorary Auditors

Adelaide, 17th October, 1975.

INCORPORATED

will be held at the School, in the Masters Common Room, on THURSDAY, 27th NOVEMBER, 1975, at 7.30 P.M.

BUSINESS

- 1 To receive the Annual Report and Financial Statement for the year ended 30 November, 1975.
- 2 To elect Officers for the ensuing year.
- 3 Any other business that may arise.

By Order of the Committee
PETER O. BUTTERY, Secretary.

At the conclusion of the meeting members attending will then have the opportunity of inspecting the new Library Resource Centre.

NINETY-SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT

Your Committee has pleasure in submitting its Annual Report for the past twelve months.

Membership

Membership at 30th September, 1975, totalled 3,867, compared with 3,936 in 1974 and 4,057 in 1973. There are 2,668 Life Members, 259 25-year Members, 929 Ordinary Members and 11 Honorary Members. A list of those members whose addresses are unknown appears in this edition. Please advise the Secretary if you know the whereabouts of any of these members.

During 1975/1976 a special effort will be made to contact all members to ensure that the Association records are kept up to date.

We were again pleased at the high number of school leavers who joined, and hopefully this trend will continue.

Finance

The accounts for the year under review show a profit of $352, which must be considered satisfactory when the economic conditions experienced during the last twelve months are taken into account. However, the Association is faced with a further increase in salary of $500, soaring postage rates and other increases.

Bearing in mind that there is no guarantee that the receipts from dividends will remain at the present level, the Committee considered it necessary to increase subscriptions from $3 to $5 per annum to meet the known and expected increases in the cost of running the Association.

During the year Commonwealth Loans of $2,000 matured and the College repaid loans amounting to $4,840. The Association added $1,160 to these funds and subscribed $8,000 to the Prince Alfred College Foundation. The first object of the Association, as set out in the Rules, is the furtherance of the welfare of Prince Alfred College, and it is the intention of the Committee to become a Trustee of the Foundation by subscribing further amounts from time to time when it is considered such subscriptions will not jeopardise the economic structure of your Association.

Prince Alfred College Foundation

The Association, as previously reported, has become a Trustee of the Foundation. All members of the Prince Alfred College family have been contacted by mail and telephone and must now be aware of the projects and finance contemplated. We believe that this Foundation is vital to the future welfare of the school and recommend your unqualified support.

Benevolent Fund

From this Fund, established for the relief of distress among Old Boys, various payments are made from time to time. It enables a few members to retain their membership of the Association. The balance of the account at 30th September, 1975, is $1,539.05.

School Council

Dr. Mervyn Evans, a committee member, is Vice-Chairman of the School Council and Chairman of the Building Sub-Committee.

Inter-Association Contests

Saints won the Rugby, Golf, Bridge, Chess, Football, Basketball and Rowing.

Princes won the Badminton, Squash and Bowls.

The tennis contest will be held in November, after being washed out earlier in the year.

Non-playing members are reminded that their attendance, together with wives and friends, is always most welcome.

Old Boys' Week

A full programme of sporting and social functions was arranged and is reported in detail elsewhere in this Chronicle. Our thanks are extended to the conveners and members who represented the Association at various functions contributing to another successful Old Boys' Week.

A special thanks goes to Lt. Col. Robin Hone, who was responsible for publicity statements issued on behalf of the President.

Association Functions

- (a) The social evening for New Old Boys held in February at the Club Rooms, 245 The Parade, Norwood, was very successful and very well supported.
- (b) The Close Bowls Match was again held in March at the Toorak Bowling Club, and was an enjoyable evening for those who participated.
- (c) The popular Close Golf Match was again played at Kooyonga in June.
- (d) Due to the lack of support in previous years, the Picnic Golf Day was deleted from our calendar of events.
- (a) This year a Ball was held at the Adelaide Town Hall. The committee was very pleased with the response and have now included this function on the calendar for next year. The Ball has replaced the September Dinner Dance.

Scholarships

These are awarded from time to time on the recommendation of the Headmaster.

Sporting Clubs

The Old Scholars' sporting clubs have again been well supported. The activities of these clubs are reported in detail in this Chronicle.

The Association expresses its thanks to the Headmaster and to the School Council for their help and co-operation which allowed so many of the teams to play their matches and to practice at the School grounds with the use of School facilities.

Country Dinners

During the past twelve months dinners have been held at Lock, Bordertown, Loxton, Appila and Maitland. Our thanks are extended to the Regional Secretaries and local committees for their continued support and enthusiasm.

Branches

These are maintained at Sydney, Melbourne, Perth, Broken Hill, Canberra, Brisbane and London. These branches keep contact with many old scholars and your Committee is indebted to their various officials in conducting reunion dinners, social functions and sporting events.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Bean

Our Patron continues to show a keen and enthusiastic interest in all our activities, and we extend our thanks to him and to Mrs. Bean for their encouragement and assistance at all times.

Our Editor

Dr. David Riceman has again carried out his duties with meticulous enthusiasm. We extend our sincere thanks.

Public Schools Club

The Club continues to function satisfactorily. Mr. Tom Chapman, the Association nominee, has been an active worker for the Club.

St. Peter's Collegians' Association

We extend our thanks to their officers and Committeemen for their help and co-operation at various functions held during the past twelve months

Prince Alfred Collegians' Lodge

The Lodge meets regularly on the first Friday of each month at the Masonic Temple, North Terrace. Worshipful Brother Alwyn Shepherd is the Master for 1975/1976.

Worshipful Brother P. M. Williams is the Immediate Past Master and Worshipful Brother M. P. Horner is Secretary.

Committee

Peter Buttery has continued in office as your hard-working Secretary, and all other members of the Committee have played their parts on the various sub-committees.

At the time of going to press, Committee attendances were as follows: Mr. B. J. Potter (10), Mr. D. N. Angel (4), Dr. J. G. Bunday (8), Messrs. D. T. Burns (3—leave of absence June to August), R. J. HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL

Old Scholars are reminded that copies of Mr. Ward's most interesting and valuable book, "Prince Alfred College — The First Eighty Years, 1867-1948," are still available. No Old Scholar can afford to be without a copy of this excellent record. Copies, bound in red cloth, at $2.10 plus postage, are available from the School Bursar or the Association Secretary.

OLD BOYS WEEK

OLD BOYS' WEEK THIS YEAR BEGAN ON SUNDAY, 20th JULY, AND ENDED ON SUNDAY, 27th JULY.

Sunday, 20th July

The week began with the Rugby match being played at Old Collegians Ground, Linden Park. It was agreed that the change from a week-day encounter was a great success and helped create considerable spectator interest. Unfortunately, though, our team could only field twelve players, viz., Peter Sparrow (Capt.), Peter Womersley, Andy Brady, Andy Close, Martin Reed, Andy Kohler, Peter Goldsworthy, Ben Perkins, Paul James, Mike Stobie and John and Bill Walkley, all of whom played very well to hold their own against a complete Saints team.

The disadvantage of numbers proved too great late in the second half and at the bell our team was narrowly defeated 16 to 12. The team and spectators gathered in the Clubrooms after the match, and our President congratulated all participants on a successful afternoon.

