

PRINCE ALFRED COLLEGE

"Inspiring excellence"

*“The college is very proud of all its old scholars and counts among them
Second-Lieutenant Hugo Throssell VC, 10th Light horsed regiment AIF, one of 8 Australians to receive the VC, the nation’s highest award for valour*

His citation reads:

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty during operations on Kaiakij Aghala (Hill 60), in the Gallipoli Peninsula on 29th and 30th August 1915. Although severely wounded in several places during a counter attack, he refused to leave his post or to obtain medical assistance until all the danger had passed, when he had his wounds dressed and returned to the firing line until ordered out of action by the Medical officer. By his personal courage and example he kept up the spirits of his party, and was largely instrumental in saving the situation at a critical time.”

Headmaster Mr Kevin Tutt at the Headmaster’s Assembly 13 September 2010 reporting on the naming of ANZAC Hall

Inspiring Excellence

Boys at Prince Alfred College continue to inspire us with their infectious enthusiasm, willingness to try new things and their adaptability to change. With the support of teachers, families and their friends, many have attempted new things this year.

Along the way records have been broken and performances improved. Efforts have been recognised and appreciated as boys across all three schools have tried their hardest. Throughout the Chronicle, as you look closely at the photographs, you will see expressions of concentration and energetic effort on the faces of students who are 'giving their all'.

Theirs is the reward of a new skill learned and perhaps a winning prize with it. Theirs is the recognition by peers of their worthy efforts and tenacity. Those of us looking from the sidelines express our admiration and respect.

In this year's Chronicle we have recorded as much as space allows, the busy life of this College. The first page illustrates the conspicuous gallantry of Hugo Throssell VC. With the renaming of ANZAC Hall, there has been much to reflect upon around the service and sacrifice for their country of thousands of Old Reds. The inside back cover then features a wonderful excerpt from Clive Moffat's 'Mateship and Wambana'. Finally the outside back cover continues the theme of 'Princes Men Forever!'

My thanks to those who helped in the production of the Chronicle 2010: Festival City Photography and Mr Grant Woolmore for the majority of the photographs, Mr David Cornish and Mrs Mary-Ann Standish for coordination of the Foundation and Old Scholars pages; to Sally O'Connor of Peacock Publications and especially to Mrs Kaye Leaker for her valuable and creative assistance.

2010 has been a significant year in the life of Prince Alfred College.

We began the year with the largest enrolment in the day school and boarding school for almost 20 years. The Early Learning Centre is at capacity and we have continued to grow successfully.

In March our Strategic Plan for 2010–2012 was launched to the College community. Our vision of inspiring excellence will serve the College well to the end of 2012. Our purpose as a College has been reinforced, which is to develop young men who will engage in the world with confidence and compassion.

The College is a community that seeks to challenge and inspire students and maximise every boy's potential. The core values of Prince Alfred College have been sustained for 141 years. We believe in excellence in teaching, leadership and teamwork and an appreciation of Christian principles. We also value an international concept of curriculum and a sense of citizenship. The intellectual, physical, social, emotional and spiritual capabilities of boys are our essential focus. The Princes Man is characterised by independence, self-discipline, integrity, and social responsibility. All this occurs within the framework of a community with shared responsibilities including students, parents, staff, old scholars, and friends of Princes.

The Strategic Plan for the next three years is built around five directions for our future. They are Academic Performance, Organisational Development, Student Life and Three School Excellence, Communication and Community Engagement, and Financial and Operational Strength. In 2010 we have seen progress in the establishment of Three Schools at PAC. Most significantly, the Middle School for boys in Years 7–9 has now become an established community with distinct programs and a teaching and learning focus which meets the unique needs of adolescent boys. The emphasis in our strategic development this year has been on stability and consolidation, with a priority for academic excellence and student wellbeing.

Our new Early Learning Centre, which opened in July 2009, now provides for 110 families. Ably led by Mrs Jeanine Dry and an outstanding staff, Prince Alfred College provides an early learning program based on the Reggio Emilia model. We can be very proud of this exceptional facility and educational program.

The facilities available to our school community have continued to expand this year, most prominently with the opening of ANZAC Hall and Piper Pavilion on 7th September. The refurbishment of our Assembly Hall, now ANZAC Hall, was possible through the Federal Government's Building the Education Revolution contribution of $3million. Piper Pavilion, an extension of ANZAC Hall provides an outstanding space for flexible use across the school. It was named in honour of the contribution of five generations of the Piper family to the College's governing body and the Old Scholars Association. ANZAC Hall pays tribute to the thousands of men, formerly students of this school, who have served in the Armed Forces since the Boer War. We were thrilled to have permission from the Minister for Veterans' Affairs, the Hon Alan Griffin, to use the name ANZAC for our Hall, which was officially opened by the Member for Adelaide, the Hon Kate Ellis.

Other building developments during the year saw the refurbishment of the Art Studios in the Middle and Senior Schools, a new playground for the Preparatory School and the development of a Reception Hub for our pre-schoolers in the former Little Princes Kindergarten. Of great excitement is the new Health and Sports Centre which will begin construction in February 2011.

The Prince Alfred College Council has continued its effective governance of the College under the leadership of Chairman, Dr Ben Tidswell, and assisted by Deputy Chairman, Mr John Harry, Treasurer, Mr David Sanders, and Secretary, Mrs Fleur Michell. Council's key committees, including Building, Finance and Audit, and Risk and Compliance, have charted the key business of governing the College. We were pleased to welcome new members to the Council in 2010, Ms Karen Tierney and the Rev Anne Hewitt. Sincere thanks are extended to Mrs Margaret Gleaves who has assumed the enormous responsibility of Minute Secretary to Council and its committees during the year.

I have been blessed with an excellent College Executive comprising the three Heads of School, Mr Neil Andary, Mr Peter Karamoshos and Mr Nicholas de Dear, Director of Student Life, Mr Stephen Clohesy, Director of Community Relations, Mr Tony Ashdown, Director of Organisational Development, Ms Terry Learmonth, and from May, Mr Stephen Bacon, Executive Director School Services. The Executive began the year with a Leadership Retreat led by Dr Neil Carrington from the Australian Council of Educational Research Leadership Centre based in Brisbane. This program was the second year of a commitment by the Executive to leadership development. The Executives' key responsibilities lie in the implementation of the actions of the Strategic Plan and to manage the effective operations of the College and its educational program. A restructure of the School Operations area after review by Ernst & Young, has led to the establishment of three distinct areas of management in Finance, Information and Communication Technology, and Property Services.

The development of the school has been enhanced by the appointment of new personnel and the establishment of new positions. Key roles include Mr John Wilson as Director of Finance, Mr Peter Hughes, Director of School Operations, Mr Rob Sieben as Director of ICT, Mr Rob Colaiacovo as Curriculum Leader of Mathematics and Mr Sean Watt, Deputy Head of the Preparatory School. In the last term, we were pleased to welcome Mr Darryl Attiwill as our Catering Manager. There were several new appointments to the teaching staff across the Senior, Middle and Preparatory Schools, all of which have contributed significantly to sustain and improve the high standard of teaching and learning at Prince Alfred College.

Staff leaving during 2010 included Mr Andrew Fergusson, Director of IT, who worked over a long period as a mathematics teacher but more significantly guided the development of IT across the school. I thank Mr Chris Nicholls who has worked for ten years at Prince Alfred College, Mr Tom Dunsmuir, Mr Shannon Bertram, Mr Michael Talbot, and Ms Ursula Menz who will conclude their contracts at the College this year.

It is well known that the effectiveness of any school is dependent on the quality of the staff. More than 200 people are employed at Prince Alfred College and each and every one makes an important contribution to the education of the more than 1000 boys that we are privileged to have in our care. I express my sincere thanks to all those who work in classrooms and across the campus, and also at Scotts Creek and Wambana for their professionalism and generosity of spirit.

The Boarding House has had an exceptional year, expertly led by Mr Tim Agnew as Head of Boarding and Fraser Ellis as Captain of the Boarding House. Boarding enrolments have been at full capacity this year and its development as a 'centre for excellence' has been possible through the commitment of Boarding House staff and also those in Housekeeping, Catering, the Health Centre, and Property Services. Boarders' Day is now an important annual event and once again showcased the life and contribution of our boarding community. I pay tribute to the work of the Boarders' Parents Consultative Committee, led this year by Mr Craig Hole.

The international enrolment at Prince Alfred College has grown during the year. This has seen an expansion of our ESL programs and the appointment of Mr Jeff Ellis to manage our International Students' Transition Program. Ms Anna Polias and Ms Debra James provide the necessary language curriculum for these young people. I thank Ms Mani White for her work in coordinating our international students' program and also Chawis (Boom) Chamnarikit and Pak Ho Yuen who have been the Captain and Vice-Captain of International Students this year.

Our close relationship with China saw a large group of students from the Senior School Attached to Shandong Normal University in Jinan visit Prince Alfred College in February this year. Four teachers from the Shungeng Middle School, also in Jinan, joined us for four days in September. I was very privileged to attend the 60th Anniversary of our partner school in Jinan in October. New partnerships with a Middle School and Senior School in Dalian have been established and our students will visit there for the first time in April 2011.

Our academic results in 2009 in both the South Australian Certificate of Education (SACE) and the International Baccalaureate Diploma (IBD) were excellent. These results were arguably the best since 2002. Overall the median Tertiary Education Rank (TER) was 88. There were 55 merit scores with seven students attaining TERs over 99 placing them in the top 1% of the State. Thirty-seven students were in the top 5% with a TER over 95, 42% of our Year 12s were placed in the top 10% and 62.5% in the top 20% of the State. This is a very high level of achievement.

The SACE grade distribution was excellent with 35.8% of the total being A grades and 37.2% B grades. There were 10 merits from students completing the SACE and 1 merit from Year 11. Six students achieved their

Junior Primary celebrating Book Week with Mr Tutt

SACE through a Vocational Education and Training (VET) pathway. The IB results were outstanding with a top score of 43 out of 45 and a mean score of 36 (which equates to a TER of 96.30). There were 44 merit scores achieved in a range of subjects. Sixteen out of twenty-five students achieved an A grade in the Extended Essay which is excellent achievement.

66% of our students were successful in gaining their first preference at university. The most popular courses of study were Law, Commerce, Health Sciences and Engineering. Thirty four students were offered places in double degrees. Two students were offered places in a direct entry Medicine course.

On the basis of the results of the SACE and IB examinations for 2009, the following academic prizes were awarded:

Sir Thomas Elder Prize and Dux of the School:

Jonathan Foo

EB Colton Prize (Proxime Accessit to Dux of the School):

Travis Cordingley

Malpas Prize for Science: Patrick Hannemann

Longbottom Prize for Mathematics: Terry Moschou

Colton Prize for Arts and Languages: Alistair Young

Student leadership has been enhanced this year under the Student Life umbrella. The Captain and Vice Captains of Preparatory School, Cameron Young and Bill Stam have maintained the high expectations we have for our younger student leaders. In the Middle School, students have been well represented by Simon Brown as Captain and Charlie Hall as his Vice Captain. The Captain of School this year has been John Hood and Vice Captain, Michael Brown, who have worked collaboratively with great effect with the fourteen other boys who have constituted our Prefects this year. I wish to thank Mr Stephen Clohesy, Director of Student Life, for the development of student leadership across the school in 2010. 2011 will represent the centenary of the appointment of Prefects at Prince Alfred College and I am delighted with the contribution to date of our new team of Prefects.

We have had an extraordinary year of sporting success. In the Intercollegiate Contests, PAC defeated Saints 15–nil in Tennis. We also played in the Grand Final of the Drive Tennis competition. The 141st Cricket Intercol saw PAC 285 and 132 lose to St Peter's College 9 for 299 declared and 2 for 119. Prince Alfred College was runner-up to Rostrevor College in the 20/20 Competition. St Peter's comfortably won the Badminton 7–2 and we narrowly lost the Swimming by 3 points. The Head of the River was won for the sixth year in a row by St Peter's College. However, Prince Alfred College won 6 of the 12 Head of the River events, including the Second VIII, all four Year 10 Divisions, and the Year 9 Fourth Division event.

In winter sports, PAC was highly successful, defeating Saints in the Hockey 2–1, the Soccer 2–1, Rugby 31–18, Basketball 51–43, and Football 19.10–5.7. Furthermore, we were third in the State Knock-Out Cup in Hockey, quarter finalists in the Knock-Out Soccer, and runner-up in the SA Rugby Union Schoolboys Grand final. The PAC First XVIII were undefeated throughout the season, were State Knock-Out Cup winners, and won the inaugural Messenger Press Shield for Premier SSSSA Football School.

Intercol Chess and Debating are also important components of our friendly rivalry with St Peter's College, which saw PAC win the Chess and lose the Debating.

Individual excellence in sport includes Kelvin Smith in Cricket, hitting 170 runs as the opening bat against Scotch College, a century in the Intercol, and State team representation and selection into West Torrens District A team. Many boys scored centuries including Adam Perryman (twice), Jake Weatherald, Billie Tapscott, Jack Latchford, Jake Pitt, and Ben Andary. Bill Sandow's best bowling saw a 6 for 17 statistic against Scotch College, and hat tricks were achieved by Seb Higham and Albert McBride.

Alex Hill and Tristan Perkins were State representatives in Rowing and Jack Schipanski was a National representative in Tennis. Several boys represented the State in Football, including George Hannaford, Nick Amato and Tom Whittlesea who joined Jack Viney as Captain of the State Under 16 team. Sam Day played for the State Under 18 team and was selected for the All-Australian team. Four boys represented the State in Hockey; James Keeves, Nick Fitzgerald, Simon Brown and Tom Fitzgerald. Tom was also selected in the Premier Men's team for Port Adelaide.

Matt Henry played at State level in Rugby, Daniel Foo in Tennis, and John Hall was selected into the West Ham Soccer Academy in the UK. We had moderate success in Athletics, coming fifth in the Achilles Cup. Exceptional athletes include Niwili White-Forrest, Jack Viney and George Hannaford. For the second year in a row, the PAC Tennis team will represent SA in the National Schoolboys Championships, which they won in 2009. Table Tennis and Squash players also enjoyed a highly successful season.

Similarly, our students achieved great success in our Music program. Under the expert tutorage of Ms Erna Berberyan, the growing depth of talent in strings has been evidenced through ensemble and solo performance. The Camerata Quartet has performed at College events and in the wider community. The choir, under the direction of Mr Tasso Bouyessis, has expanded its repertoire including support of religious services, and also more modern songs like Bohemian Rhapsody from Queen. Congratulations are extended to Christian Evans and Roberto Reidig for their ten and five years respective contribution to the Prince Alfred College Choir.

PAC bands performed at the highest level in major competitions; the SA Band and Orchestra Festival, and Generations in Jazz at Mount Gambier. Achievements in the SA Band and Orchestra competition included Bronze awards for the Intermediate Concert Band and Big Band Two, a Silver award for the Sinfonia and Gold awards for the Senior Concert Band and Big Band One. At Mount Gambier, Prince Alfred College was only one of four schools across the nation to enter in four divisions. Big Band One gained sixth place in Division 1, with Super Band Selections for Ned Young and Michael Riceman. Big Band Two was fourth in Division 2, Big Band Three gained first place and Big Band Four played at a high standard in the non-competitive Division 4.

Following the success of Jammin' with James in 2009, we held All That Jazz this year which saw the combined talents of all College bands working with special guests Andy Firth and Amity Dry. It was a sensational showcase event, generously sponsored by Tim Gramp Wines and Mr Bob Soang.

This year's musical was a multi-media performance of War of the Worlds, directed by Mr Michael Steer. Unfortunately, I missed this event held during my sabbatical leave, but was privileged to see the video of the show, which reinforced the high praise received for this production which had come from all quarters of our community. The Preparatory School artsPACes involved every student in the Prep School and was thoroughly enjoyed by students, staff and parents.

At the time of writing, I anticipate highly impressive publications of this year's Science Journal and Shades of Red. Sincere thanks are extended to Dr Paula Mills, Ms Melody Marshall and the student editors for their support of Science and Creative Writing at Prince Alfred College.

The contribution and support of our community organisations is beyond measure. The Parents and Friends Associations for the whole school and Preparatory School, have been led strongly by Mrs Mary Evens and Mrs Kathryn Webber. Key events have included the annual Art Show and a Melbourne Cup luncheon. Donations from the P&Fs to the school have been to the benefit of the boys here at PAC.

The Prince Alfred Old Collegians Association has been championed this year by Mr Fred Hamood as President and his committee. Their many events have been well supported with more than 500 attending the Annual Dinner in July, nearly 300 at Vintage Reds, and good attendances at annual dinners across the state, the nation, and in London and in Hong Kong.

The school is indebted for the support of the Prince Alfred College Foundation presided over by Mr Andrew Chapman and his Board. The Foundation has committed to raising $5million towards the construction of our new Health and Sports Centre for which the school is very grateful.

In June and July, I was most fortunate to take a period of sabbatical leave. This included some professional study, attendance at key international conferences, and a time for rest and rejuvenation. I returned with great confidence in our school, knowing that we do inspire excellence and strive earnestly to ensure our boys are well prepared for their community and the world. I thank the staff, the students, our parent body, and all friends of Princes who have in small ways and large ensured one of the most successful years in the history of the College.

Prince Alfred College is a place that offers its students fantastic and potentially life changing opportunities, challenges and experiences.

It has been a pleasure to have spent the past five years growing in this environment, and making the very best of friends with those around me.

2010 in particular has been a busy year, but one filled with excitement, fun and amazing memories.

A personal highlight of my year was the football clinic for year six boys run by Port Adelaide Football Club in Term three. It was magnificent to see the year twelve boys interacting so well with the younger boys, and to see the joy on the faces of the year sixes while they enjoyed the company of the senior boys and also Hamish Hartlett from Port Adelaide.

Another memorable event was the opening of ANZAC Hall and Piper Pavilion. It was brilliant to have the use of these facilities toward the end of the year with events like the Old Old Boys Assembly and Valedictory.

Princes had an outstanding year in terms of Intercol sporting success, winning tennis, soccer, hockey, rugby, basketball, football and chess. The tennis team was also crowned as the strongest in Australia, while the football team won the State Knockout Championship for the second time in three years, and went on to finish the season undefeated, with fifteen wins and no losses.

The Swimming Carnival and the Athletics Carnival were a pleasure to be involved in again this year thanks to the fun and relaxed atmosphere of the competitors. Both were a combination of dress-ups and supreme talent. The boys' willingness to get involved and have fun provided great laughs and strengthening of friendships. On top of this, the hard work and natural skill of our swimmers and athletes was on display as well.

I must thank several people for their contribution to the success of 2010.

Mr Clohesy, as Director of Student life played a key role in the lives of all students across the Middle and Senior School. He also supported the prefects through his organisation of prefect meetings every fortnight.

Assistance from Ms Dales on administrative matters has made the year very easy for the prefects. In particular, she provided fantastic assistance in organising the 2010 Red and White.

Mr DeDear made many hard decisions over the course of the year to create positive changes, and has led the school with exemplary strength and passion.

Mr Parker has provided extraordinary support for every year twelve student, and helped us with school throughout the year, as well as promoting our personal development as people, not just as students.

Mr Tutt has been a wonderful mentor, offering wise advice and guidance on many occasions and topics through the year. I have thoroughly enjoyed my time with him, learning about his beliefs and principles. I thank him sincerely for the trust and support he has shown me this year, as well as everything he does for this fantastic community at Princes.

Our Vice-Captain of School, Michael Brown has been a massive contributor all year on everything from the formal, to the year twelve jumpers, to just being a top bloke to have around. All of the prefects have also made significant contributions to school life through their committees, their personal goals and their superb leadership on all matters.

I would like to wish the best of luck to every member of the community for 2011, especially the year twelves in their final year of school. On reaching December, you will look back on your year and think, "where did that time go?" Make the most of it, because it doesn't last long. I hope you all achieve your goals, and trust that your involvement with this amazing college will serve you well for the rest of your life.

It is with great fondness that I look back on my five years here, and also some sadness that it has come to an end this quickly. However, I look forward to being involved in Old Scholars' events, and I know that although I will be physically leaving my school, I will keep it close to my heart for the rest of my life. I am very proud to call myself a Princes Man.

Good luck to the Class of 2010. I hope you all manage to turn your ambitions and dreams into realities. It has been my absolute pleasure to know and work with all of you over my time here, and I look forward to our continued friendships beyond 2010.

Andrew Fergusson

Andrew Fergusson retired mid-2010 after two careers at Prince Alfred College. The first began on his appointment as a Mathematics teacher in 1977. An enthusiastic teacher, with strong commitment to Mathematics education and particularly to fostering Mathematical talent, Andrew was a highly respected and influential member of the Mathematics faculty who took responsibility for Mathematics competitions, at which Princes enjoyed considerable success. His interest in nurturing talent led to his involvement with the Extended Curriculum Group, and his leading role in the establishment of an Extension Centre. He was instrumental in the introduction of the teaching of computing at Princes. This began with a Computer Club, then computing as an elective subject finally leading to the development of a Computing Centre and the teaching of computing as part of the curriculum. More generally Andrew played a major part in the redevelopment of the school curriculum in this period, and he was acting Deputy Director of Studies for a year shortly before departing to Canberra at the end of 1984.

In 1996 Andrew returned to take up a position as the Coordinator of Information Technology. Since then his role has seen numerous changes of title and some changes of emphasis but in essence he had the responsibility of upgrading the computer network to meet the needs of a modern school. While we were using computers in 1996 they were still peripheral to the daily lives of most students and teachers. In a few short years information and communication technologies have become central to the operation of schools. Andrew has led a team that established the essential infrastructure that enables daily computer use by all students and staff, and brought Prince Alfred College to the brink of a new paradigm. He has passed the baton to Rob Sieben, who was a student teacher under Andrew's supervision in 1979.

Andrew leaves Prince Alfred College with the deep appreciation and respect of his colleagues. We have valued the intelligence, attention to detail, problem solving ability and helpfulness that has characterised his work, and his collegiality within the Common Room.

Mr Ken Watson

Ian Drake

Ian's contribution to Prince Alfred College can be measured in many ways, his attention to detail and sheer professional approach to the many challenges on a daily basis.

I personally have worked with Ian for close on 10 years and have been fortunate in learning many aspects of Prince Alfred College from him.

His passion for the College will be hard to replace as he always considered the boys with cricket and sports in general.

Throughout his 16 years of service, Ian's commitment has been a lesson to us all. His 'can do' approach has filtered down through his team and I am sure his successor will continue in the same vein.

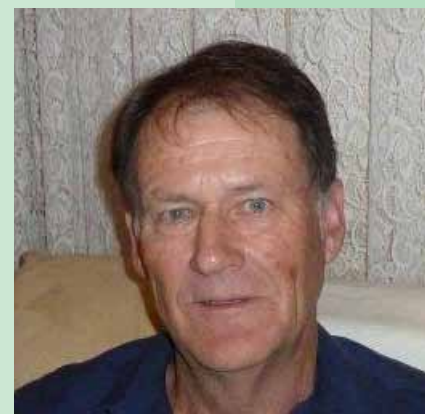

I can remember many times when he could not make a meeting or event as he knew rain was forecast and he wanted to roll the wicket for the first XI.

He can now spend more time with his other passions and enjoy a happy and peaceful retirement with his wife.

Thanks Ian on behalf of the whole Princes Community we sincerely thank you for your loyalty and untiring efforts during your time at Princes.

Good Luck and Good Health.

Rev. Mark Dickens

There is never a dull moment in my role as the Chaplain at Prince Alfred College. I would go so far as to argue I have one of the best positions. I am privileged with the opportunity to engage with so many people, in a variety of ways; students, staff, old scholars, parents. In chaplaincy there is always something to do, and someone to see. On the whole, there are many highs. However, at times it requires journeying with people through some lows.

This year I have been charged with the task of introducing a Beliefs and Values program into the Middle School. Over the next year or so it will become a three year program that will have each year level engaging a different focus. Year 7's will explore Religion and Spirituality to gain an understanding of some of the world's major religions, and develop an awareness of spirituality. Year 8's will be taken through a range of topics with the view to equipping them with tools to face issues such as bullying and harassment, grief and loss, conflict and anger, and self esteem. In Year 9, the aim is to have students exploring moral, ethical and philosophical topics. The scheduling of the Beliefs and Values program has been done in such a way that students participate in four sessions each term. I am looking forward to continuing the development and embedding of this program.

Facilitating Chapel services is, of course, a component of the chaplaincy role. The Preparatory School continues to meet for Chapel weekly, divided into Reception to Year 2's, and Years 3 to 6. The primary classes continue to take responsibility for preparing and leading Chapel. Each term has been based on a theme, with a set reading each week that allows for a varied exploration and expression within the theme. Over the last twelve months the themes have included Explaining the Psalms, Guidelines for Living and Snapshots of the Life of Jesus. Using the life and teachings of Jesus, Chapel services have been an opportunity to provide reflections on values and what it means to be a person of good character. The Middle and Senior Schools' Chapel services have continued to be held at Wesley Uniting Church, Kent Town. The significance of the links between the Church and College have not been forgotten, and continuing the practice of holding Chapel services in the Wesley Church is seen as a way of honouring the relationship which goes back to the foundation of the College itself.

One can never be quite sure just what awaits us from one day to the next. Whether it is through accident or illness, disease or death, fractured relationships or family separation, loss and grief are never far away for some members of the PAC community at any one time. Also, with the stresses and strains that the tension of everyday life can bring, particularly for adolescents, there is always a call for pastoral care and counselling.

It is no wonder that each day, each week, each month seems to go so fast. In the midst of the busy-ness, I am reminded that life is a gift; a gift to be cherished and enjoyed.

Piper Pavilion looked spectacular on opening night! Cleverly assimilated with ANZAC Hall and the Memorial Building, the pavilion will offer a superb environment for a variety of school and social occasions.

Mr Bob Piper AO(1938-47) opens 'Piper Pavilion'

The pavilion was named in honour of the contribution to the College over five generations by the Piper family. Family members have served on the College Council and as Presidents of the PAOC Association and the PAC Foundation. The family tradition continues with the enrolment of present and future students.

Major General Steve Gower AO, AO (Mil) (1956-57) presenting the College with the replica medals and Victoria Cross citation for 2nd Lieutenant H Throssell. The framed citation is now displayed in the foyer of ANZAC Hall. Prince Alfred College was accorded the privilege of naming the Hall to reflect the tradition of service and sacrifice for our country of Old Scholars on active service since the Boer war.

From 1878 it graced the gardens of Finnisbrook Estate in Burnside. The fountain was presented to Prince Alfred College by Mr J.A Easling and was commissioned by Mr W. M. Johnson, Chairman of the College Council 1991-1999 on May 28th 2010.

Mr W.M. Johnson and Mr J.A. Easling at the commissioning of the fountain

ANZAC Hall was refurbished and Piper Pavilion was built as part of the Australian Federal Government's 'Building the Education Revolution' program. The building was officially opened by the Hon Kate Ellis, Member for Adelaide and Minister for Youth. Her speech included reference to the proud traditions of Prince Alfred College and noted how ANZAC Hall would be the venue for the annual Old Old Boys' Assembly.

Minister Ellis was accompanied by the Headmaster, Mr Kevin Tutt and College Chair, Dr Ben Tidswell.

Robert 'Alfie' Hannaford (1960–61) was commissioned to create a memorable sculpture to mark the 140th anniversary of the College. His work 'Handstanding Boy' represents the energy, physical strength and alternative viewpoints in adolescent boys. Acclaimed as an Australian 'Realist' artist, Robert has major works featured in galleries around the world.

A Year of Change at Princes ELC

The Early Learning Centre is now into its second year of operation and has quickly established itself as a thriving community within the school. We now have one hundred and twenty families whose children attend the centre across the week and up to eighty five children here per day.

Early this year we extended the play area for our two year olds as this group was in high demand and they needed more space!

Sam Gniel observes the lava lamps

This year we moved our big events for both Mother's and Father's days up to the Preparatory School as we did not have enough room to cater for one hundred and twenty children and their parents at one time in the ELC ! This has been a great opportunity for some of our families who are not involved with the school in other ways to feel a part of the wider school community.

As word has spread over the year about the way the ELC operates we have had visits from several other private schools wanting to look at our model. I believe there will be quite a few schools which will follow PAC's innovative lead in the way their Kindergartens or Early Learning Centres are run.

Early next year our centre will undergo a review through the government Quality Improvement and Accreditation Council. As part of this we are busy reviewing our first year and all our practices and procedures. Our aim is to constantly improve on what we do and what we offer so that our children receive the best possible environment and education here at Princes.

A Year of Investigation at Princes ELC

We began the year investigating the world of the artist, learning about communicating ideas and learning about the lives of others both recent and long gone through the illustrations of others. Our unit, The Gallery of Life, allowed children to propose and compare ideas and decipher the subtle messages in the faces and scenes of famous art works. Our two highlights were our trip to the

Tyson Fernee holds a guinea pig very carefully

Art Gallery of South Australia and our own art exhibition as part of our Grandies Day extravaganza.