Monday, 21st July

The Golf match was again held on the Monday, and although it appeared from last year that Princes' men were in better form on Mondays, we were not this year successful. Saints took the honours with the final score of 16 to 9 with 1 square. Let's hope it is not the start of another seven-year drought! The Rymill Cup, on inspection, seems to be the property of Saints, but in returning the Cup to Bruce Macklin, Saints' President, our President Brian Potter warned of our intention to regain it next year.

The weather was superb and the Seaton course in good condition, which contributed to an excellent day's golf for all who competed. Although a good number played, there had been a decline over the last few years, and we look forward to strengthened support for this event in the future.

In the evening, the Basketball at St. Peter's College gymnasium drew a good attendance of players and spectators to a very exciting and close fought match with the lead frequently changing. The final result was 50 points to 49 in Saints' favour. Mr. Arthur Shuttleworth presented the Caronia Cup on behalf of Princes to Bruce Macklin of Saints, who will now hold it for the forthcoming year. After the game, all those attending were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shuttleworth for supper and drinks.

Our thanks go especially to Bill Walkley and Geoff Woollard for their efforts in organising the team and arranging the umpire.

Tuesday, 22nd July

Fourteen tables were arranged for the Bridge this year, but last minute withdrawals due to illnesses regrettably brought the chess numbers down to six. Numbers made no difference, though, as Saints won both matches, the final results being:

Bridge: Saints 9 tables, Princes 5.

Chess: Saints 10 games, Princes nil.

The Public Schools Club again provided the venue, with supper being served during the evening and bar facilities available.

Wednesday, 23rd July

The football match was played on the front oval at P.A.C. in blustery and wintery conditions with a chill in the air and a constant threat of rain, which fortunately kept off until three minutes after the game.

Peter Darley was elected captain, and he lost the toss, and Saints elected to kick with the wind, which favoured the Preparatory School end.

The match commenced with vigor and pace by both sides, and the game was evenly contested, and the half-time scores favoured the Princes' men.

P.A.O.C. 6-4, S.P.C.A. 5-6.

After half-time we fought with great determination to prevent Saints from taking advantage of the wind, but our bad kicking (several scoring shots going out of bounds) enabled Saints to take the lead at the final change, the score being P.A.O.C. 8-8, S.P.C.A. 9-9.

We made every endeavour to rally the ranks, but our lack of experience and overall fitness, combined with very poor kicking for goals, took its toll and Saints were able to snatch victory from us in the final few minutes of the game, the scores being P.A.O.C. 9-14, S.P.C.A. 14-11.

The football was good throughout, and we congratulate Saints on their victory.

We were pleased to see an increase in the number of spectators and look forward to an even better attendance in 1976.

Goalkickers were: P. Darley 3, D. Raggatt 3, G. Dalwood, A. Risby, W. Copping.

Best Players: W. Grigg, G. Dalwood, P. Heinrich, D. Raggatt, W. Copping.

The team: P. Darley, G. Dalwood, I. Copping, N. Copping, W. Copping, K. Dorsch, G. Dawkins, D. Bartlett, W. Grigg, P. Heinrich, A. Potter, M. Newman, A. Risby, D. Raggatt, M. Schwartz, M. Thompson, P. Underwood, J. Wellington.

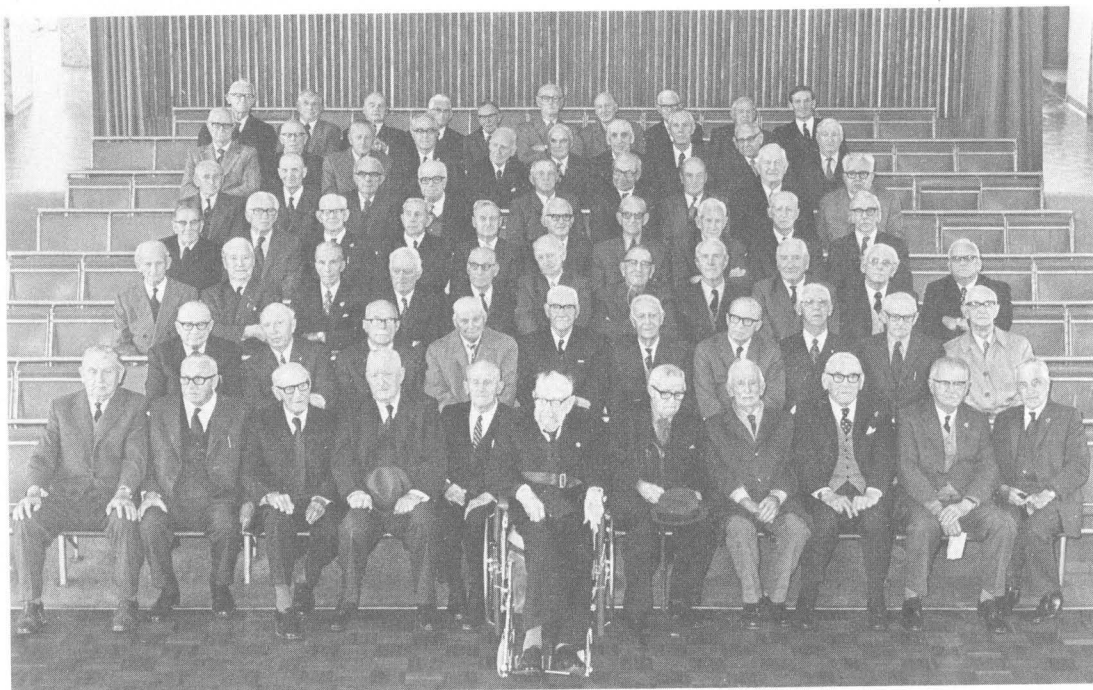

The committees of the two associations gathered for dinner on Wednesday evening at the Public Schools Club. Committeemen from both Associations exchanged views on a number of subjects to complete a most enjoyable evening.

The badminton was played at St. Peter's College Gymnasium on Wednesday night, and in one of the few Old Scholars' successes for the week Princes again had a convincing win over S.P.C.A. 13 rubbers to 2 rubbers—13 sets, 205 points to 2 sets, 88 points.

Highlight of the evening was the first singles match between Little of Princes (No. 2 in the State) and Reed of S.P.A.C. (No. 1 in the State), which Little won 15 points to 14 in an exciting match. The whole team is to be congratulated on its excellent win. At the conclusion of the contest, Dr. J. G. Bunday presented the Bunday Cup to our President to be retained by our Association for the ensuing year.

Thursday, 24th July

The Old Boys' Morning Assembly for those who had entered the School 60 years ago or more OLD BOYS DAY — Morning Assembly. Taken on Thursday, 24th July, following attendance of Old Boys who entered the School sixty years ago, or more.

(this year including pre-1916 scholars) was highlighted by the presence of Mr. Vernon S. Smith, who kept his promise to return as the School's only known centenarian, having had his 100th birthday anniversary two months previously. The School Chaplain, Rev. Kyle Waters, conducted the service, and the Captain of the School, David Blanch, read the lesson.

The Headmaster, Mr. G. B. Bean, welcomed all the Old Scholars present, both the "old" Old Boys and the members of the Old Scholars' Association, and in particular, the Association President, Mr. Brian Potter, who had attended the School in 1938-40 and whose two sons also went to P.A.C., the younger being still at the School.

In his remarks, Mr. Potter highlighted the fact that the ages of those assembled that morning ranged from 5 to 100 years, and the group included the 1915 entrants, whose first year was coincident with that of Mr. W. R. Bayly's first year of 15 as Headmaster. Mr. Potter touched on some points from one of Mr. Bayly's early addresses as Headmaster, and said that these points concerning character, gentlemanliness and tradition were as relevant today as they were then, and it was the fine quality of the headmasters and staff of the School which helped scholars absorb these traits.

Mr. Potter recalled some sporting incidents of 60 years ago and said that the players of those days present today would reflect that "times have changed," but he pointed out that the one thing that had not was that all present were members of the Prince Alfred College family. Present scholars should remember this in their turn in the years ahead, and should retain this family relationship throughout their lives. One way of doing this was through the Old Collegians' Association, and the President hoped that all would do so and come in due course to sit on the platform on this occasion. He concluded his remarks by wishing Mr. Peter Thomas and the Intercollegiate XVIII the best for the match against S.P.S.C. on the following Saturday.

The Headmaster then spoke to the 72 Old Scholars present, making particular reference to the presentation just made to him by Mr. C. J. Pitt, from Mt. Gambier, of an ashtray bearing a hand painted line drawing of the front of the School. Mr. Bean followed this with a resume of the highlights of the School year, and then read out apologies from Messrs. Con Bussenschutt, Lancelot Crompton, P. R. Drenckhan, F. E. G. Edwards, R. L. Gurr, E. D. Gifford, R. D. Glyde, A. E. Harvey, Frank Harvey, A. E. Jarrett, F. D. Jackman, K. H. Kirkham, G. H. Kendrew, D. C. Kidd, Hedley R. Lavis, John Lathlean, W. R. C. Morris, S. G. Newbold, A. J. Olsson, G. G. Roach, C. R. Sutton, R. Treloar, W. J. Trott and L. S. Walsh.

He then announced the names of Old Boys in attendance, beginning with those who entered the School in 1915 and were therefore present for the first time. As the names in each yearly group were called, the Old Boys stood and were applauded by the present boys of the School. A standing ovation was given to the oldest Old Scholar of all, Mr. Vernon Smith, who entered the School in 1889.

Those present were:

- 1915—W. R. Baker, F. M. Buring, C. C. Cosgrove, C. H. Day, N. T. Hobbs, P. C. Hutchins, A. G. May, N. L. S. Munn, H. H. Pitt, R. S. Rhodes, C. E. South, R. T. Binns, F. Cockington.

 1889—V. S. Smith.

After the ovation for him, Mr. Smith was presented with a birthday cake iced in the School colours and appropriately decorated. For this gesture we are indebted to Mrs. Bean. Following that, the Headmaster read the names of the team members for the Intercollegiate football match and extended best wishes to coach Peter Thomas and the team. The Assembly then sang the Football Song, after which three cheers were exchanged between old and present scholars.

After the Assembly, old Old Scholars and Association committee moved to the Boarders' Common Room, where Mr. Smith's cake was duly cut and sampled by all at morning tea.

In the evening, Princes again successfully defended the B. A. Fricker Cup in the annual squash match against Saints Old Collegians, winning for the eighth year in succession, which is a very fine record. P.A.O.C.A. was represented this year by Craig McIntosh, Jim Sweeney, Ron Byrne, Chris Hamilton, Don Perriam, Brian Measday, Mike Story, David Hassell, Graham Evans, Viv Burton and John Solly, with Princes winning 7 rubbers to Saints 5.

After the final match, Mr. Dick Jay, the convener for Saints, presented the cup to our President, Mr. Brian Potter.

Friday, 25th July

The Annual Dinner was attended by 370 Old Scholars and was held this year for the first time in Noah's Top Room at the Arkaba Hotel, Glen Osmond. This new venue was generally considered to be a very sound choice, and equal approval was given to the revised method of payment for the dinner and refreshments.

Grace was given by the President of the Methodist Conference of S.A., and later the Loyal Toast was proposed by our Association President. When subsequently addressing the gathering, Mr. Potter welcomed all present and in particular Mr.

Raymond T. Smith, recently retired from the position of Deputy Headmaster, who had agreed to propose the toast to the School. He also welcomed the Headmaster, the President of the Methodist Conference and of the College Council, Rev. F. E. Tregilgas; the Chairman of the College Council, Rev. G. T. Inglis; the President of the Prince Alfred College Foundation, Mr. Geoffrey Gerard; the Master of the Prince Alfred Collegians Lodge, Mr. Phil Williams; and, as a special guest, Mr. Len Clarkson, who, as President of the Old Collegians' Association in 1936, is its most senior Past President. Members of the committee at the President's table were the Immediate Past President, Dr. Brian Hobbs; the Junior Vice-President and Toastmaster, Mr. Ron Byrne; the Association Treasurer, Mr. Colin Newbery; and the Association Secretary, Mr. Peter Buttery.

Mr. Potter, continuing, said that a telegram of good wishes had been received from Mr. Bruce Macklin, the President of St. Peters Collegians' Association. A return telegram had been sent to Saints. He referred also to the deaths, amongst others in the last twelve months, of Mr. J. S. Steele, a master at P.A.C. for 46 years, and Mr. Ern Hunwick, the Association's President in 1968.

The President then referred to the various activities during Old Boys' Week, regretting that the contests against Saints had finished 6-3 in Saints favour, with the tennis to be played later in the year. The Old Scholars' Assembly at the School the previous morning had had a very good attendance of 72, with Mr. Vernon Smith as the doyen. Melbourne, Sydney and Perth Branch dinners were being held this week and other branches who had dinners so far this year were London, South-East (at Bordertown), Mid-North (at Appila), Riverland (at Loxton) and Yorke Peninsula (at Maitland), with Canberra and Eyre Peninsula yet to come. Recorded tape messages had been sent to the interstate/overseas branches for their dinners, with the Headmaster of St. Peters adding his remarks to those for the Perth and Canberra dinners, as these were joint functions. Mr. Potter also mentioned the forthcoming Old Reds' Ball, to be held in the Adelaide Town Hall on 22nd August, replacing the dinner-dance of recent years.

The President then spoke of the Old Scholars Sports Clubs, with particular reference to John Causby's appointment as captain-coach of the Cricket Club and Robert Day's position as coach of the Football Club, and the good use that the clubs were making of the premises at 245 The Parade. He also spoke of the very encouraging gathering of 64 young Old Scholars in February this year at the annual get-together for those who had just left school, and how equally encouraging it was to see so many of that 64 at tonight's dinner, pointing out that it was these young men on whom the Association depended in the future to maintain it in its present strong position with its membership of about 4,000. It was this strength that had helped the committee to decide that the Association, as a body, should become a trustee of the Prince Alfred College Foundation, and the President said that donations and promises to the Foundation from all sections of the School family now exceeded $300,000.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Potter expressed his appreciation of the Association Committee's work during the year and paid a special tribute to the very positive support given to the Association by its Patron, the Headmaster. Mr. Potter finally appealed to all present to be present at the Annual Service in the Eric Freak Memorial Chapel the following Sunday, when Rev. Kyle Waters, the School Chaplain, would give the address, it being the last occasion on which Rev. Waters would speak at an Old Scholars' Service in that capacity, as he was leaving the School this year after 21 years of chaplaincy duties.