Second term heralded a journey of gastronomic proportions as we discovered how products produced on a farm made their way into our homes and onto our plates. The unit, From Farm Gate to Kitchen Plate, allowed us to share our ideas about healthy food and how food is processed. To aid in this understanding we visited Con at Norwood Foodland and the Animal Barn in the Onkaparinga Hills. We planted our own winter vegetable garden that would reap rich rewards in Term three... yum!

Shadowlands held us fascinated in Term three as we explored the world of dark and light, reflection and translucence. We kept a close eye on our own shadows in the playground, bounced light from mirrors and explored our very own dark retreat in our blacked out art room. We came to school at nighttime to see how our world changes at night...and enjoyed a well-earned hot chocolate because the night was very wet as well!

Finally in Term four we shared our creative ideas with each other and recorded our thoughts in books and plays as part of our unit, Story Makers. This unit culminated in our annual (and by now, very large!) Christmas Nativity. Another rich year in Early Years at Princes!

AC FORTY

Mr Neil Andary
Head of the
Preparatory School

A school is the sum of its community.

Our staff, boys and families work together for a common goal; inspiring excellence is paramount. This year, with the help of the Parents and Friends Association, staff and boys hosted artsPACes, a promenade of music, dance, art, theatre and learning in a carnival atmosphere. As far as learning is concerned, not much beats it. As a result of this process, the boys were challenged with real life issues to deal with, real life literacy, numeracy, technology, science and ICT. Their learning had purpose. It involved fun, collaboration, co-operation and communication.

During the October break, I attended the National Boys' Education Conference. I heard Dr Adam Cox, a renowned psychologist and leading advocate for the social and emotional wellbeing of boys, speak about boys needing real time achievement. They want urgency, necessity and recognition.

Interestingly, the school year began with great fanfare with the introduction of the MySchool website. I have written much on the school's views on this issue and it is fair to say we will continue to monitor our boys' growth and development very carefully. Their academic success is very important to us and we will use every available process to assist us. But does this website help us develop young men or does it divert us from what a well-educated young man looks like?

The launch of the Strategic Plan 2010–2012 provided a very timely and pertinent vision: inspiring excellence. Make no mistake; this is as much about academic achievements as it is about developing an "all round" great person. We want our Princes boys to learn and grow into inspiring and compassionate Princes men.

This year, our staff spent many after school, weekend and holiday hours working on refining our curriculum and creating exciting, relevant, significant and engaging learning programs for our boys. They have worked tirelessly to improve their skills through attending

Mr Andary was a special guest at the Princess' Tea Party

Professional Development workshops and courses; in house and at various locations. I am deeply indebted to them for their consistent desire to inspire excellence in our boys and their colleagues. Further to this many of our teachers have worked on subcommittees reviewing pastoral care, sport and reporting. The work of these committees is rarely seen but the ramifications for student wellbeing and learning will be felt for many years.

Again in 2010, our classes enjoyed the Clipsal experience. The great guys from the Touring Car Masters series continue to support our programs by giving their time on the track and in the classroom. They shared how teams work, how advertising is important to their survival and the inner workings of automotive technology.

Swimming Carnival, Sports Days and Cross Country, Generations of Jazz Music Festival, artsPACes incorporating the Jack De Vidas Art exhibition and PYP Exhibition were wonderful opportunities for our boys to showcase all of their talents. Enhancing our boys' wellbeing is important to us and our student life program encourages interaction, embraces challenge and seeks to inspire leadership. These events along with the many and varied curriculum activities in and out of the classroom provide opportunities for our boys to grow.

As Dr Adam Cox suggests, boys need urgency, necessity and recognition. Events such as artsPACes and the experiences mentioned previously provided all of this.

Creativity and commitment are important qualities that we aim to develop in all our students at Prince Alfred College.

We develop these in a range of ways such as helping our classes to prepare and lead weekly Assemblies and Chapel services. Our group musical performances have been enhanced in the last two years by the addition of strings from the Junior Primary up. Then there are the large-school celebrations of the arts.

Two years ago, we broke the mould of the previous Musicals by supporting the boys in writing their own musical. The results at that time, in terms of involving more boys in the creative process, encouraged us to think outside the square again this year. Our goal was to promote a wider range of the arts than is possible with a stage production. The idea of a 'promenade', in which visitors meander through an area taking in a range of diverse artistic 'events', was suggested by the success of occasions such as the Bundaleer Forest Festival in the mid-North of the state. The name artsPACes was soon coined to convey the concept.

In a range of interesting spaces around the school, a diverse and dynamic range of art forms were 'happening': dance, opera, poetry, installations, circus skills, busking, tai chi and much more besides, all developed with active creative involvement from the boys. With a little mood lighting and the support of the weather (after a nail-biting month of rain!) the event went off successfully and was well received. The boys certainly had lots of fun demonstrating their creative flair.

The same evening saw the presentation to the school community of the PYP Exhibition. The Exhibition is the culmination of the Year 6 boys' PYP 'journey' in which they apply all that they have learned in order to identify, investigate and offer solutions to real-life issues or problems. The central idea that the boys themselves developed was 'Human actions, even with good intentions, can lead to disaster'. Under this global heading, groups of boys, working collaboratively, studied issues such as deforestation, climate change, addiction, overpopulation and conflict.

Through the Exhibition the boys demonstrated not only their commitment to learning, but also the depth of understanding of complex issues that their inquiry skills had led them to. The Exhibition was as much about process as product, though. The boys were responsible for cooperating, planning, researching and presenting, all achieved through a group decision-making process. On display, alongside the excellent posters, PowerPoints and models, was every boy's journal of reflections on the learning process as it unfolded. This was powerful evidence of the less visible learning that also took place!

In keeping with the motto of the PAC 2010–2012 Strategic Plan, Inspiring Excellence, our boys performed very well in external competitions. Seventy of our boys from Years 3–6 entered the Australian Mathematics Competition. They were awarded 15 Distinctions and 36 Credits, while three boys, Sparsh Tiwari, Jordan Lesicar and James Jezukaitis, received High Distinction for their efforts.

We are proud of all our boys, of their creativity and their commitment to learning.

Cameron Young
Captain Preparatory

This year I have had the privilege of being Prep School Captain. Throughout 2010 there have been so many events and many of the prep school boys have been involved in them.

Being captain has given me many opportunities that I wouldn't otherwise have had. To name just some of them, the National Young Leaders' Day, doing school tours and even just the weekly meetings. Of course with captaincy came great responsibility and one of these responsibilities was the flag. Every day, Bill and I had to put up the flags in the morning, and take them down again in the evening. I'd like to say I did the flags well. But if you ask Mr Andary he'd say otherwise. The school tours were fun. Bill and I did many school tours throughout the year. It made me proud to showcase our school to new families and I'm sure Bill felt the same. Tours ended in a gourmet morning tea where my toughest task was to stop Bill eating all the sandwiches. And of course the weekly meetings were where we shared all our ideas and had a good laugh. These were only some of the opportunities I was privileged to have and there were many more.

So what did it mean for me to be captain? For me the role of being captain has come with many responsibilities, honours, challenges, opportunities and free food. It started for me when it was announced on Speech Night. The feeling I had inside was a mix of pride, relief, honour and dread. The role itself was at times so tiring and sometimes the pressure was immense, but it was also very rewarding. Being the voice of the boys was very special for me. I remember lots of boys in my class and other classes coming to ask me things to tell Mr Andary. So having a voice within the school, being able to give your opinion directly to Mr Andary, was both a privilege and a big responsibility. To me, being Captain meant being able to stand up for what you and others believe in and being able to have a say to make this school better for the boys and everyone involved here. I encourage any boy reading this report to go for School Captain. The role was definitely worth all the work and an experience you wouldn't forget.

A highlight for me was the National Young Leaders' Day. At the start of the year, all the captains and I went to the Convention Centre and were involved in the day. We were inspired by all the speakers who came to speak to us including the head of the Halogen Foundation, Kate Ellis MP, a former FA-18 fighter pilot and Poh from Masterchef.

Term 2 brought a whole lot more activities to take part in. The cross country was once again on in Term 2. For the whole of the term boys from Years three to six walked over to the cross country track for training every P.E lesson until the event. On the day all boys participated and ran their hearts out for their House. All boys tried as hard as they could and I would like to congratulate them.

Along with three other Year 6 boys, I was lucky enough to be able to take part in the Senior School Musical. The School's production of the War of the Worlds came out of Jeff Wayne's musical version of the War of the Worlds, which originated from Orson Welles' radio show, which originated from H.G Wells's novel the War of the Worlds. It is a story about Martians attacking Britain and the story of a journalist's grim battle for survival. The production was complete with lights, animation, video presentation, smoke machines and a 10 foot high Martian fighting machine. The production was a big hit and many people came to watch. It was a great experience, for me and all the students involved.

Term 3 brought with it a whole new BIG opportunity; the IPSHA Music Festival. IPSHA stands for the Independent Primary Schools Heads of Australia and the Festival is where all the Independent Schools get together in a whole bunch of choirs, ensembles, orchestras and bands. PAC was involved with the Year 6s in the choir and some of our music students in the ensembles. We practised all term and near to the end of term performed over three nights at the Adelaide Town Hall. I was lucky enough to be in one of the ensembles and the atmosphere was amazing.

BIG 300! As many of you know Mr Tim Weatherald played 300 games of League Football. I, like many other Princes' boys and parents, went to his Big 300th game on a very wet day at Port Adelaide.

This year marked the first ever artsPACes performance and Year 6 exhibition. All the boys from kindergarten to Year 6 spent the whole term working on and practising an arts performance. Whether it was a dance, a play or a song, they worked really hard.

I'd just like to thank all the people who helped me. Firstly, my teacher, Mrs Gerschwitz, who always helped me through times when I was under lots of pressure. My parents, for being really supportive and giving me so many speech ideas. Mr Andary and Mr Watt, who were always calm with me when I didn't get a speech finished. They helped me out, giving me advice and ideas. It has been a real learning experience for me and all the Captains. It's been so great to work with the Captains who were always helping me out, especially the Vice Captain, Bill Stam.

Playground Opening

With much anticipation and excitement the new Preparatory School Adventure playground was opened by 'Big Kids' Mr Andary and Rev Dickens running around, along, down and through it. Such was the interest by the boys after watching its construction that we had to roster the play times to ensure every boy had his fair share of the fun. They have been running, jumping, swinging and sliding ever since.

We were very excited to open our new Reception Hub this year. We welcomed 58 new boys into three classes and added 18 Mid-year Receptions in Term 3. We have made good use of a lovely outdoor classroom and playground area. The Interactive whiteboards have also been a wonderful addition to each classroom.

Our aim has been to incorporate experiential play into the program at every opportunity. Current research would suggest learning through play sparks deeper interest and understanding of concepts. The social constructivist model encourages boys to talk, analyse, co-operate and transfer knowledge from one situation to another, question, have a go, find solutions and grow in independence. We have enjoyed watching the boys' thinking develop in this environment. Their ideas are often very insightful!

At the beginning of the year boys were excited to investigate their new learning space as we established Hub rules and how to make a happy Reception unit. Our PYP investigations have each ignited questioning, enthusiasm and interest in a range of topics. Highlights this year include: dressing up as fairytale characters, a visit from the Touring Car Masters drivers, visiting the Railway Museum, incursions from medical mums and dads and Bugs and Slugs, and Book Week activities. We are constantly astonished at the reading and writing that develops through these units of inquiry.

We had loads of fun producing Crawford's Backyard, a video featuring each of our youngest Princes Men. The older Receptions learnt about opera as a genre and presented their Gardens Opera for artsPACes. All costumes, sets and even make-up were designed by the boys, while the music was sourced (with apologies) from the works of a number of famous composers! The year concluded with the Nativity, which always brings tears as we prepare to say goodbye to our charges.

Reception is such an important year, for boys and their families as they begin their journey at Princes. It paves the way for lifelong learning and friendship. We hope the boys have very special memories to take with them from Reception on their journey as Princes Men.

'I had a fantastic year in Year 1!'
Ralph Marks

'I have loved being in Year 1. We have learnt so much about each other' Harry Worthierly 2010 began in a peaceful way with our first Unit of Inquiry being 'Peace Begins with Me'. The boys explored ways to create a peaceful and respectful class environment. We had many a discussion about how to treat others the way we would like to be treated. This led to the class creating some wonderful Essential Agreements.

The next unit 'Our Princes Community' started with a fantastic discovery walk around our school feeling very professional with our clipboards in hand. We met so many wonderful different people who worked within the school community. We also had the chance to explore the school museum. Here we discovered the history of the school and what the community looked like back in the 'olden days'. Through this unit we have learnt that we need to respect people as we all have a responsibility to care for our school's community.

The 'Toys and Games' Unit of Inquiry enabled the boys to make connections and discover how things work through inquiry into something very important to them — play! They wrote letters to parents and grandparents to discover that some of the toys and games we love were also loved in a different place and a different time. Their design ideas and construction methods were exciting to watch. The boys learnt from their families and their classmates how to use what they have learnt to build new knowledge. And it was fun! Zac Unerkov commented: "You should never give up on old games. The Toy Museum reminded me of when my grandparents play Macedonian card games with me and my little brothers."

The 'All the World's a Stage' Unit of Inquiry provided the boys with a range of experiences that enabled them to express themselves through the Arts and to appreciate how other people like to express themselves. The ArtsPACes evening was the perfect opportunity to demonstrate our deeper understanding of what it is to express ourselves, whether in Drama, Painting, Sculpting or Music. The boys created an outstanding arts scene and deserve praise for their efforts.

Probably one of the more exciting Units of Inquiry for the boys was entitled 'Science in a Day.' The parents who came in to work with the boys performing an amazing array of scientific sensations were a great resource and a superb example to the boys of what an inquirer looks like in real life. The ability to make connections relating to how we use science in our daily lives made this a very meaningful Unit of Inquiry and it was such fun! The use of Information Technology through the BrainPop website and other programmes was another important resource to enhance the educational experience for the boys.

To end our year we researched into a unit called 'Australian Animals Oi Oi Oi'. During this Unit of Inquiry we learnt about how we share our planet and what effect we have on Australian animals. The highlight of the Term was visiting Cleland Wildlife Park. Here we were able to get up close to the animals we were researching. We had so many answers to our research questions that we even published our own information booklet!

We had a brilliant and exciting year together in Year One. All the boys have worked together extremely well this year. They have all been great at inquiring, researching, being a scientist and becoming a caring person.

Year 2 Memories of 2010

Top Gear

My Dad brought in a car called a Spider and my Nonno brought in a Volkswagen. It was funny because Josh G revved it up. Sebastian (20'H)

The Excursion to the Birdwood Motor Museum was fun and I loved the Lego session. Oliver G (2M)

I liked looking at the V8 Supercars at Clipsal. Patrick (20'H)

My uncle brought in his 1939 Singer Racing Car to show an old car. It was nice to learn the history of it. Edward (2M)

I thought it was hard work making my car and I was very proud of it. I was especially proud of the 3D writing saying 'TRIUMPH.' Edmund (20'H)

I enjoyed making the car for the Year 2 PAC car race. I made some of it at my friend Max's house. Our dads worked together with us. James S (2M)

I liked designing my car for the future because it was solar powered. Hayden (20'H)

Ashby Martin, an engineer, talked to us all about technology and cars in the future and I drew a future car too. Charlie W (2M)

Read Between the Lines

We read Aesop's fables. My favourite was the Tortoise and the Hare and the Dog and the Meat. They all had morals. Joshua L (20'H)

I liked reading fables. My favourite was The Hare and the Tortoise. Nic (2M)

We did a play about the fables. I did the Dog and the Meat. Lachlan (20'H)

I learnt about the Good Samaritan. It's a story from Jesus. It tells us to help people. Daniel (2M)

I liked using PhotoStory to make a fable presentation. It was cool using photos to tell a story. Joshua G (20'H)

We wrote our own fables about cars. Mine had a Ferrari and a Model T Ford. They had a race. The old car won. It was a good story. Alex N (2M)

I learnt that fables have a moral. They also have a start, middle and an end. Harry (20'H)

Food, Fun and Fitness

My dad came in to make bread with us. I loved the smell of the cooked bread. Oliver C (2M)

We filmed advertisements. My group told people about hygiene. Henry (20'H)

At the Central Market I saw my dad's friend at his fruit and vegetable stall. I loved eating at T-Chow restaurant. Max M (2M)

I liked making the Healthy Expo T-shirts. Mine said: 'A Balanced Day — When you work, rest and play.' Max B (20'H)

The Expo was lots of fun. Visitors came to my stall to taste food. We shouldn't eat too much junk food. Charlie M (2M)

We did a Healthy Lifestyle Expo in the Prince Phillip Theatre. We told people how to make healthy choices. Finn (20'H)

Survivor Island

My dad is in the air force and he talked to us about survival skills. The most important thing we need is water. Kai (2M)

Mr Dunsmuir told us about being stranded on an island for 3 months when he was in the Navy. At the end he made a fire and put green leaves on it. Finally, a plane came. Angus (20'H)

When we made islands, we drew maps first and we used grids to plot the features. Alex W

In groups, we made an island in the sandpit. Mitchell (20'H)

In groups, we made an island using boxes, chicken wire and Plaster of Paris strips. When it was dry, we painted it. Ours had a volcano. Oliver E (2M)

At the SA Museum I liked that we were actually touching some island tools. I also liked getting information about Aboriginal culture. Ethan (20'H)

We pretended we were marooned on another group's island and we wrote a journal about surviving on the island. We read our journal to our dads on Father and Son's night. James B (2M)

Pond Life

I liked making pond creatures for our class mural. Tony (20'H)

I was a dragonfly in our Dragonfly Rap performance. My mum made my costume and it was great. Matthew (2M)

Patrick brought in a lily pad and we didn't know that there was frogspawn in there until the tadpoles grew out! Nathaniel (20'H)

We learned how to do research. I researched a creature. It was a saw-shelled turtle. John (2M)

It was fun using Easiteach to make an interactive pond with a partner from 2M. (20'H)

We made a pond scene in the library for artsPACes. We made dragonflies and a mural. It looked cool! James Mac (2M)

We worked together to make a 'soundscape' for our artsPACes performance. We looked on the computer for frog sounds and copied them. William (20'H)

Celebrations

We have lots of celebrations in Spain. Hugo (2M)

I love opening the presents with Mum and Dad at Christmas time. Christian (20'H)

I loved Mum coming in to talk about Greek Easter and how we crack dyed eggs together. George (2M)

In Summary

In Year 2 we had a great year. We have been very busy with presentations, fables, performances and expos.

Seth 20'H)

I really enjoyed the units of work we covered this year and learning together with the boys. They are a wonderful group of boys.

Mrs Martin (2M)

It has been a pleasure to work with such an outstanding group of young men this year. They have not stopped impressing me with their initiative, passion and creativity in everything they do.

Mrs O'Hara (20'H)

Treading the Boards

This unit of inquiry was structured to help the boys prepare for the artsPACes performance in Term 3. The boys were exposed to a variety of art forms that opened up discussions about what art is and what form can it take. We were able to view some fabulous fringe shows that encompassed the performance arts genre and learn much about the art of performing from them. We took a trip to the Festival Centre where we were guided through the facilities by actors in character. 3Bi set about researching popular culture through decades in preparation for their artsPACes performance Pop Quiz. The event was planned and produced by the class and a good time was had by all boys and their contestant parents! 3Bi followed on with the "Chocoholics" theme and converted the Rose Garden into "Willy Wonkas Chocolate Factory". The boys created giant flowers, lollipops, lick able fruit wallpaper and candy treats to make the space come alive. The boy themselves transformed into fantastic Oompa Loompas with one brilliant Willy Wonka too. They delighted the parents with their knowledge about the history of chocolate and allowed them to indulge in a few taste testings. This was then finished off with a choreographed song and dance to the "Oompa Loompa song"

Year 3 Camp

This year we went on a two-night camp at the Woodhouse Activity Centre in the Piccadilly Valley. The boys engaged in some fantastic environmental research and reporting as well as attempting the physical obstacles, rope ladders and wooden tunnels on Challenge Hill. They took part in various activities such as bush cooking, mini Olympics, attack and defend and some exciting problem solving games. They also got the opportunity to handle a range of native animals thanks to a brilliant wild life expert sharing his creatures with us. A night walk around the heavily wooded campsite was a highlight for many with the boys, giving them the opportunity to explore the sounds and delights that could only be found and heard after dark. After some initial trepidation during the first day, the boys quickly got into the camp spirit and had a fantastic time returning home with newfound maturity, responsibility and appreciation.

Chocolate

In Term 3 the boys went crazy for our "chocolate" unit. They began by tasting and describing cacao beans, cocoa and dark, milk and white chocolates. The classes then combined and had to piece together a time line that showcased the history of chocolate. The boys were blow away with how far back chocolate dated and loved learning about so many interesting facts relating to this. Next the boys decided to create their own chocolates with individual boxes. It begun with some market research, asking boys in lots of classes questions about their favourite flavours and chocolate wrapper designs. The boys used this information to design and create their own chocolates and wrappers. Some had mint in them, some had cherry or apricots and some even had a mixture. The boys produced their boxes on the computers and by carefully folding and fastening, made them look like the real thing.

Solar System

This year we introduced a new unit called "Spaced Out" looking at the Solar System and our place within it. Boys naturally have a huge fascination with all things "spacey" and it took a matter of minutes to establish that not only did the boys have incredible prior knowledge to start with but also there were many burning questions to be answered! The boys were given display folders that they used to fill with inquiry questions, which had been formulated by them. Over several weeks they independently researched using a variety of sources such as encyclopaedias, reference books and the Internet and were very proud of their completed reference folders. The night walk on the camp, where they boys had a real opportunity to explore the galaxy, was a great highlight and complemented this unit well.

Year 3/4

Early in the year, we went to the Clipsal 500 to investigate and watch systems. We saw how they were related and we discovered some hidden and unusual examples. A highlight was meeting Garry Baxter, the V8 Ute driver who answered our systems questions. We also loved the displays and of course, the cars! We had a great time at our camps with the 3s going to Woodhouse where their highlights were having water bomb fights and exploring a pitch dark maze called Mousetrap at the exciting Challenge Hill. The 4s went to Victor Harbor where they had great fun competing for the camp's 'Best Team' prize and at Greenhills Park where they enjoyed moon-bikes, archery and water slides. In Term 2, we had a 'Sensational Systems' science challenge. This involved us building a creation that used five consecutive actions. We saw some marvellous productions, which used chemicals, electricity, music, pulleys and robotics. We also put on a great and exciting school assembly. We starred in 'Tricky Trip's Travel Tangency' where customers would go to weird and whacky places and meet some strange and exciting people. It was a big success with the crowd laughing a lot and everyone enjoyed it. In Term 3 we had our massively fun and exciting 'Big Squeeze' research project. We investigated all term and when it finally came to answering our questions, we all did very well. We saw a huge variety of 'Life Markers' and topics within them. We have had a dazzling year in 3/4R with Mr Roller.

Team

To kick off the 2010 School year, we began with an inquiry into Team. We explored our own qualities and characteristics and the implications these had for working with others. Our Camp to Victor Harbor allowed us to develop own skills as many tasks were undertaken in small groups. Throughout the term, we enjoyed a variety of activities such as games including 'turn the tarp' as well as guest speakers Lieutenant Justin Mc Burney and the MFS. On our visit to Clipsal, we listened to John Silverblade talk about the importance of team for trackside marshals. A viewing of Pixar's Cars helped us to identify and reflect on how individuals become better contributors to teams.

Invasion or Settlement

One of our more thought provoking topics this year was tackled with both enthusiasm and empathy. The question of whether Australia was invaded or settled by Europeans required boys to appraise historical information and perspectives. Excursions to the Adelaide Botanic Gardens and the Migration Museum helped the boys to broaden their understanding of the issues involved. They were challenged to consider and justify their own opinions. The boys' personal growth was very evident in this unit and culminated in a Class Assembly for 4G.

Packing a Punch with Poetry

The unit began with an inspiring visit from Richard Potter, who shared his passion for writing and performing poetry. We were pleasantly surprised, as were the boys, at how much fun poetry could be. Many poetic styles were examined and the boys took a particular interest in the more comedic forms of limericks, haiku and cinquains.

There were many opportunities for the boys to perform poetry including open microphone sessions, participation in the JSHAA Poetry Competition and a Book Week poetry celebration afternoon with the Year 3s.

Change Matters

Science exploded into Year 4 during Term 3. Two incursions from the CSIRO and a trip to the Senior Science Labs had the boys' heads full of bubbles, bangs and slime. Classroom experiments unravelled the mysteries of solids, liquids and gases. Chocolate melted, candles burnt and mixtures of bi-carb soda and tartaric acid frothed, as they sought to determine just what the matter particles were up to. The unit turned inquirers into enthusiastic scientists.

Technological Times

Boys stopped to consider the many technologies and inventions surrounding them which impact their lives, sometimes for the better and sometimes not. A bus trip to Port Adelaide brought a whirlwind of technology to the boys through visits to The South Australian Aviation Museum, The Museum of Childhood and The National Railway Museum. The boys brought a lot of prior knowledge to the Aviation Museum, in particular, and were fascinated by the development of flight technology. Back at School, the boys were amused by the 'useless inventions' technology has brought us.

Term one started with a bang,

Since Clipsal 500 and the Fringe were in town it made sense to start our Inquiry unit on advertising in Term 1. In this unit boys were exposed to whole range of advertisements, allowing them to identify and understand the process. This allowed the boys to deconstruct advertisements and their purpose using information to create and design their own. We looked at slogans, logos, product placement and target markets and how the influential power of different medias and persuasive techniques affect our beliefs and values. Clipsal 500 was a great opportunity to synthesize our knowledge and discover how events like Clipsal 500 affect not only the audience but the businesses, communities and environment. Other highlights included visits from advertising agencies, racing sponsors and race drivers as well as the Year 5 Father and Son Camp at Scott's Creek.

Term 2

We started Term 2 by looking at how we use energy to make things happen, focussing on identifying form and energy transformations and transfers. This amalgamated into our next unit of harnessing energy and its environmental impact. Throughout both units we designed animal traps, websites, visited Powerstations and conducted experiments. We concluded by looking at the positives and negative effects of all energies, and pondered our future and the costs associated. The highly inquisitive minds and compassionate hearts of the Year 5s ensure that the future of energy production is in good hands.

Term 3

The boys took a trip back in time to develop their understanding of exploration, perspective and time. Each Year 5 student selected an explorer of interest and investigated the defining characteristics and intentions of their explorer. We also looked into Captains Cook's journey through different lenses and learnt about perspectives to establish the positive and negative effects of exploration through different ages. Once the knowledge was established the boys were able to choose their own explorer to research and develop a report instilling the knowledge learnt. In week 9 we creatively collaborated as a year group to produce an excellent team dance at this year's ArtsPaces. Other highlights included Book Week and Sportsday.

A short yet busy term!

Our 'Global Poverty' unit affected many boys. The empathetic nature of the Year 5s drove us to compare our lives and community with others less fortunate. This unit allowed the boys to reflect and think about people outside their community and the role of aid and relief organisations. A highlight of this unit was, "The World Feast Game" and the 'Giant Sale'.

The "Giant Sale" gave the students an opportunity to contribute by collecting money from selling their old toys to younger Princes boys. The money was donated to charity allowing the boys to resourcefully choose how they donate and allocate their money.

A comprehensively challenging and enjoyable year has brought achievement, bonding and development across many areas. The boys can be very proud of their successes and will do well in their last year of preparatory school in 2011. The boys should hold their heads high and be confident approaching Year 6.

Congratulations boys!

Mr Matthew Totbill

Year 5/6

We have had a very busy 2010 and covered many topics throughout the year. One of our favourites was our topic for Term 2 Gizmos, in which we all brought in gadgets to deconstruct. We brought in many marvellous gadgets including old mobile phones, computers and VHS players. A highlight of this unit was Josh and his Dad bringing in a bike for us to deconstruct together as a class.

The Year 5s of 5/6G made a documentary of the making of artSPACES in Term 3. This involved research about making documentaries, a film crew and interviewers. We had two cameras to film with and managed to get some great pieces of footage and did many interesting interviews as well as some vox pop on the night.

The Year 6s of 5/6G had their exhibition in Term 3, in which they developed a central idea and chose sub-topics in groups, researched these sub-topics and had weekly meetings together. At the end of the term they showcased their research in stalls where they also presented their knowledge and answered questions.

ArtsPACes was an enjoyable night with every boy getting a chance to perform. I didn't really like the dance but I still put in my best effort.

I think that many of families liked artsPACes and enjoyed seeing their children doing a performance instead of a few Year 6s getting main roles in a musical and the kids only doing one short song.

Strike! What a way to begin the New Year with bowling at Norwood. It was a fantastic way for our new boys to mix, mingle and show off their bowling abilities. This coupled with a Subway lunch was a fun way for us all, boys and teachers, to get to know each other and to begin the year on a high.

In terms of inquiry our topic was 'Well Being'. The boys were challenged to create hot air balloons. The 'balloon' showed the attitudes and comments that lifted them to new heights whilst the 'sand bags' showed all the aspects of life that may inhibit growth and personal development.

Our inquiry into Well Being culminated in a Well Being day. The boys participated in various activities such as yoga, making wraps for lunch, a mini quiz, team challenges and ROCK and WATER. It was a very successful day which reinforced the learning done in class.

Our Units of Inquiry in Term 2 were, 'Sum of the Parts' and 'Know Your Neighbours'. The former looked at biological and mechanical systems and the latter entailed a study of our Asian neighbours. This led to a 'Religious Places' excursion in which the Year 6 boys visited the Zen Buddhist Temple at Pennington, the Islamic Mosque at Woodville and the Central Market for an Asian lunch.

To add to the business of the term, each class spent four days at Scotts Creek. This was a wonderful experience of fun and learning as the boys paddled canoes, attempted the rock climbing wall, camped outdoors for one evening, studied earth cycles, fished and played games.

Another exciting activity was our annual Mother and Son Dinner. This formal occasion encourages the boys to show their appreciation to their mothers for the important role they play.

Acting as perfect hosts, the boys escorted their mothers to the dinner, presented them with flowers, then successfully entertained them throughout the evening.

Term 3 can be summed up with one word — Exhibition. In the first few weeks all the Year 6 boys discussed issues important to them and decided upon a broad central idea: Human actions even with good intentions can lead to disaster. Nineteen groups then formed to investigate a large variety of subjects all of which had its own central idea. For five weeks the students were required to use their planning, communication, researching and presentation skills to create an 'Exhibition' designed to showcase their learning. Some of the categories were terrorism, chemotherapy, deforestation, flight and global warming and each group's task was to exhibit their learning after 9 weeks.

On the 15th of September the Year 6s of Prince Alfred College held their Exhibition in conjunction with a whole school 'ArtsPACes' festival. The student's presentations were outstanding and their creativity and depth of knowledge produced much positive feedback. The whole evening was fantastic and it topped off a hard working yet extremely rewarding term for the entire year level.

Term 4 seems to have just flown by with so much happening. The boys have really enjoyed our Unit of Inquiry this term, 'Ages of Empires', discovering what made each of the ages throughout history special and how these periods have helped to shape present day life. Integration of this unit through Art, Music, Chinese and French has further extended the boys learning and understanding of these important markers in world history. Christmas activities rounded off the term and we congratulated and farewelled our Year 6 boys with a moving Valedictory Service, Graduation dinner, Year 6 Breakfast and Speech night.

Lodge Short Talk Competition

Prince Alfred Collegians Lodge Short Talk Competition

This annual event encourages boys in Years 5 and 6 in the Preparatory School to participate in a public speaking competition sponsored by the PAC Collegians Lodge. The boys are required to present a three-minute prepared speech on a topic of their own choice and a two minute impromptu speech on a selected topic. This year was the 15th occasion on which the event has been run and the enthusiasm for participation and attendance has not waned. Eleven boys elected to speak in front of a large audience in the Ashton Room and provided a very entertaining evening. All boys were commended for their public speaking skills and the winner of the 2010 PAC Collegians Lodge Short Talk Competition was Zachary Heim speaking on the topic, 'Roxby Downs; a great experience'. Zac was presented with a medallion by the Grand Master of the Lodge, Dr Peter Bastian.

Debating

This year, debating in the Preparatory School has comprised three A teams and three B, with students from Years 5 and 6. Each team has participated in four rounds of debates with the A teams being eligible to compete in the quarter, semi and grand finals.

At the B grade level, the topics have been concerned about health issues, compulsory service, the arts and the Internet. At the A grade level teams have debated issues relating to government, the environment, freedom of speech and religion.

The A2 and A3 teams have made the quarter finals where they will now compete against other schools for the IPSHA Debating Trophy. Increased self-confidence, team collaboration, an understanding of the protocol of debating, research skills and the ability to refute arguments are important outcomes of debating. All boys have shown significant improvement in these areas and have achieved success in their debates. The 6 teams have been coached and managed by Mr Sparks, Mrs Gartner, Mrs Sathurayar and Mrs Polain.

Ms Lynda Polain

Public Speaking

Boys in Years 5 and 6 again participated in the IPSHA Junior Orator Competition. Thirty two boys participated in heats held at PAC with the eventual winner, Josh Cranna, capably representing our school in the finals at Seymour College.

In August, ten boys from years 5 and 6 participated in the PAC Collegians Lodge Short Talk Competition. This constituted a lively evening of three minute prepared and two minute impromptu speeches on a wide range of topics. Zachary Heim, speaking on the topic of 'Roxby Downs; a great experience', won the award and was presented with his medallion by the Master of the Lodge, Dr Peter Bastian. The three adjudicators commended the boys on their public speaking skills and encouraged them to develop these to aid their future careers.

Oliphant Science Awards 2010

There were some outstanding results again this year in the highly distinguished and competitive Oliphant Science Awards. From a smaller amount of entries, four of our students received their awards at a ceremony in Bonython Hall. A number of eminent scientists, environmentalists and organisations presented the prizes. Matthew Jezukaitis has won his category for the second successive year and Max Kirkby has trumped his third place of last year with the top position.

The quality of these students' entries was superlative and we were very proud of those listed below as well as all those who entered. It is exciting to see the independent motivation and commitment that future science needs!

Co-Curricular Prep Sport

This year saw all Year 4–6 boys strongly involved in summer and winter sport. In summer we were represented throughout 6 cricket, 8 tennis, 2 t-ball, 1 softball and 4 basketball teams. In winter we were represented throughout 3 football, 5 soccer, 1 hockey, 2 half field hockey, 1 minkey hockey, 2 table tennis and 4 basketball teams. All competition took place on either Friday afternoons or Saturday mornings against other Independent schools, apart from the basketball which is played as a separate competition at MARS stadium, and run all year round.

It was great to see the enthusiasm and sportsmanship of the boys, with many of them trying sports for the first time. It was also clear to see the level of improvement amongst individuals and teams as the term progressed. Thank you to all of our coaches throughout the year.

Following are highlights from some of the sports teams.

Summer Sport

The Year 6A cricket team had a very successful first term of results. More importantly was the way they played in the spirit of the game. There were many good performances in the one day format with some great hitting, tight bowling and some great fielding displays. Term 4 will see us move up a division where we will enjoy the challenging cricket ahead.

The Year 4/5 maroon basketball team had a slow start to the year, but finished in brilliant style, being top of the ladder and having many wins. The boys passed the ball around well, worked well as a team and showed good sportsmanship. Highlights included being in the grand final and all boys scoring in most games. Their biggest highlight was playing against the PAC white team, as it was a fun, competitive game with lots of laughs.

The Year 5/6 red tennis team produced another extremely high level of tennis, although the competition was seriously tough. We had even wins to losses but it gave the boys something to strive for and made for exciting watching. As with each year, the level of sportsmanship and dedication to their teams was highly obvious from the boys and made for a really fantastic season.

The Year 5 white tennis team showed remarkable improvement throughout the term. For a few it was their first tennis encounter, and they learnt how to play, where to stand, rules and etiquette of the game. Whilst others in the team had played before, they also displayed great improvement to their skills and overall game. Their enthusiasm was commendable.

The Year 4 tennis team consisted of boys with a variety of tennis experience. Nevertheless, each boy approached practice and matches with enthusiasm and determination to do their best and improve their skills and knowledge of the game. The level of support and encouragement between the boys was admirable, as was their sportsmanship towards opponents. Thank you to the many parents who supported their boy's involvement throughout the season and offered their time as umpires.

Winter Sport

The Year 6 hockey team had an excellent season, winning a handsome number of matches. Each team member improved their skills and team play during the season and one or two found new prowess in the goalie kit (not a job for the feint hearted). Congratulations to the boys who also participated in SAPSASA and to William Robbins who was selected to play for SA under 12's in Brisbane.

The Year 4 minkey hockey team had a fun year and learnt a lot about the sport. Initially the boys were playing as individuals, but they soon learnt the importance of playing as a team. As the season progressed, the boys worked very well together, looked for each other and ran into space to create opportunities. This improvement resulted in success for the team and the boys deserve praise for their efforts.

The Year 5 red half field hockey team had a fantastic season. Consistent effort in training gave the boys much improved skills and a strong team bond. Each in their own position has demonstrated perseverance and sportsmanship throughout this successful season, with an impressive result of 8 wins, 2 losses and 1 draw.

The Year 4 football team had a difficult year as they were playing in a Year 5 competition, but they rose to the challenge and showed great development as the season progressed. With some outstanding results along the way, the boys entertained throughout in every weather conditions imaginable. Who can forget the after the siren win against Rostrevor in Term 2? Well done boys.

Soccer

The 2010 soccer season in the Preparatory school was one to be remembered. Each of the teams enjoyed varied success over the course of the season.

The talented players in the Year 6 team consistently showed excellent team-work, skill and effort. Theo Skrembos is to be congratulated for the efforts he expended in making this team such a success.

Similarly the Year 5/6 team coached by Steve Pallotta showed dedication and effort in the development of their soccer skills. Being victorious on several occasions.

The Year 5 team coached by Mr Tothill showed significant improvement in the team collaboration; working and supporting each other on and off the field.

We look forward to the 2011 soccer season and anticipate even further development in skills, team-work and enjoyment of the game.

On behalf of all the boys we wish to express our appreciation to all the coaches, Theo, Steve and Matt.

Table Tennis

Table Tennis is becoming more popular every year. We have played extremely well and we have also displayed good sportsmanship throughout the season.

It was also a good effort that the boys tried to keep an accurate score for each of their games.

The reason behind our success was because our committed and intense practice sessions held on Thursdays in the gym. Occasionally, it was hard to get to some of our opponents' schools in half an hour because of distance and peak traffic however we have always persisted to get there on time.

I would like to congratulate and thank all the boys in our team for their effort and determination to always give it their best.

House Cross Country

All Year 3–6 boys participated in the Cross Country. Boys aged 8, 9 and 10 competed in a 2km race while the boys aged 11 and 12 competed in a 3km race. In the 3km race Hugh Gramp came home first and in a great finish to the 2 Km race, Sam Elliott was able to take victory. The winning house was Taylor. It was great to see some of the older boys help out the younger runners to finish their races. Congratulations to all boys who completed the course. Following is a list of all results from the day:

SAPSASA Cross Country

We had 40 boys in our Cross Country team who represented the school in the SAPSASA District Day at Oakbank Racecourse. These championships, for the best runners in South Australia, can include up to 300 boys in each race. All the boys who competed represented the school very well. A special mention to Darcy Pitman, who came third in the District day competition.

artsPACes 2010

This year on Wednesday September 15, 2010, the Preparatory school staff and students held “artsPACes” a promenade of arts celebrations based around their year level PYP themes and topics. In so doing, they opened the floodgates, creating a diverse range of significant and sustained opportunities for boys to unleash their creativity.

Boys from the ELC to Year 6 were involved throughout the process, starting with looking at the spaces in the school using a bird's eye view, creating mud maps, choosing which topic to use, preliminary ideas, music, sets, props, costumes, design, dance, drama and comedy etc.

The promenade of events also showcased the Preparatory School Jack de Vidas Art Exhibition based on a theme of “Black and White”. The Year Six PYP Exhibition, “We're all in this together” which commenced at 7pm; as well as French plays and Chinese Calligraphy and Tai Chi.

The event showcased the boys' learning journeys from idea conception to display with risk taking by boys and teachers being lived and learnt by all.

The ELC's “Shadowlands — stories of light and night” was displayed in the “theatrette” of the AV room.

Reception Crawford — created a gardening TV program, “Crawford's Backyard” which was looped throughout the night on a large plasma screen.

Reception Burford, Hart and Leeson culminated together to create a mind blowing garden opera.

Year 1 Kupke and Water's worked together to create a French inspired Artists café, where art and creativity were the top sellers on the menu.

Year Two Martin, created a Dragon Fly rap while Year Two O'Hara produced a pond inspired soundscape “Frog Calls”.

Year Three Blethyn recreated their own version of Willy Wonka's Chocolate Factory equipped with their very own Willy Wonka and dancing Oompaloompa's.

Year Three Bishop had their own rock pop quiz show, which was very reminiscent of SBS's Rockwiz, and Channel Two's Spick's and Specks.

Year Four Charlwood and Gartner recreated their own Charlie Chaplin inspired Slap stick comedy routines

While Year Five Barton, Foster and Tothill amazed the audience with their Flash dance Rock n Resolve

The Year 6 exhibition which was held in the John Dunning Building showcased the work done by the boys on the theme "Human actions-even with good intentions can lead to disaster". The boys introduced their Exhibition with a moving dramatization of Ben Lee's "We're All In this Together" as they completed a mega jigsaw puzzle with each group completing a section. This was followed by a rousing PAC version of ACDC's "TNT" complete with dancing and instrumentalists culminating in an exciting finish where the students raced back to their individual display areas — a highlight of the night.

The Jack de Vidas art exhibition displayed a piece of artwork from all the boys in the preparatory school. The reception to Year 2 boys exhibited their black and white photos whilst the Year 3 to 6 boys showcased their favourite piece of work. This years Jack de Vidas was formally judged by Ms Vanessa Di Palma with the winners from each class being:

Rec C Christian Weng	4C Edmario Lesi and Basil Antonas
Rec B Hunter Laing
Rec H Ben Webber	4G Lachlan Crawford
Rec L Marcos Castro	5F Hamish McKenzie
1K Addison Barnsley	5B Mingrang Li
1W Thomas Searles	5T — Will Edmonds
2M Oliver Gasparin	5/6 G Merrick Liao
2OH Henry Knight
3BI Connor Aretzis	6D — Max Meyer
3Bi Jack Read	6P William Rudd
34R — Jack Heard	6S — Jacob Lucey

The recipients of the Jack De Vidas scholarship money are dual winners: Jacob Lucey and William Rudd.

This year for something different the viewers of the exhibition also got to vote for their favourite piece of artwork with the People's Choice Award.

Every Prep staff member worked tirelessly in order to make artsPACes a wonderful; success and highlight for the year. There are already requests for the format to be repeated in 2 year's time!

Ms Mandy Bell and Ms Kellie McCauley

Early enjoyment is the key to a life-long relationship with music.

Moving, singing, dancing, creating and playing the percussion instruments are the building blocks of the Classroom Music Program where students at each year level gradually build up a repertoire of music skills in the areas of beat, pitch, rhythm, dynamics and tempo.

Along with these musical elements the boys are also developing many other valuable qualities. The music classroom is a wonderful place for boys to experience successful outcomes in, social interaction between their peers and adults, concentration, self-management and excellent listening skills. In nearly every lesson students will find confidence and positive self-esteem through practising small group and individual activities, being aware of using the body as a means of expression through movement and body percussion, as well as expression and communication of feelings and ideas through singing playing and moving.

Of-course any area of the arts gains momentum through performing. The boys experience this at so many levels. Performing for each other in music lessons, assemblies, chapel services, Grandies Day, Junior Primary Nativity, Carols by the Tree, Speech Night — and in Term 3

2010, the magical and creative “artsPACes” where all the arts were celebrated and linked to the Program of Inquiry with great energy and enthusiasm.

Alongside of the classroom music program the students as PAC have the wonderful opportunity to deepen their musical knowledge and practical skill by learning a single studies instrument. Mr John Kourbelis is Coordinator of the Guitar Curriculum along with Ms Sofie Arhontoulis as Pianoforte Coordinator. The Junior Strings and Choral programs are flourishing under the expert guidance of Mrs Erna Berberyan as Director of Strings and Mr.Tasso Bouyessis as Director of Choirs. At grade 4 the boys are of course invited to join the exciting Bands program led by our Director of Musical Performance Mr Andrew Newhouse.

I feel privileged to be working in a school where making music is such a valued and stimulating experience for teachers and students — and most importantly — FUN!

Mr Peter Karamoshos
Head of the Middle School

“Adolescents in their Middle Years need and deserve a special approach from schools to encourage them to thrive personally and in their studies.”

This statement was made by Professor Paul Deering, a middle school researcher and teacher educator, at the 5th International Middle Years of School conference held recently in Adelaide. He discussed the importance of dealing differently with students in Middle School, and the need to take into account their complex social, emotional, physical and educational needs.

The view of this highly regarded educator reinforces the importance of our Middle School and of the specific middle years program we offer at Princes. We continue to provide explicit programs, teaching and learning approaches, pastoral care, assessment and reporting tailored to meet the needs of our boys in their formative middle years.

Consistency and relevance are essential if boys are to fully engage in their learning. Students across the three years of the Middle School now follow a uniform curriculum: English, Mathematics, Humanities, Science, the Arts, Technology, Languages and Personal and Physical Education. An Academic Extension Program provides additional challenges for those boys who need further intellectual challenges, while a specific Learning Support process provides guidance and strategies to those who need extra assistance.

The sense of identity and community is important to the Middle School. The introduction of a Middle School Presentation Assembly at the end of the year reinforced this sense of identity. Students were presented with Academic Awards, Student Life Awards and Year 9 students graduated from the Middle School.

Beau Muzik, as Deputy Head of Middle School, has promoted the distinctiveness of the Middle School through his organisation, his work with Year Level Coordinators and through enhancing the Pastoral Care Program.

The introduction of the International Baccalaureate Middle Years Program (MYP) has been significant in terms of providing a consistent and coherent curriculum framework for students and staff across the Middle School. The MYP has been introduced into Years 7 and 8 this year and will be extended into Year 9 in 2011. Sean Behan, in his role as Dean of Studies in the Middle School, has been instrumental in this regard. He has worked closely with curriculum leaders and middle school teachers in developing units of work aimed at stimulating and motivating our boys.

The Year Level Coordinators have played a significant role in supporting boys in their personal, academic, social and emotional development. Melissa Brister in Year 7, Paul Balestrin in Year 8 and David de Lacy in Year 9 have been tireless in their support of the students under their care. Megan McLaughlin, in her role as Assistant to the Head of

Max Hood, Lucas De Garis and Mr Karamoshos

Middle School, has also been an enormous support to staff, students and parents in the Middle School.

Having a distinct Middle School allows for an effective student leadership structure. Simon Brown, as Captain of Middle School, has performed his duties with maturity and distinction. He has been a fine role model for his peers and has set a high standard for others to follow. His Vice-Captain, Charlie Hall, has been a wonderful support through his considered and mature views and his insightful suggestions. The Middle School SRC, with the support of Stephen Clohesy, the Director of Student Life, have led our boys through a program of community service. Their “can drive” saw hundreds of cans donated by Prince Alfred College students to help feed people in need. The eight House Captains demonstrated leadership through their organisation of competitors for the College swimming and athletics carnivals and in coordinating teams for the tightly contested House Competitions.

Wambana and the Extended Stay Program continue to provide a wonderful and distinctive learning experience for our Year 9 students. The program enhances the holistic development of boys through emotional, physical and intellectual challenges in an environment which requires teamwork and compromise. These skills were evident during the contribution of the Year 9 cohort to a community tree planting project. Their positive approach, humour and hard work were recognised by the organisers who spoke glowingly about the dedication of our pupils. The Personal Best Projects presented by the Year 9's at the end of the year were creative and impressive. Students focused on an area of interest to them and through their passion and dedication, prepared an outstanding display.

The contribution of the Year 8 group was significant to the success of the Middle School in 2010. They warmly welcomed a large group of new Year 8 students in 2010, ensuring a smooth transition for these new Princes Men. The Goolwa camp in Term 1 reinforced the strong bonds between members of the Pastoral Care Groups. The Scotts Creek camps in Terms 2 and 3 challenged the students physically and emotionally and helped develop the attributes of resilience, empathy and teamwork. A number of Year 8 students nominated to trial a new interdisciplinary unit during the Term 3 holidays. These boys created electric powered go-karts from pieces of steel, tin, cables, brakes, nuts and bolts. Boys tested, refined and raced these go-karts. In time, this program promises to provide hands-on, boy friendly learning, which connects seamlessly with the core curriculum.

There has been a wonderful transformation in the maturity and approach from our Year 7 students over the course of the year. They are the first group to enter the Middle School at the beginning of Year 7. They have coped admirably with the change in organisational and educational structures. The individual presentations and displays of their Personal Best Projects showed a new level of confidence and self-assurance. The Scotts Creek outdoor experience enhanced the strong connections within the group through a focus on teamwork and collaboration. The Canberra trip proved to be a resounding success in terms of relationship building and cultural understanding. The variety of sights and activities on this expedition gave our students a strong sense of history and national pride.

I would like to extend my sincere appreciation to a number of staff who have supported the Middle School through 2010. The Reverend Mark Dickens has provided all students with a structured Belief and Values Education throughout the year and offered personal support to many of our boys in need. Allan Lloyd-Jones, our college Educational Psychologist, has been a great support to students and staff. Sasha Frost has run a very effective Middle School Learning Support Program. The Reverend Chris Harkness was very generous in allowing us to run our Assemblies and Chapel Services at the Wesley Uniting Church, Kent Town, while ANZAC Hall was out of commission. Dale Hobbs and Phil Noble were again instrumental in providing students with significant extra-curricular experiences while Anthony Harradine has created an interdisciplinary unit, which is destined to become an integral part of the Year 8 curriculum. Housekeeping, grounds, property services, catering and finance staff and the public relations teams have all been of terrific support during the year and their efforts have been appreciated.

This year has seen the introduction of many programs and structures designed to promote a stimulating learning environment for our young men. With the continued support of the College community, next year will see further growth to enhance the intellectual, social, spiritual and emotional development of our boys in the Middle School.

Education moves fast. No sooner has a task been ticked off it seems that another ingenious initiative is waiting for us impatiently around the corner. The trick is for us to avoid being sidetracked by some of these things and remain focused on our overriding responsibility — to create quality-learning opportunities for our Middle School boys.

When I was writing the 2009 version of this article we were just beginning our Middle School journey and had taken the first steps in implementing the International Baccalaureate Middle Years Programme (IB MYP). Since then it is pleasing to note that there has been significant development in our Middle School Curriculum on many levels. Let's spend some time here reflecting on some of these:

It is a testament to the professionalism of our teaching staff that we have now implemented the MYP into Year 7 and 8. What this means is that the 8 MYP subject areas (Arts, English, Humanities, Languages, Mathematics, Physical Education, Science and Technology) have adopted the use of the published IB MYP assessment criteria and invested considerable time in designing meaningful tasks, which engage Middle School students. At the end of each semester, the reports, which used the traditional A–E grading system, now display an IB 1–7 grade describing the characteristics of learners at different levels using an international standard. In 2011, MYP implementation will flow into Year 9 so that our assessment and reporting systems are consistent within the Middle School.

One of the most exciting advances this year has been the introduction of online curriculum mapping which will enable our teaching staff to work with an incredible level of collaboration. Oregon based company Rubicon Atlas have been involved with online mapping for many years and are one of few companies whose work is endorsed by the International Baccalaureate. The format they offer, along with their expert support has been invaluable.

From Term 4 this year, in excess of 80 units written across the Middle School have been uploaded to our own designated web space. From this point on, teachers will be able to easily browse curriculum documents throughout the entire school and develop their own units whilst keeping their colleagues informed as progress takes place. There are a whole host of other benefits of online mapping, including the capacity to analyse the kinds of work going on by keyword, year level, subject, assessment criteria and produce graphs which enable us to critically analyse what we offer in terms of curriculum.

This has been an exciting initiative to date and one that has generated interest in many other schools across South Australia as education looks for ways to support its teachers in constructing relevant, engaging, challenging and significant curriculum.

2011 promises to be an equally fruitful year and I look forward to reflecting on the further advances we make in developing a Middle School which continues to nurture the talents of all of our boys.

Heavy with humidity, bearing the ingredients of life,
The rich aroma takes control, a sweet embrace,
Like my favourite ingredients, all mixing together in a swirling pattern in the cake bowl,
The heady aromas carrying the very building blocks of life,
The soft wild sounds, all sounding at once, uncontrolled yet in time,
Their very sounding replacing all rules with simple truth,
From the distant crash of the waterfall, the booming of a beast, singing of the birds, the wisp of the trees,
All different, unruly, yet in perfect harmony,
A melody shaping its own lines,
An orchestra its own conductor,
Melody supreme,
The cacophony of colours, like lots of loud conversations in a small room,
Each important in its own right to those taking part, and to listen to them, to really experience them, one must take part,
The sparkling, coloured rays streaking from the clear waters, like liquid crystal,
The leaves like green threads in an elaborate tapestry, each picked out in exquisite detail and each comprising part of a greater whole,
The splashes of colour on the backdrop of green, an artist's masterpiece,
Grass beneath my feet, tickling my toes,
soft and lush,
A carpet woven in haphazard form,
A cool breeze finds its way,
The hairs on my body stir,
The sheen of sweat cooled,
All of this I know at once,
The natural harmony of this place,
Creates a peace within my heart,
Safe from the taint of the outside world,
Unmarred by the efforts of man,
This place shall live on.

2010 has been a year to remember for the Middle School at Prince Alfred College.

It was a year full of new challenges for the teachers and students alike but also a year of consolidation as we have all become more familiar with the Middle School routines.

The Middle School has continued to thrive through the hard work of Mr Karamoshos, Mr Muzik, Mr Behan and all the Pastoral Care teachers. A sense of community throughout this part of the school has been another focus of ours this year. The Year 7's have become comfortable in their new position in the school. At the beginning of the year we welcomed 28 new Year 8s into the Middle School. It was important for them to become familiar with the Middle School routine as they will become next year's leaders.

The first half of the year for the Year 9 boys was busy to say the least, with one class always away on extended stay. The Extended Stay Program at Point Turton on the Yorke Peninsula was one of the biggest challenges for the Year 9s. Many of the boys had never experienced anything like this before but were by no means daunted by the thought. Four weeks away from home, mum and dad seemed a long time, but with the physical and mental challenges and all the good times, none of the boys had enough time to worry about being 350 kilometres away from their own bedroom. The program was very different from normal life. Cooking, cleaning, washing and making beds were not negotiable and although some found it hard to cope, all the Year 9's came away from the camp wishing it had gone longer than it had. It was one of my highlights for the year and I came away from it with a new perspective on how much work was needed to maintain a home.

Another challenge of which we were being constantly reminded throughout the year was our Personal Best Projects. Each student was given the task of constructing something they were interested in and then presenting this at the Middle School Presentation Assembly. The project was set from Term 1 to Term 4 but it is always interesting to see how late some boys leave it before starting. Outcomes for this project ranged from writing books to building go-karts and it was fascinating to see what great ideas people came up with. My advice for the years to come — make sure you start early.

Finally I would like to thank all those who have made my job as Captain in the Middle School a very enjoyable one. Firstly a huge thank you to Mr Karamoshos whose hard work has been incredible. He has been a large part in this Middle School development over the past two years. Secondly, to Mr Muzik and Reverend Dickens who have always been willing to give advice and help out with Assemblies and Chapel Services. Finally thank you to the boys in Year 9 and especially Charlie Hall. Charlie has made my job easier and much more enjoyable. It has been a pleasure to work with him.

*Simon Brown

Simon Brown, Charlie Hall, Mr Karamoshos and Mr Tutt

This is the first year we have had Year 7's in the Middle School for the entire year. The boys have coped with the challenges exceptionally well and are now firmly established in the Middle School.

Some of the highlights for 2010 have included trips to Scotts Creek and the Year 7 Tour of the National Capital, Canberra.

During Term 2 each of the Pastoral Care classes spent 3 nights at Scotts Creek Outdoor Education Centre. This was the first time that the Year 7s have undertaken the outdoor climbing wall and it was a highlight for many of the boys. It was also an opportunity for them to display encouragement and teamwork as they had to provide instructions to boys attempting to traverse the wall with blackened goggles.

Another challenge boys faced on the Year 7 trip to Scotts Creek was the expedition. Each boy had to work with a partner and pack shelter and clothing into a canoe to paddle up the river to a camping spot. Boys then erected tents, cooked their own meal and slept under the stars. Many of the boys experienced difficult moments throughout this process but all had a real sense of achievement at the completion of the expedition.

In Term 3 the Year 7s displayed a fine example of community spirit in their response to the can and blanket drive for Uniting Care Wesley. The impetus for this began with the boys in Miss Harrison's Humanities Class. Once the drive was underway all of the Year 7 boys were actively involved and as a group donated in excess of three hundred cans.

Also in Term 3 was the Personal Success Project Display evening, which afforded all boys the opportunity to display their truly impressive work as well as discuss their learning and depth of knowledge with visitors to their booths. It was a highly successful evening that provided boys due acknowledgement of their hard work. The Year 7 teachers were very proud of the way the boys presented themselves and the effort they displayed throughout this process.

During the tour of Canberra in Term 4, the boys visited many sites of important national significance and this included; Parliament House, Government House, The Australian War Memorial and the National Gallery. Fortunately, the importance of many of these locations was not lost on our boys and they always carried themselves with dignity and respect. During the evenings the boys experienced a range of fun and interactive activities, which included; Questacon, Ten Pin Bowling, Golf Driving Range and Mini Golf. As with each year many of the boys identify the War Memorial as the highlight of the tour and this speaks volumes of their character.