The guest of honour, Mr. Raymond T. Smith, said that he was undoubtedly expected to reminisce, and he proposed to do just that, beginning by recalling his first week at the School, which gave him no impression of the next 38 good years he was to spend there. It began inauspiciously with a brisk brush with the then Headmaster, Mr. J. F. Ward, about the unheralded introduction of some Leaving Chemistry notes to the relevant class. Mr. Ward had not been consulted about this, but after his initial explosion decided that the new Science master was not trying to take over the running of the whole school! Mr. Smith also recalled the wartime classroom cleaning competitions (in the days before "competition" was a dirty word in the educational vocabulary) and the mysterious disappearance on one occasion of the cup held weekly by the class with the cleanest room for the previous week. After intense but fruitless detective work by the Head, the case was declared "unsolved" and the competition lapsed, not even to be revived after the chance discovery of the missing trophy in a nearby culvert some months later. Occasional "bouquets" came the way of the scholars, though, as was evidenced by a phone call one day to the School from a lady complimenting some P.A.C. boys on giving up their seats on a bus to, firstly, "an elderly gentleman" and then to other boarding passengers. However, questioned as to the bus and time of travel brought the deduction that the "elderly gentleman" had been R.T.S. himself, making a rare bus ride during a petrol strike!

Other anecdotes in like vein followed, then on a more serious note Mr. Smith spoke of the quality of scholarship evidenced by boys at Prince Alfred College, the wise direction of many men who had served the School long and well on the School Council, and the leadership shown to the School by the three Headmasters under whom he had served—J. F. Ward, John Dunning and Geoffrey Bean. Mr. Smith paid tribute to these three men—the two former who had, in their own ways, led the School through depression, wartime and post-war years to hand over to the present Head a school in excellent shape, in an era of social change where the incoming Headmaster was subject to many pressures. Mr. Smith said that, as an ex-Deputy, he could be allowed to get away with a public assessment of his Headmaster's performance and that was that Geoffrey Bean was destined to be recognised as one of Australia's outstanding Headmasters.

Mr. Smith then spoke of his colleagues on the School staff over the years, referring in particular to Gilbert Potts, his predecessor as Deputy Headmaster, K. W. A. Smith, "unsurpassed as a teacher of Mathematics"; Alan Dennis, "Argus of the hundred eyes"; and the capable School Chaplain of the last 21 years, Rev. Kyle Waters. In concluding his remarks, Mr. Smith referred to the School's achievements in sport over the years, the coaches who had trained boys to gain these laurels, and the boys themselves who had developed into players of interstate and international standard. He ended by saying, "Gentlemen, this is the School and these are some of the men we honour in this toast tonight. I ask you . . . to rise and drink this toast with me . . . to Princes! The best school of them all!"

In responding to Mr. Smith's toast, the Headmaster spoke feelingly of his own debt of gratitude to Mr. Smith, who had done everything possible to assist a new and young Headmaster into his place at P.A.C. In his following customary review of school life since the last dinner, Mr. Bean spoke with enthusiasm and pleasure of the wonderful progress in the building of the Library Resource Centre, a situation totally reversed from that which had prevailed at this time twelve months ago. He also alluded to the development of the Prince Alfred College Foundation, the work being done for it by its Chairman and many others, and the tangible support for it by the many members of the College family who, as individuals or groups, had already made such generous donations or pledges. That this development was taking place at its present rate was one reason for having confidence in the future, but Mr. Bean said that he also had some fears and went on to comment on the parallels between the state of Britain in 1969 and Australia in 1975. He summarised the factors that had led Britain to the brink of disaster and, while he had yet remaining some faith in the British capacity to overcome, the country was not enjoying positive leadership and he felt strongly that Australia, with all her natural advantages and unparalleled opportunities to learn from the mistakes of others, seemed to be slavishly following the same downward path, a situation which could not entirely be blamed on "whingeing Poms." He felt certain that, in the relatively short run, the Australian economy would pick up, but he saw very little sign of the leadership, awareness and determination necessary to arrest long-term trends. Consequently, the real danger to Princes was that which existed to our economy, our social institutions, our form of government and our love of liberty. In warning that Australia today felt to him like Britain in 1969, Mr. Bean said that the good things we valued in our society and our inheritance could be lost forever without a single law being passed, the recipe being the conditioning of men's minds to apathetic acceptance of the apparently inevitable and regular doses of high rates of inflation. But, the Headmaster concluded, there was no necessity for these things to happen if we cared enough to act. William Pitt the Younger pointed out the dangers clearly when he said in the House of Commons in 1783:—

"Necessity is the plea for every infringement of human freedom. It is the argument of tyrants. It is the creed of slaves."

After the tumultuous applause which followed Mr. Bean's remarks had died down, the Toastmaster indicated that the formal part of the evening would conclude with "Auld Lang Syne," after which the diners were free to mingle amongst themselves and renew old acquaintanceships.

Saturday, 26th July

The Prince Alfred Collegians' Lodge, by command of the W.M., Bro Phil Williams, held its "Old Boys' Night" on this Saturday at the Masonic Temple, North Terrace. A special feature of the ceremony was a presentation of Scottish Masonic ritual by Lodge Kilwinning. In accordance with tradition, the principal guests were the Worshipful Master and brethren of St. Peter's Collegiate Lodge.

A toast to the School was ably proposed by Bro. Vaughan Whitford, Bro. Rev. Kyle Waters responded with his customary verve. Worshipful Bro. Kevin Parkinson, in proposing a toast to the Old Collegians' Association, referred to the rich heritage shared by the Lodge and the Association. Bro. John Bunday expressed his personal pleasure in responding to a toast which acknowledged the ties binding the Lodge and the Association, adding that these sentiments were shared by the Association President, Mr. Brian Potter.

Sunday, 27th July

A most successful Old Boys' Week concluded with the Annual Service, which was held for the fourth time in the Eric Freak Memorial Chapel. Over 300 Old Scholars and present students attended, although regrettably only 59 Old Scholars signed the attendance register in the crypt.

The service was conducted by the Headmaster, Mr. G. B. Bean, M.A., M.A.C.E., and began with an Introit sung by the School Choir, followed by responsive verses, the Lord's Prayer and the Assembly Hymn. After the Litany for all in education and the hymn "Through all the changing scenes of life," the Headmaster read the names of Old Boys who had died during the year. The School Choir rendered an anthem and Mr. Brian Potter read the lesson from St. Matthew 5: 13-22, 38-48. Then, following prayers and the hymn "Lead us, Heavenly Father, lead us." The address was given by the School Chaplain, Rev. Kyle Waters, E.D., B.A. This was a special occasion for the Chaplain, as he finishes his term of chaplaincy at Prince Alfred College at the end of 1975, having accepted an appointment elsewhere.

Preaching on the text, "If anyone forces you to go one mile, go with him two miles" (Matthew 5:41), the Chaplain pointed out that the second mile of Christian idealism began only where the first mile ended, and that most of us hadn't even got there yet. That first mile was the roughest part of life's journey as it was the part we HAD to do. Every 1st Century Jew knew that—at any hour of the day or night a Roman soldier could compel any one of them to carry his pack for one mile. It was unthinkable that anyone should go even further, and this saying of Jesus must have dropped like a bombshell into the midst of his hearers.

There could be no doubt that society would be transformed if people forgot for a while the idealism of the second mile and merely fulfilled the hard realities of the first—at work, for example, or in the home. Although it was notably unglamorous, service to one's own family was not an optional extra but something that God and society had a right to expect of us; and if more parents walked it cheerfully, the home would be a saner and more stable institution than it was today.

While it was true that Jesus walked the second mile with exaltation, He also walked the first with patience. Before He ever set foot on the second mile of the road that took Him to the Cross, He spent thirty years of His life as a village carpenter supporting His family, walking the first mile of grinding necessity and compulsion. That Carpenter did not withhold His presence from us until we walked the second mile, but met us as we did our job or tried to get along with people or did what was good. He was with all who resolutely did what they had to do from the beginning of the first mile and He stayed with us all the way along that difficult road which He Himself knew so well.

The service concluded with the hymn, "Fill Thou my life, O Lord my God," sung, as with the other hymns and anthem, to organ music ably provided by Mr. Mark Symons, B.Sc., B.E.

Thus a very successful Old Scholars' Week ended. The President, on behalf of all members, wishes to express his thanks to the Headmaster, to Committeemen who acted as conveners for the various events, and to members for their support and interest. Likewise our thanks and good wishes are extended to our opposite numbers at Saints, and we express our pleasure at being associated with them during another Old Boys' Week.

ASSOCIATION TOKENS

The Association issues two official badges. The larger size, which has a chain and bar attached, costs $2.85, and the smaller size, which has a pin attached, is $1.25. Members are reminded that these tokens remain the property of the Association and are held by the member only for so long as he remains a member of the Association.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

School Prefects for 1925 were M. W. Evans (Captain of the School), A. M. Bills, R. H. M. Buring, L. C. Dawkins, M. J. Haldane, D. A. J. Hunwick, R. F. Kemp, R. C. L. Rofe and H. M. Southwood.

The first intercollegiate contest for the year was the tennis, played on 7th March. In spite of a two rubber lead over Saints at lunch time, P.A.C. eventually lost to S.P.S.C. 6 rubbers to 9. The Princes team was A. M. Bills (Captain), D. A. Hunwick, R. F. Fox, S. J. Torr, H. E. Loechel and H. G. Robinson. S.P.S.C. also won the Intercollegiate Sports on 24th April by 86½ points to 33½. At the School Sports a week later, R. C. L. Royal won the College Cup, and M. W. Evans repeated his performance of the previous year to win the One-mile Flat. In the Second Term, St. Peters won the football 14-6 to 9-15. Princes was captained by C. J. Rofe and our best players were G. Hallett, E. J. Reid, L. P. A. Lawrence, S. F. Heaslip, E. A. Schulz and C. J. Rofe.

The forty-ninth Intercollegiate cricket match was played out in three days with a decisive win for S.P.S.C. Princes scored 158 in the first innings and Saints then ran up 439 and P.A.C. was only able to score 155 in its second innings.

Colton House was Cock House for 1925. Waterhouse was first in athletics, but lost ground badly in class records; Colton was first in class work and well up in athletics and won the distinction of being the first holder of the McDougall Cup.

Ivor Hele was awarded Princess Louise's Prize in the Dominion and Foreign section of the Royal Drawing Society's Exhibition in London in April.

During the second term, Rev. P. B. "Tubby" Clayton addressed a morning assembly on the subject of Toc H.

Mr. J. Ashton retired at the end of 1925 after 39 years as art master at the school. He presented the School with fourteen pictures by various artists, including three of his own works.

The Old Collegians' Association became an incorporated body in 1925. In that year the committee inaugurated Old Boys' Day, to be held at the School on the Thursday of Old Boys' Week. Those who signed the visitors' book ranged from Alfred S. Lewis (School Roll No. 2) to T. E. Ashby (School Roll No. 5648). It is worthy of note that four others who signed the book that day in 1925 were present at the "old" Old Scholars Assembly 50 years later, viz., No. 3236 L. L. Davey (1899), No. 4221 P. A. C. Lewis (1908), No. 4735 C. O. Giles (1913), and No. 4840 F. L. Collison (1914).

The Annual Dinner of the Association was held at the Grosvenor Hotel with a good attendance, and about 700 attended the Palais Night at the Palais Royal.

Dr. F. S. Hone gave the address at the twenty-first Annual Service, where reference was made by the Headmaster to the death earlier in the year of Rev. N. J. Cocks, the author of "Princes Men."

The stained glass window donated by Old Scholars in Sydney was placed in the Hall of Remembrance beside the one given in the same year by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Clarkson.

At the Old Scholars 47th Annual Meeting, Mr. L. D. Waterhouse was elected President and Mr. H. B. Piper the new Vice-President.

At Speech Day in the Adelaide Town Hall, His Excellency the Governor (Sir Tom Bridges) presented the prizes. The Dux of the School was M. W. Evans, who was also Captain of the School and Captain of cricket.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL CLUB

The 1975 season was one of little satisfaction for the A Grade team, as it finished bottom in "A2". The B Grade fought its way into the "A2" Reserve Grand Final, only to be defeated by Ferryden Park. The final score was 7 goals 11 to 5 goals 6 points. The "C" team playing in A Grade finished in 6th position.

The respective team captains were Rick Gray, Trevor Craig and Dave Hallett.

The "D" side had to forfeit early in the season through lack of players. When numbers were required in the lower grades, assistance came from schoolboys and older members.

Robert Day, as coach for the A Grade team, is to be congratulated for his untiring efforts throughout the season.

At the club dinner Max Thompson was awarded the Ross Johnston Trophy for Best and Fairest in the A Grade team. Other trophy winners were Mark Rogers, Nick Williams and Dean Noblett in the A Grade. The B Grade winners were Mark Dahlenburg, Peter Brinsley and Trevor Craig. The C Grade winners were Steve Davies, Chris Parsons, and David Hallett.

Life Membership Certificates were presented to Peter Dunn, Alan Letcher, Craig Moffatt and Brenton Perks. John Edwards is to be congratulated for playing his 200th game for the Club.

Prospective players and supporters seeking information on the Club's activities may contact Robert Cornish at work at 276 0711, and 75 5935 at home.

CRICKET CLUB

Last season was one without much success, our three sides finishing second bottom, bottom and equal bottom. As a result, the A's were dropped from Grade A1 to A2 (the first time since the turf competition was inaugurated), the "B"s from A2 to A3, and the "C"s remain in A6.

Despite this, there is evident within the Club a firm belief that the coming season will be one of our most successful. This optimism stems from the fact that the Club has been most fortunate in acquiring the services of ex-State batsman John Causby, who has agreed to act as playing coach over the next three seasons. John will captain the "As", the "Bs" will be captained by Richard Blake and the "Cs" by Peter Buttery. Matches start in mid-October and all new players interested in representing the Club should contact the Secretary, David Hassell (31 2647 home, 267 4344 work), John Causby (43 3493 home, 87 5068 work), or alternatively contact with the Club can be made at practices on Tuesday and Thursday nights at the School.

Trophy winners last season were Craig McIntosh, Greg Sanders and Peter Buttery, who took out the "A", "B" and "C" batting aggregates, and Rob Shaughnessy, John Tucker and David Compton the respective bowling trophies. In the "Cs", Robert Day (129 runs) and Peter Buttery (103 runs) put together the first 200-run partnership on Club records.