Ms Melissa Brister

The Headmaster, Mr Kevin Tutt, Director of the Australian War Memorial, Major General Steve Gower AO, AO(mil), staff and the Year 7 students at the War Memorial

My highlight of Year 8 would be my Technology lessons, where I get to use new tools and make interesting things.

Matthew Burgess

In Music we were able to write a song of any genre, which allowed me to be creative with my music skills.

William Kolaroff

The pastoral care camp at Goolwa was really a highlight for me. We learnt a lot about the new boys and their backgrounds. Our whole class participated in fun activities which gave us all a fresh start to the year.

Oliver Collison

My most memorable moment this year was the Scotts Creek kayak expedition. I enjoyed helping others along the way.

Jake Girke

This year I really enjoyed Athletics Day and the Achilles Cup. Everyone was so supportive of others and the staff made the day by being so well organised.

William Goode

Starting at a new school was great this year. It was really nice to work with new teachers and meet new friends.

Ryan Birse

Year 8 was the turning point of my life so far. I faced a lot of difficult, but fun challenges, which were a great experience.

Vedanth Malladi

The most enjoyable part of this year was having new and different experiences from my old school.

Braydon Cordingley

It was great having lots of different lessons with groups of new people to meet.

William Miller

I learnt lots of cool skills during camps, like rock climbing, kayaking and surfing.

Jiyin Cbeung

The football season was superb because I was in a team with lots of great blokes. We only lost two games for the season. Winning the Intercol was awesome.

Luke Bartlett

Meeting lots of new boys and helping them around the school was very enjoyable. Having them in our classes makes school so much more fun.

Fraser Crameri

I loved the Music program because there were so many instruments to choose from and facilities to use.

Luca Borelli

Paddling down the Murray River with all of my mates.

Tyson Bateman

The camps were really great, but the best thing was learning how to play 'softcrosse'.

Charles Marshall

Year 8 Goolwa 2010

At the start of term 1 this year 107 keen Year 8s came down to Goolwa for a great start to the year. We were fortunate enough to have near perfect weather conditions which meant the boys had some great fun in the ocean and on the water.

Due to the great weather and facilities the boys were able to utilise the caravan park swimming pool for a number of games and to complete their kayak capsize activities. The boys then ventured onto the creek and the Murray River in kayaks for an afternoon paddle.

In the evening the group made its way to Goolwa beach for some body boarding and beach games which were enjoyed by all.

On the final morning groups commenced their training program for the kayaking expedition later in the year and they were all very excited to do so. To end the camp the boys did some surfing at Middleton and caught some great waves with one group starring on Channel 10 news.

It only feels like yesterday that I was sitting down to compile my year level report for the 2009 Chronicle. The year feels as though it has flown by in the wink of an eye. I suppose that time flies when you are having fun, so they say.

2010 has been a busy year for all of us in Year 9. It was no sooner that we had all got together, reacquainted ourselves with our friends and class mates of 2009, welcomed our new Year 9's to the College, that our first group were destined for the beachside classroom of Wambana. The Extended Stay Programme has just enjoyed its third year of operation under the guidance of Mr Dale Hobbs and his committed staff, and the positive changes that we witness in our boys on their return are no less impressive than witnessed in 2008. I do hope that the boys all look back on the experience in the years to come and feel a sense of pride in what they achieved both personally and as a collective group.

It has been really pleasing to see our year 9 boys engage in the life of the College as much as they did this year. We have witnessed a strong involvement in the extra curricular programs of sport and the performing arts, not to mention the manner in which the boys have contributed not only to the Princes community, but also to the wider community in a service capacity.

Once again, we have maintained our strong links with Saint Peters Girls and have enjoyed hosting the girls for an afternoon of combined pastoral care activities, which culminated in a dance session presented by Footsteps. Both the boys and girls gain a lot from activities such as these and it is something that all of the students can be a little apprehensive about, especially the dance aspect for our boys, but thoroughly enjoy the experience and the friendships that are developed.

The Personal Best Project is something that our boys place a lot of time and effort into. We have witnessed some brilliant projects, but most importantly, the boys have learnt a lot from the experience. They have learnt how to create, reflect, modify, problem solve and present some great products at the end of the year. These are the important skills that we hope that they will carry on with in their lives outside of school.

Old shed on Yorke Peninsula

As the year comes to a close at the time of writing this report, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the boys on their efforts this year. They have been reflective in their approach to individual excellence and have worked hard to do their best. They have faced challenges, supported each other during these times and have enjoyed celebrating each other's successes. I wish them the very best as they move on to the Senior School in 2011.

Outdoor Education at Prince Alfred College for 2010 saw a record number of boys heading out into the great outdoors. With programs beginning at Year 2 and culminating with the Year 10 Peak Adventure, Outdoor Education at Princes continues to provide our young men with opportunities for adventure and education in the natural world. This year we had over 750 of our students participate in programs encouraging them to have fun in the great outdoors. Leadership, rowing, international boarders, IB science and Outreach programs were also experienced at the Scotts Creek campus. We also provided opportunities for 500 students from many other schools across South Australia to enjoy our tranquil river environment.

Once again we welcomed new staff to Scotts Creek for 2010. Brad Newton joined the teaching staff as a recent graduate of UniSA and our Gap position was filled by Delwyn McInnes who finished at Unley High last year. Delwyn went on to complete his kayaking qualification and returned later in the year as an instructor. The team from Active Catering also joined us in 2010 providing wonderful, nutritious food for all of our programs at Scotts Creek as well as our external programs. At the beginning of Term 3 Simon Buttenshaw joined our team from Western Australia, to cover Belinda Rowe who announced the wonderful news of a baby later in the year. Belinda and I started at Scotts Creek together in 2002 and have spent many long days and nights on programs over the years. Belinda's hard work and dedication to Prince Alfred College and especially its Outdoor Education programs at Scotts Creek will be greatly missed. We wish Belinda and her family all the best for the future and hope to see her in the outdoors again soon.

Over the summer break a lot of work was completed at Scotts Creek. The largest project was the lining of all the student dorms at Scotts Creek. This project was kindly supported by the PAC Foundation and PAC parent, Rocco Iacopetta, who organised all the building materials and builders to complete the work. This has resulted in all the sleeping areas being insulated and lined to further increase students comfort at Scotts Creek.

These buildings were put to the test in the first week of the year's programs with temperatures in the high 40's and students able to sleep more comfortably due to the temperature inside being 10 to 15 degrees cooler! The Scotts Creek staff and I would personally like to thank Rocco and his team for working through the hot summer to complete this work and to the PAC Foundation and people who made the project possible with their donations.

The year has seen the completion of the disabled access building, first aid room and extra staff quarters, with flooring work and hot water systems being installed. This new building work has allowed extra room in the staff quarters for visiting staff who often join the boys on program.

The Foundation was once again able to support the continued growth of Scotts Creek with the donation of funds to install an environmentally efficient sub surface drip irrigation watering system. This large project has been completed and a major section of the property has already seen the return of lawn which was once a major part of the Scotts Creek experience. This new system will reduce our water usage, lessen our impact on the Murray and ensure the return of large grassed areas for our boys to enjoy while on program.

In terms of smaller projects we saw the students complete the vegetable boxes around the fruit trees. These beds continue to grow herbs and vegetables that are used during our programs. For the first time in 3 years this system saw a healthy and abundant production of fruit that was enjoyed by all on program and even found its way to the wider community and turned into jam, marmalade and sorbet.

This year also saw the re-birth of Sun Boat 1 with the help of our Year 7 boys. Over three weeks each of the classes was able to help in the construction, painting and launching of the new Sun Boat 1 pontoon. This addition to Scotts Creek will allow for another swimming area for our boys and sees the mighty Sun Boat returned to the water. We are still looking for a suitable and safe way to get Sun Boat 2 launched into the creek, but hope to see it afloat in 2011. The Climbing Shed continued to grow with a roof extension giving students a little more challenge and excitement. Other projects also included a docking jetty for the flying fox, sports box, recycling crate and the return of chickens to the Garden of Eden.

Our Outdoor Education Program culminates with the Year 10 Peak Adventure program. This year 162 boys participated in Scuba Diving, Surfing, Caving, Kayaking and Mountain Biking in South Australia. In Victoria they went White Water Rafting, Rock Climbing, Downhill and Cross Country Skiing. While the last of the groups went Kite Surfing, Scuba diving and White Water Rafting in Queensland. This program is a highlight for many of the boys and an excellent opportunity for them to enjoy many of the unique and superbly beautiful natural environments around the country, as well as completing a component of the Personal Learning Plan.

Throughout all of our programs the support and hard work of our Year 11 students was once again a highlight.

This year's group of boys worked especially hard to make the experience for the younger students as positive and memorable as possible. This willingness to volunteer their time to our outdoor programs highlights the skills and attitudes that many of our boys have already developed.

As coordinator of Outdoor Education and Director of Scotts Creek I have thoroughly enjoyed my years working with all our boys over the past 9 years. This year will be my final year as full time Director of Scotts Creek, as I will return with my family to Adelaide to take up a position within the Boarding House and also continue the development of the outdoor education curriculum at PAC. Having spent the past 9 years living and working at Scotts Creek I am looking forward to my new role at Princes and wish Brad and Simon all the best for the coming years.

Mr Phil Noble
Coordinator Outdoor Education

Mr Dale Hobbs
Director, Wambana

The purpose of Wambana is to foster growth by helping our boys better manage the transition between childhood to adulthood. Wambana represents a journey quest, involves confronting challenges and provides an opportunity for service to others. At Prince Alfred College, we are clear on what we want our boys to achieve upon completion of Wambana. This includes, but is not limited to, improved qualities in leadership, social awareness and self-management.

It is hard to believe that it is now 4 years since "Wambana" was introduced to the Year 9 curriculum.

Since the inaugural program in 2007, research has been conducted to gauge the effectiveness of the program. Data from these surveys has been used to inform the school about areas of strength and areas needing attention and focus. At the end of each intake, parents and students are invited to complete a survey.

One significant finding of the study highlights the appreciation boys have for their home and their family. To achieve this, Wambana assists boys in pushing the 'pause button' to allow them time to stop and think! Boys begin to evaluate who they are and what is important to them.

Boys state that they are 'changed' from the Wambana experience. The following is a sample of student comments from 2010 that highlight the impact Wambana had on them:

"It is a life changing experience full of awesome fun, adventure and challenges which involve physical strength and mental knowledge. Overall: AWESOME!"

"I am thankful for the great opportunity I was given and I am proud of what I achieved while I was away."

"Gosh, I loved it. Changed me in so many ways. I wish there was one next year..."

"Changed my life, I will remember it for a very long time, and helped me achieve my goal of becoming as fit as I could be."

"It was the best thing that ever happened to me, I loved the staff. The program was really good. The runs in the morning were the best because it made me heaps fitter. I've continued the program somewhat, running home every day with my bag on my back. My home is around 2 km away from school, and I have managed to run it in under 6 mins! Thank you so much!"

Boys were also asked to rate all aspects of the curriculum. Learning about statistics and climate change, health and well-being and cooking an evening meal were all considered valuable and worthwhile, but overall it was clear that surfing was their absolute love!

In addition to improving the Wambana program, much time and effort has gone into improving the Wambana surrounds. Term two at Wambana was a particularly busy one. Apart from the normal schedule of challenging activities associated with Wambana, boys in 9Watson and 9Williams contributed significantly to the improvement of the Wambana grounds. One important task was to put in place a large limestone rock to house a plaque recognising the generous help from Freddy Chung, Kevin and Nina

Wambana

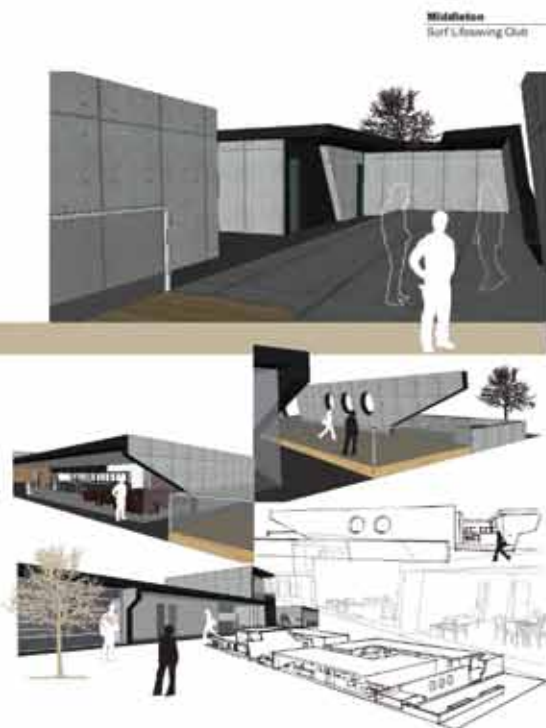

Ma and Dimitri and Sue Aretzis in realising the 'Wambana' dream.

Over 200 native trees were planted along the boundary to assist in creating a wind break and shelter from the Yorke Peninsula winds. 9 Williams was particularly busy establishing an orchard in the south east corner of the property. Many varieties of fruit trees have been planted. These range in variety from apricots, peaches, pears, nectarines, apples and peacharines. Our vision is an orchard that will provide a variety of fruit from November to late May. Our boys will have the opportunity to use this fruit for their own consumption as well as learning the skills of pruning, composting, maintaining and caring for an organic orchard.

Senior School

Mr Nicholas de Dear
Head of Senior School

Every year in the Senior School at Princes is as unique as it is overflowing with achievement, inspiration, accomplishment and laughter.

So it was in 2010. House Swimming, Athletics, InterCols, Work Experience, Peak Adventure, Old Old Boys Assembly or Headmaster's Effort Awards were familiar rites of passage but always different for each individual who experiences them. Our Year 10s only ever experience one Peak Adventure, our Year 11s only one Work Experience or Camp Leadership week and our Year 12s only one shot at their SACE or IB

Diploma. Teachers may teach the same subject but the boys' interaction and engagement with the ideas and with each other each year, is as unique as their DNA.

In 2010 the Senior School grew to 395 students. They were all there in February to inaugurate the 'Over 95 Club' at a new assembly that recognised the exceptional academic performance of the Class of 2009. From 2011, this event will be the, Prince Alfred College Emeritus Assembly. Supporting our Strategic Plan and tradition of, 'Inspiring Excellence', the Emeritus Assembly is how each graduating Year 12 Class is recognised for its academic achievement.

Our Three Schools structure means new ways to celebrate achievement and the activities of the Senior School. Our Year 12s graduated at the end of Valedictory Week in October. Our Year 10s and 11s celebrated academic and student life achievement at the Senior School Presentation Night in December where Old Scholar and, '2010 MasterChef' Adam Liaw was a guest speaker aptly personifying life-long learning. In addition, presentations and highlights of the learning year engaged all students and parents in attendance.

Year 10 and 11 students undertook two examinations sessions during 2010. The boys rose to this new challenge magnificently. This change reinforced the emphasis that the Senior School places upon our core business; the optimisation of each boy's academic potential. Year 12 students underwent Trial Examinations in Term 3 to strengthen their preparedness for their final assessments in November.

Towards the same goal, we awarded new Academic Colours and Honours Awards each semester to the highest achieving 15% and 5% of students, respectively. In combination with existing Headmaster's Effort Awards now presented twice each year, balanced recognition of academic achievement, endeavour and Student Life participation, is being achieved.

In another first, our Year 11s completed the first Personal Learning Plan syllabus under the re-modelled SACE. Next year they will be the first cohort to complete the new SACE Research Project.

Ms Monica Magann was Acting Careers Counsellor for much of his year while Mrs Tabitha Noble enjoyed maternity leave. The Careers Expo in August and Work Experience Week were a resounding success and I know many boys were appreciative of her career, study and tertiary planning guidance this year.

Combined Summer and Winter InterCol results favoured us over our rivals and while Football and Tennis results were stellar, it was also pleasing to see the Chess team triumphant once again.

Support for international students was strengthened by the addition of Mr Jeff Ellis to the staff. We now provide additional intensive English language support until students are sufficiently prepared to enter their 'main stream' classes. This further developed the capacity of existing ESL teaching and learning and the potential of overseas students in the Senior School.

The Boarding House led by Fraser Ellis and Mr Tim Agnew excelled again in leadership, sport and academic representation. The measure of the Boarders place in the Senior School and College, was aptly demonstrated by the wonderful, 'Boarder's Herald' publication that coincided with the, 'Boarder's Assembly' in August.

The mid-year musical, 'War of the Worlds' epitomised imagination and effort as Director Mr Mike Steer, led senior students and College staff in back and front of house roles producing nothing less than an artistic triumph. Adaptability was in abundance given the performance was held in the John Dunning Building rather than the still-being-renovated, Assembly Hall.

ANZAC Day 2010 was not so much new as a renewal, of our proud heritage. Our students' moving recognition of Old Scholars who served in conflicts and those that were lost, was a demonstration of how important our young men still consider the College values of: sacrifice, honour and service to others.

If Year 12 students personify the Senior School then we should be proud of the legacy of the Class of 2010. These young men lived and learned together bringing great credit to their families and College. Their work ethic and general demeanour was a model for younger students. One example and a highlight of the year in the Senior School, was their decision to financially support the McGrath Foundation's Breast Cancer Research via the College Formal ('The Red and White'.) This decision was implemented by the students themselves and speaks volumes for a genuine selflessness permeating this group of Princes' Men. The performance of our Student leaders including: the Student Representative Council (SRC), House Leaders and the Prefects led so well and with such maturity by Captain John Hood and Vice-Captain Michael Brown, were excellent.

I thank all Senior School teachers for their performance in 2010. They play the most significant roles in the lives and success of our students at school. I also recognise the inspiring efforts of the members of the Senior School Executive that have led the students and staff so well. Supported by vital non-teaching staff, the Senior School implemented continuous improvement to maintain our purpose of developing young men who will engage the world with competence, confidence and compassion.

As Year 11 embarks on the first year of the New SACE, our Year 12s are seeing out the last year of what will soon become the 'old' SACE. Like implementing any major external change, it is a challenge. I must thank the teaching staff for their efforts in writing new learning and assessment plans, teaching programs and developing new resources to ensure that our students are given the best experience possible with the New SACE. At the same time I have been equally impressed with the devotion given to making the last year of the existing SACE a successful one for our Year 12s .

This year has seen significant new initiatives for the Senior School aimed at improving student academic outcomes including an examination session for each semester, flexible study time and the establishment of a benchmark testing and performance monitoring system. The vision of our Head of Senior School — Mr Nicholas de Dear, has been instrumental in allowing for these changes. Equally the support of our SACE Coordinator — Ms Elena Zema and Academic Registrar — Mrs Debi Wilson has been crucial to our continuous improvement. Thank you.

Academic results in the 2009 South Australian Certificate of Education (SACE) and the International Baccalaureate Diploma (IBD) were arguably the best since 2002.

Overall the median Tertiary Education Rank (TER) was 88. There were 55 merit scores with seven students attaining TERs over 99 placing them in the top 1% of the State. Thirty-seven students were in the top 5% with a TER over 95 and 42% of our Year 12s were placed in the top 10%.

There were 11 merits from students completing the SACE. Six students achieved their SACE through a Vocational Education and Training (VET) pathway.

The IBD results were outstanding with a top score of 43 out of 45 and a mean score of 36 (which equates to a TER of 96.30). There were 44 merit scores achieved in a range of subjects. Sixteen out of twenty-five students achieved an A grade in the Extended Essay which is excellent achievement.

On the basis of the results of the IB and SACE examinations for 2008, the following prizes were awarded:

The John Dunn Prize and Dux of the School

Jonathan Foo

Mr Steve Clohesy
Director of Student Life

2010 has seen the department of Student Life become further entrenched as a most significant part of the holistic focus of a Prince Alfred College education. The Student Life framework implemented in 2009 identified the key principles of life at the College. These included a commitment to enhancing Well-Being, upholding Christian Values, encouraging Interaction, embracing Challenge, inspiring Leadership and promoting Learning Excellence. There is no doubt that the various branches and programs of Student Life have aligned their objectives with these principles to enrich the school experiences of our students. Thankyou to the senior staff of the Student Life Team, Mr Andrew Newhouse (Director of Music Performance and Bands), Mr Gary Jenkinson (Director of Sport), Mr Tim Agnew (Head of Boarding), Ms Mani White (International Student Coordinator), Mr Allan Lloyd-Jones (Educational Supports), Mr Phil Noble (Coordinator of Scotts Creek), Reverend Mark Dickens (Chaplain) and Ms Anna Thomson and Ms Caroline Lenman (Health Centre) who have given so generously and professionally of their time to embedding the principles so effectively within their respective programs.

These staff have demonstrated the high level leadership, necessary knowledge and expertise to ensure our students are indeed becoming "confident well-rounded young men of Christian principle capable of, and dedicated to, making a difference to their world and eager to become the best they can be." This challenge has been also supported by the Year level Coordinators and Pastoral Care Teachers who have complemented the programs outside the formal classroom with the delivery of personal development and structured well-being programs inside the classroom. Students need forums to discuss and understand their individual personality traits, emotions, and behaviours and develop an appreciation of their unique gifts and indeed weaknesses. They need to feel supported by programs, which are tailored for their individual needs that are differentiated and will consequently enable them to realise their full potential. There is no doubt that the pastoral care provided by the passionate staff has been caring and empathetic and advice offered has been well considered and based on significant professional training and experience. The work of the Learning Support staff has been specific testament to this remarkable level of care. Whether working one on one or with small cluster groups they have demonstrated a detailed understanding across the broad range of potential learning difficulties and have applied a range of strategies to address them and support the boys.

Christian values underpin all that we do at the College. Practicing respect for self and others has, and always will be, fundamental to our calling. Our Chaplain, Reverend Mark Dickens has provided a formal platform to reinforce this message of respect through his engaging Chapel and assembly presentations. At each level the College has formally recognised boys of character that epitomise such qualities and we are delighted that so many boys have provided such obvious and powerful role models of Christian living. The College has become increasingly multi-cultural and enjoyed the consequent benefits. Students have become more global in their thinking, appreciative of the the richness of diversity at all levels and far more able and willing to demonstrate moral courage and seek social justice.

The flow on effect of this attention to personal character has been an increase in the collective feeling of collegiality amongst the College community and a genuine desire to interact, to reach out to others within the school and importantly the wider community. The House program, driven by student enthusiasm and energy, has continued to grow and connect with more boys of all interests and abilities across the College. Community Service programs have been created and increasingly accessed by boys of all ages whilst the take up of student leadership positions at all year levels indicates both a student confidence and a desire to contribute personally and significantly to maintaining the highest standards.

Student performance throughout the year across all co-curricular activities has reflected these high standards and on many occasions has raised them further. The performance of our sports teams in the ISSA competition and during the Intercol weeks have been outstanding whilst the standard of direction and performance in the music department has been equally inspirational and a great reflection on all involved.

In combination the Student Life programs continue to present enormous opportunities for our students and have certainly promoted growth through all domains of personal development whether that be social, academic, emotional, spiritual or physical. It remains our intention that when our boys leave Prince Alfred College they will be men of integrity and confidence dedicated to creating a better and more peaceful world through their service, understanding and respect.

*Mr Steven Clobesy
Director of Student Life*

It has been our aim at Prince Alfred College to challenge all students to be leaders whether they are successful assuming formal positions or not. It is about providing students with the skills of leadership and the opportunities to practice them. Leadership programs are embedded across the pastoral care program and leadership by example is not only encouraged but recognised from diligent application to ones studies, to involvement in community service, to leading junior camps, to performance on the sports' fields and in the music halls. All students have access to formal opportunities whether it be through the respective school leadership programs, the appointment as Prefect, the Student Representative Council, the House program, the Boarding House structure, the International Student community, the Scotts Creek camps' program or the sports and music programs. This translates to over 150 formal appointments across the school. My thanks to all the boys who have assumed such roles throughout the year and in particular the respective Captain and Vice Captains of each school and the senior College Prefects. They have certainly led by example and have been marvellous role models for other students in the community. To witness first hand the enthusiasm and willingness of our boys to be both young men of action and service has been a pleasure and certainly been proof that when given opportunities to lead our boys relish the challenge and invariably excel.

Community Service

The generosity of our Prince Alfred Community is remarkable and the support of so many Community Service initiatives this year has been indicative of that spirit of giving and genuine concern for others.

The support of the Uniting Care Winter Appeal and their Christmas Toy and Hamper was outstanding with the College community responding most generously with gifts of cans, blankets, cash, toys and provisions.

This school wide effort was complemented by the support of the Cambodian Sunrise Orphanages, Legacy, World Vision and Child Protection initiatives. Students from all ages participated in raffles, the selling of badges, participation in the 40 Hour Famine and other fundraising programs. Our boys at all levels have been proactive about "giving back to the community".

The Preparatory School have set up a Community Action Team that has reshaped the SRC to be more service focussed. This successful initiative has generated enormous interest amongst our younger boys and planted some very healthy seeds for the future.

The presence of Community Service as part of the Creativity, Action and Service component of the International Baccalaureate program has generated many wonderful service initiatives whilst the inception of the PLP has also challenged our Year 11 boys to create programs of at least ten hours of authentic service.

At time of writing the Year 10 Peak Adventure is being revised to include an equal element of physical challenge and community service which will significantly reshape the program. The year will conclude with two very significant events. These include the annual Outreach Camp where our senior boys will "buddy up" with intellectually disabled boys from the Grove and Elizabeth Special Schools and spend three days at Scotts Creek and the inaugural Cambodia Tour where a small party of staff and students will spend ten days working in the Sunrise Orphanages.

The year has represented a significant increase in Community Service programs across the College and it is certainly a focus which we intend to continue to grow in the years ahead.

Simpson Prize Canberra Trip

As runner up of the South Australian division of the Simpson Prize I was privileged to travel to Canberra with the winner from SA to meet the other winners and runners-up from all around Australia for a prize presentation in the Australian War Memorial.

We all travelled to Canberra on Sunday 14th March and remained there until Tuesday 16th. Monday was our only full day in Canberra and was just that; full.

We were at the War Memorial by 7:45 long before the doors opened and were given the fantastic opportunity to lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

I was actually lucky to be chosen to read the Ode of Remembrance inside the tomb itself. An experience I will never forget. We spent, in total, eight hours at the War Memorial including tours of each of the galleries, our prize presentation by a minister from the department of education, and behind the scenes viewings of objects that many staff of the Memorial have not seen, in particular, letters that John Simpson himself wrote to his sister and mother from Gallipoli.

Dinner that evening took place at the Royal Military College of Duntroon which we shared with members of the academy, officers and cadets.

Tuesday passed in a haze which included Parliament house, narrowly missing the Prime Minister himself, the national museum and numerous card games at the airport as each state's winner and runner-up left in turn. The experience was something I feel incredibly fortunate to have taken part in and the entire group became firm friends.

I need to thank my history teacher Mr Williams and also Mr McKinnon who sent my essay to the Simpson Prize. Finally the History teacher's association of Australia and the Simpson Prize Affiliate who provided chaperones and fabulous organisation to make the trip run smoothly. Any Year 9 or 10 who get the opportunity to enter this competition should take on the challenge and do their best, they will not regret it.

Strings

This year has been another successful one for the strings program at PAC.

It was certainly an enjoyable year, as seen by the abundance of concerts the Camerata String Quartet, Sinfonia, Orpheus and Vigoroso string ensembles performed. The Sunday recitals at the end of most terms showed to the PAC community the considerable amount of skill the PAC boys have, both as soloists and players within an ensemble.

Sinfonia's performance at the Westminster Schools' Band and Orchestra Festival won a silver award, which is a deserved prize for all the staff and students who put weeks of effort into it. The Camerata String Quartet's numerous performances at a variety of gigs both at the College and in the wider community also showed that the musicality of our string players is known around Adelaide.

So thank you to everyone who has helped out with the strings program this year! I am looking forward to returning to this school in a few years to see what our strings coordinator, Erna Berberyan, and the boys have created.

Michael Riceman

Voice

Mr Tasso Bouyessis after two years has stamped the choir with his own unique style. The Choir has developed a whole new modern persona with a repertoire consisting of songs like Bohemian Rhapsody from Queen and Sweeney Todd. The Choir has still managed to participate in a large number of services through out the year. Congratulations to Mr Bouyessis for all the hard work he has put into teaching the choir a large collection of varying choral pieces. Special thanks must also go to Mrs Mandy Bell. Her support has been crucial in seeing many of the Choirs flourish.

Congratulations should go to Christian Evans who has invested 10 years of service to the choir and also to Roberto Riedig who had invested 5 years. There are now around 50 students divided amongst the three choirs of the school.

Special congratulations should go to David Linn and Jared Vanmali who have won the singing scholarship for this year.

Finally, I would like to thank all the boys for their hard work and dedication.

SA Band and Orchestra Competitions

After such success at Generations in Jazz, the bands were keen to continue our run in the South Australian Bands Festival, held at Westminster early in third term. PAC's bands and orchestra have achieved remarkable success there in recent years; and 2010 was no exception.

The ensembles stood up and performed exceptionally well. The results are particularly outstanding as many of the bands faced much older and more experienced ensembles.