The Club this season will again operate "The House" at 245 The Parade, Norwood, from 1st October, 1975, to 31st March, 1976, and all visitors are most welcome.

ATHLETIC CLUB

The 1975-76 Inter-club Summer Season promises to carry a heightened degree of interest as competition will be run on the exciting new tartan track at Kensington Olympic Sports Field. All athletes are finding the surface exceptional.

The Club will again field two senior teams—in A and C Grades, affording a reasonable mix of competitive levels—and a junior (under 19) and sub-junior (under 17) team. We are maintaining our invitation to Old Scholars and masters (both past and present) of other independent and/or church schools to compete with us.

Rick Bond has been elected Club Captain this year and potentially interested competitors should contact him (phone at business 51 0331) or Phil Nehmy (business 51 2237, home 337 7132).

BASKETBALL CLUB

With the winter season drawing to a close, the Club is finishing one of its most disappointing seasons for many years. This has been brought about partly by a lack of Association umpires in the competition and a noticeable lack of enthusiasm, organisation and communication throughout the Club.

The umpire situation at Bowden Stadium this year has been deplorable, with players without experience having to umpire matches because of the non-appearance of Association umpires, and on a few occasions matches having to be completely abandoned. While the D. & M.A.B.A. Inc. is aware of the situation and is trying to remedy it, far more constructive measures will need to be taken if our Club, or any other for that matter, is to be able to keep present players interested and, more importantly perhaps, recruit new members.

Apart from the B team, which did reach its preliminary final, the other two teams finished well down the premierships tables with the C team having to forfeit at least six matches due to injuries, study problems and business absences. Because of this, the Club can only now enter two teams for the summer competition, and unless players can all buck in and help run the Club in all respects, even these two teams will lapse.

After that gloomy report, it will be clearly seen that we need help, and anyone willing and able to do so is asked to contact the Secretary, Bill Walkley, at 223 1815.

SQUASH NOTES

The Old Reds Squash Club has returned to its original venue at Norwood where the club first entered teams in the Squash Racquets Association competition in 1952.

Old Reds "The Brothers Day" Ian, Rob and Allen have welcomed our club to their courts on The Parade, Norwood. In making the move the general feeling of club members was tested at the successful mid-season dinner held at the Public Schools Club. Members seem to appreciate the friendly and casual atmosphere developing at Norwood, made further possible with the area provided for club candidates behind Court No. 7.

The first half of the spring pennant series is over, and generally the club has improved its position with respect to last season's competition at the same relative stage of the series.

Five teams are in the top four.

A2: C. McIntosh (Captain), R. Day, R. Blake, J. Sweeney, R. Byrne.

B2: G. Evans (Captain), D. Hassell, V. Burton, P. Stewart, A. McPhee.

B3: W. Phillips (Captain), J. Solly, J. Walter, J. Threadgold, R. Oliver.

C3: T. Craig (Captain), C. Clarke, P. Nehmy, W. DeGaris, R. West.

C5: M. Spencer (Captain), G. Alexander, P. Cuthbertson, R. Freeman, D. King.

Of the others, two could make the finals.

Interest in Squash is certainly growing, and we welcome any potential members wanting to join and play squash at any level of the competition or as social members. Give Secretary V. Burton a call (home 30 1825), (business 223 1355) or the Treasurer, Graham Evans (home 337 5625), (business 42 3544).

OLD SCHOLARS' BALL

A highly successful ball was held at the Adelaide Town Hall on 22nd August with some 350 people in attendance. The ball was reinstated in the Association programme as a substitute for the dinner-dance, which has been a regular event over the past few years, in the belief that Old Scholars and friends would appreciate the opportunity for gathering in greater numbers in pleasant circumstances for a moderately priced evening. It also provided an opportunity for the Association sporting clubs to pool their resources in a meaningful way. The evening did produce a surplus which was distributed amongst the clubs.

Your committee has been encouraged by the response to this year's function and the Town Hall has been booked again—for 28th August next year—when we hope that even more people will wish to be a part of the evening.

PRINCE ALFRED COLLEGIANS' LODGE No. 51, S.A.C.

The year began with the October, 1974, meeting at which W. Bro. Phil Williams was installed as Worshipful Master. The Board of Installed Masters was conducted by W. Bro. Alex Gray, G.S., and the Installing Master was W. Bro. Malcolm Tavender. The M.W. Grand Master was represented at the ceremony by R.W. Bro. Arthur Segnit, G.W., and the ceremony was conducted by officers of our own Lodge.

At the banquet which followed the toast to the incoming Master was proposed by Bro. Rev. Kyle Waters, Chaplain of both the School and the Lodge. The Junior Warden, Bro. Peter Broadbent, proposed the toast to the visitors, the response being in the hands of W. Bro. John Powell, Master of St. Peter's Collegiate Lodge.

It is interesting that our new Tyler was Bro. Ivan Rowley Morris, a great nephew of the 1907 foundation Junior Deacon of the Lodge, V.W. Bro. Amos Rowley, P.D.G.M., who was later a well known friend of the School.

During the year the formal degree workings included the raising of Bro. Jamie Tavender, the initiation and passing of Bro. Vaughan Whitford, and the initiation of Bro. Frank Cornish.

At our March meeting we were addressed by the late R.W. Bro. E. Mander-Jones on "The Early History of Freemasonry in South Australia." The May meeting was a successful Ladies' Night, when, at the close of the meeting the ladies were admitted to the Temple for a series of lectures by our own members.

To conclude a good year we combined with Lodge of Affinity for an address on "The Landmarks of the Order" by the Grand Lecturer, V.W. Bro. Judge Lawrie Johnston, who is an Old Scholar of the School.

Officers for the coming year 1975/76 are—W.M., W. Bro. A. A. Shepherd; I.P.M., W. Bro. P. M. Williams, S.W., Bro. P. L. Broadbent, J.W., Bro. B. Miller; Chaplain, Bro. Rev. R. K. Waters, Treasurer, W. Bro. A. J. Charles, P.G.S.; Secretary, W. Bro. M. P. Horner, P.G.P.; Almoner, W. Bro. P. A. Dalwood, P.G.S.D.; D.C., W. Bro. K. J. Parkinson, P.G.Std.; S.D., Bro. A. J. Wurm; J.D., Bro. I. R. Morris; Stewards, Bros. I. Toop, Bro. R. K. Mason, Bro. R. B. Laughton, Bro. P. F. Edwards, Bro. B. D. Kenyon; Tyler, Bro. D. L. Wiltshire.

Membership of Prince Alfred Collegians Lodge is open only to Old Scholars and staff of the School to enable them to enjoy the experience of Freemasonry. For prospective members who may have wondered what it is all about, the Grand Lodge of South Australia has available a new booklet to assist them to take the first step. The lodge has vacancies in its programme for the initiation of new members, and our Secretary, Murray Horner, will be pleased to help those who may be interested (phone at home 43 8309, or at work 259 5370).

The South-East Dinner will be held at Penola on Saturday, 6th March, 1976. The convener is Rodger Todd.