The Intermediate Concert Band and Big Band 2 received bronze awards, the Sinfonia received a silver award, and the Senior Concert Band and Big Band 1 yet again achieved gold awards. Big Band 1 fell one place short of winning the Advanced Stage Band section, a goal that will be high on its priorities next year.

All That Jazz

The end of year bands concert 'All That Jazz' was a resounding success. Held in the newly opened ANZAC Hall, parents and jazz fans alike could relax and enjoy the night out. The concert featured guest singer Amity Dry and guest clarinettist and saxophonist Andy Firth. They featured with Senior and Intermediate Concert Bands as well as all four Big Bands.

The return of last year's graduate musicians to perform was definitely a pleasant surprise for the bands and audience alike. The bands played superbly and left the audience wanting more at the end of the night.

Albert Wu, Piano, Big Band 1

Generations in Jazz

The Generations in Jazz tour of 2010 was jam packed with great music and success for all of our bands.

The current generation of musicians stepped up to the plate and came back with an outstanding 6th place., with Superband selections for Ned Young and Michael Riceman.

Big Band 2 also was successful with 4th place and a Superband selection for Trevor Adelson.

Big Band 3 was the surprise. The whole band was a lot younger and a lot less experienced than the competition, but we still played our best and were awarded an awesome 1st place.

When Big Band 4 played it was 8:00 in the morning and freezing. The band and audience were packed in a tiny room. Although Division 4 is not competitive, the band sounded great!

Isaac Rudd, Trumpet 1, Big Band 3

Arts Colours

James Elix

James was promoted to section leader this year. He also plays regularly with Burnside Youth Concert Band.

Carlo Russo

Carlo is a pianist who is able to play the most demanding repertoire with wonderful attention to detail.

Richard Bethune

With a rock solid bottom register on his baritone sax, Richard has been a most reliable member of many ensembles including Big Band 1, Big Band 2, Senior Band and the Sax Quartet.

Stuart Eddy

Stuart has frequently given up his lunch times and weekends to assist with the rehearsals or performances. The String Department is very fortunate to have such a dedicated mentor for the younger players.

Aaron Russo

Aaron's outstanding sight reading skills were tested as this ensemble was frequently required for long functions at comparatively short notice.

Duncan Soang

Duncan has been one of the few players in Australia to twice play in Generations of Jazz Division 1. Duncan was also an exceptional leader in the Bands, particularly when working with younger players.

Mathieu Blake

Mathieu has participated in the school musical and also in the Senior Drama production as a leading actor. He showed maturity and considerable creative flair in the recent production of "War of the worlds."

Reid Amos

Reid has participated in the school musical and also in the Senior Drama production as a leading actor. Reid's distinctive and original performances are of an exceptionally high standard.

Thomas Johns

Thomas has played principal flute in Senior Concert Band for the previous three years and also found the time to participate as an actor in the Senior Drama Production.

Morgan Price

Morgan excelled in his role as the narrator in this year's production of "War of the worlds." Also he has ably acted as percussion leader on the 2010 Generations of Jazz tour.

Edward Young

Edward is an outstanding musician of professional standard. Ned was awarded his "cap" for the Division 1 Superband at Generations in Jazz. His record of six straight years as lead trumpet in Big Band is unlikely to ever be broken.

Edward has also played as Senior Band principle trumpet, Intermediate band, several musicals, as a pianist in Big Band 3, principle trumpet in Orchestra, Brass Quartet and had his poetry published in three consecutive Red Leaves. In recent years, Edward has always been an inspiring leader for the younger students.

David Brown

Since beginning in Big Band 3, David has steadily worked his way up through the trumpet sections. He was promoted to Big Band 1 in 2008 and has been an outstanding section player.

David was also section leader of the French Horns in Senior Concert Band and contributed to the Orchestra on this instrument and the school musical.

David has been an outstanding leader in the Music Department. His example of personal organisation and punctuality inspires all those around him.

Michael Brown

Michael began his schooling on clarinet, and has contributed to the Intermediate Concert Band and the Senior Concert Band. He has played as principle clarinet and has been selected as feature soloist. He has also played in the school orchestra and school musical on this instrument.

Michael was promoted to Big Band 1 this year. He was frequently appointed saxophone section leader, and he served this roll with distinction. As a prefect this year, he contributed greatly to the music leadership team, frequently showing high levels of initiative and insight.

Aaron Jin

Aaron has been the leader of the Sinfonia since 2006 and as first violin has contributed greatly to the string program's growth over the previous years. Due to his superb musicianship and reading skills, Aaron consistently produced outstanding performances at many concerts.

His leadership skills were ably demonstrated by the example of punctuality and organisation he set and in his encouragement of younger students. He played in three school musicals, mastering the vast amounts of music required with comparative ease. Aaron also led Camerata and sung in the Chapel Choir.

Award with Honours

Albert Wu

Albert has made a significant contribution to the Arts at Prince Alfred College. He is a versatile musician and his dedication to practice has seen him reach exemplary levels of achievement in a number of fields

Albert has already been awarded the Associate Diploma for Piano Performance by the Australian Music Examinations Board. He has performed numerous concerts as a soloist, including one as a guest of the Burnside Symphony Orchestra.

Albert has also played multitude percussion instruments with distinction in both Senior Band and Percussion Ensemble. He has also held the jazz piano chair in Big Band 1 for the last four years, contributing many outstanding solos. He also played in the pit band for War of the Worlds, where his versatility and outstanding reading skills were clearly demonstrated.

Albert has always been a very strong participant and an excellent role model for the younger students.

Jock Clarnette

Jock has made a significant contribution to the Arts at Prince Alfred College.

He was one of the original members of Big Band 1, and next year will see his seventh tour to Mt Gambier with this ensemble, a record that he may never be equalled. His leadership of the saxophones was a key ingredient in the band's successes this year, and he contributed many outstanding solos, often with little or no notice. He has also gained selection as a member of a Superband, which is organised through the University of Adelaide.

Jock has contributed significantly to Big Band 2 as a drummer, percussionist, vibraphone player and section leader. This versatility was rewarded with a selection for the Superband at Generations in Jazz.

Jock has also played for five years with Senior Concert Band and Saxophone Quartet.

As Head of Bands, he has been well organised, and has been an outstanding mentor to younger players.

Nicholas Burton

Nicholas has made a significant contribution to the Arts at Prince Alfred College through his exemplary level of skills in a broad range of activities.

Nicholas has participated in four school musicals and was promoted to Vice Captain of Musicals this year. He has also taken part in the four school drama production.

Nicholas has performed with the Senior Concert Band for the last five years, most recently as section leader and soloist. He also played in Intermediate Concert band principally to assist younger players develop their talents.

Nicholas has played in Big Bands for the previous four years. He was an outstanding section player and featured at tenor soloist most concerts.

Nicholas competed on the Debating team from 2007, and acted as organiser and captain for the previous 3 years.

In addition, he contributed to the literary journal for in 2009 and in 2010.

With this breadth of experience, Nicholas is a very worthy recipient of the Arts Honours Award.

Robert Katsambis

Robert has made one of the most significant contributions to the Music Department since he began bass lessons nine years ago. Over this time he has played in numerous ensembles. The full list of performances throughout this time is staggering. Throughout this time, he has always shown outstanding musicianship, enthusiasm and displayed superb organisation.

As an inaugural member of Big Band 1, he has travelled to Mt Gambier six times to compete in the Generations of Jazz. He is one of the few players to compete in Division 1 twice, contributing an outstanding solo in 2010.

Robert also was a key member of the War of the Worlds pit band, playing almost continually through the entire show.

Robert is a very worthy recipient of the Arts Honours Award.

War Of the Worlds

A School Musical Production should be a community event and as such should be an undertaking that engages, stimulates and involves the whole Prince Alfred College Community. In 2010 we have been fortunate to secure the support of the Maintenance Department, Facilities and Housekeeping, the Technical Studies and Art departments, the Information Technology Department, the Marketing Division, the Accounts Department, the Bands Program, the Parents and Friends, Princes' Parade, the Preparatory School and many of the College teaching staff. What a positive and supported environment. Princes' really is a "can do" school!

Jeff Wayne's War of the Worlds was not a musical in the traditional sense. What we tried to achieve was the integration of light sound, visual media and onstage action. War of the Worlds can be regarded as a rock concert or to quote "Harry M Miller's" vernacular, an Arena Spectacular.

Many staff contributed to the process of staging this production. Mr Bouyessis (Choirmaster) has assisted with vocal rehearsals. Mr Scott Parker and Miss Vanessa DiPalma with the assistance of their student teachers have provided visual data for projection. Mr Raimondo dedicated considerable time and effort to the collation and creation of the visual projected media. Mr Ashley Klose arranged and supervised the creation of band scores and managed the technical complexities of interpreting the music. Mr Andrew Newhouse organised and conducted the band to perform one and a half hours of music. Miss Vanessa DiPalma was also responsible for the choreography of the song "Forever Autumn."

Mr Ian Pilkington and Mr Peter Sillet gave generously of their time and provided significant technical support and organised technical infrastructure. Mrs Felicity Robertson and Mrs Kerry Peterson organised and coordinated costumes. Mrs Kerry Peterson continued in her long standing role of providing administrative and organisational support for the musical in a variety of ways. Mrs Margie Nicholls assisted with costume collection and Mrs Patricia Samuels assisted with make up. Mr Shane Reidy with the assistance of his students constructed scenery and props. Mr McEwin from maintenance brought considerable creativity and technical skill to the creation of the fighting machine and to no small degree contributed to the success of this production. Mrs Cook and her staff participated in the massive technical and logistical feat of setting up the technical environment. Mr Peter Serwan from the Art Department painted scenery and props. The production could not have been staged without the ongoing technical and personal support of Mr Peter Hughes. (Director of School Operations.)

We need to acknowledge that the concept of the Princes "Music Theatre Company" was conceived by Mrs Pamela Freeman as was the structural and administrative form in which it currently exists.

Where do we go to from here? Why not stage Pink Floyd's "The Wall?" Or perhaps "Jesus Christ Superstar or Tommy?"

Championship and came third in the South Australian U/18 Competition.

In 2009 he came first in the Under 18 South Australian Juniors and in January this year he flew to Hobart to play in the Australian Juniors.

We once again recognize Anthony's prodigious chess ability and passion by awarding him Honours.

Honours for Chess

Anthony Milton

Anthony's accomplishments as a chess player are extensive; both in school and in club competitions.

He has played in Division I since 2006, when he started secondary school. He was Vice Captain of Chess in 2008, Captain in 2009 and Captain again this year.

He has been a member of the Intercollegiate Chess Team since 2007 and has a 3–1 win-loss record. In 2009 he led PAC to victory in the Division One Interschool Competition and this year the team was runner up. Last Wednesday evening his team defeated St Peters College six and a half to three and a half in our chess Intercol.

Anthony has always represented Prince Alfred College with dignity, maturity and a deep respect for his opponent. He has an outstanding knowledge of the game and has the ability to remain cool and focused to the end.

Outside of the school Anthony has played A grade club competition for the last five years.

In 2007 he was the State under 18 Champion and was equal first in the City of Adelaide Competition.

In 2008, he has played in the A grade Club Competition for Norwood (an adult competition) where he was undefeated on board two. He came first in the SA Candidates, an open tournament at the Chess Centre. He was also equal first in the South Australian U/21

Chess

A pleasing feature of Chess has been the increase in number of boys playing competitive Chess for the College. This year, PAC entered 7 teams in the Secondary Interschool Competition, two in Division 1, three in Division 2 and two in Division 3.

PAC Red narrowly lost Division 1 to St Peter's College by just one point. Led by Anthony Milton the team consisted of the current City of Adelaide Junior Champion, Fabian Ivancic and also Owen Yang, Duncan Soang and Hugh Perks.

In Division 2 the three PAC teams finished in 3rd, 4th and 6th places from 32 teams entered. They were ably led by their respective captains, Albert Wu, Jack Morelli and Pan Yuheng. PAC also fielded two teams in Division 3, which finished in 3rd and 5th places from a pool of 20 teams.

This year PAC won the annual Intercollegiate Chess match against St Peters with the convincing score of 6.5 to 3.5.

Through his dedication and outstanding skills as a Chess player, Anthony Milton is to be congratulated for being an excellent role model as Captain of Chess. Earlier in the year he finished in 9th position in the 2010 Australian Junior Chess Championships held in Tasmania.

Debating

The 2010 A Grade Debating team enjoyed a very successful season, with each member having had the opportunity to develop and display his skills and knowledge, harnessing these in a series of engaging debates on a myriad of challenging topics.

Early in the season, the team bounced back from a first round loss to arch-rivals St. Peter's College, with wins against Saints Girls and Mercedes, debating "That smokers should have to pay for their own medical costs" and "That youth wages are unfair".

We had earned a place in the State quarter-finals! We defeated Walford in a close, spirited debate about student truancy. The team then came within an inch of the State Grand Final, losing to an extremely skilled Seymour team in what was a most exciting match.

Another highlight of the season was the Intercollegiate Debate against Saint Peter's College. After their first round loss in the Schools Competition, the team was ready for revenge. While we were ultimately unable to defeat our rivals, it was a spectacular debate to a full house and one of the closest Debating Intercols in many years.

I would like to thank our coach, Ms Marilyn Hunt, and all who have supported the team throughout the 2010 season.

Cap D'Ail and Paris

On New Year's Day 21 PAC boys, ranging from Year 9 to Year 12, gathered at Adelaide airport ready to leave for a 3-week stay in France, accompanied by Mr Juergen Kracht and Mrs Marie Milicevic. Joining us on this trip were 16 girls from Wilderness and their teachers. We flew by Emirates with stopovers in Singapore and Dubai.

The beautiful blue Méditerranée spread below us as we prepared to land in Nice, the capital of the Côte d'Azur. It was a mild sunny day and after a pleasant trip by coach, we arrived at the Centre Méditerranéen d'Etudes Françaises (CMEF) in Cap d'Ail.

The first two weeks were spent at the CMEF, located in the magical setting of a 3 hectare park-like campus overlooking the Mediterranean Sea. There, the boys practised their French with 3-hour daily lessons in the mornings, followed by excursions to places of interest in the afternoons.

The cultural side of the tour was well catered for by visits to several art galleries such as the Musée Chagall in Nice and walks through picturesque medieval villages such as St. Paul de Vence. There were opportunities for shopping in Nice and even as far as San Remo in Italy, where the open air markets offered great bargains. Monaco and Cannes had a fascination of their own as international centres for world celebrities. The boys enjoyed taking photos of Ferraris in Monaco and looking for the handprints of their favourite stars on the plaza in front of the Cannes Film Festival Centre.

The evenings at the CMEF were filled with many interactive fun activities such as the karaoke, pottery painting à la Jean Cocteau, "EthiCasino", disco night, magician show, film evening and folk dancing lessons. On an excursion to a soccer game to Monaco, the boys happily joined in with the local fans to cheer the home side to a 4-0 win against Montpellier.

At the end of our stay in Cap d'Ail, the students received certificates of achievement for their language studies. We were also invited to a reception by the Lord Mayor, held at a mansion formerly owned by Russian royalty, where we were treated to refreshments and received gifts.

We left Cap d'Ail by coach for a one day stop in Avignon on our way to Paris. The Palace of the Popes was the highlight of our visit together with "Le Pont du Gard", an aqueduct built by the Romans. After the visit it was onto the TGV, a train which travels at speeds up to 300 km/hr, to take us to Paris.

Paris architecture was a feast for the eyes. The boys learned to use the Metro as we travelled to the landmarks: Tour Eiffel, Arc de Triomphe, Louvre, Centre Pompidou, Montmartre, Sacré Coeur, Sainte Chapelle and Quay d'Orsay. Paris was much colder than the South of France but even the misty, rainy days did not deter us from long walks through the city and going in the evening for a treat of "crêpes" and "gauffres". We celebrated our last evening in Paris with dinner in a quaint restaurant in Le Quartier Latin, where the boys indulged in the French delicacy of snails in garlic sauce. "Délicieux!", was the verdict.

The PAC boys were excellent representatives of their college and of Australian youth. Mr Kracht, who has lead numerous trips to France, declared this group as: "The best group ever". The students felt they had greatly benefitted from this immersion in French culture and some are even considering studying in France in the future.

Ms Marie Milicevic

In the late seventies, (back when dinosaurs roamed the earth) during the completion of my teaching degree, with a major in Human Movement Studies, I became aware of many physical education projects both in Australia and overseas that demonstrated the importance of being healthy and physically fit in order to reach one's maximum potential academically. The premise was that a healthy body led to a healthy mind and increased one's capacity for good sleep, better concentration and the ability to sustain purposeful study for longer periods of time.

Recently my involvement in the presentation of colours and honours awards here at PAC has given me cause to ponder at the correlation between those sportsmen who are the recipients of these awards and how they fared academically.

It came as no surprise that a large number of our schools previous sporting colours and honours awardees were also outstanding students and perhaps to this end it dispelled for me the myth that sporting 'jocks' were less academically inclined.

Here is a sample of the 2009 colours and honours recipients who excelled academically by achieving TER scores in the high nineties; Alistair Young 99.2 (Drive Tennis from Yr 8, 1st XVIII football), Jack Trengove 97.6 (captain 1st XVIII football, captain 1st XI cricket), Travis Cordingly 99.85 (1st VIII rowing, 1st XV rugby), Tom Cocks 95.25 (Div 1 squash, 1st VIII rowing), Jordan Walsh 97.75 (1st XI cricket), Jonathan Foo 99.85 (captain drive tennis, basketball), Matthew Watson 99.5 (1st XVIII football), Jordan Sanders 97.2 (swimming, water polo), Simon Barnett 98.2 (1st XI soccer), Cameron Wong 95.9 (captain swimming), Joel Amos 99.85 (captain debating), Karl Siebels 96.75 (1st XVIII football), Angus McLaren 97.75 (1st VIII rowing), Andrew Sykes 96.6 (1st XI cricket) just to mention a few.

Many of these outstanding young athletes held leadership positions within their teams, played musical instruments and many were also prefects.

This leads me to the point that Princes encourages boys to be actively involved in the co-curricula program and that despite the busy nature of school life, it would appear that the benefits gained from being fit and healthy certainly enhanced and complimented academic performance.

Honours Colours

Rowing

For exemplary sportsmanship, selfless contribution and individual excellence to Rowing at Prince Alfred College

Alexander Hill

Alexander Hill joined the Rowing Program in Year 10, immediately making a positive impact. His commitment to training is exemplary and his focus and dedication has enabled him to overcome several significant health issues. Alexander is one of the very few who has been selected into the 1st VIII, following his first season of rowing.

In 2009, Alexander won the South Australian School Eights Championship and finished second in the Head of the River. In 2010, despite having his appendix removed mid season, he again excelled placing in both the State Championships and Head of the River.

Following the completion of the school season, Alexander attended the Rowing SA Youth Cup Trials and gained selection into the South Australian Youth Cup Eight, which will compete on the Olympic course in Sydney later this year, against crews from all States, the Australian Capital Territory and New Zealand. Alexander's rowing achievements have also gained him selection in the 2010 South Australian Institute of Sport (SASI) Target Squad. This squad is a 'feeder' program for the SASI Senior Rowing Squad and aims to identify athletes considered to possess Olympic sporting potential, fast tracking their development.

Alexander's determination and persistence in getting the job done make him a worthy role model. He works positively as a team member and possesses the ability to motivate and inspire enthusiasm in others. He has played an integral part in helping his Boat Club win the 2009 and 2010 Rowing SA School Boy Premierships.

Alexander has made a significant contribution to the sport of Rowing and he is a most fitting recipient of the highest sporting accolade, Honours Colours.

Tristan Perkins

Tristan Perkins was appointed Captain of Boats in 2010, a position awarded to him as a result of his enthusiasm and commitment to Rowing at Prince Alfred College. He has led the Shed well and has shared his obvious enjoyment and motivation for the sport with his team mates at all times.

Tristan rowed in the 2nd VIII in 2009 and enjoyed an unbeaten season with the exception of the Head of the River where his crew placed a close second. In 2010, he gained selection in the 1st VIII. Tristan's performance at training, both on and off the water was second to none and was not beaten in any internal selection trials. His attitude to training is excellent and his consistency is a trademark in all that he undertakes.

Mr Gary Jenkinson
Director of Sport

Following the completion of the school season, Tristan attended the Rowing SA Youth Cup Trials and gained selection into the South Australian Youth Cup Crew which will compete on the Olympic course in Sydney later this year against crews from all states, the Australian Capital Territory and New Zealand.

Tristan's determination and persistence in getting the job done make him a worthy role model. He works positively as a team member and possesses the ability to motivate and inspire enthusiasm in others. Tristan has played an integral part in helping his Boat Club win the 2009 and 2010 Rowing SA School Boy Premierships.

Tristan has made a significant contribution to the sport of Rowing and is a most fitting recipient of the highest sporting accolade, Honours Colours.

Soccer

John Hall

John Hall has been a member of the 1st XI Soccer team since 2008 and during that time he has been the goalkeeper and played in every match. His brilliant keeping has been instrumental to the team's success and ensured good performances in our last three Intercollegiate matches. In fact John was awarded player of the match in our 2-1 victory over Saints in the 2010 Intercol.

His natural athleticism and agility combined with his shot-stopping prowess make him one of the best keepers in his age group. He fills the goal when at full stretch and his gigantic frame and enormous physical presence makes the prospects for opposition forwards to score even more daunting. He commands his area with authority and his quick vision and expert distribution can quickly turn a defensive position into an attack. John is a wonderfully positive sportsman, attends all training sessions and always gives one hundred percent during matches.

Outside of the school team John played for Adelaide City in 2007 and 2008 and since then has played for the Cumberland United reserves team and trained with the first squad. He was recently chosen for an American College scholarship and extraordinarily has also been selected to train at the West Ham Academy in England.

It is therefore only fitting that his school acknowledges his wonderful sporting talent and the fine contribution that he has made to soccer at PAC by awarding him honours.

Swimming

For exemplary sportsmanship, selfless contribution and individual excellence to Swimming at Prince Alfred College

Blaire Brewerton

Blaire Brewerton has proven himself to be a terrific swimmer and as such a legitimate recipient of the College's highest sporting honour.

In 2010, Blaire was made Captain of the swim team, a role he took on with great enthusiasm. He demanded the very best of himself and others. Often assisting in selecting the team, he set a high standard in personal preparation. He was punctual and hard working at all trainings he attended.

When not competing he was an active and supportive member of the team, calling for greater effort from all members within the team. Younger swimmers looked up to him with awe as he consistently out classed the better swimmers from other schools.

In 2010, he was victorious in the Champion of Champions race at the House swimming carnival and also led his team Cotton to the best of his ability.

Blaire ran trainings on Thursdays and was very vocal in giving feedback and support to all swimmers.

Given the fact that Blaire has fought his way back from a rather debilitating injury in the last 12 months, his performances at inter school carnivals and the Intercol was inspiring.

Blaire has represented his state at National level and is a very deserving winner of this award.

Daniel Foo

Daniel is a highly skilled table tennis player and has been a conscientious member of the 1st team at Prince Alfred College since Year 8. He has been our number one player for three seasons and has always demonstrated excellent team-work and good sportsmanship. In 2009 he helped coach the Year 8/9 team and enjoyed passing on his positive attitude, skill and love of table tennis to our junior players.

Daniel has shown leadership when organising the set up and dismantling of the Sport Centre for home matches and he has demonstrated punctuality, consistency and dedication to training and match play.

Daniel has been fearlessly competitive and has rarely lost a match during the season. He has been a state representative since 2007 and this year he has been selected to represent the South Australian U/18 team in the Australian Junior Championships in Queensland.

It is only fitting therefore that Daniel be awarded the school's highest accolade for sporting achievement Honours.

"There is a very special place in the Australian psyche for sport. It is one of the pillars of the Australian way of life. You don't really understand what makes the Australian nation tick unless you understand the great affection Australians have for sport." Prime Minister John Howard (1996).

Despite the non-compulsory nature of sport here at Princes approximately eighty teams participate across the sports of badminton, cricket, tennis, water polo, basketball, football, hockey, rugby, squash, table tennis and soccer. That does not include the numerous rowing crews, swim team and athletics team.

Once again our summer and winter sporting teams have performed with distinction and with that I am not just referring to our 1st sides, which are indeed suitably heralded in the following pages of this chronicle. I would like to acknowledge however the efforts of those students playing in 2nds and 3rds sides who are equally responsible for maintaining the strong tradition of participation in sport at PAC. They are no less enthusiastic or dedicated in the majority of cases than our elite performers.

To this end the true worth of our school's commitment to playing sport beyond the obvious glories of shared victories and defeats with mates, is the strong numbers who continue to participate in sport long after their school sporting careers come to an end. Sport obviously becomes a valued part of their lives, they willingly participate for as long as they physically can and this to me is a superb success story.

Finally I would like to pay testament to all of the school's coaches who selflessly work to ensure PAC students enjoy their participation in sport and give the players the opportunity to improve their skills. Likewise I congratulate all of our managers and parents who have in 2010 once again provided wonderful support to the players and the school.

Director of Sport*

Summer Intercol Summary

This summer's Intercollegiate sport matches against traditional rivals St Peter's College have been the source of great enthusiasm and spectacle for our sportsmen and spectators alike.

Princes' dominated the summer sport Intercols in 2009 when celebrating its 140th birthday and this has undoubtedly brought out the best in St Peter's in 2010.

A new fierceness in competition has seen PAC surrendering some of its Intercol silverware to St Peter's but above this the close nature of this summer's results has re-affirmed the wonderfully strong rivalry between the two schools.

Swimmers suffer narrow loss

On Wednesday 24th March, at 5.30pm at the St Peter's College Pool, Princes relinquished the Tony Donahue Memorial Trophy for Intercollegiate swimming, which PAC had held for the past six years, to Saints 578-points to 575-points, in the final of the SAAS Swimming Carnival.

PAC was led magnificently by captain of swimming Blaire Brewerton, and once the events were underway a narrow margin separated the two schools and that narrow margin seesawed consistently throughout the afternoon.

Coach Mark Shepherd along with staff members Troy McKinnon and David deLacy were delighted with the enthusiasm of our swimmers who had committed themselves to train and represent PAC during the SAAS swimming season.

Tennis talent on display

On Friday 26th March, the PAC tennis team, led by Captain Josh Gregg, and consisting of Jack Schipanski, John Hall, James Ma, Corey deCandia, Lawrence Bataljin, Michael Brown, Boom Chamnarkit, Jock Clarnette and Riley Terrell journeyed to the Hastwell Street Courts at St Peter's College and won its Intercollegiate clash 15-matches to nil.

The Princes team, undefeated throughout the season, played some irresistible tennis and despite strong resistance from its Saints opponent, was able to win the crucial points and thus dominate the proceedings.

Princes' is the current reigning National Schools Team Champion and it will travel interstate later in the year to defend that title.

Watching those shuttles fly high

On the Friday evening, the Saints Sport Centre was the perfect venue for this summer's Intercollegiate badminton battle. Captain, Owen Yang and his team consisting of Yiran Tan, Jacky Lai, Jayden Lim and Albert Wu played with real enthusiasm and determination before succumbing to a talented Saints outfit 7-2.

A large group of enthusiastic and vocal PAC supporters saw Saints comfortably win the three opening doubles matches before courageous singles wins to Lim (19-21, 21-11, 21-16) and Wu (21-11, 15-21, 21-12) gave PAC a glimmer of hope and the possibility of an upset.

Saints steadied on its home turf however and captured four singles matches out of six and retained the Intercol badminton trophy.

PAC is back on the water

Despite coming third at The Head of the River Regatta at West Lakes on Saturday 27th March, the 1st VIII PAC crew can be well proud of its effort. Tristian Perkins, captain of boats along with his crew of William Brennan, Alex Hill, William Gower, Drew Clements, William Thredgold, Nicholas Cooper, Tom Woolford and cox Brett Jenkin took the contest to the pre-race favourites St Peter's College.

PAC led by a boat length at the halfway mark before the powerful Saints crew responded with an increased rating that seemed to put the contest out of contention. PAC surged once again however and was gaining on the favourites at the 50-metre mark when an unfortunate error saw an oar dislodge from the desperate hands of a PAC crew member.

Losing speed rapidly, the partially crippled boat lurched towards the finish line but not before being cruelly overtaken and beaten into second place by the Scotch College crew.

The 2nd VIII crew coxed by Brian Wibberley and consisting of Ben Young, Shaun McFarlane, Jeremy Pearce, Callum Powell, James Morgan, Damon Thomson, Edward Carter and Niwili White-Forest won the Head of the River 2nd VIII race by a convincing boat length, leading from start to finish.

Other successful crews on the day were the Year 10 1st IV, 2nd IV, 3rd IV, 4th IV and the Year 9 4th IV. There was a genuine enthusiasm for rowing amongst our twelve crews at this regatta and an exciting sense of optimism looking toward the future, which can be well founded on the strength of these results.

Athletics

School House Athletics Day

The school house athletics day was held in Term 3 on the PAC front oval. The track was extremely heavy from heavy overnight rain with the hurdles events even needing postponing until later in the day to enable the conditions to dry. A number of very good individual performances were recorded despite the difficult conditions.

In an incredibly tight finish Niwili White Forrest won the Champion of Champions 100m sprint. He was followed home by two Year 10 students in Jack Viney who was second and George Hannaford who was third.

Watsford won the House Spirit Cup but it was Cotton who took the Relay Shield and the extra points for these all important team events

Final house points for the day were:

Cotton	4351 points	Waterhouse	4153 points
Watsford	4229 points	Taylor	4095 points

And so Cotton after finishing fourth in 2009 won the House Athletics Cup for 2010.

Mrs Kerrie Van Dissel, mother of captain of athletics Jonathon Van Dissel congratulated all boys on their involvement on the day the spirit of the competition overall. With the help of Mr Tutt she presented the Cups and awards to each recipient.

Achilles Cup

The annual Achilles Cup Athletics meet was held a week after the school house athletics day. Due to an upgrade of the surface at Santos Stadium the meet was hosted on the grass at Saint Peters College.

PAC had a number of very good individual performances throughout the day. The Under 14 age group was by far our most productive with Will Brown and Will Goode being particularly strong in a number of track events and along with Adam Gwinnett and Jack Doney they also won the 4 by 100m relay at days end. Seb Higham was another in the Under 14 age group who did well. Hugh Schievenin once again competed against Term 4, 2009, was one of individual highlights rather than team success. A fine half century by Matthew Scheepers in our first match against a powerful St. Michaels team was promising but we were comprehensively beaten. Similarly we faced a strong Rostrevor side next and they posted a large score of 322 on the first day despite the lion hearted bowling of Will Latchford. In reply we slumped to 5/76 before Adam Perryman (120 not out) and Billie Tapscott (118 not out) combined in a brilliant 203 run partnership, which took us to the brink of victory.

Two impressive victories over Unley High School and Pembroke paved the way for us to play in the grand final of the annual Twenty/20 competition. Impressive batting came from Adam Perryman and Ned Young while Bill Sandow, Will Latchford and Ed Greeves also competed well with the ball. Unfortunately were soundly beaten by Rostrevor in the final.

In Term 1, 2010, we started with a resounding victory over Scotch College with newcomer, Kelvin Smith, making a brilliant 170 on debut. Newly promoted Bill Sandow dominated the bowling with 6/17. Unfortunately bad losses to Westminster and Sacred Heart meant that we did not reach the finals stage of the State one-day competition. Impressive batting from another newcomer, Jake Weatherald, was pleasing. Will Murdoch and Will Latchford also bowled well. Our best win of the season came against our nemesis Rostrevor with Ned Young making an invaluable 56. Ned followed this up with another half century against St. Michaels in our next match. Our final match in term cricket saw us complete a rout over Trinity with wonderful centuries coming from Adam Perryman (128 not out) and Jake Weatherald (124). Kelvin Smith captured 4 wickets with his off breaks.

Intercollegiate Cricket 2010

The 134th annual four-day match against St. Peters College commenced on Friday March 26th. Ned Young won the toss and elected to bat. Despite the early loss of Jake Weatherald, Kelvin Smith looked to be in ominous touch and he received valuable support from Matthew Gillespie until Matt was dismissed following a 38 run partnership. Smith and Adam Perryman combined to produce a century partnership dominated by Kelvin Smith who made a brilliant 109. Adam compiled a valuable 33. Unfortunately both batsmen lost their wickets on the score of 150 and wickets tumbled as Captain Ned Young continued resolutely to play a wonderful hand with batting partners trying valiantly to assist him. Ned's defiant 83 was most impressive. An entertaining 33 run last wicket partnership between Bill Sandow and Will Murdoch allowed us to reach 285, in the end a satisfactory total.

Bill Sandow bowled impressively taking 3/28 from 15 tight overs and Matthew Gillespie had his best spell for the season with 2/42. A magnificent one-handed catch from Wicketkeeper Ned Young inspired his team at a critical time. Will Murdoch also bowled with sustained pace.

A surprise declaration before play on day 3 saw us lose early wickets with only Kelvin Smith making a useful contribution of 35 in the early stages. Billie Tapscott played well after lunch to make a valuable 42 but a disappointing second innings tally of 132 set Saints only 119 to win the match. Saints completed an 8 wicket victory early on Day 4.

Thanks must go to Head Groundsman, Ian Drake, who produced an outstanding cricket wicket in his last summer at the school and who oversaw the hard work of his crew to allow the game to go ahead at Princes despite the difficulties with irrigation in the lead up.

The Prince Alfred College Boat Shed performed strongly throughout the 2009–10-regatta season.

Expectations were high leading into the Head of the River Regatta and the results recorded by our crews did not disappoint. PAC crews won six of 12 events; the highest number of wins since 1999, and these included a wonderful fighting victory by the 2nd VIII along with a clean sweep of all divisions in the Intermediate Quads. The remaining crews recorded two second, two third and two fourth placings, highlighting the depth of talent within the Boat Shed.

Following the Head of the River, three PAC rowers have been selected into the South Australia Sports Institute Target Squad (William Brennan, William Gower and Alex Hill) and two into the South Australian Youth Cup Team (Alex Hill and Tristan Perkins).

I would like to thank the boys for their considerable efforts throughout the season. I would also like to thank the coaches who have worked well as a group and provided guidance and example to the boys. We are thankful for the parental support received this season which has been demonstrated through the provision of lunch time BBQs, help with cleaning of equipment and transport of boys to West Lakes and beyond for regattas.

Andrew Randell, Director of Rowing

1st VIII Rowing

At the beginning of the season we welcomed Dr Randell whose past roles included Head Coach at the NSW Institute of Sport and Assistant Coach of the Men's Lightweight squad at the Beijing Olympics. The introduction of single sculling benefited us greatly and helped to develop our skills and balance in the eight. In December we travelled to the Riverland to compete in the Renmark Regatta. We had several wins in the School eights and fours.

January Rowing camp was held at Scotts Creek in temperatures that rose above 45 degrees. At one stage the entire squad was evacuated to Morgan for a night due to bush fire risk. The training was hard but we had ample time off and enjoyed good bonding and a few jokes. The real racing began in Term 1 where we struggled with consistency but usually finished in the placings. We had a good win at the Murray Bridge regatta and finished second in the SA State Championships.

Head of the River day arrived quickly and our plan was to throw down the gauntlet from the start. We blasted out of the blocks with a frantic display of early speed that saw our crew move into the lead through the 500m with St Peters close by in second, and Scotch several lengths back in third position. St Peters mounted a confident challenge through the third 500m and pushed up into the lead. We responded well in the last 500m upping our stroke rate with a brave charge. Unfortunately our effort ended with one of the crew catching a crab in the rough water and losing control of the oar. We were all disappointed but happy with the way we attacked our race.

The team itself was much younger than we have fielded in recent years. Although we did have some quality swimmers at the senior end of the group, we simply did not have the number of older boys needed to put pressure on the bigger teams in the finals. This meant we were constantly pushing younger swimmers into higher age divisions. That said the boys who did this were simply outstanding so far as their courage and fearless attitude drove them to great heights in many cases. They are now well placed to surge back at Saints in 2011.

The outstanding competitor in 2010 was Billy McFall who was superb in terms of his dedication and his genuine improvement this year. He will be a true powerhouse for this group over the coming years.

Other swimmers to show great improvement included Tom Plant, Nick Krantz and Ryan Favell, Zern Lee, Oli Nicholl, Brett Jenkin and Will Goode.

Amongst the senior group we were ably lead by Blaire Brewerton who's swimming gifts are well documented, and the terrific deputyship of Jordan Portschi who showed everyone in the program exactly what it means to put the team first. Of the 'new breed', we are fortunate to have so many young swimmers coming into the program and I am sure you will hear more about the names Meredith, Colwell, Hussler, Dewar, Lindner and Gwinnett in the coming seasons.

So far as the team goes, it was magnificently driven by our devoted head coach Mark Shephard. Mark gives his time selflessly and has certainly given us a high level of tactical and technical improvement.

Particular thanks also to Mr. David deLacy who was a driving force behind the administration and supervision of the weekly events.

The formation of the middle school meant that for the first time Year 7 boys would be playing in the Saturday morning competition against potentially Year 8 and 9 boys. Most of the Year 7 boys played on the Friday afternoon competition and performed reasonably well considering some of the top Year 7 boys played in the Saturday morning competition. We were outclassed by St Peters and Pembroke but did well against the other schools.

The middle A team was primarily a Year 7/8 team as the top Year 9 players were either in the Drive team or on the Extended Stay Camp at Wampana. They held their own against most teams and went down narrowly against St Peters in the Intercol. Tom Miller, James Whisson and Connor Foley were the standout players in the team and have a bright future at the college.

Development of players was paramount and we thank Stefan Pretorius, Alistair Young, Callum Roy and Jasper Wolfe (all old scholars) for their coaching assistance.

The senior teams on paper looked so strong that we fielded two "A" teams when all the other schools in the competition fielded one. We therefore struggled to win all our matches but the benefit of diluting our strength was to give most boys a very competitive match each week rather than coasting to easy wins. Competition for spots in the "A" teams was fierce and it was pleasing to see Eugene Chang, Daniel Foo and Fletcher Angove be promoted to the Drive squad due to their strong performances during the season.

The strength of the squad was evident in the Intercols against St Peters when the boys proceeded to win the top 3 matches. It was nice to see Jack Tidswell beat their number 9 singles player from the Intercol showing he will be a force next year when he will undoubtedly make his debut with the Drive team.

The boys played with their usual good sportsmanship and it was a pleasure to manage the boys during the season.

College in the semi final and soundly defeated them 6 rubbers to nil before meeting Oakhills College in the final. They were a formidable team having been NSW state champions for the last 3 years.

The format consists of 4 singles and 2 doubles matches. In the final the match of the tournament was Luke Saville (ranked number 1 in Australia under 16) versus Jordan Thompson (ranked number 3 in Australia under 16). Luke was down 3–1 in the first set but reeled off 5 games straight to win the first 6–3 and was down again in the second 4–1 before reeling off 5 games straight to win the match 6–3, 6–4. Li Tu playing at number 2 played the set of the tournament winning 6–0 in the first but lost the match in a 3rd set super tie breaker. John Hall playing at number 4 was too strong winning 6–2, 6–0 so the pressure was on Josh Gregg to win playing at number 3 to give us the advantage. He won the first set but lost the second set to go into an epic super tie break which he managed to win 11–9 and gave us an unassailable lead with the two doubles to play. Li Tu and Josh Gregg lost the first doubles but John Hall and Corey de Candia won the second doubles to finish the tie 4–2.

The boys are keen to return next year because if they retain the title they will qualify for the World Schools Teams event (a biennial event) to be played in Normandy, France in March 2011.

The 2010 season has seen the best of PAC tennis as the team has succeeded for the second year in a row being undefeated. The Drive team had many players come into the side, which really expresses the depth of tennis at Prince Alfred College. 11 players represented the Drive team over the season with a record 9 Colours and 1 Honours colours being awarded as recognition of the depth of talent. The team had tough opposition such as St Michaels, Marryatville, Immanuel and Pembroke, but has managed to scrape in on every occasion. The team will travel to Wagga Wagga in the middle of November for the National School Boys Teams Event where they will be defending the title. The 2010 Intercol, held late in the first term, saw St Peters hosting the annual Intercollegiate match. The team was looking for its fourth straight win in a row against the rival school. The day kicked off with singles matches between both schools and proved to be a tough hit out. By lunch, however, PAC had the better of Saints 10–0. After convincing wins in the singles the team refocused and continued to perform well in the doubles. The Prince Alfred College Tennis Intercollegiate Team continued on and overcame St Peters 15–0 recording a win for the fourth year in a row. This is the second year straight that PAC has white-washed Saints at the Intercollegiate Match.

In 2010 Princes winter Intercollegiate sporting success continues!

Here at PAC we value sport as a way to enhance our students' well being. For 141 years our school has seen sport as an integral part of its culture. Students through the years have developed teamwork, resilience in the face of adversity, leadership, courage, self awareness and self actualization by representing their school on the sporting field. Good teams have chemistry and there has been plenty of chemistry amongst the players in our teams during terms two and three.

In the winter Intercollegiate sporting contests against our traditional rivals St Peter's College our sportsmen have demonstrated a willingness to work with and for each other and through that commitment to make personal sacrifices for the greater goal of their team.

On Tuesday 17th August, our 1st XI senior soccer team travelled to St Peter's College to do battle with a highly favoured Saints outfit on the Lloyd Oval. The Saints team had lost only one game in the home and away season and Princes entered the clash as an outright under-dog. The match turned out to be an intriguing affair with the score even on one goal each for much of the contest before Princes captain William Katsambis volleyed a shot over the Saint's goalkeeper's head from twenty-five metres out. With ten minutes left to play in the second half, John Hall demonstrated wonderful athleticism, determination and poise in goals to deny the Saints' strikers time and time again and ensure a hard-fought 2-1 victory.

In similar circumstances our very much under-rated Year 7 soccer team overcame considerable odds to defeat a highly fancied Saints team 2-1 in its Intercollegiate clash.

Later on Tuesday evening, despite some wonderful argument and entertaining and witty repartee from our senior debating team, led by Nick Burton, PAC was narrowly defeated by Saints in the Big School Room at St Peter's College.

Wednesday's clash of the 1st XI hockey teams, on the Hatswell Courts, at St Peters College saw both sides locked away on one goal each late in the game before Princes rallied to score from a well structured set play with only minutes left on the clock. PAC was undefeated for the home and away season going into the Intercol and had not lost a game in over four years. Saints matched Princes early intensity and run and responded well to its home ground advantage and strong spectator support. However the wonderful leadership of our talented captain Tom Fitzgerald playing in remarkably his fourth Intercol, along with the dogged determination of centre-half Michael Staak, wrestled the game away from the home side and ensured that Princes was victorious. The win was a fitting way to farewell long serving 1st XI coach Bob Claxton who has made an outstanding contribution to hockey at PAC and he will be sorely missed.

In other hockey results, the 2nd team and Year 7/8/9 team lost to St Peters.

Thursday afternoon saw our 1st XV rugby union side travel to the Farr Oval at St Peters with an opportunity to win back to back rugby Intercols. PAC Captain Jonathon van Dissel and his boys played with great passion, strength and determination to realise a 31-point to 19-point triumph. Jonathon was outstanding and deservedly awarded the Intercol medal for a best on field performance. Other players who made solid contributions during the match were Ross Gates and Kieran Altmann. Scorers for Princes were Brad Ashby, Abraham Jeaschke, Matt Henry, Altmann and van Dissel.

Princes Open A/B, table tennis team, led by Captain Calvin Lee played strongly for a two point victory over Saints at the St Peter's College Sport Centre on Friday afternoon 762-points to 760-points. Our Yr 7/8/9 A/B side lost to Saints.

On Friday evening our 1st V basketball team hosted St Peter's College in the PAC Sport Centre. PAC captain Sam Day shot 12-points; Tom Hobbs shot 13-points and the MVP Lewis Crawford added 11-points. The 51 to 43 victory was Princes second in a row and the culmination of some wonderful work from Princes' 1st V coach Paul Rigoni. The result also illustrated that basketball is travelling well under the direction of our development coach Mark Davis. In other basketball matches the Open C team registered a strong 47-36 result in its Intercol.

The final Intercollegiate contest for the week was played on The Front Oval at PAC and resulted in a strong win to our 1st XVIII Football Team 19-10 (124) to Saints 5-7 (37). Sam Day kicked four goals in the 87-point win and was also awarded the Intercol medal for his best on ground performance. Other multiple goal-kickers were Will Paynter, Nick Amato, Bill Sandow and Adam Perryman with two-goals apiece. After an even first half Princes booted 13-goals to Saints one to register its fifth consecutive Intercol victory. Once again the strong leadership of Day, Matt Altmann, Sandow and Perryman was instrumental in instigating the second half momentum swing. The better players for PAC included George Hannaford, Josh Gregg, Jack Viney, Sandow, Perryman and Amato. The match was a fitting end to the team's undefeated season which also realised the state knock-out cup championship and the inaugural Messenger Press Shield for 1st XVIII premiers.

In other football matches Princes won the 2nd XVIII, 3rd XVIII, Year 10A, Year 10B, Year 10C/8B, Year 8A Intercollegiate matches and lost to Saints in the Year 9A and Year 7 games.

Congratulation to the talented squash players in the Open Division 2 competition, PAC1 consisting of Patrick Kirwan, Jeremy Agnew, Michael Riceman, Stuart Eddy and Richard Bethune for winning its grand final 4-0 against Saints. Our Year 10 PAC1 team won its grand final with a 3-1 victory over Pembroke School. Adam Coleman and Ross Anderson both played solid matches to ensure the victory. Year 7/8 PAC1 consisting of Stuart Harris, Adil Mubarak, James Hailstone, Michael Hackman and Jack O'Brien also won its grand final defeating Pembroke School 2-2 by just 5-points. Lastly commiserations to our Open Division 1 team of Owen Yang, Yiran Tan, Tom Russell and Richard Gale for narrowly losing its grand final to Rostrevor College.

Overall the week's results were a wonderful testament to the sporting talent, determination and hard training of our sportsmen. The winter Intercols certainly promote collegiality and encourage positive interaction amongst all members of our school community. The successes are in large the result of enthusiastic participation from MIC's of sport, coaches and supporters, but most of all it is the efforts of our players and their willingness to work hard not only with but for each other that made all the difference.

Mr Gary Jenkinson

Badminton

This year's badminton Intercol season has been intense and exciting. Throughout the season, the team trained very hard. Those in the Intercol teamed trained up to 5 sessions a week, displaying highly commendable commitment.

The Intercol team this year consisted of Owen Yang, Yiran Tan, Arthur Chan, Jayden Lim, Jacky Lai and Albert Wu. Our reserves were Yao Ly and Aaron Jin. Unfortunately, the team lost 2-7 in the Intercol. Winners were Albert Wu, winning 2-1 at 6th Singles and Jayden Lim at 4th Singles, defeating the Vice-Captain of the Saint Peters Team.

As always, the atmosphere at the Intercol was momentous. With over 250 spectators in the crowd, filling up the entire gym, it was no doubt the largest badminton event of the year.

Special thanks go to our coaches, Andrew Harvey, Chong Tsang and Daniel Tsang and our co-ordinator, Dr Dirk Zadra. Badminton at PAC would not be possible without their ongoing support. Also, to everyone who supported us at the Intercol and to the players who always gave it their best.

The 2010 basketball season got off to a slow start, missing two of our first three games due to the formal and a forfeit. The team had changed quite a bit from the year before, having five out of the nine players new to the team. A solid preseason and training sessions saw the group form a bond quite quickly showing good signs for the season ahead. Princes ended the first term with a record of 3 wins and 2 losses a pleasing effort, especially the win against the powerhouse, Trinity College. This was a pleasing start but expectations were high from the coaches for the next term to come. Term 3 boasted a tough schedule leading up to the Intercol with danger games against Unley, Scotch and Cabra. We started the term well with a big win against Sacred Heart by 47 points, a pleasing effort seeing as we had been embarrassed on past trips down to the school. We then played great team basketball to overcome Cabra and Unley and then played a thriller on our home court to knock off Scotch College by 1 point. We now set ourselves for the Intercol game going in with a 7 win and 2 loss record not dropping a game in the third term.

The team was confident going into the Intercol game, with the hype around the big week understandably overcoming for a few of the new boys. Some wise words and encouragement from both Mark and Rags were especially helpful as the game drew closer. Coming out winners in the Intercol was a telling way to finish off the season and it capped off the year with a high.

Special thanks needs to go to Mark Davis, Paul Rigoni, Jack Harford and Chris Jordison for the much appreciated personal time that they spent with the group which is very much a huge component of the success we achieved this year.

The leadership group of Sam Day, Matt Altmann, Bill Sandow and Adam Perryman not only led by example but also ensured that the team played with passion, enthusiasm and a wonderful sense of fun. Good teams have chemistry and there was plenty of chemistry amongst the playing group of the 1st XVIII in season 2010.

PAC wins its fifth Intercol in a row

The 141st Intercollegiate football contest was played on the Front Oval at PAC and resulted in a strong win to our 1st XVIII Football Team 19–10 (124) to Saints 5–7 (37). Sam Day kicked four goals in the 87-point win and was also awarded the Intercol medal for his best on ground performance. Other multiple goal-kickers were Will Paynter, Nick Amato, Bill Sandow and Adam Perryman with two-goals apiece. After an even first half Princes booted 13-goals to Saints one to register its fifth consecutive Intercol victory. The better players included George Hannaford, Josh Gregg, Jack Viney, Sandow, Perryman and Amato.

In other Intercollegiate football matches Princes won the 2nd XVIII, 3rd XVIII, Year 10A, Year 10B, Year 10C/8B, Year 8A and lost to Saints in the Year 9A and Year 7 games.

Princes 1st XVIII State Champs

In what was a spectacular display of team football, PAC won the SSSSA/SANFL Knockout Cup Grand Final under lights at Norwood Oval on Tuesday 17th August, defeating St Michael's College 10–10 (70) to 5–5 (35).

From the opening bounce, when PAC skipper Sam Day leapt majestically into the air and palmed the ball to Adam Perryman it became obvious to all who had braved the cold, wintery conditions that the Reds had arrived at Coopers Stadium with the intent to play some serious football.

The feature of the opening term was in fact Princes relentless physical pressure on St Michaels and its ability to move the ball long and with precision into its forward fifty. Mike Daniel kicked the opening goal of the match and later added his second with a brilliant, deliberately-dribbled snap from a seemingly impossible angle just before the first break.

At the other end of the ground the PAC defenders, Angus Murdoch, George Hannaford, Matt Rohde, Will Murdoch, Henry Olsson, Oli Du Rieu and Nick Mosey were at their miserly best, denying their St Michael's opponents the ball and regularly turning defence into attack. Princes won the quarter 2–2 to 0–2.

PAC maintained the relentless pressure and intensity in the second term and through the dominance of Matt Altmann, Bill Sandow, Josh Gregg, Jack Viney, Day, Perryman and Daniel in the midfield ensured that the game was being played predominantly inside its forward fifty. Full forward Joe Virgin kicked two goals in this quarter and wing, Nick Amato converted to help Princes to a handy 24-point lead going into the main break, 5–3 to 1–3.

At the final siren the margin had stretched to 35-points with PAC winning all four quarters of football and deservedly claiming the title of state schoolboy champions.

Thirds Football

Once again strange programming saw the Thirds football team matched against other schools' 1sts and 2nds teams and this made it very difficult for the boys to compete on a "level playing field". Nevertheless all of the players never stopped trying throughout the season and on many occasions gave an excellent account of themselves despite the scoreboard record. Many of the boys played other sports and especially rugby as well but they were reliable and enthusiastic about their football. Kieran Altmann was a hardworking big man and the Wibberley brothers, Brian and Tim as well as the McPhee boys, Jack and Will all played well. Two rugby players James Morgan and James Dunstan were great contributors throughout the season. Angus Ashby was a spectacular defender and he was assisted back there by Paris Clark-Proud and Brij Daniel. Alex Jeffery, Tom Treloar, Harry Fried, Daniel Duke and Jack Rowe all played quality minutes. Andrew Romano and Nick Woolmore were valuable forwards too. In the final match against St. Peter's College we played our best game for the season winning by four goals. Lachlan

Campbell and Niwili White-Forrest were dominant players in a great team effort. Captain Jack Rowntree returned from injury to kick two valuable goals, along with Jono Price and Assistant Coach Tim Sly. Matt Gillespie also made a solid contribution that day.

Despite only winning three matches for the season the mighty thirds enjoyed great camaraderie and fun throughout the winter. A hardy band of about six players led by Jack Turner and Pat Hannemann attended practices most Tuesdays and Thursdays and there were always a few laughs as the boys went through their paces. Early in the season a great win over St. Peters College followed up by a very comfortable victory over Immanuel had us optimistic about our football. Unfortunately we were delivered a cruel fixture list, continually drawn to play second and first teams, against whom we struggled to compete. In the final match against St. Peters we were slow to get started and found ourselves five goals down at three quarter time. Inspired by some Jordan Walsh brilliance we were unlucky to lose by just six points. Our best players throughout the 2009 season were Nick Woolmore, who won the Best and Fairest award, Will Thredgold, Jack Turner, Pat Hannemann, Stefan Wilkins, Mihailo Spasojevic, Henry Sanders and Jack Rowntree. Other good contributors were Jake Galloway, Hugh Marshall, Ross Gates, Tom Boord, Max Burford, Nick Jeffery and Pat McCole.

Middle School Hockey

The hockey season for the Middle School team at Princes for 2010 was a great success. The boys played very well against all of our opponents. We had victories against nearly every team except for a very strong Mercedes College and Pulteney side. During the whole season we worked on all of our skills and have improved as a team dramatically. The all-round commitment of everyone has been excellent. The Intercol side was lacking in a few players due to illness and had a hard loss to the Saints side 1–6. We look forward to next year! A special thanks to Mr Dell'Oro and Sam Sobels for coaching us throughout the season.

Isaac Rudd

First XV Rugby

This year the First XV fielded a vastly more experienced side. The mixture of club representatives and boys who played in last years U16 winning Intercol team, ensured that the squad could spend their initial trainings building game plans and strategy as opposed to working on the basics. It quickly became evident that our agile and highly skilled backline would be the strength of our side and as such an explosive running style of play was developed early on.

This game plan saw us easily account for Westminster in the opening round and challenge competition heavyweights Pembroke in round two. The side went on to defeat every other opponent including rivals St Peters in the remaining rounds of the season. Finishing second on the ladder, we faced Pembroke in the Grand Final for the second year running. The match was tightly contested with moments of exceptional play from both teams. Unfortunately we were found wanting around half time and Pembroke ran in several unanswered tries to take the match away from us, 12–29.

Having taken the points in both of our mid-season clashes with St Peters, the First XV were full of confidence heading into the Intercol. However we were to encounter a committed opposition who tested us throughout the match. In the end it was our application of set plays and well disciplined defending that saw us run away victors 39–19, winning back-to-back Intercols for the first time since 1983.

Next season the side retains a nucleus of highly capable players and will look to improve upon the successes of 2010.

Jonathon van Dissel

U14 Rugby

2010 saw the first season of U14 (Year 7–8) Rugby at Prince Alfred College. Our first season was cut back from 6 games to 3 games due to difficulties in fielding a team of 15. Our team was made up of many inexperienced players who were playing Rugby for the first time. They improved dramatically as the year went on and had fun despite the fact we lost all of our games.

The competition included teams from St Peters College, Sacred Heart and Prince Alfred College. The other two schools had strong teams, each with many club players.

In each game our inexperienced team started slowly, allowing the opposition team to score some easy first half points. However, in the second half, we generally fared better, scoring some points and making a better showing of ourselves.

Many thanks go to our coach Mr Robin Crawford and Team Manager Mr Muzik for their efforts this season. With a season behind us I am sure we will do better next year.

Joe Colwell

Under 16 Rugby

2010 was not the greatest season of Rugby that P.A.C. U/16s had seen. However no matter how many times we were beaten we kept coming back, fighting harder for a win. The first game was against Saint Peters where Saints beat us 43 to 7. We learned from our mistakes and at the next game against CBC we claimed a fantastic victory with a score of 22 to 5.

The team continued to gain better experience and heart for the rest of the season with the coaching from Tom and Robin as well as Mr Rylatt. However no matter how much knowledge and skill that Tom, Robin and Mr Rylatt taught us we struggled to pull it together which resulted in a string of defeats, leading up to the Intercol.

One match that we as a team will remember was the game against CBC for the second time. CBC had successfully managed to recruit some of the Burnside under 16 players into giving them a helping hand which resulted in them coming second in the competition. On the other hand this galvanised our boys and we were able to hold them down and not let the game run away from us.

A special mention goes out to Ed Boyd who stepped up to the plate when Tauny Schmidt had to pull out of the season with a neck injury. He was new to the game but did not under any circumstances let the team down.

The Intercol was memorable; Saint Peters had a great team who played in good spirit. We played magnificently in the first half however Saints decided to put their much more experienced South African players on the field who made a huge impact, though in our defence we had an unfortunate yellow card given to Tom Gunning which definitely altered our defensive game. During the Intercol Angus Gmeinder proved that technique was greater than size when he easily dump tackled one of the biggest players on the Saints team. I think it is clear to say that if we had played them in touch footy we would have been far superior due to the skills training that we had on Tuesdays.

This season has been an interesting and fun one and I on the behalf of all the players would like to thank Mr Rylatt and the coaching team.

Ski Trip

For the 2010 PAC Ski Trip, we went to Falls Creek in the Australian Alps. When we were there, there was limited snowfall, so only part of the mountain was open. Towards the end more snow fell, and then more parts gradually became open. This allowed us to explore Falls Creek more and expand our skiing experience. As well as ski runs, Falls Creek has many cafés and shops, which allowed us to take a break from skiing and relax.

Jack Tidswell — Year 11

This year's Ski trip was my first experience of skiing and it was fantastic.

Ollie Clarke and I started with skiing lessons on the first day but we soon got the hang of it and weren't falling over so often!