BRANCH REPORTS

London

The Annual Dinner of London Branch was held on Friday, 4th July, at our usual venue, the Royal Commonwealth Society, in Northumberland Avenue, London. The Chairman, David Walker, presided over 28 members who sat down to dine at 7.45 p.m., and as is usual with our London dinners, the room was soon echoing with laughter and anecdote as old and new friends met to pay honour to our Alma Mater.

On the wall behind the top table was proudly displayed our School banner, and the tables were tastefully decorated with bowls of red and white floral sets with interwoven ribbons in the School colours—plus a scattering of koalas and kangaroos! Our guest of honour this year was the Agent-General for South Australia, Mr. John White, C.M.G., who rose at 8.40 p.m. to propose the principal toast of "Our Old School." In the course of a bright and thoughtful speech, the Agent-General posed the question, "Why are we here tonight?" For himself, not an Old Boy, the answer was that it was a privilege to honour the School as the official representative of Her Majesty's South Australian Government. As a South Australian, he had watched P.A.C. grow and expand its activities over many years and build its unrivalled reputation as a leader amongst the independent schools of Australia. As for the Old Boys, they were there that night in a united bond of gratitude at their good fortune in receiving their basic education "... at a school which has regard to the broad spectrum of needs in education—significantly, your education has been based on a proper recognition of the Christian religion." Mr. White went on to say that independent schools were under tremendous challenge for the future and he hoped that Old Scholars would never relax their interest in their old school—it was that interest that would prove its greatest strength in withstanding the winds of change. He was delighted to find the London branch playing such an active role.

By tradition, at 9 p.m. the tape recorded messages from the Headmaster and the President of the Association in Adelaide were played and we thank both of these gentlemen for their greetings and best wishes for a successful dinner (which everyone present agreed it undoubtedly was!)

Following the messages, the response to the Agent-General's toast was made by Professor Renfrey Potts, University of Adelaide, who was in particularly good form. After thanking Mr. White for his thoughtful speech, including his complimentary remarks about P.A.C., Ren lapsed into anecdotes and recollections of life at School over the last 3 years. Included, of course, were some hilarious stories concerning his late father Gilbert ("Gympy"), affectionately remembered by thousands of Old Boys as a respected master and friend. As Renfrey's speech proceeded in racy style, many eyes lit up with interest as individuals were reminded of half-forgotten episodes and facets of life at school. It was certainly a great response which will be long remembered at London branch.

The formal part of the proceedings ended with the toast to "Our Visitors," proposed by Ron Medlow and responded to by a former London member of years gone by, Mr. H. Michell Rees, F.R.C.S. ("Dunga" to his many old friends of his Harley Street days), now living in retirement in Malta, G.C.

In between speeches, proceedings were greatly enlivened by the enthusiastic singing of favourite School songs, led by Dr. Jon Jorgenson with great effect, while Dr. Brian Whealley did sterling work at the electric organ. The 1975 Dinner was really a great success and owes much to the generous assistance extended to the Hon. Secretary by John Norsworthy during the former's illness at a critical period. Our one regret is that two senior masters of P.A.C. who happened to be visiting Europe at this time, viz., Bill Leak and Chester Bennett, were not able to be with us on this memorable occasion as we had hoped.

PLEASE NOTE: The 1976 Old Boys' Dinner of the London Branch will be held on Friday, 2nd July, 1976, at the Royal Commonwealth Society, Northumberland Avenue, London, with the Chairman (Ron Medlow) presiding.

New South Wales

Summer Function: On Saturday, 15th March, President Doug Sandow had an open house for all Old Boys and their wives. People gathered in the large family room, which overlooked a beautiful swimming pool and brightly lit garden. A total of 28 guests enjoyed the atmosphere of an "old fashioned" get-together. Although it was a cool evening, four or five guests took to the water at a late hour, with quite a competitive spirit. Our thanks to Doug for a very successful function.

Annual Dinner: As usual, we held our dinner on the same night as the Adelaide function. This year we had a disappointing 17 Old Reds attending. Nevertheless, the evening, held at the Royal Automobile Club, got under way to a bright start with pre-dinner drinks at 6.30 p.m.

Retiring President, Doug Sandow, welcomed all present in his usual bright manner and read out the rather long list of apologies. The toast to the School was given by one of our very loyal Old Boys, Ken Barton, who did so in a very bright and breezy manner.

Unfortunately, due to the postal disruptions, we did not receive the tape in time to play the recorded message from the President and Headmaster at the dinner. We did, however, have a copy of a tape Doug Sandow sent to the Adelaide dinner, and this was played for the interest of all present.

Later in the evening, our customary short annual general meeting was conducted, during which Peter Dunn was elected President. Peter is a long supporting member of the Sydney branch and served as Secretary some eight years ago. David Motteram was re-elected branch Secretary and scribe for the chronicle notes.

At the close of the dinner, a number of guests adjourned to the club bar until well after closing time. It is alleged that the last guests to leave spent quite some time attempting to open the club garage—with little success.

Annual Dinner Follow-up: On Monday, 8th September, a small function was held to hear the tape recording from the President and Headmaster, which did not arrive in time for the dinner. A total of 10 Old Boys went along to the Lane Cove Country Club at 6.00 p.m. to hear the tape and enjoy a quiet cocktail hour.

Queensland (S.A. Schools Association)

Apart from our usual monthly lunchtime get-togethers which are attended by approximately 12 members, the only social outing was a recent barbecue at our President's (Len Boyle) house. It was most enjoyable to get together in such a delightful garden setting. The 30 or so members and their wives present voted it an excellent day.

We have recently said goodbye to one of our staunchest members in John Brown, who has decided to return to live in Adelaide. We are, at this stage, not aware of his Adelaide address.

Any visitors who are in Brisbane are very welcome to attend the monthly lunch time meetings and contact can be made through the Secretary/Treasurer, Brian Monson (31 1731).

Western Australia

Annual Dinner: The Annual Combined Dinner with Saints, held at the Perth Club on Friday, 25th July, met with the usual success. Although our members were down a little on previous years, it was a most enjoyable evening.

The toast to the School was proposed by Neil Lodge, who was making his first appearance at a dinner in the West, while the Chairman for the night was our President, Roger Weber. The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Clive Boundy, a Saints scholar, who showed some slides and gave a most interesting talk on the Ord River Scheme in the north-west of this State.

The recorded messages from the Headmasters of both Schools and our President were well received by all present.

General: The Branch Secretary is Malcolm Fogden, 7 Bankhurst Way, Greenwood 6024, who would appreciate hearing of any new arrivals or changes of address of local members. The Sunday downer combined with Saints is held on the second Friday of each month at the Perth Club, Sherwood Court.

We would appreciate seeing any new faces as well as all the regular ones at this function.

In the sporting field we have had mixed success this year. The annual cricket match was won on a forfeit from Saints as they were unable to field a team, but unfortunately they evened up the score with a convincing win in the tennis. The golf match will be held on 5th October at the Cottesloe Golf Club, when we hope to make the score two out of three in the sporting field this year.

We had an informal gathering on August 27th at the Royal Perth Yacht Club which was attended by our Headmaster, who was in Perth for the Headmasters' Conference. Those who were unable to attend welcomed the opportunity to meet our Headmaster and found it most informative and enjoyable.

It is with much regret that we note the death of Dr. A. L. Dawkins on 6/8/75. His enthusiasm for, and support of, the Association will be sadly missed by all who knew and respected him.