I really enjoyed being able to ski with my mates and their range of skiing experience helped me to improve my skills quickly and they gave me great advice.

The real snow that fell in the last few days made it extra special and the skiing even better.

I am looking forward to my next skiing experience which hopefully might be next year with Peak adventure in Year 10.

Cameron Burfield — Year 9

One of my best memories from the 2010 Falls Creek Ski Trip was having an intense snow ball fight with a couple up in an apartment around three stories higher than us. We were just sitting around when we started getting hit by random snow balls. It took us awhile to figure out where they were coming from, but when we did one big snow ball fight broke out.

Tom Nelson — Year 8

The school ski trip was a great experience. Despite a (slight) lack of snow to begin with, we made our way repeatedly down the three open runs over the first three days. The skiing may not have been the best but when you're hooning down a mountain with a couple of mates, the conditions can be forgiven. Ski school saw me separated from my friends though, as I was the only Year 9 in the advanced class. However, I didn't dislike the class, as I will always have the memory of trying to ski down a green run on one ski.

Later in the week the conditions looked up. We were given bucket loads of snow, opening up greater sections of the mountain and providing the main attraction of skiing, powder. My favorite memory of the trip was taking some beginner friends of mine, along with a couple veterans, down a recently powdered blue run. The run still had small bushes poking through the snow, but we skied over them, though not without casualties. At several points I had to climb back up the hill to help up a friend, but I still enjoyed the experience. All in all, the trip was fantastic and I can only recommend the trip as a great time.

James Whitehead — Year 9

Having been my first experience in Australian snow, and the first time on a snowboard (only because everyone else was); I really enjoyed myself and had a great week. The best couple hours were when I was dared to slide through the snow in my underwear (twice), and when I convinced the group to go off track and make our way to another lift, on the other side of the mountain. We were stuck in fresh snow which came to our waist, and it took me at least an hour to get down.

Tom Venning — Year 11

First XI Soccer

After a rigorous pre-season, the team was eager to commence the season and kicked off against Sacred Heart winning 3–2 in a tight encounter. Term one was relatively successful as the side also picked up another two wins. The first came against an undermanned Gleeson 4–2 where Jacob Duncanson scored twice. This was followed with a dominant 4–0 win against Blackfriars with Kristian Quirke bagging a brace. The term's results also featured a determined 3–3 draw against Pembroke where the team came back from 3–1 in the second half to snatch a draw. The star of this game was Nick Admiraal who scored twice in the final twenty minutes, securing a valuable point for the team.

Term three commenced in disappointing fashion, with the team losing 3–1 to Mercedes. The team, however, regrouped and the following week we held Saint Michaels to a one all draw under lights at Santos Stadium, with Cameron Graetz scoring the equaliser. This result buoyed our spirits and the following week we dominated St Paul's College, winning 3-1. With morale riding high, the boys looked forward to the challenge of the Intercol against Saints who had had an outstanding season.

Heavy rain over the weekend saw the game postponed to Tuesday instead of the traditional Monday. The match started disastrously with Saints grabbing an early lead and holding sway for the majority of the first half. Late in the first half, Eugene Chang shook off his marker to score an opportunistic goal and make it 1-1 at the break. With the game seesawing for the first part of the second half, it was captain William Katsambis who grabbed the lead for Princes with a superb goal from outside the 18-yard box. With 20 minutes remaining, Saints threw caution to the wind and continued to attack only to be constantly thwarted by the disciplined PAC defence and man of the match John Hall who pulled off some spectacular saves. The final whistle brought scenes of jubilation both on and off the pitch as the Princes team and supporters celebrated their 2-1 victory.

The team's achievements including Intercol victory and qualification for the State knock out quarter finals are made even more impressive when it is taken into account that the majority of the squad had never represented Princes at first team level and only six players had carried on from last year's squad.

Individually, debutant Lachy Duffy who is in Year 9 was judged by his peers as the best team man and John Hall was the most consistent player of this year's Intercol. Service to school soccer was awarded to William Katsambis. Special mention must also go to John Hall who was invited by Premier League club West Ham United to join their junior development programme.

Many thanks to coach Jason Hayhurst and his assistant Simon Sharley for their commitment, tutelage and encouragement to play "total football" at all times.

William Katsambis

2nd XI Soccer

The 2010 Second XI Soccer team had a great year in terms of enjoyment in playing, and in providing moments of brilliance. The team consisted of an impressive lot of Year 11s and 12s. With great enthusiasm, the team was able to play well together and the willingness to achieve success was evident all throughout the year.

From the guidance of Mrs Elena Zema and the gruelling training sessions run by Simon Sharley, the team was well prepared to take on our opposition each week. Hard work on the training track was a consistent effort resulting in success on the field. The final game of our season was the Intercol against St Peters. The team narrowly lost 2-1 after a fast finishing effort from Saints. The team's best efforts came against St Ignatius, St Michael's and St Paul's.

Individually, the team had many bright sparks often showing acts of brilliance throughout the year. Eddy Greeves provided great leadership and determination; Richard Gale and Carlo Russo were able to control the defence very well. Rob Katsambis and Josh Gugliotta offered great targets in attack, whilst Justin Winter was able to give a knockout blow to St Ignatius with a left foot effort from outside the box. Other standout performers were Lachie Chapman, Thomas Johns, James Elix and Sam Norman.

The season as a whole was most satisfying with many memorable moments. Thank you to the coaches and Mr Joe Russo (Master in Charge) for their commitment to the team throughout the year.

Year 10 Soccer

The 2010 soccer season began with a great deal of optimism. Under the guidance of old scholar Simon Barnett, our skills and teamwork steadily improved and by mid-season we were playing some quality soccer, against some traditionally strong soccer schools.

With the emphasis on teamwork and keeping possession of the ball, Term 3 began with a string of satisfying results leading into the Intercol against Saints.

Playing in persistent rain, the game was trying on the skills of the players but very entertaining with end to end action. Mid way through the first half Saints finally took the lead with the only goal of the half, the long range shot skidding along the wet turf and through the slippery gloves of our goalkeeper. PAC had their chances in the first half but missed more than one opportunity. The best chance came just before half time when an opened goal beckoned after a Saint's defensive error.

Early in the second half, PAC continued to find space on the wings and the game began to open up, the forwards continuing to threaten the shaky Saint's defence. However, despite dominating the state of play, it was Saints who extended their lead when a well flighted cross was tucked neatly away into the back of the net by the Saint's forward.

The final minutes turned into a battle of the defences with the ball continually moving back and forward. Despite our efforts and determination, we were unable to score and it ended 2-0 at the final whistle.

The season was, on the whole a most satisfying one with many highlights and memorable moments. Thank you to Simon Barnett for all his hard work throughout the season and his many words of encouragement.

Individually, Daniel Kim was awarded best player for the season.

Tax Skrembos

Year 9 Soccer

This season proved to be a challenging one for the Year 9 team due to the team being unbalanced because of many players on extended stay and injuries. As a result many games were played with no substitutes and this was particularly testing on the fitness of the players. Although we were competitive in most games, the team struggled to win any matches before the break. At the start of Term 3, the team began to finally show some spirit and their team work improved resulting in some success.

Although we entered the last game, the Intercol against St Peters with some confidence it was a tough game with the team going down to a well drilled Saints unit.

Individually, Michael Katsambis was awarded the most valuable player for 2009 for his outstanding and consistent season.

Thank you to Mr Joe Gugliotta and Mr Jim Katsambis for being outstanding coaches and their passion for the game. They were always encouraging; no matter what the circumstances and we are all looking forward to next season.

Table Tennis

Similar to the year before, this year's team was all-rounded and each member showed their solid skills during matches. Our most reliable, skilled player — Daniel Foo, demonstrated his outstanding techniques as a state player. In the last match against Saints, Foo took our team to victory after a close match, beating the Saint's A1 3-2. Kevin Yang is the most experienced player in our team. In his fourth year, he defeated countless players with his overwhelming strength and was always our key to success in school competitions. Aaron Jin's tireless efforts in attending every practice and game, searching for talented players and keeping the team together, were appreciated.

Dennis Tang and Daniel Yeung made a remarkable doubles pair. Sam Norman, our newest star of the team, was the top C/D team player and a reserve for the A/B team last year. With his passion he frequently surprised members of the team with his unique playing style and developed into a powerful player. Matthew Law played superbly in the Intercol match. Reid Amos and Jacky Lai joined the team this year and quickly demonstrated their potential.

The Intercol match against St Peters College was the most spectacular match of the season. This is the third consecutive year that we have beaten Saints. The match literally came down to counting every single point to determine the winner. At the end, both teams were even on matches and sets (12–12 and 42–42 respectively) and everyone spent a tense fifteen minutes calculating and recalculating the points, which resulted in a six point win to us (762–756).

The end of the season requires special thanks to Mr Tang, Ms Di Palma and Mr McCann and Mr McLaughlin for organising and managing the senior and junior teams.

Calvin Lee, Captain of Table Tennis

Year 10 Water Polo

Water Polo has progressed over the years at PAC, with the teams becoming stronger. At the end of last year the team was quite strong. Then when we started up this year we were a little shaky as we were still trying to find our feet, so to speak. However after a few games, we were undefeated.

With strong defense from Gavin Meredith, Zern Lee, Nick Krantz and Hugh Perks we went into the school boys' tournament having won every match bar a few, so our confidence was up. In the tournament we played 3 games with 8-minute halves, winning all 3. With help from Nick Reese, Red (Luke's Dad) and P-Dog the team's fitness, game skills and ball skills improved a lot, and our confidence was boosted with Mr Parker's son, Angus cheering from the sidelines.

Everyone from the team has improved a lot, especially the newer players. With help from Oliver Nicholl (Vice Captain) we showed the team drills and techniques to be applied in games. We tried various tactics, some of which worked better than others, but even when we were trying something new we still came out on top with the highest amount of goals. On behalf of the boys I would like to thank P-Dog, Nick Reese, Red, Ollie, Dr. Mills and Mr Coliaco for all of their help. Overall a great season for the boys.

Billy McFall (Captain of Water Polo)

Year 9 Water Polo

The Year 9 water polo team was erratic in their performance this term mainly due to the extended stay program resulting in a frequently changing team. The first match of the season saw a weak start due to lack of fitness although the boys soon got back into form. Final result for the season was an even number of wins and losses and all boys actively participated in the tournament. The training focus for the term was on accurate shooting and team communication. Looking ahead we have a strong Year 9 side that are committed to water polo and love the thrill of the game. A number of umpires commented on the powerful throwing abilities of the boys and I anticipate a more successful end to the year. A pleasurable season with an excellent squad.

Dr. Mills (Year 9 coach)

I have been teaching ESL at PAC for 6 years and in that time I have noticed a huge, positive change in our International students. Not only have the numbers grown, but their confidence and school spirit has also increased.

No longer do they sit quietly and shyly while activities and events happen around them. They now have a voice and contribute to the life of the school. From organising social events with International students from neighbouring girls' schools, to flying off with the school's basketball team to the USA, our boys are making the most of what PAC offers.

These things are always easier to organise when you have wonderful captains. Boom (Chavis) Chamnarnkit and Pak Ho Yuen have been exemplary leaders for the International students in 2010.

Ms Anna Polias
ESL Co-ordinator

2010 was a memorable year and it was very satisfying to see International students actively participating in school activities.

Harmony Day this year was a huge success. The whole school celebrated this meaningful event with a colourful and moving assembly. A prayer was recited in 6 languages by 6 different students, 'The History of Kites' was a PowerPoint presentation that I organised, and the choir ended the assembly with 'We Are Australian'.

This was very fitting because there have been many occasions where the importance of cultural diversity has been demonstrated by the interaction between local and International students.

Pak Ho Yuen
Vice Captain of International Students

International Students Transition Program at Prince Alfred College

A new cohort of International students joined Princes at the beginning of Term 3 this year.

The Program involves ESL training through Humanities, Maths and Science units as well as more specific, independent focus work on vocab, grammar, listening, reading, spelling and writing skills.

The Transition Program boys have enjoyed going on 'cultural' excursions with other international students to local venues including the SA Museum, the Adelaide Zoo and Haigh's Chocolate Factory amongst others. They have had specific tasks to complete resulting from these outings, as well as giving verbal reports of their observations and investigations.

The Year 10 boys enthusiastically participated in Peak Adventure in Term 3. Most were involved in the caving activity, whilst others tested themselves kayaking, scuba diving or mountain biking. Their reports indicated that there was much enjoyment while personal and practical skills learning occurred.

They have involved themselves in co-curricular and other activities including participation in regular sports teams, chess, Athletics Day, assemblies, and a couple even ran in the City-Bay Fun Run, leaving their gasping teacher in their wake. They're a fun-loving group who are also very serious about working intensively to improve their English language skills before accepting the challenge of entering mainstream classes.

Cotton House

In 2010 the Cotton House team emerged as a genuine contender for the Wesley Cup. The year was highlighted by wins in the House Athletics Carnival and Senior Rowing Regatta when on both occasions the team came from behind in the final events to snatch first place in a thrilling finish. Our performance in other events and activities like the Inter-house lunchtime events was consistent with our high scores in the Academic Effort grades ensuring we were well in the hunt for the Wesley Cup. At years end the House had accumulated 5568 points to finish a brave second.

Thankyou to the House leaders at each year level who coordinated the team and ensured our team was both well represented in each activity but supported by plenty of the blue boys. These leaders included the tireless Will Pitts and Tom Colwell at Year 12, Jock Clarnette

Taylor House

What a marvellous year it has been for the Taylor team. Our results saw us finish as Wesley Cup Champions after winning the Swimming, dominating the Academic Effort grades and performing well in all competitions. The effort saw us accumulate a record 5725 points across the year. The House teams are led by the students rather than the staff who had looked after the teams in the past. This has meant increased responsibility and organisation for the students and I would like to thank my captains at each year level for their help and Taylor House pride. Our teams were always well organised and supported enthusiastically by both other students and staff. Thanks to Owen Yang and Olie DuRieu (Year 12) Lachlan Campbell and Billie

The House competition has been fun and a great way to break up the routine of the academic day. Thanks to all the staff who assisted by umpiring or supervising so the events could run without a problem.

Watsford House

The Watsford House has a history of success in the sports carnivals. This year the team didn't take the major prizes but showed plenty of potential in the lower years to suggest more silverware sooner rather than later. A close third in the final analysis (5256 points) but plenty of fun was had throughout the competitions. The House competition included many more events than in years past with Academic Effort Grades, Rowing and inter house lunchtime competitions opening the competition for the Wesley Cup right up. It was great to see the team compensate for not winning the sports trophies by winning the Spirit Cup. This suggests that the tone within the team was great with participants keen to have a fun time and contribute to the positive atmosphere of the events.

Thanks to the staff who assisted the team and umpired or supervised the events throughout the year. The House program gives students and staff a chance to work together in a friendly fun environment that brings the community together and certainly builds teamwork and spirit across the College.

Waterhouse House

As the House Captain of Waterhouse it has been a pleasure to have been associated with the yellow army. The boys have approached all House activities with great enthusiasm and a desire to do their best. I would like to thank all the boys in Waterhouse for their performances across the Carnivals and other House activities. The efforts of our junior rowers was particularly impressive as they stormed home to win the junior house title. Our results have been incredibly consistent and our performance in the House Spirit competitions have reflected considerable pride and collegiality. Thankyou to my two senior deputies, Alex Hill and Nick Burton, the Year 11 Captains, Henry Olsson and Nick Pollock, the Year 10 Captains, Henry Barnes and Theo Skrembos and the Year 9 Captains, Tom Plant and Oliver Clarke for their ongoing support and enthusiasm. Their organisation of teams for the carnivals, the rowing competition, the lunchtime round robin competitions and their motivation of students with regard to effort grades was terrific. Overall the house finished a close fourth in the Wesley Cup with 5125 points.

Forty-six new boys joined us at the commencement of the 2010 school year, increasing our Boarding numbers to 120.

Our Boarding House Prefects: Boom Chamnarokit, Dominic Albanese, Bill Sandow, Mike Daniel, Charlie Warne, Adam Perryman, Alex Hill, Henry Goode and Ben Wong have been ably led since Term 4 2009 by Captain of Boarding, Fraser Ellis. These boys were instrumental in setting the tone for the large number of new boarders at the beginning of this year. It is testament to the quiet, yet effective manner in which the boys went about helping the newcomers feel welcome that the first term passed with barely any issues.

I would like to acknowledge and especially thank the Boarding House Seniors, Phil McLaughlin, Chris Nicholls, Zhen-Nih Jones (Semester One) and Megan McLaughlin (Semester Two), as well as our fulltime RAs, Susan Kukeste and Dave Hern for their leadership and support for the boys. They have been well supported by our Administration Assistant, Pam Oliver, part-time RAs: Matt Nestor, John Hough, Michelle Treloar, Ben Robinson and Nick Croft, and our GAP students, Tom and James.

Throughout the year the boys have enjoyed a very full school life. From organized weekend activities such as socials, go-karting, paintballing and movies, to a myriad of extra-curricular activities and the pursuit of their academic studies, the boys have at times excelled and also been challenged. It was encouraging, for instance, that a large number of boarders attained academic effort awards each semester, and it was also nice to acknowledge boys who achieved the newly introduced academic colours/honours awards. The boys who achieved this were Xavier Warne, Henry Treloar, Cameron Graetz, Brij Daniel, Kieran Altmann and Tom Venning.

The manner in which the boys have excelled when representing the school in extra-curricular sports, in particular, has been quite incredible and typical of the positive approach so many of the boarders have adopted. The achievements of Jacky Lai, Jayden Lim (Badminton), Adam Perryman, Billie Tapscott, Nick Mosey, Jake Weatherald, Bill Sandow, Will Murdoch, Kelvin Smith (Cricket), Josh Gregg, Boom Chamnarokit (Tennis), Brett Jenkin and Alex Hill (Rowing), all of whom performed to a high standard in the major Summer Intercols was a highlight at the end of Term 1. These efforts were then replicated by an even larger group who helped the school complete a clean sporting sweep in the Winter Intercols. These boys were: Joe Virgin, Mike Daniel, Justin Graetz, Angus Murdoch, Oli Du Rieu, Nick Mosey, Adam Perryman, Charlie Warne, Matt Altmann, Josh Gregg, Will Murdoch, Tom Whittlesea, George Hannaford, Bill Sandow (Football), Cameron Graetz, Dominic Albanese (Soccer), Cameron Lowe (Hockey), Alex Hill, Harry Toole (Basketball), Kieran Altmann, Brian Wibberley, Tim Wibberley, James Dunstan, Abraham Jaeschke, Ross Gates and Tom Venning (Rugby). The contribution of all the boarders to college sporting teams, the bands and choir, the musical and to community service activities has been extensive.

Within the Boarding House a wide range of new initiatives have been introduced to help the boys develop greater independence and responsibility. This has been in keeping with the launch of the school's new Strategic Plan 2010–2012, which includes the goal to develop a Boarding House of Excellence. Regular room and wing inspections and clean-ups, Dining Room clean-up rosters, a new earlier breakfast time and opportunities for the boys to become more involved in the decision-making within the Boarding House have been part of the changes implemented. Boys can also be part of the Food Committee, chaired by Phil McLaughlin and we have an ITC representative, who meets with me and the Head of ICT, as well as Year 10 mentors. The four mentors invited to take up this role for Term 4 2010 work closely with four Year 9 boys one night a week during homework, to assist and advise them, with their academic studies.

Apart from the excitement of netball games against the Wilderness girls and the Red and White formal in early Term Two, clearly the period around mid-Term Three was the high point of the year for a large number of the boarders. The Winter Intercols were followed by the Peak Adventure program for our forty-six Year 10s and then Boarders' Day was held on Tuesday 31 August. Each of these was a memorable occasion, with Boarders' Day showing yet again the strong sense of community within the Boarding House. This year saw the launch of the inaugural Boarders' Herald newspaper. This was a huge success, with plans to expand its size for 2011, with a committee of interested boys to begin working on this from the beginning of the next school year. I would like to thank the generosity of all the parents who supported the day with raffle prize donations, photographs of their son(s) and in particular, Michael Ellis, father of Fraser and Giles, and Managing Editor of the Yorke Peninsula Country Times. His guidance and patience in producing the newspaper was fabulous. The end product has been widely distributed through the Boarding community, to the College Council, at the Riverland Field Days and at interstate Old Scholars' Dinners.

2011 will be a time of further expansion in developing a Boarding House of Excellence. The appointment of three new Senior Residential Assistants with specific areas of responsibility, in addition to a number of other new staff members with particular skills will certainly help create a very strong and committed team, determined to guide and support the boys in our care. Finally, I would like to thank Chris Nicholls, Zhen-Nih Jones and Dave Hern, in particular, for their work with the Boarders over a number of years, their contribution has been appreciated.

Preparatory School

The Prep P&F committee has done a great job of networking this year to organise year level functions as well as promote P&F activities.

We organised activities where community spirit was the goal over making a huge profit. We kicked this off with the Community Picnic in Term 1, and those who did make it had a wonderful time and were still partying on until dark!

We had cake stalls and sausage sizzles this year during events such as Swimming Carnival and the Sports Days, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Princes community for their generous donations of delicious cakes and biscuits!

The Mothers' Day morning tea was a relaxing morning entertained by two guest speakers — Rosalind Neale and Sean Watt. With a small silent auction, there were some very happy ladies at the conclusion of the morning.

The Easter Raffle was a great success, after awarding a prize to 3 boys from every class, there were still enough eggs to make a sizeable donation to the United Wesley Mission.

Through a combination of these fundraising activities, the P&F has been able to purchase more electronic white boards as well as sporting equipment for Scotts Creek.

A huge thank you to the Prep Committee and those who have all pitched in and spent hours planning, organising, designing flyers, collating orders, cooking sausages and standing behind stalls. Your dedication is wholeheartedly appreciated.

Thanks to Jane Greenslade who has been very supportive as Vice President, and thanks also to Lorraine Ottanelli and Bec Carolan who have contributed for two years as Treasurer and Secretary in spectacular fashion over that period. We look forward to welcoming two new faces for the Executive at the AGM, and some new and familiar ones for the new committee next year.

Kathryn Webber, President

Senior School

A cocktail party for new parents to the school was an enjoyable way for the Parents' and Friends' Association to start this year.

Welcoming and connecting new parents is an important role of the Association.

The Annual General Meeting was held in March with several new members joining the Committee and I would encourage all parents to consider supporting the school by becoming involved with the Association.

In June the P and F assisted with the school production of War of the Worlds. Committee members provided front of house support and sold refreshments. This year we will again support the Foundation with the Martini Ball.

The school is using P and F donations to purchase a vaccine storage fridge for the Health Centre and outdoor seating which will be adjacent to Anzac Hall.

Kerry Dowling, Adrianna Manno, Marya Stam, Breda Quinn

The newly refurbished Rowing Room has also been achieved with assistance from the Parents and Friends. Fundraising continues throughout the year with the sale of memorabilia and of used uniforms through Princes Parade, and I thank Margie Nicholls and Lyn Hollitt for their efforts. The second hand book sale in December provides the "recycling" of text books, raises funds for the school and assists schools in developing countries through the donation of books unable to be sold.

I thank all those who have attended meetings, cooked and served food, sorted books, hung paintings or helped with any of the myriad tasks required throughout the year.

I would like to acknowledge the meticulous work of our Treasurer, Janine Duffield, and also Lee-Ann Murdoch who regularly travels long distances to represent the boarding parents on the Committee. Thank you also to the Headmaster, Mr Kevin Tutt, for his support of the Association and to Suzanne Moorhead, who acts as liaison between the P and F and the school. The Association cannot fulfil its role without the assistance of the staff and I would particularly like to thank the Property Services, Housekeeping and Finance staff, the Community Relations Department, front office staff and Felicity Liddy in Student Services.

Since its establishment in 1974 the Prince Alfred College Foundation has worked tirelessly to support the College Council in its mission to provide the very best for Princes students, now and in the future. 2010 has been no exception!

During the year the Foundation committed to raising $5M towards the new Health and Sports Centre, and has been busy planning for this campaign in which the participation of the entire Princes community is sought. The Foundation is committed to help realising the largest project since the establishment of the College, and 2011 will be a busy year.

The Foundation Scholarship Fund, which was established in 2008, has had a busy and exciting year! Two students were welcomed to the College as recipients of the Colin Hassell Scholarship, and the Ken Lord Family Boarding Scholarship. Mr Ken Lord and his daughter Heather Roy joined David Hassell and Mrs Marjorie Hassell, at a morning tea hosted by the Headmaster at which they met the recipients of their scholarships.

The Scholarship Fund also welcomed the establishment of the Richard Thorne Scholarship by Mr Richard Thorne, whose contribution to Chess at the College and in South Australia is highly regarded. The first recipient of this scholarship will commence at the College in 2011.

Support for Indigenous students has also been generously provided by CMV Trust, Wyatt Benevolent Trust, Adelaide Brighton, Pelican Power and Elders, and their support is acknowledged.

Westpac has continued to support the Foundation as Gold Sponsor. A lunch was hosted by Westpac at their Adelaide headquarters for members of the Foundation, who greatly enjoyed the opportunity to network and to learn more about Zoos SA for its director Dr Chris West. The ongoing commitment of Westpac is valued.

One Foundation Business Lunch was held at the Adelaide Town Hall during 2010. 'Corked Thighs and Meat Pies' was a panel discussion featuring from Port Power Chairman Brett Duncanson, an Old Scholar and PAC Dad, and Operations Manager and PAC Dad Peter Rohde, and from the Crows Football Operations Manager Phil Harper and Crow David Mackay. The panel was ably chaired by Princes First XVIII coach and Director of Sport Gary Jenkinson.

During the year the Foundation continued to receive approaches from the College community and estate planners concerning the making of bequests to Princes. To assist individuals and estate professionals, the Foundation has produced a guide to making bequests which will assist to provide the very best for future generations, and copies are provided to those seek further information. Enquiries are welcome and are handled in the strictest of confidence.

Inaugural recipient of the Colin Hassell Scholarship Greg Honner with Marjorie and David Hassell

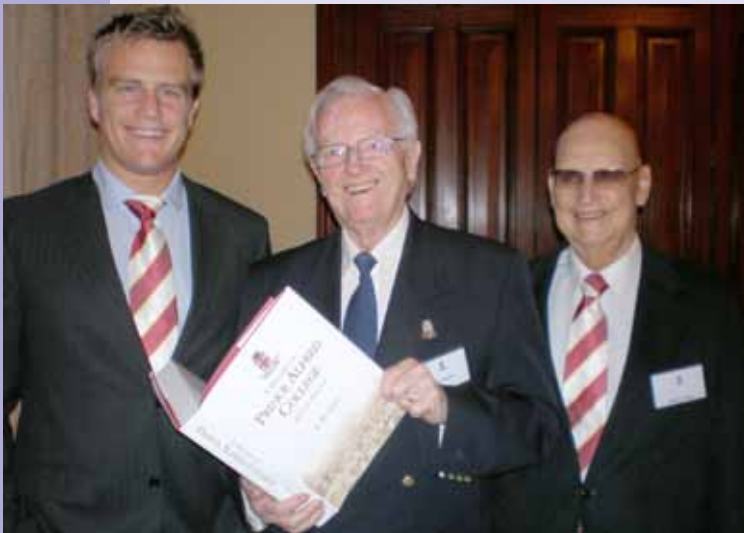

Last year the Foundation sponsored Speech Night prizes throughout the College, and looks forward to recognising the achievement of students again in 2010. The Foundation has also provided a sub surface irrigation system at the Scotts Creek Outdoor Centre, continuing its support for what was its first fundraising project 35 years ago.

Particular thanks is extended to the Foundation's President Andrew Chapman, who contributes countless hours to ensure the success of the organisation, and to members of the Foundation board.

The focus of the PAOCA is to uphold, maintain and nurture the proud tradition that is PAC.

Because of this, the committee has been tireless in their contributions to uphold this credo this year, and I thank them all most sincerely. Each member has contributed in their own way and has made my position most enjoyable.

Special mention must be made to Mary-Ann Standish, our Executive Officer. Her efforts for the year have gone well beyond her job description, and for that I thank her very sincerely.

The Headmaster, Kevin Tutt, has allowed us again, to be an integral part of the school evolution and development at all times, and for this we are most appreciative.

This year has been a very active one for the committee as evidenced by the large number of functions and activities that we have all attended.

The country dinners at Victor Harbor, Penola, Port Lincoln and the Mid North were well attended as well as the interstate dinners in Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Canberra and Darwin. Our guest speakers at these dinners have proven to be "most colourful". Special mention must be made for the "Back to Appila" dinner, where over 90 people attended and had a night to remember. A special thank you to Malcolm Catford for his tireless efforts.

The 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 year reunions are proving to be very successful. A lot of tall stories and happy memories were in abundance and the spirit of PAC was always at the forefront.

The Annual Dinner on Friday 30 July was well attended and our guest speaker, Les Burdett, regaled us with his memories of Adelaide Oval. Former Headmaster, Geoff Bean also spoke of his 40 years at PAC, and paid a special tribute to Alan "Argus" Dennis, who was in attendance on the night.