Victoria

Victoria has had another active year with the highlight as usual being the dinner, which was held at the University Club rather than at our normal venue in recent years, University House. The change was due to the lobbying of our guest speaker, Paull Fiddian, and it proved to be an excellent choice. The meal and surroundings were first class and complemented the brilliantly witty reminiscences which Paull gave of life at the School some sixty years ago. Amongst the thirty present were David Prest (in his dual capacity as an Old Scholar and Headmaster of Wesley), Charles Crompton, Cliff Bartholomaeus, Ian Nicholson, John "Pug" Keeves, Bruce Pederick, David Haynes and Jim Alexander.

A well attended squash night at this time of the year in 1974 prompted the holding of another one in mid-October this year. Roger Perrin was the convener for both occasions.

The 1974 Christmas barbecue was held at Barry Jefferson's place with Geoff Williamson, David Watkins and Bruce Isaacs being amongst the fifty or so in attendance. For 1975, a family day at Bruce Burrows' home is planned and we look forward to seeing a good muster of branch members and their families.

Another family day is the tennis at the Sandringham courts, and in 1976 the date planned is Sunday, 29th February. Convener Rex Miller assures us that he will again organise the weather to be as perfect as has been in past years.

Bruce Burrows hopes to arrange two golf days in the coming twelve months, and if you are interested in playing, or indeed joining us in any of our other activities, Secretary Ian McKay would be delighted to hear from you.

Bruce Burrows is currently President of the branch, and other committeemen are John Chappell, Peter Dawe, Bob Davis, John Cooper, John Leak, Roger Perrin, Bob Sharland and Rex Miller.

SCHOOL ETCHINGS

After persistent enquiries from members for some years, the Association has been able to purchase a limited number of excellent prints. The original by Mr. John Goodchild shows the historical centre building and the first two wings. The old pavilion is also sighted, and so the whole drawing is of considerable historical value. The cost to members is $10.50 and copies may be obtained from the Association Office.

ASSOCIATION TIES

Members are reminded that these are available from the Association Office. Navy blue tie with badge motif. Price: $3.00.

Ties can also be posted to members on receipt of money.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS CLUB

This year the energies of the Committee were tested by rampaging inflation, wage cost, and general financial instability. However, the Club has continued to grow and maintain its viability in every respect.

The Adelaide Room, which was completed this time last year, has been well supported by way of members' functions and evening dining. The Committee, which worked so hard for the concept and achievement, can look back in pride. Members should give consideration to thought of financing additions to the Club, and constructive ideas and advice are always appreciated by the Committee. Progressive, carefully planned development since the Club's inception now offers us top conditions, but these must be matched by adequate service facilities.

Approval from the Adelaide City Council has been obtained to extend the building to take into account the new kitchen. However, due to inflation and the cost of borrowing, it appears that some revision may have to be made of the cost associated with these extensions.

Membership has maintained a satisfactory level (842). However, the need for your continued support and energy to absorb the ever increasing costs in running a Club of this standing is ever more essential. All Club members are encouraged to seek further members, especially among the school leavers, as these are the ones on whom the future is based.

Tennis

Although we had over forty entrants to compete for the B. A. Fricker Cup on 23rd March, at Memorial Drive, it was unfortunately necessary for the event to be postponed until later on this year on account of rain. A tentative booking has been made at Memorial Drive for Sunday, 9th November, so those interested may have to take note of this date.

Golf

A most successful Stableford event was conducted on 28th April at Kooyonga Golf Club, and the winner of the Lady Sandford Shield was Peter Fowler with 32 Stableford points, and the runner-up was Chris Clarke with 30 points.

Bowls

This year we were successful in being able to conduct the annual bowls tournament, in which thirty members competed. The tournament was held at the Kensington Gardens Bowling Club on the night of 25th February, and was won by the team comprised of Paul Healy (skipper), Kemp Colebatch and Clive Lucas. The runners-up were Colin Branson (skipper), Tony Cranston, Stephen Mann and John O'Neil. As this has now proved to be the most popular of the sporting events, it is envisaged that it will most certainly be held at least annually from now on, and more often if possible.

Squash

The Collegians Squash Club continues to go from strength to strength, having this season entered eleven teams in the pennant competitions of the South Australian Squash Rackets Association. Last season the Club was successful in winning two premierships and were runners-up for two others. At the present time a club handicap competition is being conducted, and it is hoped that by the time of the Annual General Meeting the names of the winners can be announced.

Mr. Tom Chapman, the nominee of your Association, is an enthusiastic member of the Committee.

Subscriptions: City Members, $60 per annum; Country Members, $30 per annum; Interstate Members, $30 per annum; Overseas Members, $15 per annum.

Note: The entrance fee has been waived at this date for a period, at the discretion of the Committee.

Old Scholars who are thinking of joining a club are urged to give some priority to this Club, which can also cater for social functions, dinners, etc.

The manager (Mr. John O'Neill) is always available to answer enquiries. (Telephone 223 3213).

EYRE PENINSULA DINNER

This year, for the first time, the dinner was held at Lock, at the Boomerang Hotel, and was an outstanding success. Forty-five members were present, including nine from Adelaide, and this is probably a record attendance for this function. The Adelaide party included the Headmaster (Mr. G. B. Bean), the Association President (Mr. Brian Potter) and Messrs. Colin Newbery (Treasurer), Roger Lang, John Edwards, Keith Scott, Ted Stephens (Committee members) and Tony Gerard and Owen Stephens.

The chairmanship of the gathering was in the very capable hands of Peter Penna from Elliston. The Toast to the School was very ably presented by Trevor Pearson, and the Headmaster responded in his own dynamic way, giving us an insight into the progress of the School and future planning for its continued improvement and success. Richard Doudle proposed the toast to the Association in an excellent speech, and Brian Potter responded with details of the activities of the Association and also thanked Peter Dunn and Jeff Pearson for their support in organising the dinner.

Thanks must also go to John Baker and Tom Bagshaw for their untiring efforts in helping the Adelaide party to enjoy the weekend so thoroughly.

It was decided to hold the 1976 Dinner again at Lock on Friday, 15th October.

Association ties were presented to the following: Youngest Old Scholars, Rodney Pearson, Yeelanna; Chris Jones, Cleve. Old Scholar who travelled the furthest distance, Perry Wills, Ceduna.

ADDRESSES UNKNOWN

The more than 500 names following are of Old Scholars, both Life and Ordinary members of your Association, with whom the Association has lost touch. Representing as it does substantially more than 10 per cent of the Association's strength, the size of the list is of great concern to your Committee. Life Members whose names are on it are not receiving their Chronicles each year, nor are Ordinary Members, so both groups are out of touch with School and Association affairs. Also, in the case of Ordinary Members, your Association is losing that proportion of its annual revenue represented by the non-payment of subscriptions.

You may say, "They must know where So-and-So is! Everyone knows him!" and while the Membership Sub-committee is working to correct these apparent absurdities and anomalies, it would still greatly value YOUR help in getting in touch with these, your fellow Old Scholars.

Now that you have realised that the chap in the next office, or next door, or wherever, is amongst those listed, twist his arm to get back in touch with the Association. We don't believe that this is an invasion of anyone's privacy—

DO believe that it is a worthwhile step towards making YOUR Association even stronger and better placed to carry out its aims and objectives than it is now.