The PAOCA also made a $100,000 commitment to the new Health & Sports Centre Building Appeal and we wholeheartedly support the project and ask that all Old Reds get behind the appeal.

The Vintage Reds luncheon saw a record number participate this year and spirit and friendship on the day was typical PAC.

The new website, soon to be launched, will prove to be a great step forward and its effect on the school community will be very strongly felt and appreciated.

The old scholars sporting teams have fared well for the year and they are to be congratulated on their efforts. Particular mention must be made to Michael Siciliano and his committee at the football club, and their efforts for the year are an inspiration to us all.

Old Scholars week activities against our traditional rivals, SPSOC, proved to be a victorious week for PAOCA. The major disappointment was the loss in squash for the first time in 47 years, (Rex Wilson's coaching position is subsequently under review), but this was counteracted by a magnificent victory, competently led by Craig Moffat and Rob Hall, in the wine tasting on Saints "home ground".

In conclusion, a sincere thank you to ALL committee members for their participation and support of the PAOCA this year. To find time among their busy business and private schedules to help promote and nurture the PAOCA, is indeed most appreciated and it truly reflects what the Old Scholars is about.

2010 Annual Dinner

No school in Australia turns on a dinner the size or standard of the PAOCA Annual Dinner. This year's dinner was held on Friday 30 July at the Adelaide Convention Centre and has done since the Centre opened. In fact, the PAOCA Annual Dinner is the only booking at the Centre still occurring from its first year of operation in 1985.

More than 470 Old Reds mingled in the large glass foyer, enjoying one another's company whilst tapping their feet to the swing and old school songs performed by the College's senior band. During the evening a tribute was paid to former Headmaster Geoffrey Bean, who commenced at Princes forty years ago. During his reflection, Geoff took the opportunity to acknowledge the contribution and presence of Alan 'Argus' Dennis, who commenced teaching at Princes in 1937. At the conclusion of his remarks, Geoff invited the gathering to join him in a Toast to the School. Headmaster, Kevin Tutt responded and presented the proposed Health and Sports Centre project.

The President of the PAOCA, Mr Fred Hamood, presented a $100,000 cheque on behalf of the Association towards the project.

Doyen of cricket wicket curating Mr Les Burdett OAM was the special guest and spoke of his love of the game, some of the characters he had encountered along the way, and how the sprinkling of cremation ashes on a pitch results in a dead wicket! Les also spoke movingly of his friendship with the late David Hookes, who had also once spoken at a PAOCA dinner.

Joint Committee Dinner

The Princes and Saints friendship occurs in many ways and has done so for many years. Each year the Committees of both Associations come together during Old Scholars' Week to celebrate this long and special link, alternating the hosting of the dinner.

This year the dinner was hosted by Saints on Wednesday 28 July at The Maid & Magpie Hotel and was enjoyed by members of both Committees.

In recent years, once the formalities were observed, the fun of the Intercol wine tasting commences. Many glasses, many opinions, and much discussion entered into. Scores are totted, palate-challenged participants blamed for everything, and finally the winning side is announced! This year the competition was a wonderful victory for Princes lead by our chief imbibers Craig Moffat and Rob Hall. May the tradition continue!

Vintage Reds 2010

The College and PAOCA welcomed 282 men aged over 60 to the 11th annual Vintage Reds lunch in the John Dunning Sports Centre on 20 October 2010.

Now the preferred event for many men given its day time nature and being at Princes, guests took the opportunity to catch up with old mates, enjoy a glass of red or two, and to inspect ANZAC Hall and the Piper Pavilion both opened the week before. The function was held a month earlier than usual on account of the rescheduling of Old Old Boys to October due to the redevelopment of the assembly hall.

Particularly appreciated was the Toast to the School given by Peter Norman OAM, Master of the District Court, whose affection for the school and knowledge of its history was reflected in his toast.

The input of Murray Olsson, Trevor Siegele and Peter Cox since the inception of Vintage Reds continues, and they are thanked for their efforts.

PAOCA Annual Service

In 2010 we were honoured to have Rev Anne Hewitt, member of the Prince Alfred College Council and

David Coombe, Roger Andrew, David Mattingley

Chaplain at Resthaven Inc. assist school Chaplain, Rev Mark Dickens conduct the 106th PAOCA Annual Service.

The service was held on Thursday 29 July 2010 in the Erik Freak Memorial Chapel where Headmaster, Kevin Tutt and PAOCA President, Fred Hamood welcomed the 70 Old Reds and guests.

Captain of the School, John Hood conducted the lighting of the candle. The congregation sang the new school hymn, Lord of Creation, accompanied by the Chapel Choir under the direction of Tasso Bouyessis (Choir and Voice Director) and Mrs Pam Freeman. It should be noted that the words of the new school hymn were written by old scholar, Lachlan Scott (PAC 1992–2001).

Rev Anne spoke with conviction of her ministry to elder people as the Chaplain to several Resthaven Homes in Adelaide, and the pleasure she derives from knowing a large and diverse group of people.

Guests enjoyed a sumptuous morning tea in the Ashton Room at the conclusion of the service, taking the opportunity to meet Rev Anne and to enjoy one another's company.

Hong Kong Dinner

The 2010 Annual Hong Kong Dinner was held on Friday 4 July with a modest attendance of 10 Old Reds. Although small in number, the gathering included the Thompson brothers and Frederick Chung with his son Dr Brian Chung.

The dinner was chaired by Anthony Thompson. The School and the Association were represented by the PAOCA Secretary, Peter Crouch.

The venue was outstanding. Located on the 31st floor and rooftop of The Hennessy, The Woolloomooloo Steakhouse in Wan Chai is one of the few restaurant venues that offer a rooftop with ravishing views of Hong Kong.

All were entertained by a night of speeches and stories that blended well with the breathtaking views of Hong Kong. Floor-to-ceiling windows of the restaurant gave views of Happy Valley, Victoria Harbour as well as the Wan Chai and Causeway Bay metropolitan districts as a backdrop to a memorable night.

All attendees spoke in turn during the night and there were several toasts to the School and the Association. Our Secretary, Peter Crouch gave news of developments at the School on behalf of the Headmaster and also spoke on news of the Association. There was particular interest in the achievements of the students and Old Reds on the sporting field and in particular the football results.

The Secretary gave out PAOCA ties to the following:

Marcus Thompson — youngest;

Fred and Brian Chung — Hong Kong's first Father and son attendees;

Craig Adams — furthest travelled from Lantau Island; and

Digby Richards — for attending the first of three dinners for the year (Hong Kong, Sydney and Adelaide)

In the past there have been attendees from Singapore and Mainland China and all locals agreed to attract Old Reds from those areas for future dinners.

Broken Hill Dinner

Ian Jeansch welcomed Old Reds to the RFDS Ball in Broken Hill

With formal proceedings over, much reminiscing and reacquainting with old school friends took place amongst those present on the open air rooftop balcony.

Mr Peter A Crouch

London

Due to the 2010 World Cup, the annual gathering was held as a lunch instead of the usual dinner. The lunch was held at the homely traditional English pub, The Fox and Anchor in Smithfield on what turned out to be a glorious summer's day.

The lunch had fifteen attendees including regulars, a few new faces from all parts of London, and a couple from other parts of England. We were lucky enough to have the Headmaster Mr Kevin Tutt attend again and inform the party on all the latest developments both at home and with the school, some creating quite a stir within the group!

In all it was a very enjoyable afternoon to share a few ales with old friends and also finding out what everyone has been up to. It also throws in the odd surprise of finding out who is and who isn't in this part of the world anymore.

The group were very appreciative of the Headmaster taking the time out of his well earned break to attend the luncheon. We hope to see him again next year.

If you are residing in London and would like to be contacted for next year's dinner then please forward your details to PAOCALondon@aol.com.

Mr Mark Roma

Brisbane Dinner

Graduating school is never easy. Our memories of times there are always coloured with the amber hue of youth, looking back on 'the good old days' and set off a warm fuzzy glow deep within ourselves. After leaving Princes, and moreover, moving interstate it has meant that I all but abandoned connections with the school. I therefore looked forward to the PAOCA Brisbane dinner with much anticipation. Throughout my Princes education, one term has always surfaced, the 'Princes Man'. The only experiences of these gentlemen being through the several Old Scholars functions held throughout the academic year.

However, it was on Friday 17 September that 17 Princes Men met at the Queensland Club in Brisbane and I began to see what it means to be a Princes Man in the real world. Many yarns were told, experiences shared and colourful characters shone through making the night a huge success.

This was only my first PAOCA Dinner, but I look forward to many more in the future.

Mr Andrew Dibden, Convener

Darwin Dinner

A small gathering of 10 Territory Old Reds enjoyed a tropical evening at the Char Restaurant, Admiralty House Darwin to celebrate the 2010 Old Scholars Dinner. Present was PAOCA President Fred Hamood who provided an update on the developments occurring at the school, in particular the construction of the new Health and Sports Centre, student numbers, academic and sporting achievements.

It was great to see Ben Collette (Architect) and Nathan Reichstein (Accountant) attending their first Territory Dinner while long term Territorians David Angel (retired Supreme Court Judge), Richard Wallace (Magistrate), Martin Wilkinson (Businessman), Peter Markey (Doctor), Phil Dennis (Businessman), Tom Fawcett (Cattleman), Bill Piper (Lawyer) and Michael Bratchell (Customs & Border Protection) continuing to support the old school.

Thanks must go to Ted Norman and Mary-Ann Standish for organising such a superb location, and Fred for representing the school once again, which was greatly appreciated by those who attended.

Melbourne Dinner

The 2010 annual Melbourne dinner was held on Friday 27 August 2010 at the prestigious RACV Club, and was well attended by approximately 30 Old Reds and one SPOCA representative, Mr Ben Potter.

This year's keynote speaker was the entertaining Chester Osborn (PAC 1975–1979), Chief Winemaker of d'Arenberg Wines, McLaren Vale. Chester provided the group with a very insightful talk on the wine industry, as well as sharing various anecdotes from his time at Princes and also his career.

Thanks must go to Headmaster, Kevin Tutt for his school update, not to mention Fred Hamood sharing the latest from the PAOCA.

Old Red, Matthew Gibb (PAC 1989–1991) received his PAOCA Life Member Certificate and has now agreed to assist in convening next year's dinner!

Thanks again to all those who attended on the night as well as to the organising committee in pulling together another successful Melbourne event.

Mr Andrew Allen

New South Wales Chapter

Following the 2009 dinner, the NSW Chapter of the PAOCA decided to establish a committee to oversee the planning for the activities of the PAOCA in New South Wales for the coming year.

This saw the re-introduction of the "Sundowner" event held with the old scholars of our friendly rivals from St Peters. The evening was generously hosted at the magnificent home of St Peters Old Scholar, Paul Espie, with over 50 old scholars and their partners enjoying a cocktail event over Sydney harbour.

Sydney Dinner

The next event on the calendar was the 2010 Annual Dinner. With the aim to breathe new life into the dinner and attract the next generation of Old Reds in Sydney, the organising committee set out in early 2010 to plan the night. The hard work culminated in a formal dinner being held at the Tattersalls Club in Sydney on the 6th of August.

A record attendance of over 60 Old Scholars were thrilled to hear from the Headmaster and Vice President of the Association about the recent events and activities of the School, in particular the dominance of the First XVIII.

In keeping with the football theme, Old Red and ex-Collingwood footballer Craig Kelly generously agreed to be the guest speaker at the dinner, recounting his days at PAC, football career at Norwood and Collingwood and his family and life after football.

All in all, all those who attended had a fantastic night.

Special thanks go to past President David Greenslade for all of his efforts, Dan Moore and Ben Mills for their help and making this year's dinner a great success, and Craig Kelly for donating his time to come and make the night an occasion to remember.

We look forward to an even greater number next year!

Mr Tom Nicholls, President — NSW PAOCA

Eyre Peninsula Dinner

The Eyre Peninsula Old Scholars Dinner was held on Friday 30 April at Delacolline Winery on the outskirts of Pt Lincoln. Around forty people attended and enjoyed a wonderful meal at this lovely venue hosted by Maxine Symonds and old scholar Dr Ian Fletcher (1964–1966).

Local convenor Michael Treloar welcomed everyone who had travelled from across Eyre Peninsula and those who had journeyed from Adelaide.

The Toast to the School was made by Michael Swaffer (1984–1985) who fondly remembered his time spent at Princes. Fred Hamood responded and spoke of the works that are currently going on at the school and some of the exciting plans that are in the pipeline.

The Toast to the Association was made by Brian Wibberley (1971–1975) who currently has twin boys in Year 11. Brian recounted some of the things that happened in his time at Princes and the wonderful opportunities that current students have. Fred Hamood responded and spoke of 'Old Scholars' events and the importance of the Association to the school.

Ties were awarded to Andrew Swaffer (1986–1987) 'furthest travelled', who had made the trip from Adelaide to attend the dinner. Dr Ian Fletcher was awarded a tie in recognition of his wonderful contribution to health on Eyre Peninsula.

The evening was enjoyed by all those who attended particularly the small group who continued into the wee hours.

Mr Michael Treloar

Appila Dinner

Eighty five guests attended the mid-North Dinner at Appila on Saturday 10 April 2010 first having drinks at the Yarrowie Hotel, Appila and then dining at the Appila Hall.

During the evening, Master Peter Norman OAM (1955–1966) overviewed the importance of Appila in the history of the school, explaining that Student No. 14, Samuel Baker (1869–1871) attended PAC in its first year in 1869 at Pirie Street, and on leaving school took up farming in the district.

Highlights of the night included the boisterous singing of the school song Our School Colours and memories were tested with a rousing rendition of the School War Cry lead by Rex Wilson (PAC 1960–1966) and Peter Sneyd (PAC 1960–1962).

South East Dinner

The South East dinner was held Saturday 20 March at Pipers of Penola, with approximately 30 old reds and their partners in attendance.

Anecdotes were aplenty, with John Mossop (1974–76) relating a story of the togetherness of the Boarding House in his time. South Eastern Dinner Convener, Jack Hassell (1954–64) reflected on his time at Princes and what the PAOCA meant to him. The Old Reds also welcomed PAOCA Executive Officer, Mary-Ann Standish as well as Craig Hole, new parent to the College. With a son at Princes and a daughter at Wilderness, Craig's attendance at the dinner was a wonderful introduction to the Boarding community.

Headmaster Kevin Tutt updated the gathering on the new Strategic Plan, and PAOCA President, Fred Hamood (1963–70) entertained us with photos and Chronicle articles from the past 50 years.

The oldest old scholar in attendance was Bob Bainger (1938–39) whilst the youngest was Tom Cooper (2002–03) both of whom were presented with an Association tie.

We thank Henry's Drive Vignerons (Padthaway) for providing the wines for the dinner.

*Mr Bob Snewin
Convenor*

Southern Hills and Fleurieu Dinner

The Southern Hills & Fleurieu Old Reds hosted their annual dinner for approximately 56 people on Friday 19 March at the McCracken Country Club in Victor Harbor.

Rob Heaslip (1970–74) started a trend amongst guests of not only introducing himself but his stunning wife, and Princes Men being gentlemen soon made bids to out rank their partners' beauty. Fred Hamood (1963–70) entertained the mixed audience with aged Chronicles and then proceeded to profile the Princes Pottery, Basketweaving, and Linograph Cutting clubs of the time. Needless to say that no attendees were brave enough to fess up to involvement.

It was terrific to see so many younger old scholars attending the annual dinner with ties being presented to recent Old Reds Jonathon Bray (2006–08) and Charlie Rowe (2006–08), while Lester James won the honour of being the Oldest Old Boy (1935–36).

Lodge and Community

In October 2009 the Lodge welcomed its new Master, Peter Bastian, who led the Lodge with distinction and dedication throughout 2010. Peter will continue in his role in 2011.

The Master and members welcomed new brethren Harold Tiver and Alan Brandford, both of whom are participating actively in the Lodge.

For some 15 years the Lodge has proudly supported a short talk contest for Preparatory School students, who are required to present set and 'off the cuff' topics. Once again, the insight offered by the students impressed and amused the judges and guests, with the 2010 Award given to Zachary Hiem.

The Lodge Scholarship assists a current student at the College, and was awarded to Blake Parker and is provided with the assistance of the Masonic Foundation.

A pleasant Sunday afternoon tea was held at the College in the Ashton Room for a large group of members, past members and the broader Lodge community. For many it was a special opportunity to enjoy one another's company.

Dr Peter Bastian with Blake Parker, recipient of Lodge Scholarship

Now in its 104th year, the Prince Alfred Old Collegians Lodge welcomes old scholars and members of the Princes community who may be interested in participating.

Intercol Basketball

For only the second time ever, Princes had a clean sweep over Saints, winning the A's, B's and C's — a very pleasing result to say the least.

The C's basketball team won 36–23. The C's proved too big with Tom Lunn (11 points), Phil Motteram (9 points) and Mike Tye holding out SPOC's athletic big guys. Simon Miller (10 points) and Tim Wong controlled the backcourt while Pete Curtin, Cliff Hurburgh (who made two great passes for scores), James Baker and Andrew McKinnon provided solid support off the bench.

The B's basketball team won 39–25. The B's had a size advantage with four bigs Josh Orken, James Davey, Loky Griffiths and Leo Borges to counteract Saints' shoot and rebound tactics. SPOC started well but the B's made it tough for Saints to get anything easy. Defence and rebounding was the order of the day — at halftime the B's lead 13–8. In the second half, the B's size advantage showed. Orken, Borges and Davey all had tip ins and the B's took a 10 point lead — 3 point shooting the only thing keeping Saints in the game. Nathan Graham hit some late 3's for the B's and Princes won the trophy back to back for the first time.

The A's won 44–43 in Overtime. The A's got off to a flier up 19–7 with Stu MacDonald, Dave Bowley and Ben Darsow all hitting 3's and Andrew Good and Bowley dominating on the cuts down low. Saints then got hot, a 13–0 run taking the lead 20–19 before the A's hit back to lead 28–21 at the half. Saints second half defence tightened and the game became an arm wrestle. With 30 seconds left Saints lead by 3 — Mike Hill made a free throw and a Bowley offensive board and putback tied the game on the buzzer. In overtime, both teams missed a lot of shots but Darsow's clutch 3 helped the A's run out winners.

Mr Simon Miller

Bridge

The 2010 Old Scholars Bridge Tournament was held at the Public Schools Club on Thursday 29th July. Once again it was a very enjoyable evening with a number of players 'warming up' with dinner at the Public Schools Club before launching into the fierce competition.

At the end of the night Saints retained the Old Scholars Cup with a convincing win, 5 rubbers to Princes 2.

Many thanks must go to the Saints convener Robert Black for organising the competition and for the Public Schools Club for their generous supper.

The players were:

Saints	vs Princes
A Black & R Black	vs M Lemon & B North
P Wilson & C Worthley	vs P Heywood-Smith & R Trengove
C Hall & R Burns	vs G Hall & I Hocking
R Hall & C Quigley	vs G Piper & J Clarke
G Newbold & D Sweeney	vs R Piper & G Cox
J Black & C Michelmore	vs P Warnecke & R Southwood
T Wilkinson & R Chattaway	vs T Cleland & D Clarke

Mr Rex Wilson

Chess PAOC vs Saints

The 2010 Old Scholars Chess Tournament was held at the Public Schools Club on Thursday, 29th July.

Saints are to be congratulated on their success at the chess tables with a convincing 5–1 win over the Old Reds. According to our convener Michael Hihimanis, this is the Old Blues' first win since 2005 and Michael will be aiming to turn the result around next year by increasing our strength and size to 10 players.

The Old Red players this year were Michael Hoff, Michael Hihimanis, Mahesh Umapathysivan, Wesley Legrand and Simon Lake.

Mr Rex Wilson

Chester Bennett Cup

This year's Chester Bennett Cup match between PAC and Saints took place on 21 February 2010 on the front oval at PAC.

Sent in on a slightly damp wicket, Saints got off to a flying start thanks mainly to Robbie Porter. With just 6 overs completed, Saints had 53 runs on the board.

Kensington A Grader Tom Brinsley who was quick on first change applied the brakes. In partnership with Kensington team-mate Jack Dent, Brinsley brought things back on track for the Reds. Brinsley and Dent bowled superbly taking 3 for 30 off 8 and 2 for 38 off 7 respectively.

After being 1 for 75, Saints lost 3 quick wickets without adding a run, and the game was back in the balance. Wickets then fell regularly and, apart from a classy 63 from Delmont, Saints were unable to forge any other meaningful partnerships. The pick of the bowlers in the latter half of the innings were John Tamblyn (2 for 20 off 7) and Ben May bowling his leg spinners (2 for 28 off 10). Ultimately, Saints was bowled out in the 48th over for 218.

Chasing a tricky target, PAC lost three early wickets and was in trouble at 3 for 30. Tom Brinsley and John Tamblyn were given the task of steadying the ship and the two brought PAC back in the game sharing in a well-constructed 74 run stand for the 4th wicket. When Brinsley exited at 4 for 103, wicket keeper Michael Richardson joined Tamblyn. Tamblyn continued to punish any short bowling, but when he was eventually caught in the deep for 42 the game was once again in the balance.

Richardson was running out of partners when team-mates Sam Tyler and Sam Gunning both went cheaply. Jack Dent came to the crease at 7 for 170, however, and combined with Richo to see the Reds home in the 46th over. Dent made 24 not out while Richardson was unbeaten on 66.

Cricket was the winner in what was one of the better Old Scholars Intercols in recent times. Despite some logistical hiccups, thanks must go to the school and the umpires for making the day possible. PAOCCC has now won the last three Chester Bennett Cups but more importantly, the annual game continues to be very well supported by Old Scholars of both teams.

A great day was had by all players and spectators.

Mr Aaron Read

Prince Alfred Old Collegians Cricket Club

PAOCCC remains an active and vibrant Old Scholars Club, again entering five teams and having some 102 players represent the club in season 2009/10. The Club has won 7 premierships in the last 7 years. The 7 before that took some 69 years to achieve, so the Club is obviously doing a lot of things right.

The Club's playing stocks have never been stronger. In season 2009/10 our A Grade took out the A1 Premier Grade Premiership, the highest level of competition in which our club can compete, and an accomplishment that we have not achieved for 33 years. This was the culmination of strong performances in this grade over the past few seasons, and after another minor premiership was just reward. With a young side, we look forward to continued success.

In addition to the premiership, the side also received the inaugural Jeff Emmel Spirit of Cricket Award - the good guys do sometimes win!

Our B Grade was challenged after being promoted to A3, performing strongly until Christmas but then fell away in the second half of the year.

Our C, D and E Grades all played finals cricket after excellent performances throughout the year. Unfortunately, these performances could not be repeated semi-final weekend, with the C and D grades not performing batting first, and the E grade falling short chasing a big total.

Not only did we perform well as teams, but some individuals had exceptional seasons, in particular:

Redman Trophy:	Chris Drew
Moffat Award for Best Clubman:	Simon Butler
Mark Schwarz Award for Best 21 and Under Player:	Hamish Eske
Player of the Finals:	Ben Hook
A-Grade Batting, Ted Norman Cup:	Sam Hurburgh (454)
A-Grade Bowling, Murray M. Wellington Award for A-Grade Bowling:	Chris Drew (30)
Olsson Family Fielding Award:	Sam Tyler

We also had 7 centuries, a 7 for 7 (Andrew Heitmann) and a hat trick (Sam Richardson) during the year.

PAOCCC continues to be active off the field with social events, a Sports Quiz and Fantasy Competition, all communicated via an impressive website (www.paoccc.asn.au).

We look forward to defending our A1 Premier Grade flag in season 2010/11 under newly appointed Club Coach Ben Hook. Ben replaces Sam Turner who, after four years as Club Coach, has accepted the Head Coaching role with Adelaide District Cricket Club.

The matches are on Saturday afternoons from October to March and training is Tuesday and Thursday nights at the PAC Back Oval. All new players are welcome.

Mr Aaron Read

Football PAOC vs Saints

The PAOC v SPOC annual game for the Alan Crompton Cup has been a pre season match for the last few years due to SPOC playing a higher grade. I am pleased to report that despite our rivals playing in a higher grade we were able to record a comprehensive victory under lights at Hope Valley Oval.

The underdog Reds surprised everyone at the ground jumping out to a three goal lead at quarter time and never really looked back. SPOC as expected came back at us in the second quarter but late goals ensured we held onto the three goal lead at half time.

The second half was completely dominated by the Reds scoring seven goals to SPOC's three and running out winners by 42 points. The final score was 12.13 to 5.13. Phil Cleggett was rewarded for his efforts with the Leighton Williams Trophy as Best on Ground for the Reds. Other impressive performers were Myles Heritage, Sam Gunning (3 goals), Leigh Warren (3 goals), Jon Temme and James Dalwood.

In 2011 this game will have so much more riding on it, with the teams playing off for premiership points as well as the Cup, given PAOC's promotion to Division 2.

Mr Michael Siciliano

Golf PAOC vs Saints

The 2010 Old Scholars' Week Golf Day was played at Royal Adelaide Golf Club on Monday 26 July in great spirit and camaraderie by approximately 100 Saints and Princes golfers.

The day commenced at 8:30 am with a shotgun start and from then on the competition between Reds and Blues was strong, pairs enjoying one another's company but never losing sight of the coveted trophy. It was not to be Princes day but all agreed to practice hard to win the honours in 2011. The usual Princes/Saints banter made the presentation lunch fun for all.

Mr Fred Hamood, PAOCA President

Hockey

The annual hockey game against Saints was held on the evening of Monday 26 July 2010 on the PAC hockey pitch. The standard of the game, as usual, was very high, with a majority of players in both teams coming from the Premier League level in the Hockey SA competition.

The game started slowly but after five or ten minutes into the first half the players started to get back into the competitive groove of the Saints-PAC rivalry and the eagerness and desire of both teams lifted. The game was a free flowing affair from end to end with impressive skills on display.

The sides traded goals early in the game, with neither team able to establish a dominant lead. In the latter part of the second half, PAC managed to edge two goals ahead, with the score being 5-3. A resurgent Saints managed to score to keep their chances alive through a late goal with a few minutes to go. However, PAC managed to keep Saints out and hold on to the lead to win, with 5-4 being the final score.

PAC retained the Geoffrey Bean Cup with back-to-back victories in 2009 and 2010.

Mr Alex Chapman' PACHC Chairman

Old Scholars Squash vs Saints

As they say 'all good things must come to an end', which happened at this year's Old Scholars Squash Match against Saints at the PAC Squash courts on Tuesday 27 July. The Blues took the trophy for the first time since 1965. Once again, it was a very even competition with the final scores being:

Saints:	2 Rubbers	7 Games	164 Points
Princes:	2 Rubbers	6 Games	155 Points

Princes Team: Will Gray, Daniel Renshaw, Michael Healy and Ben Derwent-Smith

Saints Team: Chris Plummer, Ren Papillion, Mark Esau and Ben Esau

Well done to the Blues, but we want that cup back where it belongs in 2011!

Mr Rex Wilson

2010 Hockey Report

We are pleased to share the 2010 Hockey Report with the Princes Community.

2010 saw another very successful year for Hockey at Prince Alfred College. The College fielded three teams this season with all teams achieving success.

The Middle School team saw some mixed results this season. Last year's First XI Captain, Sam Sobels, returned to the school to coach training and Mr Mark Dell'Oro coached the team on game days.

This was a real building year for the team with many of the boys eligible to play together again next year, things are looking strong. Congratulations to Jason Anglberger who was awarded the Best and Fairest Medal and to Jared Vanmali who took out the coaches' award.

The Second XI had a successful season this year. Coached by old scholar, Jamie Bahnisch, the team developed their skills and game play in leaps and bounds as the season progressed. With strong performances against Blackfriars, Scotch College and Pulteney during the season, the boys were proud of their performances.

Congratulations to Blake Anderson for winning the Best and Fairest for the team and to Nicholas Burton for being awarded the Most Improved Player for the season.

This year saw the First XI play Saint Peters in the 30th Hockey Intercol. Played at Saint Peters this was a tough, hard fought match by both teams. The game was in the balance right up until the last few minutes when Simon Brown slotted home the winning goal.

Matthew Scheepers was awarded the Princes Player of the Match for his solid work in defence. The first XI also took part in the SSSSA Knockout Hockey Competition this season. The team progressed through the minor rounds, eventually finishing third in the competition.

The first XI was captained this year by Tom Fitzgerald who led by example, displaying not only great skill with the stick but also his leadership and guidance of the other players in the squad. Tom was assisted by Vice-Captain, Erik Holmwood, who like Tom, lead by example during training and the games. Congratulations to both of these young men for their effort and commitment this season. Tom, Erik, and Matthew Scheepers have all played in, and won, four consecutive Intercol Hockey Matches, an effort that must be commended.

This season also sees the end of an era for hockey at Princes. Bob Claxton, the First XI coach is stepping down after seven very successful seasons. Bob's dedication and love of the game has had a big impact on the boys that he has coached here at school and he has backed it up with very great results including coaching the team to four straight Intercol wins. Thank you Bob for your effort, professionalism, commitment and dedication to hockey at Prince Alfred College.
